"My doctor treated me successfully for the grippe," he says, "but he did not seem to help the after-effects of the disease. I had headaches nearly all the time and strength was nearly spent and I often had to lie down and rest. I was pale and lost in weight and had a chill, languid feeling most of the time. My blood was very thin and poor and my stomach troubled me.

"One day I got a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the drug store and after taking them for about a week I noticed my health was better. My headache was relieved and I was getting stronger. I continued their use and have a better appetite and can eat anything I want. I no longer have that tired feeling, my color is normal and I am gaining in flesh."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain just the elements needed to build up the blood and restore the lost color and vitality. New energy circulates through the system with the enriched blood, the heart stops its alarming palpitating, color returns to cheeks and lips. Nothing more is needed except sunlight, good air, proper food and rest.

WEAK AND RUN DOWN.

Miss Irene Bootes, Portsmouth, Ont., says:—"I take much pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because I have proved their worth in my own case. Last winter I had a severe attack of la grippe and it left me weak and all run down. I had severe pains in the chest and under the arms, palpitation of the heart and attacks of neuralgia which left me with the feeling that life was scarcely worth living. I was taking doctor's medicine, but it did not help me, and I was much discouraged. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began their use only on the principle that I would try anything that might better my condition. I had only been using the pills a couple of weeks when the pains began to leave me. Gradually my strength returned, my appetite improved, and in a little more than a month I felt my old-time vigor had returned. I am sincerely glad I was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pinks Pills, and I shall always have a good word to say for them."

HELPED HIM WONDERFULLY.

Following an attack of grippe, Mr. William Fielder, of No. 132 First street, Albany, N.Y., suffered from stomach trouble. He says:

"I was very much run down after having the grippe and lost both in weight and strength. My stomach was often sour and was very weak. A dull aching pain in the back of my head caused me much distress. An article in the paper brought my attention to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I gave them a trial. Before the first box was finished I felt stronger and kept on with the remedy. I am feeling good and my stomach is as strong as it ever was. I have gained in weight and strength and no longer suffer from headaches. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills certainly helped me wonderfully and I am glad to recommend them."

GRIP VICTIMS NEED A TONIC.

The debility that invariably follows the grippe is not a disease of any one organ. It is a general condition of impurity. It must be met by a rebuilding of the blood which is carried throughout the entire system. In fact, it must be depended on to build up the blood which when rich and red, carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic not a stimulant. They build up the blood and not only cure the disastrous after effects of grippe, but are also a specific for all troubles due to poor blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, women's ailments and the generally worn out feeling that affects so many people. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CO-OPERATIVE STORES DOOMED, SAY CREDIT MEN

EPIDEMIC OF PRODUCER AND CONSUMER SCHEMES CONSIDERED TEMPORARY.

NEW YORK—Retailers need waste no worry on the epidemic of co-operative store propositions which the United States is experiencing today if the National Association of Credit Men has the situation sized up correctly.

In a recent bulletin to its members the association warns them that such organizations are an exotic growth in this country, and that a negligible proportion of them is likely to survive. It consequently warns its members to be very stringent in their credit examinations of such enterprises.

Characterizing the principle of the co-operative store as fundamental unsound, the bulletin says in part:

"The buying and selling of commodities in such manner as to give steady profit requires training and skill, and with everything extremely complex as today, the business of buying and selling presents problems whose solution calls for talent that is deserving of proper remuneration. Farming is also a business which requires peculiar training and skill and is entitled to proper remuneration.

"When farmers or men of other crafts combine for the purpose of buying and selling merchandise for their own requirements and thus eliminating the retailer's profit, conducting thereby a co-operative enterprise, we have an institution surrounded by serious hazards, the rule being that the enterprise fails despite the attractiveness of the theory of the co-operative store on paper.

Don't "Fit" Americans.

"The rarity of success in co-operative stores is especially marked in this country because of our peculiar personal initative, and our intensive specialization, which has resulted in building up large businesses in the various lines the principals of which become highly trained and can fairly demand a proper compensation for skill in management and economics. Such skill can rarely be had when different lines are intermingled, so that the hope of saving by eliminating a class which has been found to be generally useful in the economic framework is doomed from the start.

"The co-operative enterprise should always be critically examined by the credit grantor, for there seems to be no well-defined place for it in our commercial system. With the principles of the square deal established for the buyer and seller of commodities, whether it be farmer or operator in any line, each should be left to its own function.

"Every line makes the utmost demands upon its workers nowadays, and division of energy means lessened skill all around. Past history and sound business judgment are to the effect that co-operative stores are rarely conducted with profit—rarely approach the glowing expectations of their members."

REFINERS TALK OF SUGAR AT 18 CENTS

APPLICATION MADE TO BOARD OF COMMERCE FOR AN INCREASE TO THE RETAIL TRADE.

(Canadian Press.)

MONTREAL, Feb. 21.—A petition to be allowed to increase the price of sugar by two cents a pound, bringing the cost to the retailer to 18 cents a pound was made on the Board of Commerce by the refining companies. The refiners were represented by J. W. McConnell, of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., and F. C. O'Grady, of the Atlantic Sugar Refining Co. They submitted documentary evidence in support of their claim tending to show that sugar was three cents a pound cheaper in Canada than in the United States. It was pointed out that owing to a strike in the Cuban ports 18,000 tons of sugar ordered by Montreal refiners for January did not arrive, while only 5,000 tons of a 40,000 ton order for February had reached here. The refiners accordingly had to buy in the United States, it was contended. The consequence was that the Canadian refiners were running at a loss.

Mr. McConnell said another reason for the demanded increase was the exchange on New York, which he pointed out, had increased from 7 to 17 cents on the Canadian dollar since January 1.

W. F. Hathaway, a St. John, N.B., wholesale grocer, wired the board advising against any increase being granted. He pointed out that sugar was selling for ten cents apound in Cuba. Mr. McConnell said that ten cents was the Cuban price and a gambling price at that. To this had to be added the freight and exchange, bringing up the cost to the refiner to seventeen cents. The refiners wanter the board to let them sell at 16 cents a pound wholesale.

Judge Robson promised that a decision would be handed down at an early date. He remarked that Canada had been very fortunate in regard to sugar during the past five weeks and had been one of the cheapest countries in the world in this respect.

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 21.—In addition to high rates of pay and three square meals a day, Vancouver Island logging camps are serving their employees with doughnuts and coffee in the middle of the morning, and about 3:30 o'clock with afternoon tea, cakes and pastry delicacies, in an effort to retain the services of the men. Employers state that development work is being impeded by the difficulty in getting men, and it is necessary to make many concessions if a sufficient number are to be held, to keep up with the work.

DOCTOR COLLAPSED IN WITNESS BOX

Was Head of Hospital Whose Conduct is Subject of Investigation.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 20.—Serious and definite charges touching on alleged thieving, gambling and gross neglect and ill nourishment of patients were made by Harr. Lawder, a returned soldier and former employe of the Ontario hospital for the insane, this city, at the opening of the Government investigation into the affairs of the institution before Commissioner Judge Talbot McBeth here. Dr. W. J. Robinson, who has been superintendent of the hospital for years, and who is involved in Lawder's charges, became ill on the witness stand and collapsed while being cross-examined by the plaintiff's lawyer, Mr. Donald Swanson.

Lawder was dismissed from the institution for a reason which is connected to be disclosed in his evidence tomorrow. Today he testified that during his term of employment Dr. Robinson and others frequently gambled at cards in the main building and that some of the patients was frequently kept waiting in a cow stable until three o'clock in the morning to take members of the party home after the game.

SLAVE-TRADE CONTINUES ALONG ARABIAN COAST

Slave traffic along the Arab coast is illegal under the terms of certain conventions, but slavery, nevertheless, is said still to exist to a rather considerable extent. A few years ago members of the American Arabian mission at Bahrein rescued a whole boatload of black boys who had been smuggled up from Africa for sale along the Oman coast. In the interior towns slaves are used mostly as personal servants, bodyguards, and hostlers. By an old law in Arabia, a slave is freed after seven years of service, provided he has embraced the Moslem religion, and it is said that most of the slaves do so. There is no prejudice against marriage after they are freed. This intermarriage has scattered a black population all over Arabia. In ports like Maskat and Aden mulattoes and mixed breeds are so common that the pure Arab strain is almost a rarity.

Real Wonder-Worker For Wrinkled Faces

Those who have tried all sorts of so-called "wrinkle removers" in a vain effort to lose those unwelcome traces of age, illness or worry, can scarcely find words to express their delight with the wonderful saxolite formula, once they have given it a trial. The success of this method is due not alone to its marvellous effectiveness upon the deepest lines and crowsfeet, as well as upon the very fine ones—but also to its surprisingly quick action and its entire harmlessness. Its simplicity is another commendable feature, for one need only dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel, and bathe the face in this solution. At once a remarkable transformation is beheld.

It is not only the effect on wrinkles and creases that is so noticeable, but facial contour is remarkably improved and the face looks much younger. One should be sure to ask the druggist for the powdered saxolite. The lotion, being so refreshing, is particularly grateful to tired faces.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Otto Denice, janitor of an apartment building early today still was in possession of a basement flat in which he barricaded himself last night and with a shot gun held off "enemies" he said who attempted to arrest him. Tenants of the building complained yesterday that Denice had asserted he was owner of the apartment and had shut off the heat and menaced the tenants with a revolver. They also told the police Denice had been under the delusion he owned the building since he suffered an attack of influenza in December.

INDIANS PROTEST AMENDMENT.

(Canadian Press.)

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 21.—A vigorous protest will be made by the north to a proposed amendment to the provincial game act closing the fall muskrat season. The Indians declare that they depend upon the fall hunt to get them food and clothing to tide the winter and in addition when they took treaty with Queen Victoria in 1870 it was implied that the Red Men would have rights to hunt and trap fur-bearing animals upon lands other than those settled by the whites.

NOTES ON HOCKEY GAME

(From Kingston Whig.)

Joe Smith was knocked senseless when the puck hit him on the head in the second period. It was feated that he was suffering from concussion, but he recovered and was able to come home with the team.

Brown did splendid work when he subbed for Stewart at centre and kept up a beautiful combination with the wing men.

Bob Stanton is still as good as the best of them, and his goal was the most popular of the thirteen.

Murray may be a good goal tender, but he is vindictive. His banishment to the box was well deserved.

Cook, Stewart, Brown and Elmer all bear scars and bruises as a result of the battle. The Petes went on the ice to "get" Stewart, but the little fellow stayed with the game and had his share of the goals.

Mr. Arnott, of the Belleville rink, did his best to handle the crowd, but the Peterborough fans were not properly handled from the ticket selling end, and a terrific jam occurred.

It sure was a wild night. The Peterborough fans were a sore bunch of poor sports, and bombarded the ice with pieces of benches, bottles, etc.

The Peterborough crowd yelled their heads off when the first goal was scored, but after that they were silent. During the second period it seemed as if the whole crowd was rooting for Kingston.

The referees had to clean off the ice before the third period started, as it was littered with glass, pieces of wood and other debris.

Cook was the star of the game. On his play it is doubtful if there is a better wing man playing amateur hockey in Canada to-day.

Now for the finals. It looks like another battle between Collingwood and Kingston, and the locals will give the champions the hardest battle they have ever had.

ENGLISH AND SCOTCH CUP TIES TO-DAY

ASHTON VILLA TO MEET SUNDERLAND AT BIRMINGHAM---NORTH BRADFORD AT HOME---FULL LIST OF THE GAMES.

It is a cup tie day in soccer circles in the Old Country today as the third rounds of both the English and Scottish Cups are down for decision. Of the sixteen teams left in the English Cup competition there are eight from the first division, six from the second division, and two from the southern league. Of the eight games today the first division teams clash in three games, second division in one game, first and second in two games, second and southern league in two games.

The outstanding feature of the games will be the clash between Aston Villa and Sunderland at Birmingham. I think that I will lose a lot of pounds by picking the "Villians" to win, but with the advantage of their own ground. I think that this should just put it over their rivals from the north.

Both the Bradford teams are away from home. The City meet Preston North End at Deepdale road, and I should not be at all surprised to see the "Prestonians" win. Bradford meet Notts County at Meadow Lane, and they should have little difficulty in getting into the fourth round. The "Pensioners" are at home to Leicester City, and will win, while I pick Liverpool to defeat Grimsby at Anfield. Plymouth have to journey to Huddersfield to meet the second division team, and they will have to go some to defeat the Town on their own ground at Leeds Road. The "Spurs" clash with one of the teams in their own league, West Ham United, and should win.

Rangers at Home.

In the Scottish Cup ties Rangers and Celtic are both at home. The former are to meet Broxburn United, who received a bye in the first round, and put Queen of the South out by an odd goal to 0 in the second round. The Scottish League leaders should have little difficulty in putting them away. Celtic are up against a stiffer proposition. They play Partick Thistle and should just about win. Hearts journey to Aberdeen, but I think that they will just about beat the homesters.

Owing to the cup ties there are very few league games that will be played, according to schedule, but one of the most interesting will be that between the Arsenal and Manchester United at Avenell Road. Newcastle United journey to Bolton to meet the Wanderers, and I think that the "Geordies" are due for another fall. West Bromwich Albion, the leaders, are at home to Middlesboro, and should hold on to the lead all right. The following are the games scheduled:

English Cup.

"TYRONE POWER" IS A CANADIAN

NTENDS TO SPEND THE REST OF HIS LIFE IN THIS COUNTRY.

It is not generally known that the noted English actor, Mr. Tyrone Power, who is the featured star of the revival of the "Servant in the House," by Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., shortly to play here, has settled down to Canadian citizenship, with the firm intention of passing the rest of his life in this country.

For a number of years past Mr. Power has had a country home near Ile-aux-Noix, on the Richelieu River, some ten miles from St. John, and here every summer he has been wont to spend his holidays, indulging in sailing, swimming, motor-boating, fishing and other out of door sports, in which he revels, and at which he is an expert.

This country home is known as "Two Elms," on account of two very fine elm trees which stand sentinel on the river bank. Mr. Power recently acquired the adjoining farm, and now owns an estate of considerable size, with complete farm houses and equipment.

At "Two Elms" the actor finds keen pleasure in reading. He is an omnivorous student of foreign drama, and by way of being an authority on the works of the later Russians, for whom he has a profound admiration, particularly of the plays of Andreyev.

Mr. Power has equipped his home with every modern appliance that is needed to make it an all-the-year residence any time that he decides to live there, and he has a separate light and heating service.

At "Two Elms" there lives also admiral Beatty—a full sized bred British bull dog of whom Mr. Power is very proud, and who provides an adequate guard for the whole place when its owner is away and the caretaker is engaged elsewhere.

On many occasions Mr. Power has retired to "Two Elms" rather than accept the most profitable sort of engagement in plays which he deemed were unhealthy or suggestive in tone. He has missed making large sums of money in this way, but he has gained the respect of every producer in the country.

It was his stand in this connection as much as his unique position among the English-speaking actors of to-day, which prompted Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., to engage him for the present tour of "The Servant in the House," and "The Little Brother."

DRAMATIC STORY AT THE GRAND

A CURE FOR INSOMNIA—LABOUR MEN WILL ATTEND.

Social and industrial unrest is just insomnia of the heart. It can be cured by love, understanding and helpfulness.

That was the creed of Paul, the Russian peasant who accompanied the notorious girl, Sonia, to New York on her mission from the Russian soviet.

Unknown until she fanned the smouldering embers of industrial discontent into a fire that threatened to consume the workers themselves, Sonia blazed a trail of destruction across the lower east side of New York until she fell with a bullet through her breast as she led a mob of of half-mad agitators against the palatial home of her father.

The dramatic story of Sonia and of Paul will be told at the Grand Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, when Dorothy Phillips, one of the most appealing emotional actresses of the screen, will be seen in a dual role.

Not since "The Heart of Humanity" has Miss Phillips appeared in such a timely and dramatic photoplay. Like the photodramatic masterpiece of the war, "The Right to Happiness," her newest production, was also directed by Allen Holubar.

William Stowell, who has appeared in support of Miss Phillips in many of her successes, plays opposite her in "The Right to Happiness." She is also supported by the popular cast of Universal players, which includes: Robert Anderson, Hector Sarno, Henry Barrows, Winter Hall, Margaret Mann, Stanhope Wheatcroft and Alma Bennett.

"A NIGHT IN HONOLULU"

"A Night in Honolulu," which comes to the Grand next Saturday, Matinee and Evening is a story of Hawaii, which immediately suggests a myriad of thoughts to the stranger, especially the American. One pictures Hawaii as a land of sunshine, of flowers and of music. One cannot bring the sunshine of Hawaii to our land, nor the flowers in their glorious radiance, but the music is another matter. The Americans have taken the beautiful wistful music of Hawaii to their hearts as they have no other. The quaint "Ukelele" now holds a favored place in our homes. Students of this instrument are as numerous as those of the violin. In "A Night in Honolulu" one may hear the veritable native musicians chant their weird melodies, hear the mournful prayer of death or the gay care-free hula music. It all has a peculiar fascination for us and is an opportunity not to be missed.

SUPERB CAST IN "THE BETTER WIFE"

The cast for Clara Kimbal Young's forthcoming select picture, "The Better Wife," which comes to the Empire Theatre on Monday, is one of the most remarkable that has been assembled in all of Miss Young's productions. The leading man in "The Better Wife" will be Nigel Barrie, who is celebrating his discharge from the Royal Flying Corps by playing the role of Sir Richard Beverly, Kathlyn Williams, another well known motion picture actress, is cast for an important part in this production, while Lillian Walker, a star of both stage and screen, is seen as Helen Kingdon, an English girl. Irving Cummings has an important part and one which fits his type to perfection. He is seen as the Comte de Chevreal, a gay French count who cuts a wide swath among the ladies. Little Ben Alexander, who has come to be known as the sweetest child actor on the screen, is also included, while the remainder of the company includes Barbara Tennant and Edward Kimball.

In "The Better Wife," Miss Young plays Charmian Page, an American girl who marries Sir Richard Beverly, a British Baronet. It is a marriage on the Baronet's part to secure the American girl's wealth, but she soon proves to be "The Better Wife."

JACK SPEILL'S IDEA

If a good Cough Syrup first of all it should stop one cough. Then it should be beneficial to the stomach and other organs. It should contain no opiate or mineral drug. It should be pleasant to take. I can testify that Gallagher's Cough Syrup combine all these virtues. Put up in 25 and fifty cent bottles. Try one.

PRINTING Done Here

COMPARED WITH ELSEWHERE

You'd startle your tailor if, when you wanted a suit of clothes, you asked him to submit a bid in competition with a dozen other tailors

"Why," he would say, "this is ridiculous. This man knows what kind of a suit of clothes I give him. He knows he can depend on the quality of the material, the make, the fit. He knows me, and has proved my work. Some fellow around the corner may underbid me—but what will he deliver?"

You don't buy tailoring that way. No man does. You know your tailor you rely on him, you trust him, you give him your work just as long as he turns out good work at prices that are fair.

Do you buy your printing as intelligently? Do you make it your business TO FIND A GOOD PRINTER as you do a good tailor, and then rely on his experience, his ability and his judgment?

Men who do, get good printing. Men who buy printing here and there, wherever the price is shaved closest, are the ones who have printing worries

Great Britain Is Financially and Commercially Sound

Lloyd George Not Likely to Change Turk Peace Treaty

BELIEVES TURKS SHOULD REMAIN IN CONSTANTINOPLE--BRITAIN IS FINANCIALLY SOUND.

LONDON DESPATCHES

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Premier Lloyd George is not likely to alter his opinion that the Turks should remain in Constantinople, according to the Daily Mail, which says he considers himself bound to the pledge to that effect given in 1918 in the course of a statement on war aims before members of the Labour party. Moreover, the newspaper says he considers the dispossession of the Turks would have a serious effect upon the Moslems in India, Mesopotamia and the Near East. Lloyd George is said, however, to have prepared a compromise by which Turkish influence would be restricted to the city of Constantinople.

BOLSHEVIK SUCCESS.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Bolshevik forces have seized Murmansk and the shipping in the harbour there, following a revolution which broke out at that port Saturday afternoon, according to Lloyd's despatch from Vardo, Norway. Last year Murmansk was the base for the Allied forces fighting the Bolshevik along the western shore of the White Sea. News of the capture was brought to Vardo by a Russian steamer from Murmansk, in charge of two British and four Belgian officers. It was the only vessel to escape capture, but was riddled with machine gun fire and the captain was wounded.

BRITAIN IS SOUND.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Great Britain is financially sound, both financially and [illegible] says the London Chamber of Commerce in London in a statement referring to the differences in the financial position of Great Britain and continental European countries. The Chamber expresses the belief that the recent unprecedented drop in sterling exchange on the United States makes it particularly desirable that the best opinions on each side of the Atlantic concerning this question should be understood on both sides.

Rounding Corners

In a message to American business public, Chamber says "the collapse of the pound sterling in New York is no index to Great Britain's financial strength or weakness. London is today, as before the war, the monetary centre of Europe. With inadequate assistance from American credit in Europe, Great Britain has been forced to supply the credit needs of the continent as well as those of her own traders". Great Britain is neither bankrupt nor anywhere near it although her external debt is larger than ever before in her history. This debt was incurred mainly to supply the needs of her continental allies and she is owed approximately twice as much as she owes America. While United States may fairly expect to collect all her British debt. Great Britain is preparing to write off fifty per cent. of her continental debt in spite of these facts. British business and finance are in fundamentally sound condition. The expression "we are rounding corner", is now heard on all sides.

LYCEUM COURSE AT CONSERVATORY

In Saturday's issue of the Examiner a seven column line across the top of the front page proclaimed the fact that the Metropolitan singers would be heard in the third Conservatory Lyceum Course, on Wednesday evening next, and that admission to "new" subscribers would be one dollar. This should have read "non" subscribers, and not "new" subscribers.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING THURSDAY

Mr. W. R. Breyfogle Will Address the Last of the Series.

The last of the series of addresses on subjects pertinent to Peterborough's advancement will be made on Thursday evening to the Board of Trade by Mr. W. R. Breyfogle, Chairman of the Board's Committee on Industry, and of the Peterborough Manufacturers' Association, who will speak on "Organized Co-operation."

Special preparation is being made for a large attendance of members as Mr. Breyfogle is one of the leaders in advocating and supporting the Board of Trade in its present form of organization. He will likely touch on the social and working value of the get-together spirit as a city builder.

There will be a get-together conference at the close of the address, when views will be generally exchanged on the question of broadening and strengthening co-operation in the Board.

PREMIER DRURY IN CITY TO-DAY

WILL ADDRESS THE UNITED FARMERS IN GREAT WAR VETERAN' HALL.

The United Farmers, the Board of Trade and other local organizations will join in presenting a petition to the Minister of Agriculture requesting the establishment in Peterborough of an agricultural institution of some kind whether it be in the form of an experimental farm or an agricultural station with a representative in charge. The banquet in the Great War Veterans' Hall will commence at seven o'clock and will be followed by speeches.

The officers of the United Farmers of West Peterborough have completed arrangements for the reception this evening of Premier E. C. Drury and the Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, who will be the guests of honor at a banquet to be held in the Great War Veterans' Hall. TORONTO, Feb. 23.—Hon. W. E. Raney, K.C., was to-day elected by acclamation to the constituency of East Wellington, according to a message from Fergus at noon. Col. Pritchard, whose nomination has for some time been forecasted, early to-day decided not to contest the riding. All members of the U.F.O.-Labor Cabinet have now secured seats.

STEAMER RETURNING TO SYDNEY TO-NIGHT

(Canadian Press.)

QUEBEC, Feb. 23.—Canadian Government steamer Montcalm, which reached Pleasant Bay, among the Magdalen Islands, finished unloading her cargo of supplies for Magdalen Island last night and at six a.m. today steamed out to the open sea on her return trip to Sydney. She has taken on board an ample supply of fresh water and now heads towards Sydney. She has adverse winds, but it is expected she will pull through and reach Sydney without further mishap.

MONEY USED FOR O.B.U. PROPAGANDA

INTERESTING SESSION PROMISED AT NEXT MEETING OF TRADES AND LABOUR COUNCIL.

LAWYERS FEES

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 23.— That there is a strong feeling that money subscribed to the Labor defence fund in Winnipeg is being used for the purpose of One Big Union propaganda was the statement made by a prominent member of the Trades and Labor Council Sunday night.

Nothing definite, he said, had yet been done by the Council, but it was expected that at the next meeting of the Council on Thursday there will be fireworks. The defence fund, he said, had failed to raise over 50,000, half of which, according to figures submitted to the last meeting of the Council, had been spent in administering the fund. Lawyers fees in the Russell trial, he said, reached a total of $15,000. The defence fund has offices in the Bulman block. Office and equipment is being used by the One Big Union, which organization expects to take it over on conclusion of the trials it is stated. Half of the equipment is claimed by the One Big Union and half is claimed by the Trades and Labor Council, and it is stated that in event of the Trades and Labor Council refusing to further recognize the defence fund there will be a dispute as to the ownership of the furniture.

ALIENS' LITERATURE IS ADMITTED FREE

THOSE PRINTED IN ENGLISH SUBJECT TO DUTY.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 23. — Enquiry at Customs Department to-day as to whether books printed in German and Austrian languages were admitted free into Canada, while these in English were subject to duty, confirmed the truth of this statement. Item 172 in Canadian tariff provides for the free admission "of books printed in any language other than English and French languages, or in any two languages not being English or French or in any three or more languages."

An official of the Department pointed out this item had been in the Canadian tariff for nearly twenty-five years, and that the Customs Department had no authority under the Act to prohibit books printed in German from entering Canada.

THIRTY THOUSAND MINERS ON STRIKE

(Canadian Press.)

PORTH, Wales, Feb 23. — The strike ordered last week in the Rhondda Valley collieries was begun this morning. The shut-down, which affects approximately thirty thousand miners, was almost complete. The men struck to enforce the demands for the dismissal of check weighmen to whom they objected and for a settlement of the case in which it was alleged the miners had been victimized.

CHICAGO BUILDERS WANT $1.25 AN HOUR.

CHICAGO. — Thirt-three unions comprising the Chicago Building Trades Council are preparing to demand $1.25 an hour for their members insteadof the $1 rate adopted last fall, union officials announced to-day. The announcement followed the declaration that a building programme, aggregating $5,000,000,000 for the coming year was being held back by high price.

An Effort Made to Enforce Three-fifths Liquor Clause

WOULD REQUIRE THAT MAJORITY IN ANY PROVINCIAL REFERENDUM, ACCORDING TO PROPOSED CHANGE IN THE CANADA TEMPERANCE ACT.

GOVERNMENT WON'T LET PARTY INTERFERE

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb 23. —There is no likelihood of a Government bill this session to amend the Prohibition Act of last session so as to require two-thirds majority before action is taken on provincial referendum, it is authoritatively stated here. The Act provides that if, on a referendum, the province decides by a simple majority that the importation of intoxicating liquors within its boundaries should be prohibited, the Dominion government will then prohibit importation into that province. The suggestion has been made that instead, a two-thirds vote should be required. The possibility of private member's bill to this effect is mooted. But, it is stated, there has been no government measure under consideration.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23. During the coming session an attempt will be made to have the Canada Temperance Act amended so that prohibition will not go into effect in any Provincial area until a referendum on the question shows a three-fifths majority in favour of the bone dry regime.

Not a Party Matter.

The Government, it is alleged, will not make it a party matter, and Unionists, Oppositionists and cross-benchers alike can express their real sentiments.

Manitoba has asked for a referendum under this Act, and Alberta and Saskatchewan also want one. If the proposed amendment should carry it would have practically the effect of rendering the whole bill invalid, as Legislatures would not ask so quickly for referendums when it would be so difficult to pass them.

Mr. Spence's Attitude.

Commenting on the announcement that an effort would be made to pass a three-fifths clause in the Dominion Parliament, Rev. Ben Spence, Secretary of the Dominion Alliance, said:

"I think if the Dominion Parliament has gone absolutely and utterly crazy it will pass a little more liquor favouring legislation. If the members are wise they will pass some strong temperance measures. What they need to do is to make the temperance laws of Canada stronger instead of weaker. I think it is an outrage upon modern civilization that the Government should have allowed war-time prohibition to be repealed without substituting something really worth while in its stead."

May Be of No Use.

Mr. Spence pointed out that the three-fifths clause was on Bill 29 "and Bill 29," he said, "is the bill which some lawyers say is no good anyway. It is a matter of dispute as to whether it is of any use.

"Any Government of any country or Province that passes reactionary temperance legislation is politically doomed, and it deserves it."

PRESENTATION BY SUNDAY SCHOOL

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF MR. AND MRS. W. J. COPP.

On Friday evening last the Co-Workers' Bible Class of George street Methodist church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Copp, 210 Antrim street, and during the course of a very interesting programme and social, an address was read and a lovely silver bread tray presented to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Copp, who have spent 25 of their years in the happy bonds of matrimony.

February 20, 1920.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Copp.—We, the members of the Co-Workers' Bible Class feel that we cannot allow this opportunity to pass without showing in some way, however small, our love and respect for both of you.

The unrest of the last five years has caused you many hours of worry. Although unmentioned, many of us have noted and admired your hopefulness and cheerfulness during that period. We rejoice with you that our loving Father has permitted the safe return of your brave boys.

Although connected with our class but a short time, we have noticed your willingness to help or promote any good work which our class deemed it well to undertake.

We ask you to accept this token of our regard and may it often remind you of the many happy evenings, of which this is one, we have spent together.

E. W. Lindsay, President.
L. F. Cunningham, Secretary.

GIRAFFE HAS A SORE THROAT

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb 23. — The greatest catastrophe in its history has befallen the Central Park Zoo. "Topmost," the most altitudinous of the giraffe herd, has the quinsy. Topmost got his feet wet a week ago. Naturally the sore throat did not develop until yesterday. It took six rolls of absorbent cotton, ten yards of red flannel and an hour of Keeper Hurlan's time to bandage the ailing portion of "Topmost's" anatomy.

A BLACK MARIA FOR THE POLICE

POLICE COMMISSIONERS FAVOUR THE PURCHASE OF AN AUTOMOBILE.

The special meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners, called on Saturday afternoon, was short and to the point, the business being run through in about half an hour. Judge Huycke was in the chair, with Mayor A. A. McIntyre and Magistrate D. W. Dumble present.

Two letters were read from the Chief of Police of Brantford; one regarding the use of an automobile by the police department, and the other on the pension fund in force at Brantford. A letter from Sergeant A. Blade dissipated all hopes of retaining his services. Sergeant Blade asked that his resignation be accepted, to take effect on March 1. As there seemed no other alternative, it was moved by the Mayor, seconded by the Magistrate, that the resignation be accepted.

After some discussion on the proposed automobile for the police force, it was moved by the chairman, seconded by the Mayor, that a motor car be purchased for the use of the police department, and that the Mayor and the Chief Constable be authorized to purchase it. This motion carried unanimously.

The discussion of the meeting then turned to the salary question, but no decision could be reached in this matter. The Magistrate thought that a $50 or $100 increase should satisfy the men, while the other members were in favour of larger increases as suggested by the Chief. It was decided to leave the question over till the next meeting on Saturday next at 4 o'clock, to which time the meeting adjourned.

MR. J. H. BURNHAM ON ORDER PAPER

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—The order paper for the coming session is already adorned with several interesting items. J. H. Burnham, M.P. for West Peterborough, has a resolution calling for a full and free discussion of the "desperate" conditions arising out of the high cost of living and the price of fuel.

WILL RESUME COMMERCIAL INTERCOURSE

PREMIERS LLOYD GEORGE AND NITTI HAVE AGREED TO COMPLETE RESUMPTION OF TRADE RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA.

NOT WITH SOVIET

(United Press.)

LONDON, Feb 23.—Premier Lloyd George and Premier Nitti have agreed to a complete resumption of commercial relations with Russia, but will have no diplomatic dealings with the Soviet government, it was reported here to-day, just before resumption to the conferences of the Council of Premiers.

The two Premiers, according to the report, feel that commercial relations should be resumed at once, because of the European economic situation. If the Soviet government demonstrates its ability to survive, it will be that diplomatic relations must inevitably follow the resumption of commerce.

It was understood that Premier Millerand, representing France, will accept the proposition of the British and Italian Premiers.

Messrs. George Pinn and Harry Smith have opened up a new garage on Charlotte street, [illegible] over haul and repair any kind of car.

The situation is a very convenient one for car owners being next to Hicks gasoline station.

Both men are experienced. Mr. Pinn worked in Toronto on all kinds of cars for a number of years and Mr. Smith is well known in the city having done this class of work both before going overseas and since his return.

BIG SEIZURE OS VALUABLE DRUGS

HEAD OF DRUG-SELLING RING CAPTURED BY THE POLICE.

(Canadian Press.)

VANCOUVER, Feb 23.— Drugs, the wholesale value of which is estimated at twenty thousand dollars, were seized by the police here last night in the house of a Chinaman. Letters were also found, from Spokane, Seattle and Butte, Tacoma and Denver, requesting shipments at prices varying from seventy-five to eighty dollars an ounce. Police believe they captured the head of a drug selling ring in the Northwest. Diamonds, rings, watches and expensive furs, presumably bartered for drugs were also discovered.

LARGER PRIZES FOR CATTLE AND HORSES

FAIR BOARD INCREASES MONEY TO EXHIBITION THIS YEAR.

The Industrial Exhibition Board thoroughly revised the prize list for this year on Saturday, making considerable increases in the amount for cattle and horses, and arranging to give third and fourth prizes in the poultry classes if the entries exceed six. It has been found that some exhibitors take first and second prize straight down the list of some class, while others are unable to break into the winning column. This should be rectified by the new system which is intended to encourage the poultry men.

Saturday's meeting in the Board of Trade rooms was well attended, part of the business was arranging for a deputation to wait upon Premier Drury in his visit to the city this afternoon.

PRINCE OF WALES WRITES 47 LETTERS TO YANKEE FRIENDS.

LONDON, Feb. 23. — In a mail sack on board of the liner Carmania, are 38 letters from the Prince of Wales to American friends, partial replies to 50 letters he received last week.

He also received 32 cablegrams from New York, and has sent 46 since his return. One of the cables reading: "All the best," and signed "S." was delivered at Buckingham Palace, instead of at St. James.

King George asked the Prince what it meant. The Prince said that he was completely mystified.

CHOICE RECIPES

Apple Betty With Cheese.

Mix four tablespoonfuls of melted butter with two cupfuls of soft bread crumbs, and pare, core and slice four apples. Also mix together one-third of a cupful of brown sugar, half a teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, a quarter of a teaspoonful each of ground cloves and nutmeg and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Arrange alternate layers of crumbs and apples in a buttered baking dish, sprinkling the fruit with the seasoned sugar. Continue the layers until the dish is filled and pour over a syrup made from two tablespoonfuls of hot water, the juice of half a lemon, and a tablespoonful of sugar. Cover the top with the crumbs mixed with three tablespoonfuls of grated cheese and bake slowly for forty minutes. Cover the pudding at first, so that it will not brown too quickly.

Raison Roly-Poly.

Chop two tablespoonfuls of fresh beef suet as finely as possible, with a quarter of a cupful of sifted flour and add one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sifted soft bread crumbs, and one and a half cupfuls of sifted flour, mixed with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Moisten to a soft, spongy dough with about three-quarters of a cupful of liquid, composed of half ice-water and cold milk. Roll out as for biscuits, and spread with the following: One cupful of chopped seeded raisins, the grated rind and juice of one lemon, half a cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of currants, half a teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, a pinch of salt, and half a glassful of grapejelly. Roll up as for jelly roll, pinch the edges of the pudding together, and boil in a floured cloth for two hours. Serve with a hard sauce.

Salt Codfish Chowder.

One and one-half ounces fat salt pork, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 3 cups potatoes, cut in small pieces; 1 quart of milk, ½ lb. salt codfish, or just enough to flavour, ¼ lb. crackers. Break the codfish into small pieces, soak it in lukewarm water until it is soft and salt has been removed. Cut the pork into small pieces and cook until a delicate brown, adding the onions during the last part of the cooking. To the pork and onions add the potatoes; cover with water and boil them until tender. Add the milk and fish and reheat. Add the crackers shortly before serving.

To Cook an Ox Tail.

Joint the tail, put it into a pan with two quarts of water, with some pepper and salt. Let the pan come to the boil, then allow it to simmer for three or four hours, when the water will be reduced a little. Add sliced onion, sliced carrots, green peas, and several dumplings, also a few drops of any good sauce. Let the whole cook for one hour, then serve. There must be sufficient gravy to cook the vegetables, if not, add a little water or stock.

TO SELL BRITISH WARSHIPS

Admiralty will Dispose of Many Famous Battleships as Obsolete.

LONDON, Feb. 23. — The British navy will soon have no 12 inch guns on its battleships. There is going to be a big naval spring house cleaning and among the obsolete vessels to be sold are some whose work has made history. The list probably will include the Bellerophon, St. Vincent, Hercules, Collingwood, Indomitable, the Superb, Neptune, Colossus and Inflexible. An admiralty official explained that the new gunnery policy was responsible for the obsolescence of many vessels because the ranges for modern guns have increased and the battleships commissioned from now on will have 13.5 and 15-inch guns or possibly bigger guns. Some of the vessels just named may be sold to foreign countries or to the colonies. They cost the country form $5,000,000 to $5,250,000 each. It is remarked that this change does not imply any big additions to the navy, as it has plenty of ships for present needs.

ITALY BACK TO FOOD CARDS.

High Exchange Rate and Scarcity of Supplies Causes Step.

ROME. — Owing to the high rate of exchange, the difficulty of obtaining transport, and the great scarcity in supplies, the Council of Ministers has decided to re-establish card systems for the necessaries of life under the same conditions as during the war.

Cards therefore will be required for bread, rice, macaroni, coal, lard and fats.

BAKER FIRM ON RETIRING

Recent Bereavement Kills Last Chance of His Playing Again.

EASTON, Mr.—Speaking through the partly opened door of his quarantined home to-day, Frank Baker stated that since the death of his wife he has positively determined to quit baseball for good. This is absolute and final he says, notwithstanding the many articles appearing in the daily papers to the contrary.

"The death of Mrs. Baker," he says "killed all chances of me ever playing baseball again. There has been more or less talk throughout the country about my playing this year with the New York club, but please state for me that there is no possible chance of me donning the uniform. Since the death of my wife, I have lost heart and interest in the game and feel I could not do justice to myself or the club under the circumstances".

The Plague of Pimples

Body Covered With Them

The primary cause of pimples arises from the blood not being in good condition. When the blood becomes impure you will find that pimples will break out all over the body, but more particularly on the forehead, nose and chin, and although they are not dangerous trouble they are very unsightly. What you need when pimples or boils break out is a real good blood purifying medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters.

This preparation has been on the market for over 40 years and is the most reliable remedy for all troubles arising from a bad condition of the blood. It removes all the impurities from the system and will leave a clear, healthy skin.

Mr Emerson G. Goodwin, Cambridge, N.B., writes: "For nearly two years I suffered from boils and pimples on my face and neck, and nearly all of my body was covered with the pimples. I tried most everything, but got no relief. One day a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using three bottles the pimples and boils had all left me and there is no sign of them returning. I can strongly recommend B.B.B. to anyone who is troubled with skin disease.

SHORT STORY

A Woodland Pastoral

By RODNEY DUCAN

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

"I declare it made me think of the merry, happy times of my faraway girlhood to see those lovely, chattering creatures bustle along past the house, all sunshine and beauty!"

It was Grandma Norton who spoke, and Leila, her orphan granddaughter, her only help and solace in her old age—a bright, winsome creature of eighteen—smiled in accord with the sentiment expressed.

"They are girl scouts, grandma," she said. "There are a full dozen of them, with the young lady in charge. They are to have a week's outing on the other end of the island and they have brought a tent and sleeping bags and provisions and are bound for a free, splendid time."

Grandma Norton yielded to the influence of a peaceful day dream while Leila, singing softly, as she always did when working about the house, went about her duties, dividing her thoughts between the gay group whose pleasures she would have liked to share and Peyton Ward. They had been engaged for over a year and they were to be married the following week. Leila and Peyton were to live with grandma and depend on farming for their support.

It was not much of a farm as to acreage, and the house bore due signs of age and neglect, for the means of the Nortons were small. When her husband died Mrs. Norton had over a thousand dollars saved up. She had a spell of sickness and recovered from it considerably aged and with memory impaired. She declared she had hidden the money somewhere about the house, but, although a protracted search was made, it did not come to light. Long since Leila had given up this little fortune as lost beyond recovery.

There was a terrific storm that night. It blew a fierce gale, approximating a tornado, and the rain was like a waterspout. The sun had come out when Leila, however, and Leila was feeding the chickens when the loft door of the old barn opened with a crash and Edna Bross, the lively sprite of the girl campers, smiled down at Leila and in a bound reached the ground. Leila stared in wonderment.

"Why, where did you come from?" she propounded in a mystified way.

"From the loft, and Miss Gresham, our chaperone, and ten other girls are up there. Oh, that new-mown hay! sweet as roses, and oh, the comfort of our novel bed, soaked through as we were!"

One by one, though less spectacularly by the lower open door, the others of the girl scout group put in an appearance. Miss Gresham approached Leila and explained their predicament.

"The storm tore our tent to pieces and blew the fragments out into the lake," she narrated. "I am afraid our stores are scattered or spoiled by the rain. We recalled the old barn here and a grateful shelter it was in our unfortunate dilemma."

"But you must need breakfast and you must dry your soaked clothing," said Leila. "Why did you not wake us up? We haven't much room, but we could have arranged for you some way. Luckily I baked yesterday, so there is new bread and plenty of butter and milk and bacon."

The famished group dispatched the wholesome farm fare set before them, and then all hands, Leila included, went down to the dismantled camp. The tent was indeed gone, and sugar, flour and other provisions thoroughly soaked and spoiled. Miss Gresham became serious and thoughtful. Then she made a suggestion to which Leila gladly acceded. It was to use the barn as a dormitory, replenish their depleted larder and arrange with Leila to help prepare their meals for a liberal compensation. This meant some needed bridal accessories for the sweet-spirited girl, whom her guests soon learned to love. Nor was this all. Edna's active mind evolved an idea with which her companions were speedily in harmony. She had learned of the romance in Leila's life and insisted on celebrating it.

The little group was practical, and had learned to work as well as hike. Each one insisted on giving the house a thorough renovation, anticipatory of the arrival of the expected bridegroom. At the end of three days the floors, woodwork and furniture fairly shone, the garden had been trimmed up and two rooms had been repapered. Leila was happy as a lark over all this friendly co-operation. There were many things she needed, but she was content.

Edna was on a chair about to remove a picture when she lost her balance, and in righting herself found she had pulled picture, cord and hook from the wall, and with it a little square of wood. From the aperture this panel-like appurtenance had concealed there fell to the floor a roll of bills. Grandma Norton's forgotten hiding place was revealed.

What a wedding there was! How Leila's new friends fluttered about her and enjoyed a woodland romance that kept them in almost a frenzied state of excitement all the time! And Peyton Ward turned out to be a handsome, happy-hearted young man, just as charming as his sweet little wife, and life was the brighter and better with the girl scout coterie for the happiness they had helped to bring about.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble)

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

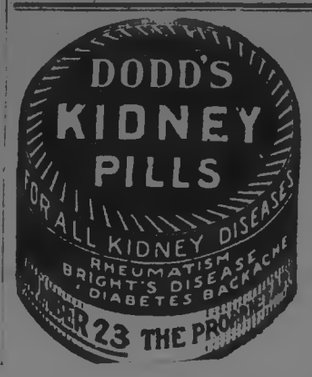
PETERBORO EVANGELIST IN MICHIGAN

Evangelist H. D. Kennedy of our city conducted a very successful revival meeting in Cadillac Michigan, during the month of January. The Methodist churches of that city uniting in the campaign. Throughout the entire month large crowds attended and at each service seekers would be found and many found their Saviour. At the afternoon Bible Readings about 200 attended and over 300 children would attend the children's meetings.

The closing night was a great service and will not soon be forgotten when leaving the committee in charge handed Mr. Kennedy a voluntary endorsement regarding his work and also a check for $600.00 in appreciation for services rendered. The Evangelist went next to Petoskey, Michigan to one of the best churches in the state and in March is to hold a big union meeting of all the churches at Clarmda, Iowa.



20 YEARS' SEARCH IS SUCCESSFUL

HALIFAX MAN GAINS TWENTY-FIVE POUNDS AND ENDS TROUBLE

"When a man has had stomach trouble for years so bad he couldn't eat anything without suffering agony and then finds a medicine that fixes him up in a few weeks' time so nothing hurts him, I think it's time for him to talk for the benefit of others. Well, that is what Tanlac has done for me and more, for I am twenty-five pounds heavier than I was when I began taking it and am feeling just like a man made over.

The above statement was recently made by Frank Walsh, a stationary engineer living at 62 West street, Halifax Nova Scotia, and although remarkable is by no means unusual, as many thousands in all parts of the American continent have testified to having used the medicine with the same wonderful results.

"For about five years, he continued, "I suffered almost continually with my stomach. I had no appetite and it seemed that everything I would eat disagreed with me. There was a feeling like a lump of lead in the pit of my stomach and I would bloat up so with sour gas that I could scarcely get my breath. I would have terrible cramping pains and vomiting spells after meals and would be in misery for hours. Some nights I could hardly close my eyes to sleep, my stomach hurt me so, and I have had to get out of bed and walk the floor for hours trying to get relief and a little rest. I have gone for weeks at a time with such an awful pain in the pit of my stomach that I could hardly stand it, and I could hardly retain enough of what I could eat to keep soul and body together. I was constipated all the time and had splitting headaches, and was so weak and played out that I had to lay off from work two and three days at a time.

"It would be almost impossible to tell just how bad I did suffer before I got Tanlac. Why, I simply dreaded to eat and had fallen off nearly thirty pounds in weight, but Tanlac has changed things completely around for me. I have been taking it now for a little more than thirty days and can eat just anything without having a sign of indigestion and I doubt if there's a man in Halifax with a better appetite. I haven't felt so well in years and haven't an ache or pain of any kind. I don't have any more of that tired, no account feeling and have been putting in full time every day since right soon after I began taking Tanlac After Tanlac has done so much for me I would go out of my way to tell others about it, there's nothing too good to say for such a medicine."

ECHOES OF THE GAME.

(Kingston Whig.)

The old warhorse, Stanton, was right there with the goods, and made a splendid relief man for "Pump" Stewart.

The Kingston crowd was a very orderly one and there can be no complaints regarding their behaviour.

One Peterboro fan had so little faith in his team's chances that he was betting 100 to 75 on Kingston long before the game started. The result showed that he had good judgment.

The fans who went to Belleville on the earlier train had some difficulty in securing tickets for the game. Some seat speculators reaped a rich harvest, one of that fraternity securing twelve dollars for three seats.

Alderman Fred Clow and Thomas Angrove led the Kingston rooters in admirable fashion before the game started and during the intermission. They had the Peterboro crowd trimmed a dozen ways for noise.

The huge crowd taxed the capacity of the rink to the utmost. "Jim" Sutherland had a hard time taking tickets at the door.

The poor sportsmanship of the Peterboro crowd was shown when Brown was laid out in the last period. They cheered lustily, but were drowned out by the hisses of the Kingston contingent.

HAD 13 GIRLS ON LIST OF FRIENDS.

Young Detroit Bank Clerk Gets into Trouble.

DETROIT, Feb. 21.—One girl friend is enough economic trouble for the average man but Ralph Green tried to finance the entertainment of thirteen of them in the night world of white lights. He was arrested last Saturday.

A book with the names of the thirteen girls was found on him. He is 19 years old. The fare on the primrose road is expensive, particularly when thirteen is used as a multiple.

Green never minded. He said that his big ambition was to be considered a regular fellow, but on Saturday night the 19-year-old teller's career ended with a forged cheque for $5[illegible].

Green had been employed at the bank only two weeks. Bad Writers, whom Ralph declares got some of the bank's money, is also held charged with receiving stolen property.

EVAN LEWIS, THE ORIGINAL STRANGLER, GONE OVER DIVIDE

PHILADELPHIA. — Announcement of the death of Evan Lewis, the original Strangler, and of the sailing for this country of Stanislaus Zbyszko, elder brother of Vladek, is of interest to wrestling enthusiasts. Lewis, who was 58 years of age at the time of his death passed away at Dodgeville, Wis., after an illness of two years. He retired from the mat thirty years ago. Lewis developed the strangle hold and used it with deadly effect on a number of opponents till it was barred by general consent of all the mat men.

Toward the close of his career Lewis was "hoist by his own petard." Yousouf, the original Terrible Turk, arrived here and created havoc among the leading wrestlers of America. Finally it was decided to have Lewis attempt to subdue the Sultan's Favorite with the strangle hold. The match took place in Chicago, and after the Turk had broken Lewis' strangle hold with the greatest ease, Yousouf applied it to Lewis and nearly strangled the Strangler before he cried enough.

Although the present Strangler Lewis, whose name is Robert Friedrich, has never used the genuine strangle hold, which he applied by encircling the victim's neck with the arm and putting pressure on the windpipe, yet other grapplers claim that the Lewis headlock is an infringement on the Evan Lewis' patent.

The first time the strangle hold was employed in an important match in this city was when Tom Jenkins used it on Frank Gotch and choked the then young wrestler into submission. In later years Gotch retaliated on Jenkins with the toe hold, an invention of the champion.

The announcement that the elder Zbyszko had sailed from Copenhagen November 3 contained the added information that he will "resume his conquests of American matmen after an absence of several years." That of course remains to be proven, for the big Pole has not been active on the mat for a number of years, and he did not create much of a sensation on his previous visit here. He had two meetings with Frank Gotch, the first being a handicap match, in which Gotch undertook to throw the Pole twice in an hour. Gotch failed to gain a fall although the American never was in danger for an instant. They met again in Chicago, and Gotch [illegible] seconds.

Zbyszko also was beaten by George Lurich in Madison Square Garden, although he Pole laid it to a cut he had received on the head in a previous match.

The chances are that if the elder Zbyszko gets onto the mat, with youngsters like Lewis, Stechner, Caddock and even his younger brother he will regret it.

It is said Zbyszko will be matched with Plestina as a starter, and if he fails to beat that truck horse he might as well retire once more.

WOMEN EVERYWHERE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as the Greatest Remedy for Woman's Ills.

New Haven, Conn.—"For two years I suffered with a female weakness, pains in my back and painful periods, and I was so weak and tired that I was not able to do my work. A friend told me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it gave me great relief. My pains left me and I am now able to do my work and feel fine. You can publish my testimonial and if your Vegetable Compound does others as much good as it has me I will be very much pleased."—Mrs. Charles E. Morgan, 37 Sea street, New Haven, Conn.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful is because it contains the curative, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act directly on the female organism.

There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are denied this happiness on account of some functional disorder which in most cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such women should not give up hope until they have given this wonderful medicine a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of 40 years' experience is at your service.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. BENNY KAUFF IS INDICTED

Giants' Fielder is Charged With Receiving Stolen Automoble.

Benny Kauff, centre fielder for the Giants, was indicted on the charge of criminally receiving stolen property Judge Wadhams, in General Sessions issued a bench warrant for the ball player, who was freed on $2,000 bail in the West Side Court when arraigned on the same charge. He will be arraigned to-day in General Sessions.

Testimony presented to the Grand Jury yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Ryttenberg alleged that Kauff stole a car from James F. Brennan of 788 West End Avenue on Dec. 8, applied for a license for it on Dec. 13, and two days later sold it to Jacques Engel of 64 West 125th Street. Kauff asserts he acquired the car legitimately. He had been in the automobile business recently at 135 Columbus Avenue.

Two-Party Line Telephone Service

NECESSARY curtailment of new construction during the war, followed by the unprecedented development since the armistice, have resulted in a universal shortage of telephone material.

In order to utilize our supply of equipment to the best advantage, to reduce delay in installations to a minimum, and to avoid refusing service to anyone, we ask those intending to order telephones to consider the advantage of two-party line service.

With the central energy system in use here the operator can ring either of the telephones on a two-party line without disturbing the other. The cost to the user is substantially lower than for individual line service.

The rate for two-party line service is, for Business telephones $26.40 and for Residence $22.00 per annum.

We will be glad to furnish full information to anyone interested.

THE KAPUSKASING MUDDLE.

The Drury Government's decision to clear up the muddle in the soldiers' settlement at Kapuskasing will be welcomed. It is announced that a commission of three is to be appointed to investigate the conditions and to take such steps as are considered necessary to place the soldiers' colony on a businesslike footing. That there is need of such action is not to be doubted.

The Kapuskasing venture has been a gigantic failure, which has cost the people of Ontario some $800,000. The expenditure of that sum succeeded in establishing only 127 soldiers' families and many of these have not succeeded in their new life. They are not of the type to meet the requirements of pioneer conditions, and as a result there has been much suffering and misery. The unsuccessful are to be removed by the new Government, it is understood, while the others who are considered as being qualified to carry on must be assisted in their career.

The Government is to be commended upon the promptness with which it has grappled with the problem bequeathed to it by the Hearst administration.

INSPIRING RESULTS.

Those who have subscribed to the Armenian Relief Fund through the medium of The Examiner will be interested in knowing that nearly all of their money has already been spent in the work for which it was subscribed, and that the balance is daily going forward. No time has been lost in carrying out the rescue operations made possible by the freewill offerings that have been received.

The contributions sent to The Examiner have been remitted immediately to The Globe Fund, which on Saturday had reached the magnificent total of $226,996.22. From The Globe Fund, amounts have been constantly despatched by cable to Constantinople where Dr. Frederick McCallum, Canadian missionary, superintends its distribution. Already $200,000.00 has been sent, and nearly all of it has been already spent. The results are heartening. Thousands of lives have been saved, and hundreds of starving children have been housed in the orphanages, made possible because of the donations of the Canadian people. There is no expense in administering the fund—every dollar goes in its entirety to the cause for which it was given. And because of these facts, and because the need is still great and much work yet remains to be done, The Examiner announces that its campaign will be continued. The pitiful plight of the persecuted people of Armenia still calls for assistance.

THE HEALTH SITUATION.

The death of a local resident from smallpox last week is a tragic reminder that that disease is not only a grievous complaint that causes much suffering and annoyance, but that it brings with it more serious risks. It is not reassuring to hear from the Medical Officer of Health that the smallpox situation is more serious now than at any other stage in the history of the local outbreak. And the blame is to be laid directly at the doors of the people themselves who have refused to adopt the effective and simple means of checking the spread of the disease that is provided by vaccination.

There have been cases of smallpox in Peterborough since the middle of last summer, the chain of infection leading to Toronto. Had there been a general resort to vaccination when the first cases were detected, the epidemic would have been crushed out in a few weeks. But the majority of the citizens declined to use the protection that was offered them. Free vaccination clinics opened by the Board of Health were not taken advantage of and the result is that to-day, nearly eight months after the first case of smallpox developed in Peterborough, the situation is at its worst, with twenty-five houses quarantined and new cases developing.

The health authorities are doing everything in their power to prevent the spread of the disease, but the co-operation of the citizens is necessary, and vaccination is the only means that the people have of assisting in the fight. Where it is strictly practised there is no need of alarm over smallpox.

BILLETING THE VETERANS.

In a little over three weeks' time Peterborough will be called upon to entertain some five hundred returned soldiers, delegates to one of the biggest conventions held in the city, i.e., the Provincial Convention of the Great War Veterans' Association. These visitors from all parts of Ontario will have to be housed for three or four days, and the problem that is confronting the members of the local Association at the present time is that of accommodation for the delegates.

The situation is serious. The hotels will be able to accommodate only a handful of visitors, and the balance must be taken care of by means of billeting in private houses. But where are the billets to come from? The G. W. V. A. during the past couple of weeks has endeavoured to secure the assistance of the city churches in providing the necessary accommodation. The results have been discouraging. In only a few cases has the appeal been answered, and the response has been utterly inadequate.

The veterans have, therefore, decided to throw themselves, through the medium of the newspapers, on the generosity of the public. It would be a lasting reflection upon the hospitality of the city if it had to be announced that in Peterborough, with a recruiting record second to none in the Dominion, five hundred returned soldiers—who would, of course, be paying guests—could not be provided with billets. The convention begins on the 17th of March, so that it is high time that the committee in charge of the arrangements had definite information as to where the delegates are to be housed. In the case of other conventions billets have been found for the visitors without difficulty, and in most instances the delegates were entertained without any cost to themselves.

Surely the people of Peterborough will not hesitate to open their homes to the men who fought for the safety of those homes overseas, if they understand that accommodation is lacking for many of the visitors.

People who are in a position to entertain one or more paying guests for three or four days are urgently appealed to to come to the rescue and notify G. W. V. A headquarters at once. The need is urgent.

NATIONAL WASTAGE.

The waster squandering his patrimony in the pursuit of pleasure and idle whims, is merely pitiful if a celibate, but really criminal if the head of a dependent family. And since allied to family ties are those binding to the nation, what is to be said of him who, from lust of power or lucre, connives at or achieves wanton destruction of the natural resources of his country?

Scorn the man who, through misuse, despoils the land, the mines, the fisheries, or the forests.

Ban the public official lax in enforcing the conservation laws. Apart from defeating their purpose, such laxity inspires contempt for the law, which contempt inclines to anarchy.

We all realise that natural resources would be protected within reason if legislation to this end were not too often negatived by political collusion or by difficulty in application over the vastness of Canadian territory; indeed, it were better to dispense with the legislation where it cannot be made operative.

Fortunately, there are cases, like that of lumbering upon the Crown domain, where some measure of control can undoubtedly be exercised. And yet, the evidences of destruction which are apparent to all but the wilfully blind, prove that such control has been woefully deficient in the past. At recent meetings of associations interested more or less directly in woodlands, namely, of limit holders, pulp and paper manufacturers and engineers, it has been asserted and not contradicted that the present manner of lumbering is generally ruinous, and that the forest actually can be improved while being exploited economically.

As a rule, people confuse the two distinct problems that are involved, the one concerning the reforestation of devastated areas, the other having reference to the proper method of dealing with untouched forest.

Reforestation on public domain is essentially a governmental matter, because of the attendant outlay and remote returns. Laudable tendencies, even certain activities in this connection, have been shown by pulp and paper corporations. But it appears unreasonable to suppose that, unless materially assisted by the State, they could afford to forego, possibly during a half-century, an interest on the large investments necessitated for planting on a scale at all commensurate with their wood consumption. While making the most of any assistance available from such a source, Government doubtless will subordinate its reforestation policy to the expediency of providing a yearly appropriation for the purpose. And the first applications should be where they could best serve for regulating the waterflow or preventing erosion and sand drifting.

But, in regard to the treatment of practically virgin forest, there can be no tittle of excuse for not reforming immediately the practice which has depleted the neighbouring American States of wood, once possessed in abundance; the practice which already has wrought such havoc in Quebec, where some of our pulp companies are now reaching for raw material very far beyond their own territory.

We have supported Forestry Faculties and caused experts to be trained. Let them in their turn do duty to the community by indicating the methods best suited, considering the varying conditions of soil and climate, varying conditions of soil and climate and location, to harmonise practical lumbering with conservation.

MOVIES AFTER CARPENTIER.

The contract tendered Europe's boxing idol calls for his appearance over here in February in order that the picture can be released in June, a month before he is scheduled to meet Jack Dempsey in the ring. Should Carpentir accept he will work in a studio at Los Angeles near the one where Dempsey is at work on a picture.

He said he had come here solely to buy clothing for his Havana store, and it is not unlikely that he may be permitted to do so under escort of an inspector or by giving bonds.

WATCH YOUR TIRES.

No Matter How Good They May Be This Caution Is Necessary.

Many a car is sold on the representation that "the Blankmobile will run from 7,000 to 10,000 miles on a set of tires," and the motorist thus gleans the opinion that his tires need no attention for that length of time.

But no car dealer's statement or tire maker's guarantee can influence good or bad luck, and it is largely the work of the latter that places the bit of broken glass, the sharp stone or the protruding nail directly in the path of the unwary tire. Such an obstacle will not necessarily penetrate the tire—the chances are that it will not—but a cut will be formed in the outer layer of rubber or tread, which, like an infected wound, will eventually spread and "inflame" the entire surface.

A few moments spent in examining, cleaning and plugging the cut or hole will add thousands of miles to the life of the tire. The inexperienced motorist can form no conception of the readiness with which mud, sand and water can enter the slight opening in the surface of the tire and by gradually working its way "under the skin" will tend to separate the tread from the outer layer of canvas.

In a few hundred or thousand miles this tread will be hanging in flapping shreds, worth no more than so much old rubber, and in order to be reclaimed the tire must be retreaded or used in connection with one of the several detachable treads on the market.—H. W. Slauson, M. E., in Leslie's.

TALKED LIKE A SNARE DRUM

Judge Fails to Stop Women's Sad Tale of Woe.

OMAHA, Neb.—"Please! Please!" plaintively exclaimed Judge Sears in Juvenile court under a Niagara of words shrieked by Mrs. Mary Cehler.

"You were intended to be a snare-drum," declared the Judge. "If I'd let you'd talk from now till to-morrow morning, 250 words to the minute."

"Well, you look as though you had some intelligence, anyway judge, and yo ought to know I wasn't to blame for leaving Anderson," yelled the woman.

Her latest husband, Mons. Anderson, a farmer of Bancroft, Neb., sat in court trying to get his daughter Bertha, a child of 10.

"I'd chase him clear to Sweden," yelled Mrs. Cehler. Her legal name is Mrs. Anderson, but she insists on using the name of the first of her three husbands because, she says, he was the best of the three, though she lived with him only three weeks.

"I'd chase him clear to Sweden. I wouldn't let him even die here. Let him go back to his own country. Why, I'll tell you, judge, one morning I was mixing bread dough and set the dough over the cob box; Anderson was sitting in the kitchen playing his accordion. Suddenly he takes the accordion and throws it over against the cob box and it blows a lot of dirt on the bread dough. Well I takes the dough out and throws it to the hogs. Judge, you'd ought to have seen them hogs eat that dough. Well——"

A new torrent of words was shut off by united action of the court officials.

"I won't decide this case now," said Judge Sears. "I'll decide it when this woman isn't here. I can't talk against her, and I can't think when she is talking."

A NAVAL CALAMITY.

Following the first outbreak of hostilities in Europe, great crowds gathered nightly before the offices of the New York newspapers to read the war bulletins. One evening two darkies stood in the crowd that was packed at the upper end of the Times Building. It will be remembered that His Holiness Pius X was then at the point of death.

One of the negroes, evidently very pro-Allies in his feelings, let out a yell.

BE SUSPICIOUS OF TENDER GUMS

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

SOME OLD TIME RACING EVENTS

Several unusually close finishes which have been features of the racing at Jockey club tracks the past season caused Edward H. (Snapper) Garrison to become reminiscent. Among the sensational events which he recalled were the match between Salvator and Tenny at Sheepshead Bay, June 25, 1890; the Suburban of 1892, and the Sweepstakes, won by King Cadmus, at Morris Park, June 2, 1892. Speaking of the match between Tenny and Salvator, the "Snapper" said:

"There never was a closed finish. I thought I had won. As we were turning to come back to the stand after the finish I said to Isaac Murphy: 'Well, old lady, I got you.' He answered: 'I don't think you have.' I offered to bet him $500 that I had won and he wouldn't bet. As we rode back, when he saw his number up, he shouted: 'I'm there.' I shouted back: 'Yes, you are, but did you win?'

"That was a queerly run race. It was for $5,000 and the association added $5,000 more. The guide says $2,500 a side, but the guide is wrong. The weights were 122 pounds and the distance a mile and a quarter.

"'Snip Donovan, who trained Tenny, gave me my orders. He said 'If Murphy goes a two-minute clip, you do the same. If he goes a thirty-nine clip, you lie in behind him. I will be over in the field opposite the half mile post and will signal to you what to do. Murphy went to the quarter in 25 and the half in 49 1-2, I was about two or three lengths behind him. When we were about half way along the backstretch Donovan motioned to me to go on. I was wearing spurs. When I touched Tenny with them he began to sulk, threw up his head and hit me on the nose. He sulked until we got to the head of the stretch. At that point it seemed to me I was fifteen lengths behind Murpyh. But Tenny took a notion to run then. He almost flew home. He must have run the last quarter in 23. That's how he got up to Salvator. The guide says Salvator won by a nose. The official time was 25, 37 3-4, 49 1-2, 1.02 1-2, 1.14 3-4, 1.27 1-4, 1.39 3-4, 1.52 3-4, 2.05."

The race between Salvator and Tenny was run while the Washington ton Park meeting at Chicago was in progress. One of the layers who was doing business at Washington Park was George Wheelock. On the day of the match Wheelock chalked up "6 to 5 against Tenny." James A. Murphy, then a resident of Chicago, and previously associated in business wit David Pulsifer, owner of Tenny, was seated in the grand stand at Washington Park when he learned that Wheelock was quoting against Tenny.

Murphy immediately went to the betting ring and sought Wheelock, to whom he said: "George, will you lay $6,000 to $5,000 against Tenny?" The answer was, "Yes, sir." Before the wager was recorded Murphy asked, "How about $5,000 more?" "All right," responded Wheelock, who called to his sheet writer, "Twelve thousand to ten thousand, Tenny, Mr Murphy."

During the last winter Murphy, now a resident of New York, informed me that Pulsifer was interested in the bet made with Wheelock, and added: "Furthermore, Salvator did not win I have in my possession a photograph which shows that Tenny won. Dave tried to arrange another match for $10,000 a side, in which I was to be interested, but Haggin did not like the game and wouldn't go any further."

"The greatest finish I think I ever rode," resumed Garrison, "was on Montana in the Suburban, June 18, 1892. Going along the back stretch I was last in a field of 11. I drove him for five-eights and right at the end sent him through between Major Domo and Lamplighter. I didn't know I had won until I turned around, rode back and saw my number up.

"But," gossiped Garrison, "while we are talking about finishes, that race I won on King Cadmus at Sheepshead Bay, June 2, 1892, was a wonder. Five of us were on top of each other. I beat Hamilton on Julien a head, Doggett on Shellback was a head behind Julien, Alec Covington on Doncaster was another head back and a nose or half a head in front of Simms on Zorling. Nobody outside of the judges' stand could tell who had won. 'Pittsburg Phil' had a big bet on my horse, and I rode as if my life depended on the result. That was the only race King Cadmus won as a three-year-old. As a two-year-old he won once, and Phil won over $100,000 on that race. He started a second time as a three-year-old and afterward was sold or turned over to Mike Donaher, who never got him to a race."

I asked Garrison: "What horse do you consider the best you ever rode?" Snapper promptly answered, "Tammany. He was the best horse I ever sat on. You could take a hair out of his tail and put it in his mouth and he'd answer just the same as if it were a bit. That match he ran against Lamplighter, September 28, 1893, was for $20,000 a side and the association added $10,000 but it was no race. Fred Walnum had just bought Lamplighter from Pierre Lorillard for $20,000, and thought that at 122 pounds and a mile and a quater he had a good thing to beat Tammny, said to me. 'Lie in behind Taral until you get to the stretch, then beat him as far as you can.' I sat down and rode from the head of the stretch and went by Taral as if he was on a trotter. As I pulled up and turned around he was just finishing. Marcus Daly won $110,000 on the match."

The awful horror that supper party was! Had it not been for Barrett, I never could have gone through it without disgracing myself. There were only two others, a business man and his wife, old friends of Everett's, both about his age or a little older.

"How much she resembles Leola!" she said to her husband in a stage whisper, while Everett was engaged with the menu. "The same coloring. I'll bet that was the reason he married her. You remember how he loved Leola." She stopped when she saw me looking at her, but every little while would nudge her husband and whisper something about me. Then after Everett was finished with the waiter, she said to him:

"I see your wife is fond of blue. Or is it your taste? I remember how your first wife adored sapphires too."

"They are very well suited to Mrs. Graham's coloring." Everett had flushed, and I leaned toward Barrett, and whispered something that made him laugh, and deepened Everett's frown. Then when Mrs. Weeks made two or three more tactless remarks about Everett's 'first wife' the very spirit of recklessness entered into me and I laughed annd chatted as my husband never had heard me. I even joked with Mrs. Weeks about being wife number two, although I knew it was abominable taste. But worse than that was the way I flirted with Barrett. And when I heard her whisper to her husband that she guesed I was gay like the first one,' I did it still more openly.

I knew Barrett was puzzled by my actions, as well as was Everett, who I could see was growing very angry. 'Well, let him!' I thought defiantly 'He didn't like it or me when I tried to please him. So I might as well pay no attention to him.'

It was late when we broke up. We bade them all good night and went home alone. Everett never spoke all the way. He looked so cold and stern I began to be frightened at what I had done. Perhaps he would forbid my ever seeing or speaking to Barrett again. But instead of that, he never mentioned his name. But after we reached home he gave me the most awful scolding, telling me I had acted so silly, so childishly, that he was positively ashamed of me. Then he added:

"It wasn't pleasant for you to listen to Mrs. Weeks, but you might have respected my feelings, my relations with her husband, sufficiently to have restrained your hoydenish actions."

That was all he said that night, and when he left for his office in the morning he had not again mentioned the subject.

Would I ever understand him?

Someway I felt more unhappy than ever. I was sorry I had said so much about the boys and girls at home. Perhaps now he never would let me go home. Then from being sorry for myself I began to be rather sorry for him. He had looked old that morning, as if he hadn't slept very well. Mother had said it would be hard for him as well as for me. Perhaps he was awfully disappointed in me. He would think me an awful little spit-fire to give way as I had. It WAS terribly humiliating to have Rose go home as she did. But—the outcome of my thinking of his side of things was a little note I wrote him and laid upon his chiffonier where he would not fail to see it when he dressed for dinner:

"Dear Everett, please forgive me for being so horrid., Sandra."

I felt better after I had written it, so I called Mrs. Sloane on the telephone and asked her if she wished to go for a motor ride with me.

"I would just love to go, but I have a guest, a niece of my husband's, a delightful girl. May she go along also?"

"Certainly! I shall be delighted."

Marion Callum was a charming girl about my age. She was full of fun and we had a perfect time. Before I left them I had promised to go to tea with them the next afternoon and had joined in their plans for Marion's entertainment. I had absolutely forgotten that Everett and I had quarreled; and that I had been sorry.

He was at home when I went in. He scowled as he asked where I had been. I told him all about our ride, about Marion ,and that I was going to tea with them the next afternoon.

"That will be impossible. You will call Mrs. Sloane up and tell her so."

"But— Everett—" all my pleasure gone.

"I have made arrangements for you to commence your reading and studies. Mrs. Barr will be here tomorrow afternoon at four."

I said nothing more, but flew upstairs into his room. I would destroy my repentant note. It was gone.

TO-MORROW.

The robin chants when the thrush is dumb,
Snow smooths a bed for the clover,
Life flames anew, and the days to come
Are sweet as the days that are over.

The tide that ebbs by the moon flows back,
Faith builds on the ruins of sorrow;
The halcyon flutters in winter's track,
And night makes way for the morrow.

And ever a strain of joys the sum,
Sings on in the heart of the lover—
In death sings on—that days to come
Are sweet as the days that are over!

The Best Habit In The World

is the habit of health. The way to get it is to train your bowels, through the liver, to act naturally, at a fixed time, every day.

Take one pill regularly (more only if necessary) until you succeed. Then you can stop taking them, without trouble or annoyance.

This has been the good-health rule for 50 years.

ARMY, BIGGEST IN WORLD.

Washington.—China has an army of 1,250,000, the largest in any nation, and there is strong agitation for partial demobilization Chinese leaders and some foreign advisers are urging the Peking Government and the provinces to cut the force to 500,000, and to maintain 200,000 of these at the border lines. The government, however, is not disposed to consent to this, fearing complications growing out of the Shantung settlement and the advance of the Bolshevik forces in Siberia.

The government is unable to pay the soldiers and the law requires full pay for each before demobilization

THREE CHILDREN LOST THEIR LIVES

A terrible tragedy took place near Irondale on Tuesday morning, when three little children, the entire family of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Wright, were burned to death.

It appears that Mr. Wright was working in the lumber camp in the vicinity of Fory Hill and Wilberforce and Thursday morning Mrs. Wright went to the barn to do the chores, leaving the children in the house. When returning from the barn she was horrified to find the house in flames. The poor woman made a frantic endeavor to enter the burning structure to save her little ones, but the flames blocked her efforts. The house was completely destroyed and the bodies of the three children burned to a crisp.

Neighbors who saw the blaze hurried to the scene, but nothing could be done save caring for the half-crazed mother, whose condition was pitiable.

One of the neighbors drove to the camp on Thursday to break the sad news to the father.

ONE GREAT ESSENTIAL TO A WOMAN'S HEALTH IS HER NERVES

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. Is it any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired-out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health.

Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

MUSIC IN THE PRISONS.

In a recent issue of a well-known journal there was an excellent article upon the results of music in the work of the Kansas State Reformatory. It was reported that the majority of the men became more trustworthy after being trained in chorus singing. In prisons all over the country music is being introduced more and more.

Many of the men who are now incarcerated have lost their liberty, not because of innate wickedness, but because society has failed to understand them or has offered them an environment which has ensnared them in crime. Thus there are thousands of cases of so-called criminals who are really nothing more than undeveloped human beings—people who have never grown up, and who have no more control over their doings than little children. Thus a man may be thirty-five years of age, but when measured by the famous Binet tests he may have the mind and development of the child of ten or twelve. Music seems to have a peculiar effect in bringing many of these cases under the control of those who are working to help them. It is certainly a simpler remedy than the rawhide or the irons, and is likely to be far more effective when intelligently used. The whole subject is so vast that it offers unexampled fields for exploration. It is hardly likely that very much that is definite will be determined in the scientific administration of music in penal institutions for another half century. Meanwhile, however, the men and women, from whom society is temporarily protecting itself, should have music as often as is practicable.

IF THIN AND NERVOUS TRY BITRO-PHOSPHATE

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorous in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorous may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION:— White Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

FOREIGNERS IN POLICE COURT

JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED UNTIL TO-MORROW.

William Foristaine, a Ukrainian, from Hamilton, appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning charged under section 220A of the Criminal Code. Foristaine is the first person to be charged under this amended section of the code in Peterboro. The act reads: "Any person who in the home of a child by indulgence in immoral conduct habitual drunkenness or in any other form of vice causes such child to be in danger of being or becoming immoral, dissolute or criminal or the morals of such child to be injuriously affected or renders the home of such child an unfit place for such child to be in shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $500 or to imprisonment not exceeding one year or to both fine and imprisonment.

Prosecution under this act must be made at the instance of some recognized society for the protection of children. In this case it was made by Mr. George W. Powell, agent of the Children's Aid Society.

It is alleged that Foristaine was boarding with Mr. and Mrs. Boychuck, natives of the same country, in Hamilton, until several weeks ago when he left and came to Peterboro, followed shortly by Mrs. Boychuck and her three children. It is said that they were living together as man and wife and the little girl aged five was sleeping with them. In the meantime the husband was unable to get any trace of his wife until she wrote a letter to her uncle in Hamilton postmarked Peterboro. Mr. Boychuck came here and through his information the charge was laid. The accused was represented by Mr. J. F. Strickland. Mr. A. Low acted as interpreter

Pleaded Not Guilty.

Magistrate Dumble read the charge to the Ukrainian, who pleaded not guilty. Mr. Powell, the first witness called, told how he and the chief saw the prisoner and warned him that his statements might be used against him.

Chief Thompson in the box said that on Feb. 18th the prisoner and Mrs. Boychuck were brought to the Police Station, the woman being arrested on a theft charge. He said that he had been living with her as man and wife, this being understood by the owner of the house.

In the cross-examination by Mr. Strickland the Chief admitted that there was no concealment on the accused's part.

"He had no sense of modesty?" said the Magistrate.

"Well you might put it that way" said Mr. Strickland.

Detective Meagher in the witness box said that they were living on Chamber street, in three rooms upstairs which were not connected except by a hall-way. On the morning of Feb. 18, the Detective went there about 1030 and found Foristaine in bed, the little girl sleeping beside him. Mrs. Boychuck was in the kitchen. Mrs. Boychuck went into the room and was just taking the little girl out of bed when the detective walked in.

This concluded the evidence Mr. Strickland declining to take any for the defence.

Magistrate Dumble in reviewing the case favoured leniency. "These are poor people and foreigners. They have their own sense of propriety or impropriety." On the ground of poverty the Magistrate held that they might have to live in such conditions but the Crown Attorney raised strong objection to the Magistrate's stand, emphasizing the need for enforcement of the laws and Mr. Hatton appeared very much surprised at the Magistrate countenancing such actions. He requested the Magistrate to look more closely into the case and consider authorities on such cases.

The magistrate complied agreeing to give decision to-morrow.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.—St. Patrick's hopes of winning the National Hockey championship received a terrinc jolt here on Saturday night when the Ottawa Senators beat them 5 to 3 and assumed the leadership in the race. The visitors broke the jinx which has pursued them when playing on local ice and won the game strictly on their merits. They are now out in front in the second half of the race by one full game ,and it will require herculean efforts on the part of the locals and a few upsets thrown in to give the Pats a chance to figure in a play-off.

If the Senators win the second half honors, and they are in a fair way to accomplish the feat, they will set a precedent for other teams to follow. Since the old order of deciding the title became a thing of the past, the team winning the first half honors have invariably been beaten in the next dash. This state of affairs has been responsible for the majority of the criticism hurled at the pros, and the Senators are evidently determined to stop it.

Capacity Crowd Attends.

The largest crowd of the season jammed its way into the Arena and saw its favorites go down to defeat. The score, however, was nearly always close and the edge in favor of the visitors not so great as to cause St. Pats supporters to give up hope. At one time in the second period the visitors were out in front by 4 to 1, but Randall tallied two goals in succession ,and from then until Cleghorn settled the issue with only four minutes to go, pandemonium reigned.

St. Pats got away to a bad start in the opening period when Goalkeeper Lockhart allowed two easy shots to beat him. One of these was delivered by Boucher from the wind and would have missed the net had Lockhart not attemted to deflect it into the corner. The puck struck his skate and caromed into the net. Seven minutes later Cleghorn rushed and shot from well out. The rubber hardly left the ice and was not travelling fast, but Lockhart failed to stop it. Mitchell was rushed to the rescue, but he arirved too late to save the day.

In all games to date, the majority of which were played away from home, Lockhart has shown good form, and that he should have failed in the most important fixture of the series, and with his own supporters looking on is to be regretted. When Coach Sproule derricked him in favor of Mitchell with barely a minute to play the popular net guardian was broken hearted.

The Senators for the most part did their checking on their own side of centre ice, and try as they would the local attackers could not get by with any degree of success. The three goals credited to the Pats were tallied after individual rushes by Noble and Randall. Noble got his one minute after the game commenced when he circled his own net, glided gracefully through the entire Ottawa team and gave Benedict no chance to save. It was one of the prettiest goals ever scored on any ice.

KING GEORGE SAW CHELSEA TIE GAME

THOUSANDS ATTENDED SATURDAY'S SOCCER GAMES.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—King George was one of forty thousand spectators attending the Chelsea-Leicester Fosse Cup tie game at Stamford Bridge on Saturday.

Attendances on other grounds were: Liverpool 50,000, Bristol 32,000, Aston Villa 31,000, Tottenham Hotspurs 47,000. Many of these arrived at nine o'clock in the morning, and waited until three p.m. to see the match: Nottingham 30,000, Huddersfield 35,000, and Preston 30,000. The receipts totalled £30,000.

King George witnessed poor soccer, the play being somewhat spoiled by a high wind. Cook, Chelsea's centre, was knocked out early in the game, but resumed later. There was no score in the first half. Browning, Cook and Ford scored afterwards, the game being entirely in the hands of the home team.

The surprises of the day were the two wins of the Bradford teams away from home. Bradford City beat Preston soundly, Goldthorpe scoring twice, and the remaining goal being credited to Bond. Bradford were at full strength against Notts County. McLean scoring twice, and Bradford's other goals were by McCandles and Wauchope, while Gibson, Senshal and McLeod scored for Notts. The game was fought at a tremendous pace, particularly in its latter stages, Notts making a gallant effort to secure an eleventh-hour victory.

WILLIAM STOWELL IN "THE RIGHT TO HAPPINESS" THE BIG UNIVERSAL-JEWEL SPECIAL

At the Grand To-day, Tuesday and Wednesday.—

Voice Of The People

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Permit me through your valuable columns, to point out some of the unfair treatment the hotelkeepers of this province were subjected to as a result of legislation. In the first place, we were forced to extend our premises in order to secure a license. Then the license was raised. Then the hours to sell liquor were very materially shortened. Then 5 p.c. on all money was exacted on anything over $50 taken over the bar. And in order to make it easier for the Government Inspector to ascertain such amount, a second set of books was practically demanded, thereby necessitating more expense in accounting.

To-day not only has hotel property decreased 50 p.c. in value, but house fittings and extensions of premises, are practically lost money, for such fittings and extensions cannot be utilized for any private or public occupation.

The 5 p.c. collected meant more than the hotelkeepers' profit. When you consider the amount of capital invested and the short time allowed to operate a licensed house to realize on.

We were assured protection if we would provide certain accommodations and in doing the same it involved heavy expenditures.

Personally having felt the injustice and suffered financially as a result and from the fact that we were not only encouraged by the License Department, but relied on the mandate from the people in 1914, I feel justified in claiming when the Government took it out of the hands of the people at that time, that the Government should recompense every hotelkeepr who paid over his profit in the said 5 p.c. to the amount collected from him as such tax.

FRANK MONTGOMERY.

Notice to the People of Douro, and the Readers of The Examiner:

I would like to draw your attention to a piece that appeared in the Examiner on February 14th regarding a family in Douro who are quarantined for small pox, and also my two sisters who are in Peterboro. Now, I can prove that they were not home since my people contracted the small pox; and also that our people who were the last in the neighborhood to get the disease, called a doctor, and complied with the law in every way.

Now, I think that it would look much better on the part of those people who are near neighbors, and are so interested in our business, if they would mind their own afiairs, instead of using those false statements in the public press to slandering my people.

I know the two men who published the piece and if they will come to me I will prove that their statements were untrue, and as we are under no compliment to them I think they owe us an apology. Thanking you for your space, yours truly.

For the Last Week We Have Desired to Tell You of Our Lingerie Blouses

But Have Not Had Room in Our Advertisements

There is almost every conceivable style that is consistent with the prevailing mode. Strictly tailored models with high necks abound and fussy numbers with sailor collars or collarless styles are just as numerous. Fine tucks, lace and touches of ribbon at the throat and on the sleeves are the principal trimmings. It is really a most unusual assortment and the prices are much less than you would suppose. Even at $3.95 you can select a comely affair of fine voile and embroidery in a chick collarless model.

One model is of a fine white voile and patterned with side panels of val lace and the pleat down the centre is edged with the same. The price is only $7.95.

The jumper blouse is a novelty arrangement. The underportion is formed of fine tucks and the jumper is of fine lawn and shows an oval yoke and two small ones to either side. The neck and sleeves are finished with black velvet ribbon. This is the highest priced model in the assortment, $10.95.

If You Have Been in the Children's Department Recently You Will Have Noticed Many New Dresses

They tell their own story better than we can. However, we can give you an outline of their make up.

One series is for children from 2 to 6 years and are of voile. Some are white with bands of pink and others are all pink with the exception of pale blue ribbon garnitures; others reverse the order and are baby blue with pink ribbon. A pretty blanket stitch in many instances is worked to advantage around the neck and sleeves. Priced from $6.25 to $7.95.

Most little girls like to imitate their mothers in the matter of style, and it can be done if a selection is made from our assemblage of fussy new dresses of various materials as: white voile, white net, white georgette and pink crepe de chine. Ruffles, frills, hemstitching and lace are used freely and achieve many adorable results. For ages from 4 to 6 years, and priced from $14.95 to $19.95.

Millinery, With All Its Springtime Freshness, Is Commencing to Occupy the Show Cases in Our Show Rooms

Of course this is an advance showing, but one can see much that is pleasing and satisfactory.

Hats with rolling brims, such as chin chins, will be prime favourites, and the old reliable sailors will be again in evidence. Flowers are always greatly used for this season of blossoms and bloom, but never were they used quite so profusely as for the spring season of 1920.

REV. A. M. BURNS ADDRESSED THE CHILDREN OF ST. JAMES' CHURCH

CHURCH OBSERVED SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY YESTERDAY—"A WONDERFUL WORLD TO LIVE IN."

Rev. R. M. Burns, D.D., of Toronto preached an inspiring sermon at the Sunday School anniversary services at St. James' Methodist Church yesterday morning. A feature of the service was the singing of the children's choir which rendered several selections and led in the singing.

Dr. Burns took as his text Galatians, 2:20, "Live." It was a wonderful thing, he thought, to be alive in this great and wonderful world of ours. Life had its sadness but held ample recompense for sorrow. Referring frequently to passages from the Bible he explained that all life emanated from God. The question was what were we going to make of the life which God had given us.

The Word "Evil".

The sermon was primarily for the children and Dr. Burns held their interest by frequent questions. Asking them to spell "live" backwards he got the answer "evil" and proceeded to point out that evil was the outgrowth of a life lived in the wrong way. Another word formed by interchanging the letters of "live" was "vile" which was the adjective deservitive of those who had lived evil lives. Despite varying standards of morals the vile person was looked down upon and as a result "veil-ed" his life. This was hypocrisy.

Continuing, Dr. Burns stated that it was the "L" in us that was to blame for our evil and that like Paul we should become "crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Cslvirthtei h but Christ liveth in me."

We should then substitute for the "i" in "live" the letter "o" the emblem of eternity and of God and thus we would have "love", that which would enable us to live our lives right for now we were beginning to determine "how to live forever."

MR. LOUIS JOFFE GAVE AN ADDRESS

WILL SPEAK IN MURRAY STREET CHURCH TO-NIGHT.

At the evening service at St. Paul's church yesterday Mr. Louis Joffe, a converted Russian Jew, addressed the congregation on the story of his conversion, and told a large audience how he found his Saviour in smoky, murky Pittsburg, U. S. A.

It is nine years now since that memorable day of his conversion. Friends said that he would change his mind but although he had many and many a hard knock he is firmer now than ever before. He implored his hearers to take Jesus at his word in all things, whether in sickness, sorrow or poverty. Christ, he said, is able to help at all times, and all things are possible with God. He bore witness that in nine years of Christian experience God had answered his prayers.

Handicapped by Speech.

It isn't an easy matter to speak as Mr. Joffe does, having been handicapped by the lack of language, but it was by prayer and faith and unceasing labor that he is enabled to address Anglo-Saxons almost as well as if he were one himself. He knew that he had something of importance to tell Anglo-Saxon Christians, and God has helped him.

He gave an illustration of how men interrogating him in New York wanted to know how it was that he felt the presence of Jesus with him, whereas his questioners never felt anything like it.

Mr. Joffe answered him that in Russia it is a common sight to see the crows perch themselves on the backs of the pigs, and any one who has been in the Russian villages has seen the pigs trundle about with the crows perched upon their backs. But no one has ever seen a pigeon, which are abundant in Russia, ever alight on the back of a pig. "My friend," the speaker said, "if you wish the dove of Christ to alight upon you you must cease to be a pig."

The Impossible.

Why should men expect the impossible in religion. We don't expect oil to mix with water, a stone to fly upwards, so why expect the love of Christ to enter a heart of filth, where dwelleth hatred, spite, covetousness, dust or unforgiveness. Christ will not enter into such a heart. We must give ourselves to Him who gave Himself for us. When the speaker had given himself he felt himself born anew literally. He became a son of God through Jesus Christ, and has felt His presence always, and when the Spirit leaves him he knows that there is something wrong with him—not with Christ, and so gets down upon his knees and prays for forgiveness.

Will Repeat Story.

Mr. Joffe will repeat his wonderful story at the Murray street Baptist Church to-night, and will speak at St. Paul's on Wednesday, on the "Fall of Russia," when the burning question of the day, Bolshevism, will be discussed, and as he is a native of Russia, and knows the people thoroughly, having written in that language, a most interesting evening is assured. He is open to answer questions, and will answer all in a cordial way as in other cities. He is in the city to serve, not to be served unto, and is a representative of the Upper Canada Bible Society as a colporteur. He is glad to speak for any denomination in the city. Although a Methodist, having been affiliated with that religion since his conversion, as a man of that faith had led him to Christ, he is nevertheless in spirit interdenominational. He believes that a full measure of the gospel has not come yet, and although there is a [illegible] in the Church [illegible] denominations are doing the work of God.

WALTHOUR ASKS DIVORCE.

Bicycle Racer Charges His Wife Tried to Kill Him.

ATLANTA.—Charging that his wife became infatuated with another man while he was doing war work in France, Bobbo Walthour, ex-champion world's champion bicycle racer, has filed suit for divorce against Mrs. Blanche Walthour, of Newark, N.J., whom he married in Augusta in 1898.

Walthour says that on his return after a year in France, he noticed great changes in his wife. Mrs. Walthour even frequently threatened to kill him, his petition alleges, and on one occasion essayed to make good the threat with a butcher knife. Failing, Walthour says, she threatened to kill him while he was asleep. His petition further states that Mrs. Walthour has become addicted to intoxicants and was habitually under their influence.

THE SERVICES AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

THE SEASON OF LENT IS GOD GIVEN OPPORTUNITY.

Archdeacon J. C. Davidson preached yesterday morning in St. John's church from the text, "Let Us Go On." Heb. VII, urging that the wonderful impetus of the Forward Movement should be carried unto all the various branches of the church's activities. With his own eyes he had witnessed in many different places a striking advance in earnestness, confident faith and real comradeship resulting from generous, self-sacrificing giving. This advance should be sustained. While the big financial effort had officially closed in triumph, the main part of it had only begun, and our united efforts must be concentrated on carrying it forward.

Let the laymen who had given generous sums now take a deeper personal interest in the church. They had helped to equip financially. Let them contribute their counsel and virile powers towards enabling the church to become in a far greater degree an uplifting force and a general blessing to the community and nation. No relaxation of effort could be allowed at this critical juncture. Let the Forward Movement, or rather God through the Forward Movement, finish His work.

Season of Lent.

The season of Lent now opening was a God-given opportunity in which to carry out the first stages of this permanent advance. Let the Divine tide be taken full advantage of. The devotional services and especially the Holy Communion. Confirmation, personal acts of self dental and increased efforts in the service of their fellows were all valuable means of carrying on the Forward Movement. There should be a definite and steady effort to cultivate the Christian virtues and to do their daily duty in all respects.

On Sunday afternoon Archdeacon Davidson gave an address on the Forward Movement in St. Mark's, Otonabee, recounting some of his experiences in the field.

The service was taken by Rev. Jas. Price, and at its conclusion a meeting of the congregation was held when it was unanimously determined that St. Mark's should do its full share, and a canvassing committee was appointed with Mr. Thos. Graystock as chairman, which is now actively at work, some $200 being at once subscribed.

Exchanged Pulpits.

On Sunday evening the rectors of St. John's and St. Luke's exchanged duty, Archdeacon Davidson preaching on the Forward Movement and Rev. W. H. White on "The Church and the Home."

Financial reports to-day at the headquarters of the Forward Movement for the country parts of the diocese of Toronto include $759 from Shanty Bay, $747 from Beaverton and Cannington, $2,608 from Woodbridge, $1,037 from Bond Head, $2,450 from Newcastle and Orono, $1,000 from Cameron and Cambray, $1,000 from Bethany and $3,073 from Bradford and Coulsons. A widow, formerly a member of St. John's, sends in $5.00 as a widow's mite, with a touching expression of her interest in her old church.

The Deanery of Durham, of which Port Hope and Lindsay are leading parishes, will go several thousand dollars over their objective of $24,000, which is fully met by eight out of the fourteen parishes. It is a splendid achievement.

AFTERNOON SUNSHINE.

Lo! the round sun, half down the western slope—
Seen as along an unglazed telescope—
Likens it self, ready to be done
With day.
Gilding the lofty lean, lanky street
And its abounding evidences of being
With aspects, gestures and blandishments
Making a thousand happinesses to shine
As with new wine from some enchanted press.
And every house's coat so full of sheen
He looked how tailored, and every bus
Reds clear.
Dull Clemence, angular and old and
and staid,
Gleams by Victoria glamour's very sleights arrayed.
And Bridie's, her awry, unsubstantial charm
Through flight on flight of springing, soaring stone
Grown flushed and warm.
Laughs into life full mooded and fresh blown.
And the high majesty of Paul's Uplifts a voice of living light, and calls
Calls to his millions to behold and see How goodly this his London Town can be!

—W. E. Henley.

False Economy Has No Value

Buying Cheap Goods Just Because They Are Cheap Does Not Pay

Quality Often Overlooked

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

Economy is one of the greatest of virtues but false economy is no more a virtue than anything else that is false. To be able to economize wisely is one of the greatest blessings that one can have for it is the prerequisite to thrift and well-being. Too many persons, however, who think they have found the secret of true economy are practising a false economy, which is worse than a wilful waste.

For instance, the man who buys a stove from a mail order house for $9 because he thinks that he would have to pay $10 for one if he purchased it from his home merchant, is practicing a false economy, for the chances are that he would save more than $1 in the end if he purchased the $10 stove from the local hardware leader.

There are several reasons why this is false economy. The first reason is that dollar for dollar, the greater part of the merchandise sold by the mail order houses is of less value than that sold by the retail merchants of the smaller communities. The mail order business as a whole is built upon cheapness. In order to attract customers the catalogue houses must sell goods cheaply and in order to do that they must sell cheap goods. Their business is built up on price and not on quality. The retail hardware merchant, like retail dealers in other lines, probably can match the prices of the mail order houses. He probably has a $9 stove, which he can sell to the man who wants to get a stove for $8. The trouble is that the man who buys from the mail order house does not distinguish between price and quality.

Thinks he is Economizing.

The man who buys the $9 stove from the mail order house probably would not buy a $9 stove from his local merchant for in the latter case he would see just what he was buying and might realize that the $9 stove would not meet his needs. He orders a $9 stove from the mail order house, however, just because the price is $9 and not because he has any assurance that the stove will meet his needs. He thinks he will save a dollar or two by buying this stove, instead of paying $10 or $11 to the home merchant for one that he has seen and knows will give him satisfaction. The chances are that when the stove arrives and he has used it for a short time he will realize that he has practiced false economy—that it would have been more economical in the end for him to pay a dollar or two more to his home merchant and get an article that was guaranteed by the dealer.

The patron of the mail order house also often fails to take the matter of transportation charges into consideration when making his purchase. He sees only the price of the article as listed in the mail order catalogue and does not think of the express or the freight charges which with the cost of a money order and postage often make the total cost of the article greater than the price at which the same thing could have been purchased at the local store. Another case of false economy.

Buying merchandise of poor quality because the price is low is often false economy when the purchase is made at the home stores but it is doubly so when the merchandise is bought from a mail order house. When buying at home one can be reasonably sure that the article purchased at a low price, is right, while there is no such assurance when it is bought on the "sight unseen" plan.

The idea that the mail order houses sell the same quality of goods at lower prices than the home merchants is quickly exploded when one learns of the large profits that are made by the majority of the mail order houses and the large selling expenses to which they are subjected. The large mail order houses spend hundreds of thousands of dollars for advertising and the selling expenses of the smaller concerns are proportionately as large. Their other expenses, such as rent, taxes and labor, are also higher than those of the local retail merchants, in proportion to the business which they do. In spite of these heavy expenses, the mail orders houses distribute millions of dollars in dividends among their stockholders. In one large mail order concern the profits of the stockholders, in cash and stock dividends have aggregated as much as 1,000% on the capital invested in the short period of nine years. This does not indicate that the mail order houses are in business for their health and are giving away merchandize to their customers.

The mail order houses have capitalized the desire to economize that is inherent in almost every one. By placing price above quality and making cheapness the fundamental element in their business they have inculcated in the minds of their patrons the idea that they are economizing when they buy cheap goods at cheap prices.

PETERBORO WON TWO GAMES FROM COBOURG COLLEGIATE

TWO FAST GAMES PLAYED ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON.— THE SCORES.

The Cobourg Collegiate Institute basket ball team went down to defeat before the local Y. M. C. A. team by a score of 28-24 in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on Saturday afternoon. The Cobourg aggregation were out-classed all the way but fought hard.

Peterboro opened the game with a burst of speed, scoring several baskets. The tables turned soon, however, and for a time things looked dangerous for Peterboro, but they managed to keep on the top side of the score, the first score ending with the score 12-8 in favor of Peterboro.

In the second half Peterboro's superiority was more apparent, and they had less difficulty in keeping the upper hand. The play was faster, and both sides scored frequently, the period ending with the score 28-24 in favour of Peterboro.

P. C. I. VS. C. C. I.

The second game between the girls of the Cobourg Collegiate Institute, and the local Collegiate, was won by the P.C.I. girls by a score of 9-7, despite the fact that the P.C.I. team was handicapped by the illness of several of its best players.

Cobourg played hard but their defence was unable to stop the shots of the P. C. I. forwards during the first period which ended with the score of 7-4 in favour of the P.C.I.

In the second period the Cobourg girls found the weak spots in the Peterboro team and for a time threatened to even up the tally. P.C.I. held their own, however, and the game ended with the score 9-7 in favour of the P.C.I.

Following the two games the Cobourg teams were entertained in the Collegiate Institute by the P.C.I. Girls Athletic Association until train time. About 70 attended and the affair was a success from every standpoint.

BENEDICTS WILL PLAY BACHELORS

SUDDEN DEATH GAME ON THURSDAY NIGHT.

(Contributed.)

The greatest match of hockey ever played in Peterboro will take place Thursday night, Feb. 26th, when the married men of the DeLaval will meet the single men of the same company ,after which a team will be picked from to play the City League champions. The teams will be:

Married men: J. Creighton, Capt., goal; J. Murray, defence, F. Allan, defence; A. McWilliams, R. Wing; H. Allan, L. Wing; M. Meehan, centre; B. Garside, rover; subs, J. Downing, G. McDonald.

Single Men: W. Lightheart, goal; C. Lagendre, defence; A. Frick, Capt., defence; Doughty, R. Wing, F. Simmons, L. Wing; Lipsette, centre; F. Allan, Rover; Subs, Towdy, Clark.

The Married Men have figured in different teams in the past, Creighton having played on teams in Quebec and Montreal; also in Lindsay three years ago as goal for the Arsenal, when they won the city championship. J. Murray figured on the Trent Valley League as also did F. Allan, both playing defence. A. McWilliams played City League, being one of the best men on his team. H. Allan, M. Meehan, and B. Garside played in different church leagues; also in the Mercantile League. J. Downing and G. McDonald were City League Players. The married men being absent from hockey for some years have still a lot of pep and will give the single men a run if not a beating.

Although the hour is early in the evening it was the best and only hour that could be got at the time, so don't forget Thursday, February 26th, between 6 and 7 p.m. Good clean old-style hockey at the Brock street rink.

INDOOR BASEBALL.

The indoor baseball team of the Great War Veterans' Association will play a friendly game at the armouries to-night with the 57th Regiment, and the Machine Gun outfit.

BOSTON,—RabbitMaranville, star shortstop of the Boston National League baseball club, will continue to play in a Braves uniform this season, George W. Grant, President of the club, said to-day. It had been rumored that Maranville was to be traded.

"He belongs here, is a Boston institution and will not go elsewhere," Grant said. "He is the one player around whom we will have to build a club, so there is no chance of his getting away."

Nineteen of the Braves are reported to have signed 1920 contracts.

"THE RIGHT TO HAPPINESS"

At the edge of the Jewish quarter of old St. Petersburg, nineteen years ago, lives Andrew Hardcastle, an American millionaire, with his motherless twin girls, Dorothea and Vivian Hardcastle goes away overnight on a business trip, leaving the girls in care of their Jewish nurse. During his absence a Cossack pogrom against the Jews breaks out. Hardcastle's home is burned, the nurse is killed and the girls are separated, Dorothea being adopted by a Jewish family and reared in radicalism.

Hardcastle finds Vivian, takes her back to America, where she is brought up in idleness and luxury. The Russian twin becomes a radical leader, dominates the meetings and is finally sent to America to stir up unrest and strife. She is accompanied by Paul, her adopted brother, a peace-advocating adorer, and by Sergius, the fox, a sneaking Russian, also a leader in the radical cause.

Hardcastle has become money mad, intent on extorting the last penny and the last drop of blood from his associates and workmen. He refuses to employ returning soldiers, which results in a quarrel with his partner, Henry Forrester. The men separate and go their own ways. Forrester, an idealistic though practical American runs his factory on a different basis and thrives, while Hardcastle's men revolt at their inhuman treatment.

The Russian girl, now known as Sonia, the little comrade, finds fertile soil among Hardcastle's dissatisfied workmen. Forrester's contented workmen are impervious to her doctrines. At length Vivian, the American twin learns of the discontent and metamorphises from an idler into a missionary among the workmen's families. She works wonders with the help of Tom Hardy, her father's foreman.

Finally Sonia leads a crazed mob against her own father's palatial home not knowing, of course, who he is. Vivian reaches home after a mission of mercy about the same time. The girls meet and are strangely attracted to each other. Sonia saves her sister from the angry mob and is shot by a Russian agitator. The wounded girl is carried into her father's house, where he learns her identity before she dies. By her supreme sacrifice he comes to understand. He goes to the door and tells the mob of workmen of a new order of things. They cheer him and disperse.

Vivian marries Tom Hardy, the foreman, and the partnership of Hardcastle and Forrester is resumed on a model basis.

"A NIGHT IN HONOLULU"

In "A Night in Honolulu," which comes to the Grand next Saturday matinee and evening, the native Hawaiian singers and musicians will be found to occupy a great deal of the spectators' attention. Hawaiian music by the gifted native singers and players has been a great success in America, because it is different. The wistful beauty of the music seems to carry the American audience across the Pacific to the Island Paradise. The melodious strains of their quaint song and the accompaniment on native instruments is plaintive and fascinating. Mark Twain, after his first visit to the Hawaiian Islands, said in an interview: "The music of the Hawaiians —the most fascinating in the world— is still in my ears and haunts me

LADIES MEET THIS AFTERNOON

While the fifteen ladies who met at the Board of Trade this afternoon to organize a branch of the United Farm Women of Ontario were disappointed at the non appearance of Mrs. A. R. Brodie, who was prevented from attending by missing a train those who came proceeded to formulate plans under the direction of Mrs. Moore to organize the branch. The ideas of the majority of the ladies as to what the branch will mean were at the outset a little vague, each maintaining that the organization was "something along the lines of the U.F.O. Government."

WOMAN AND TWO CHILDREN BURNED IN HAMILTON HOME

HAMILTON, Feb. 22.—Shortly after he returned to his home after being on duty on Saturday night Police Sergeant Bert Thompson discovered that a shocking tragedy had occurred in the upper part of the house while he was reading the evening paper. Through it he lost his wife and daughter and an adopted daughter, who were burned and suffocated by smoke.

Sergeant Thompson, who resides at 475 Wilton street, was on duty until 11 o'clock. He then went home, and was reading the paper when he heard a noise in the upper part of the house. He at first thought it was caused by the children playing, and paid no further attention. A few seconds later he heard an agonized scream. He hurried upstairs to the attic, which was fitted up as a sleeping room, and opened the door. He was met with a blast of flame and a cloud of smoke. In stepping back hurriedly from this he fell down the stairway to the floor below and was partly dazed.

Finds All Three Dead.

When he came to his senses he awakened Lieut. Hotrum of the Fire Department, who resides in the same house, and an alarm of fire was turned in. Sergeant Thompson and Lieut. Hotrum then secured a ladder, and from the outside entered the room in which his wife and the two children had been sleeping. All three were then dead.

Fire had broken out in the attic from some cause not yet known and the three were probably rendered unconscious by the smoke as they slept. They had also inhaled fire, and were terribly burned internally and about the faces, the children being unrecognizable.

Severely Injured Himself.

Sergeant Thompson was severely burned about the face, head and hands, and is also suffering from a broken rib as a result of falling down the stairway. His condition is not thought to be serious, though he is suffering greatly from shock, as well as his bodily injuries.

His daughter was about twelve years of age, and his niece, Miss Denny, whom he had adopted, about the same age.

The fire did little damage to the attic, and was quickly put out by the firemen. Efforts were made to discover the cause of the fire, but without avail. There was a coal oil heater in the room, but it was quite cold. The fire apparently started in the rafters, and may have been the result of defective electric wiring.

PARIS, Feb. 23. — Another famous statesman has come forward to keep President Wilson company in believing that thirteen is a lucky number. He is M. Deschanel, the newly elected chief executive of France. Just after the election M. Deschanel remarked:
"My life is simplicity itself. I was born on the thirteenth; I was married on the thirteenth, and it was on the thirteenth that the Chamber declared me a candidate for the Presidency."

VOL. XLVI NO. 46 PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1920 PRICE TWO CENTS

WILL MAKE PEACE WITH THE RUSSIAN SOVIET GOVERNMENT

THE ALLIES PEACE TERMS FOR SOVIETS

REDS MUST ABANDON FOREIGN PROPAGANDA AND RECOGNIZE LOANS MADE PRIOR TO REVOLUTION.

TO-DAY'S SESSION

United Press.

LONDON, February 24. — The Council of Premiers has decided to notify Poland and Rumania not to attack the Russian Bolshevik, it was understood to-day. In the event these nations are attacked by the Soviet armies, however, the entente will guarantee its help

Terms for peace with Soviet Russia, as discussed by the council yesterday, were said to include demands that the Soviet government abandon its foreign propaganda and recognize the loans to the Russian governments preceding the Soviet.

The council's conference over the conditions of exchange and the high prices has been set down for Thursday.

It is understood the United States, according to information here, will be asked to participate.

Experts will be called in to confer with the council over the financial situation.

At to-day's session the French representatives were expected to enter their protest over the allotment of German shipping declaring France did not get a fair share.

TRADE WITH RUSSIA.

Canadian Press.

LONDON, Feb. 24. — Agreements of considerable importance were reached at yesterday's session of the Supreme Allied Council and an immediate announcement is expected according to some of the morning newspapers.

Resumption of trade relations with Russia, says the Mail, were decided upon in principle, though with some important reservations. The Soviet government will be asked on its part to abandon propaganda and recognize existing loans While the allies do not propose to encourage border states to war on the Bolsheviki, it is understod that decisions were reached with complete unanimity, and received the assent of Premier Millerand.

The resumption of political relations between the allies and Russia was not pressed, the Mail understands, so the problem of the recognition of the Societ republic remains unsolved.

Poland is said to have been won over to the British view, but Rumania is reported to have asked guarantees from the allies relative to the risks involved in direct negotiations with the Bolsheviki.

The representatives of the Baltic States and Finland are also said to have been promised support should there be further aggression on the part of the Soviet government.

Canadian Press.

PARIS Feb. 24 — The decision to treat with the Russia Soviets has been reached by the Supreme Council in effect, although perhaps in a roundabout way out of deference to the French and other "suscentibles," according to the foreign editors of the Parisian papers who are at present in London.

LIQUOR SUPPLIES ARE TUCKED AWAY

FEDERAL OFFICERS ON WARPATH IN MICHIGAN.

United Press.

IRON RIVER, Mich., Feb 24 — Iron County, Michigan Tuesday had more than three sheets to the wind Panic-stricken residents of this mining country, awaiting the approach of "huge bands of Federal officers armed with all modern implements of war" tacked their sheets to their shacks in token of surrender. Pillow cases and other articles a poaching whiteness were made to serve as tokens of surrende:

All night lanterns bobbed over the rugged country here as residents cached their supplies of home-made liquor. Some, uncertain as to their rights, destroyed their kegs and barrels, staining the snow with wines of high percentage.

Iron county's supply surrendered There will be no opposition to Maj. A. V. Dalrymple and his men when they arrive late to-night.

British Subject Vamped a Soldier and Was Deported

FIRST CASE ON RECORD WHERE A BRITISH SUBJECT WAS DEPORTED FOR SUCH AN OFFENCE.

STORY OF CASE

VANCOUVER, B.C., Feb. 24.—The first case where the Canadan immigration officials deported a British subject because he "vamped" a soldier with a long and honorable character at the front, furnishes a human interest story unique in Vancouver's official records in 1914. Reginald Barton left a wife and three young sons to fight for King and country, and was four years in France, most of the time a sergeant in the famous 7th B. C. Battalion. In London he met Marie Van Dervorgen, a British subject of Dutch parentage. He returned to his family here in April last year, borrowed money from the Soldiers' Settlement Board, set up in farming thirty miles from Vancouver. Marie, who is 26 and very pretty, graduate of the Khaki University in London, followed him here in August. She had no difficulty obtaining a position as teacher in a school near the Barton home. Two weeks ago she called and proposed that the wife give up her husband and her children, saying that she would not only educate the kiddies but would provide funds for Mrs. Barton's support. In the mist of the conversation the husband returned and though he appeared greatly surprised to learn that Marie was in the country, declared emphatically he intended to live with her Mrs. Barton brought her case to the Vancouver courts, proved the facts related and obtained an order for a weekly allowance from her husband. She has returned to her former home in Saskatoon to reside. Marie is being officially escorted back to London, and Barton is left in Vancouver with neither wife nor affinity.

NEW MARKET FOR CANADIAN GOODS

(Special to The Examiner.)

VANCOUVER, B.C., Feb. 24.—Five hundred tons of newsprint, two million feet of lumber, twenty thousand cases of salmon and American automobiles and sewing machines are the chief features of an eight thousand ton cargo which sailed Monday aboard the steamer "Canadian Importer," inaugurating the Canadian government steamer service to Australia and New Zealand. This is the "Importer's" maiden voyage and she is being followed by three other vessels of the same tonnage built in the Coughlan yards here. An immense amount of freight is offering and the new service promises big results from the start. British Columbia lumber manufacturers are reaping a harvest through high prices and the advantage of the American exchange, for twenty per cent. of the British Columbia cut goes to the United States. Cuba is the newest market for British Columbia timber. The steamer "Mont Cervin," which last week brought five thousand tons of sugar here, is now loading two million feet of dressed lumber for Havana.

DAIRY INTERESTS HELD A MEETING

DISCUSS PROSPECTS OF FORMING ONE BIG COMPANY.

Yesterday afternoon at a large and enthusiastic meeting of the farmers and dairy interests held in the Sons of England Hall to consider the proposition of the big co-operative dairy company the matter was thoroughly discussed.

Mr. R. B. Rogers opened the meeting with a brief address and referred to the work accomplished by the U. F. O. and used this as an illustration of what could be done by the dairy interests.

Mr. H. B. Cowan outlined the scheme of the organization and told the various steps which had led up to the proposal

Mr. Samuel Armstrong, President of the Shearer cheese factory of Indian River, said that he was in thorough sympathy with the proposition. He thought that the cheese industry is now more or less up against it in the localities where the producers could send the milk to the condensers. By statistics compiled from actual records at the Shearer factory he showed that it pays the farmers better to sell the milk to the condensary than to the cheese factories.

Advised Caution.

Mr. Hawthorne of Warsaw, advised caution on the part of the farmers before jumping into such a scheme. It is, he contended, a big thing and requires most careful consideration and investigation in all details before the producers should launch themselves into such an undertaking.

Mr. John Collins said that the producers are against a proposition which requires the co-operation of every farmer not only in Central and Eastern Ontario, but throughout the province. The enormous production of dairy products in Ontario warranted the establishment of a company such as has been proposed. It was so big, however, that the farmers of the Province as a whole should be content not only with a section of the Province.

Financial Phases.

Mr. J. W. Fraser, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, discussed the financial phases of the proposition and stated that he has no doubt that the banks are prepared to assist the scheme so far as the business warranted.

Offered the Milk Products.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie said that there are many difficulties in making the proposed company a reality, but with careful consideration and management there is no reason why it should not be a success.

Referring to the export cheese situation as influenced by the rate of exchange, he thought that this would right itself and that the industry has an exceedingly bright future. He stated that if the farmers of this section united in their desire to purchase the Peterborough Milk Products Company that he was willing to meet them half way, and should the sale take place he would lend every assistance towards the success of the company thereafter.

In the Chair.

Mr. Wallace Anderson, President of the U.F.O. for East Peterborough, occupied the chair.

A COUNTER BLAST FROM THE PRESS

Not in Favour of Expelling Turks From Constantinople.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Agitation in favour of expelling the Turks from Constantinople, which has been a conspicuous feature in one section of the press recently, and which has the support of religious and philanthropic bodies, met a counte. blast from another section of the London newspaper world to-day, which contended the question was one that could not be settled on sentimental considerations but must be left to matured deliberation of the Supreme Allied Council. The Daily Telegraph counsels those who support the plan to expel the Turks, "to give more unprejudiced study to new factors in the problem, especially Great Britain's position as a power which must not disregard the feelings of many millions of its Moslem subjects." Similar opinions are expressed in other journals, which call for consideration in the light of present circumstances.

Arrange to Organize a Local Order

MRS. A. R. BRODIE OF NEWMARKET ADDRESSED A GATHERING OF PETERBORO COUNTY FARM WOMEN.

With the object of helping the farm women of Peterboro County to organize, Mrs. A. R. Brodie, of Newmarket, president of the U.F.W.O., yesterday addressed a number of women in the Board of Trade rooms on the subject, and although no organization was formed due to the small representation of women present, the foundation was laid in appointing Miss M. E. Milburn, Miss Shaw and Miss Mary Garbutt to arrange for an organization meeting which will probably be called on Tuesday evening in conjunction with the U.F.O. meeting.

Meeting Late.

On account of the fact that Mrs. Brodie missed the train to the city, the meeting was postponed until late in the afternoon. In the meantime, Mrs. J. K. Mo... who occupied the chair, solicited ideas from the women present upon the appointment of officers.

Later Mrs. W. R. Morris, upon request of Mr. R. B. Rogers, addressed the ladies, and after explaining what the U.F.W.O. is based on exactly the same platform that all women societies are based upon, better schools and better conditions upon women and children generally, very strongly advised the ladies to organize. Women made a big mistake, she contended, if they do not belong to some organized women's club, in the fact that such organizations broaden the interests of women.

"You are on the right track," the speaker concluded, "in seeking organization. Where there is no Women's Institute it is only right that the women should organize the U. F. W. O. because the U.F.O. is what your husbands are interested in."

At the conclusion of her address, Mrs. Morris entertained the ladies at tea at Cressman's.

Mrs. A. R. Brodie.

Upon the arrival of the speaker of the afternoon the meeting was resumed. Mrs. Brodie said in part:

"We are the U.F.O. Our fees go to the men's secretary, which gives us power to vote at all men's meetings on all questions. We have all the privileges at the men's meetings but they have none at ours. We are in reality the Women's Auxiliary of the U.F.O. We have organized in 68 different rural communities since June of 1918, and the benefit over Women's Institutes which we enjoy is that only farm women are eligible for membership.

The one thing against the Women's Institutes lies in the fact that city women who were eligible for membership, had a tendency to dominate the meetings, and the city women do the talking for the farmers, absolutely squelching the farm women's view point.

For the purpose of obtaining the farm women's view point the U. F. W. O. has therefore been organized. We want the women to organize themselves.

The work of the Society is directed particularly at organizing the young people who are the hope of the country, and for the promotion of community work. We say think that the men can do all things that are necessary but the men cannot do work in women's interests. The U. F.W.O. is controlled altogether by the U.F.O. constitution, and it is nice to have a woman's section to it. It has been proven that the U.F.O. clubs do better when they have women in them. Men are apt to forget the social and educational part of rural life and devote themselves more to commercial interests.

She concluded by referring to the capable women the organization of U.F.W.O. Clubs have unearthed, and urging the women to develop their own plans for the proposed association.

Aims of the U.F.W.

The United Farm Women of Ontario endorse unreservedly the platform of the United Farmers of Ontario embodying as it does the absolute equality of the sexes socially, politically and economically.

Their aims:

1. To develop the personal ability of the farm women of Ontario.

2. To establish the responsibility of citizenship upon our women.

3. To make a definite attempt to establish co-operative or community helps to lighten women's labor on the farm.

4. To organize the farm women [illegible]

5. To co-operate with all other existing organizations whose aims are similar to our own.

Rousing Reception From Local U.F.O. For Premier Drury

BANQUET IN GREAT WAR VETERAN'S HALL WAS A BIG SUCCESS—STORY OF RURAL REVIVAL.

THE SPEAKERS

Yesterday was a red letter day in the history of the West Peterborough United Farmers' organization. A strenuous day's programme culminated in the evening with a banquet held in the Great War Veterans' Hall, at which Premier E. C. Drury was the guest of honor. The visitors at the guest table accommodated, among others, parliamentary representatives from various constituencies and well known citizens of public and private life. It was a rousing gathering and the programme was carried out without a hitch. Mr. R. B. Rogers was in the chair.

Mrs. A. R. Brodie, of Newmarket, president of the United Farm Women of Ontario, was the first speaker, replying to the toast of Mr. Allan Mann to the farm women of the province.

Mrs. Brodie spoke first of the U. F. O. Government and remarked upon the recognition of women's rights which their co-operation with the women conveyed In the past the women had occupied the corners of banquets such as the one of last evening and frequently listened to speakers not worth hearing and the present movement was partly the outcome of the women's decision to put men in the Government who were worth listening to. The U.F.W.O., she stated, would stand behind the U. F. O. Government as long as it did what was right.

The Different League.

Turning to a consideration of great work which lay before the women, Mrs. Brodie referred to the Liberty League's statement that woman's place was in the home as a true one that "home" to a woman was where her husband and children were. Men, she believed, were inclined to think first of the commercial side of life, women of the social and educational. Education offered a great field for readjustment. The educational system today held nothing that appealed to the rural child. Education in Ontario had become centred in the City of Toronto.

In closing, Mrs. Brodie made a plea for co-operation and stated that both the country and city had been asleep long enough. Agriculture, she believed must be put on a paying basis.

R. B. Rogers.

Mr. R. B. Rogers, President of the local U.F.O., proposed the toast to the Government and the Premier and stated that the Government and its policy was one which would commend itself to the great mass of the people and would make our province one of the best governed in the country and the world and one which would give due reward to industry, labour, and capital.

Premier Drury.

Premier Drury was greeted with prolonged applause which was repeated when he read a telegram confirming the afternoon reports of the election by acclamation of Hon. W. E. Raney in East Wellington. He welcomed the opportunity not only of meeting the men and women of the soil but also of telling the people of the city some of things the Legislature intended to do for this province.

"The matter of governing this province is a big and important thing, and yet I think we shall reach a satisfactory conclusion. For I have confidence in the men of my Cabinet, the men of the Legislature who are behind me and especially of the men and women of this province who are behind me."

The 20th of last October, he said, saw something more than the defeat of two political parties. It was the occasion of the rebirth of the influence of the rural part of the province. The trend of affairs in education, in the church and economics had been cityward. The rural people had forgotten themselves. Then they began to wake up. They saw that something was wrong, that the farms were being steadily depleted and the best blood was being drained off the farms into the towns and cities. They began to take action and though the farmers of Ontario move less quickly than their friends in the west when they do move they move surely and they stick.

A SMALL FORCE CAPTURED PORT.

Several Small Boats Succeeded in Escaping from the "Reds."

Canadian Press:

CHRISTIANIA, Feb. 24. Refugees arriving at Vardo from Murmansk state that the Bolshevik forces which assaulted and captured the latter port numbered only five thousand strong and assert that the losses on both sides were slight. Two Russian steamers and several small boats succeeded in escaping with refugees.

It was announced in the British Parliament that there will be organized celebration on future Empire Day.

MORE MONEY WANTED FOR THE DEFENCE

LABOUR MEN WILL MAKE EFFORT TO RAISE ANOTHER $75,000.

COST ONE MILLION

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 24.—Two hundred thousand dollars out of the pockets of the workers of Canada, will have been expended for the defence of the leaders of the Winnipeg general strike before the series of trials, now under way here, is completed. This is the estimate of the workers defence committee, which has charge of the campaign for funds.

The full quota of $120,000, which was the objective of our campaign, and which we thought would be enough, has been raised, James Law, secretary of the committee, said today. "But we will need at least $75,000 to $80,000 more before the trials are ended." There is just enough of the $120,000 left to meet expenses until March 1st. It is an assured fact that the trials will extend beyond that date, so an appeal for an additional minimum fund of $75,000 is to be made to Labor throughout the Dominion. The expenses of the Crown have been about the same as those of the defence. It was estimated two weeks ago that the government at that time had spent nearly $100,000 in prosecuting the strike leaders.

By the time the last trial is concluded and "finis" is written at the end of the last chapter of the Winnipeg general strike, it is likely that close upon $1,000,000 will have been spent by the Manitoba, Winnipeg and Dominion governments and by organized Labor in deciding whether the strike was justified or whether it was a conspiracy against constitutional government.

Although no definite action has been taken in the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council to have "International" members of the Workers' Defence committee withdraw to form an Independent Defence committee, it is only a mater of a few days before this will be done, according to International officials at the Labor Temple.

It will be impossible to interest the rank and file of the International unions in raising funds unless the work is undertaken independently of the One Big Union members," one stated.

THE SENTENCE WAS SUSPENDED

WIFE AND THREE CHILDREN RETURN TO HAMILTON.

The case of Wm. Foristaine was disposed of in this morning's Police Court, when the Magistrate let the Ukranian off on suspended sentence, providing he paid the costs of the court, which amounted to $15.10, or put in 20 days in the county jail. The alleged seducer of Mrs. Bovchuck chose the former as the lesser of the two evils, and the fine was paid forthwith. Meanwhile Mrs. Bovchuck with the three children has returned to her hubby in Hamilton.

BIG BRITISH SQUADRON ANCHORS IN THE BOSPHORUS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 23.—A British squadron, consisting of five battleships and four torpedo destroyers, under the command of Admiral Fremantle, arrived on Saturday and anchored in the Bosphorus, near the Italian and French battleships in the waterway, and within a stone's throw of the Parliament Building, where the Peace discussians are taking place.

The newspapers are so jubilant over the retention of Constantinople by the Turks that details of the possible Peace Treaty are overshadowed.

SEALS KILLING FISH.

London, Eng.—Inspector H. Donnison, reporting to the Eastern Sea Fisheries Committee at King's Lynn, stated that seals were increasing in the Wash, and they were very destructive to fish. The sandbanks were convenient breeding places, and the seals, with their young, resembled herds of sheep. The Local Governmnt Board has stopped payments to fishermen for destruction of the seals.

$25 WORTH ONLY $10.

London Eng.—"The salary of $25 is at present worth $10," wrote Dr. Simonds to the Chippenham Board of Guardians, "and I resign my position as medical officer to the cottage home." The board decided to advertise for a successor.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

SHORT STORY

"His Last Cent"

By RALPH HAMILTON

(Copyright, 1919, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Will you buy a tag—orphan children day."

She was a winsome, clear-eyed girl of eighteen, under her arm a bundle of small streamers for automobiles, one hand holding the tags, the other a pasteboard box with a slit in it to receive donations. She was a real charity worker, for she allowed nobody to pass her post in front of a large bank without verbally presenting her plea for the dependent little ones.

The young man appealed to did not look very responsive, for his face was serious and thoughtful. He paused in an abstracted way. Then the sweet, smiling face transmitted a lightening expression to his own. He uttered a short laugh, somehow bitter and cynical, yet there was a certain jauntiness to it. He drew from his pocket a coin with the words:

"My last cent!"

"Oh, no!" impulsively exclaimed Miss Eva Dutton, as she made out that the contribution represented a twenty-dollar gold piece. She put out a pretty hand to halt the donation and her fingers brushed those of Allen Wayne. "We usually receive a dime, or fifty cents—but all that money."

"It's all right," declared Wayne cheerily, and the coin jingled musically among its minor brethren in the receptacle.

"But—your last cent?" fluttered the sympathetic Miss Dunton.

"It couldn't go for a better cause, could it?" interrogated Wayne.

"Please—please," interrupted Eva. Wayne started to move away. The melow voice and innocent eyes attracted him mightily. "All that money means a great deal for the little ones and we would like to make a record of it in your name."

"Very well, if that is any point with you," said Wayne, producing a card, "although I deserve no credit for what you seem to regard a generous contribution. Truth is, I am glad to clear the deck of all I owe and own and begin all over again with a clean sheet. I have been disappointed in my business, have decided to abandon it, and I suppose I can find an honest living in road making, or digging in a mine, or other decent labor."

"Papa," spoke Miss Eva Dunton that evening in her luxurious home, "what is a statistician?"

"A statistician, my dear, a good one," came the response, "is a person we have been advertising for and need very urgently."

"Then, papa, this will interest you," and flushing slightly Eva handed her father the card, reading: "Allen Wayne, statistician," with an office address. "This gentleman, I think, is looking for a position and is very worthy. He—that is—he assisted our fund today very generously and is, I am sure, a worthy young man."

"I will have my secretary write to him in the morning," said Mr. Dunton, pocketing the bit of pasteboard. Which he did, and a week later Allen Wayne found himself occupying a very satisfactory position with Dunton & Company packers, and he took a new grasp on life.

"That little donation to the orphan children's fund seems to have brought me good luck," he told himself half-jocularly more than once.

He went into the office of Mr. Dunton one afternoon to report on some special work, when he noticed a female figure seated at the desk. The stenographer approached her.

"Your father phones he will be here in an hour, Miss Dunton," she said.

"Very well," came the reply, "I will wait for him," and then, turning, she revealed to the astonished gaze of Wayne the pretty applicant for charity funds.

"You—you remember me?" half-stammered Wayne.

"I could not readily forget so generous a contributor to our little ones," she said sweetly. A quick thought came to Wayne.

"Miss Dunton," he spoke in his clear, open way, "I half suspect my present pleasant position is due to your influence."

"If so," she replied, "was it not your due to receive co-operation from those who appreciated your liberality?" And Wayne's heart warmed at this signal token of the interest of a particularly lovely and thoughtful young lady.

"Could you come home to dinner with me tomorrow evening and help my women folk untangle some human interest statistics?" Mr. Dunton invited two days later, and Wayne found himself submerged in new duties most pleasant and harmonious.

Wayne's eyes chanced to meet those of Eva one evening when they two were alone, their heads close together, poring over a resume of their mutual work. The direct theme they were scanning was comprised in an item emphasizing the fact that married people lived longest and averaged the higher happiness of life.

Eva flushed in pretty embarrassment. Wayne held her glance, his own replete with unspoken tenderness. Electrically at that moment there passed from soul to soul the speedy, unerring passage that love transmits wholly only once in each human experience.

THE HOUSE WREN.

A Good Little Friend That Should Be Protected From Sparrows.

A little friend worth having is the wren. During its working hours it will pry into nooks and crannies about the garden and orchard, picking up grasshoppers, spiders, beetles, thousand legged worms—anything which isn't too big for it to carry off. When it is through work it will perch on the front porch of its little home, lift its head and sing a warbling little song that will delight your heart.

It is called the house wren because it prefers a little box house for its home. A generation ago it built a nest in holes in trees, in hollow fence rails or even in an old hat. Then came the sparrow, and the wren's nest was raided.

Since then the wren's only refuge is in a nest which has a door too small to admit its enemy, the sparrow. If you want the wren to spend a summer with you build a home with a door not more than an inch in diameter. This will bar the sparrow and give the smaller bird easy entry.

Years of continuous fighting against the sparrows has given the wren a temper like a spoiled child. It ruffles its feathers at the slightest interruption. When it has its own way, with a good home and plenty to eat, it is as cheerful as a Sunday school picnic.

FALL SEVEN STORIES AND LANDS ON HIS FEET.

NEW YORK. — Compound fractures of both ankles and feet were the only serious injuries sustained by John Ralph Williams, army chauffeur, of 78 Charles street, when he landed on his feet after falling seven stories from the roof of 100 West Eighty Ninth street, where he had gone to take the air while attending a party.

Williams was taken to the Knickerbocker Hospital by Dr. Scina. His head was also bruised after his spectacular landing right side up.

GETTING READY FOR DOG RACE

ALL KINDS OF DOGS ENTERED IN RACE.

Canadian Press.

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 24—Alaska Malmutes, Collies, Greyhounds, sheep dogs and northern huskies are the species of animals entered in the Hudson Bay Dog Derby classic which will be held here on March 17. The race is run from The Pas to Sturgeon Landing and return, a distance of 100 miles, for a purse of $1,000 and the Derby Cup. The teams will be sent away from scratch after dark on Tuesday, March 16, finishing it is expected 12 hours later on the Saskatchewan River. It is a no-stop race and the first over the finishing line will be declared the winner.

Previous races have been run in blizzards making the trails blind and the going very rough, tiring the dogs and cutting down the time to 15-hours. With anything like fair weather conditions this time may be bettered by 3 or 4 hours. The entry of Walter Gerne, the Alaska musher, with his string of malmutes has made it difficult to select the favorite. Eliminating Gerne from consideration experienced dog men believe Larry McKay, of Grand Rapids, looms up the most promising. McKay finished second in last year's derby. He drives a wild Barren Lands wolf team, nervous and fierce with enough fleetness of foot to outdistance anything in the race if they can be controlled and kept to the trail.

The Hayes and Campbell brothers are well drilled in derby fixtures and like the other large number of entries they are keeping to the bush, training their teams and laying low for surprises. So far the entry list comprises the following well known mushers: Larry McKay, Joe St Goddard, Jack and Bill Hayes, Gabriel and Bateese Campbell, Chas. Dysart, Bill Grayson, Vernon Walker, Walter Broosk, J. Bjorkman, Jack Quickley, Billy Rusick, Walter Ross, Chas. Partridge, Billy Lundy, Adam Ballentine, Sam. Pranteau, Harry Sanderson, Johnny Turner and Silas Partridge.

RESTORING OF ST. GERVAIS.

Paris Church Struck by "Big Bertha" to be Rebuilt by October.

PARIS.—The work of restoring the Church of St. Gervais, which was struck by a "Big Bertha" shell on Good Friday, 1918, killing fifty-four persons, will begin March 1.

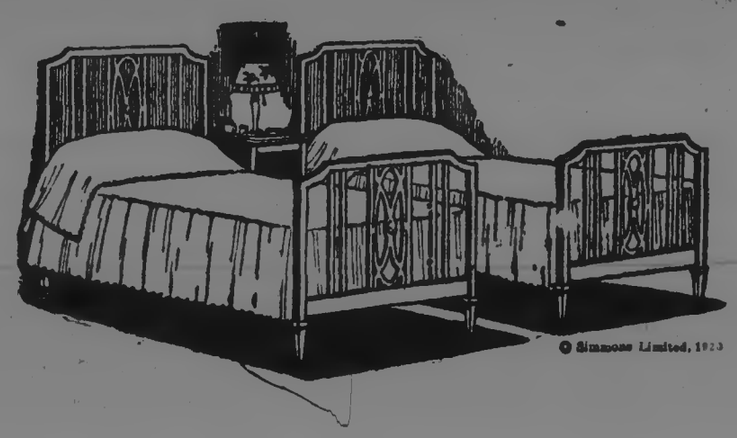
It is expected that the restoration will be completed by October, in time to celebrate the five hundredth anniversary of the consecration of the edifice in 1420.

GUELPH HAS $25,000 FIRE

Blaze in Taylor-Forbes Plant Makes 100 Men Idle.

GUELPH, Feb. 21.—A fire, which broke out in the core room of the Taylor-Forbes plant here yesterday resulted in a $25,000 loss and as a result nearly 100 men will be thrown out of employment temporarily. Two firemen had a miraculous escape from death when a section of the roof caved in on them. They were taken out, however, practically unhurt.

Why do Some Folks Dream All Night



IF you are one of those healthy individuals who "never" dream, be sure you are a deep sleeper. Your sleep does you lots of good.

You'll never get sound, refreshing sleep unless you relax. You can't relax in a bed that rattles or groans—or on a spring that squeaks every time you move.

The least noise keeps the nerves on edge. You may not wake up—but your nerves will. That's one reason you dream.

o o o

WHAT you need for deep, dreamless sleep all night is a perfectly quiet bed and a spring that invites complete relaxation.

That is why folks sleep so much better on a Simmons Metal Bed and a Waldorf Box Spring.

The Simmons Bed is noiseless. It locks firm at the corners. The corner locks are made of pressed steel—have much longer bearing surfaces than the average—fit true and snug—not a creak, rattle, or feeling of unsteadiness.

The Simmons Pressed Steel Corner Locks are protected by basic patents—exclusive with Simmons Limited, not to be duplicated or imitated.

And these patented corner locks have made possible the Three-piece Bed—the new Simmons idea—the spring forming a single unit with the side rails.

o o o

THE Waldorf Box Spring really does what you have always wanted a spring to do.

It invites complete relaxation.

It supports the body at ease on fine resilient spring coils—each coil conforming freely to the contours, so that the spine is perfectly rested, whether one sleeps on the back or on the side.

It fits firmly on the bed—never sags or humps, never loses its resiliency.

THE most advanced thought of the day about sleep is "a separate bed for each sleeper," either in a separate room or in a Twin Bed. Physicians have been urging Twin Beds for years—and Simmons Limited has long made a specialty of Twin Beds.

They are welcomed by people of nice feeling everywhere.

o o o

Simmons Beds offers you a wonderful choice of brass, and enamel in colors and in beautiful natural wood effects to match your bedroom decorations.

And when you are selecting your Simmons Beds with an eye to their appearance in the room, you will see that Simmons has for the first time established beautiful and authoritative design in Metal Beds.

If you like, we will send you the names of merchants in this community who can give you Simmons Beds, Waldorf Box Springs, Mattresses and Pillows.

Sleep is a big subject! Write us for the brochure, "What Leading Medical Journals and Health Magazines Say about Separate Beds and Sound Sleep." Free of charge.

THE PREMIER'S VISIT.

Nobody who attended the banquet of the Farmers' Clubs in the G.W.V.A. Hall could doubt the genuineness of the welcome that was tendered Hon. E. C. Drury, Premier of Ontario. Nor could anyone, in view of the gathering of five hundred farmers, their wives and daughters, fail to be impressed by the new spirit of co-operation among the farmers that made Mr. Drury's election as Premier possible. The Farmer leader was tendered an enthusiastic ovation, and his address, while it covered little new ground, served to increase his prestige among his followers and did him no harm at least among those present who could not be described as members of his flock. To those who had followed the published reports of the speeches the Premier has made since his entrance into Ontario political life, his remarks last night were disappointing to the extent that they did not deal with any new topics or with the older ones in a new way. But for all that, Hon. Mr. Drury made a favorable impression. He is a facile, pleasing speaker, with a keen insight into the problems of farm life, and with a full appreciation of the responsibilities of the position which the peaceful revolution of October, 1919, has made it necesary for him to fill. The new Premier is not handicapped by lack of confidence in himself or his associates. His cabinet are all good men who were chosen for their ability to carry out the duties of their respective portfollos, he informed his audience. And he repeated his frequently-made promise that his is by no means to be a class government, but at the same time the grievances of the rural population will be righted. Hydro power is one of the things that the farms must have, and in the Premier's opinion no where would it produce better results, so that if there is not enough electrical energy to go round, some other interests may have to do without.

Mr. Drury's interest in the Federal field cropped out several times in the course of his short address. The tariff has always been the Premier's hobby, but it has no place in Ontario politics. At the same time, however, he took advantage of the opportunity to warn the farmers to "keep their powder dry" for the big fight that is coming in the Federal arena.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Friends of daylight saving will applaud the efforts of the Canadian Manufactures' Association to secure the opinion of labour in Canada upon the question of a daylight saving act this summer. It has been suggested that the best way to obtain the necessary information is for each manufacturer in the country to take a straw vote of his employees and forward the figures to the headquarters of the Manufacturers' Association at Toronto. By a general following of this plan an accurate survey of the opinion of the workers of Canada could be attained and it is confidently expected that the result would be so overwhelmingly in favour of daylight saving as to justify an appeal to the Federal Government for the passing of the necessary act. It is the workers and not the leisure class that benefit by the extra hour of sunlight and an opportunity to record its opinion would obtain from Labour an unmistakable mandate in favour of daylight saving. The result of a straw vote taken in the printing trades at Montreal is proof of this statement for while 1700 employees voted in favour of the new time there were only 43 who were opposed to the system, almost 40 to 1 for daylight saving. A canvass of local factories would provide valuable data with which to approach the Dominion Government, or in the event of a failure in the national arena, to impress upon the City Council the desirability of a local adoption of the new time.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

The election by acclamation of Hon. W. E. Raney in East Wellington yesterday was a pleasant surprise to the new Government. There has been more or less anxiety in connection with the Attorney-Generalship ever since Hon Mr. Raney's selection for the position was announced. Great difficulty was experienced in opening a seat for him and the declaration of Lieut.-Col. Pritchard that he would be a candidate against the Attorney-General was not comforting news to Premier Drury and his associates, Col. Pritchard with a good record as a soldier, a life-long resident of the constituency and a former Warden of the County loomed up as very dangerous opposition and his last-minute withdrawal must have decidedly welcome. The Premier and his ministers now hold seats in the Legislature and all the preliminaries have resulted favourably for the new Administration. The way is now open for an early session of the Legislature and a putting into effect of some of the reforms that have been promised by the U.F.O.-Labour Government.

THE "COLLEGIATE ECHOES."

After an absence of several years that bright little mirror of Peterboro Collegiate Institute activities, "Collegiate Echoes" has made a welcome re-appearance. The current number compares most favourably with the best of its predecessors, containing several well written articles on subjects of general interest as well as a number of poems in a lighter vein and some school jokes, the brightness of which will be appreciated by those to whom school days are only a memory as well by the pupils themselves. There is an editorial section and a sports department, the editor of which laments the lack of interest in athletics among the students—and the teachers too, for the latter are reminded that "in a school the teachers have to a large extent the regulation of this (sport) in their hands and if sympathetic interest is not taken by them it is not hard to see that very little can be done by the pupils themselves." The sports section is illustrated by some pen and ink cartoons well drawn by R. E. McBrien. A. H. McClure is managing editor of the Echoes and Miss Muriel Harvey, Miss Marjorie Ingall and Max R. Sloan as sub-editors. The cheery little magazine is published by the Collegiate Literary Society and will be a welcome visitor in many homes.

MUST CARRY ON.

In puoting from an editorial in the Examiner in connection with the Armenian Relief Fund, the Toronto Globe pays a tribute to the spirit which has been shown by contributors in Peterboro and throughout the country in regard to the campaign.

"It is the spirit which has prevaded contributors to this fund from its inception that finds expression in an editorial in last Thursday's issue of The Peterboro' Examiner" says the Globe "From the commencement this vigorous and enterprising contemporary has volunteered its cooperation and assistance in the campaign. It opened its columns for a Peterboro' branch of the Canadian effort, and, up to the present, there has been contributed by residents of that city, through The Examiner, the splendid total of $3,549.11."

"The Examiner is right" continues the article. "For all that has been done there is the deepest appreciation, both at home and in the field. But the need was never greater than it is at this time. While Governments have played international politics the barbarous Turk has been at his old butchery. It was not until this latest horror aroused the civilized world that Allied Administrations realized that the Christian peoples who by individual endeavor and giving had been seeking to succor and to save the starving remnant of martyred Armenia were demanding effective action on the part of their representatives in dealing with this ruthless Islam monster. But the ways of international diplomacy are tortuous and pitifully slow. While the nations make up their minds how best to deal with the situation the persecuted people are dying. And, in their extremity, they are dependent still upon the goodness and generosity of individual hearts."

JOHN BULL, NO QUITTER.

Many American papers are making a great fuss over the fact that the United States loaned $9,450,000,000 to the Allies during the past five years. They are hailing this achievement as an unparalleled feat in finance and are claiming that they are the world's greatest credit nation.

We must admit that nine and a half billions is a pretty tidy sum, but Uncle Sam must not run away with the idea that he is the whole show. There is sturdy old John Bull, for instance. John got into the fighting game right at the drop of the hat, put an unheard of number of men into the field, swept the Germans from the High Seas, supplied his Allies with foodstuffs, munitions and money—and kept this up for three long years while Uncle Sam hesitated—but while considering whether it was "to be or not to be" managed to grow rich out of war orders.

Great Britain while a borrower in the United States to the extent of $4,210,000,000 loaned over twice that sum or $8,700,000,000 to the Allies. That does not look as if Old John was a down and outer or that the Old Lady of Threadneadle Street was about to go into liquidation.

The truth is that John Bull is a sturdy Atlas bearing the burdens of a war wearied and war wrecked world. He fought with his back to the wall for years, putting every ounce of effort into the struggle and now, when it is all over he is feeding half of Europe from his own meagre stores and policing half of the rest of the world. He is a weary Titan, but he is no quitter.—Farmers' Sun.

IN BOR SMALLPOX.

In ancient times, in days of old,
When Job had smallpox, we are told,
So close the itching boils were spread
Over his form, from heel to head,
As a forlorn and desperate hope,
With the tormenting itch to cope,
He took him a sharp potsherd, Oh,
And carried him from top to toe.

But still the torture was so great,
Rashly he cursed his cruel fate,
Although we all have heard the boast,
That he had patience more than most,
Yet who his reckless wrath will blame
But those who never felt the same;
Ah, he had one on us I ween
For he had no vile quarantine.

Then, all were free to come who might,
Take [illegible] on his wretched plight,
What if their senseless want of tact,
His harassed soul, with anger racked,
The grim alternative thus stood,
Cold comfortors or solitude;
T'was Hobsons choice, yet who would choose
The greater ill, and friends to lose.

But we may no such comfort draw,
For the relentless hand of law,
Has plainly written on our wall
A warning strict to one and all;
On pain of penalty full sore,
Darken ye not, this stricken door,
So we are prisoners while that card
Keeps o'er our home, grim watch and ward.
Is this Justice I'd like to know,
Treating a free born Canuck so,
Uncondemned and unarranged,
With hands by heinous crime unstained,
Interned in his own castle hall
Like enemy alien, or homeborn thrall,
With churlish minion of law, to sneer
At my hard fate and keep me here.

Yet after all, for others sake,
[illegible] strict to take,
For none so vile, as wish to see,
Such plague on his worst enemy,
And friends, my knowledge dearly bought,
I'll freely give to you for nought,
Be vaccinated, while ye may,
Lest to the scourge you fall a prey.
And suffer, like to those erst while,
Who blessed the good Duke of Argyle.

Perhaps as Job, by ills distraught,
We've railed, more than we really ought
But Selkirks solitude was bliss
Compared with tedious term-like this;
T'is said, Chillon's lone prisoner free,
Still loved his dungeon cell, but we
Will be as glad as we can be,
To gain once more, sweet Liberty.

BE SURE THE ICE-HOUSE IS FILLED.

While the raw winds blow and the temperature is below zero, perhaps we may feel inclined to look upon the task of drawing ice as more trouble than it is worth, but the advantage gained by the possession of a number of blocks of well-stored ice will, in the long run, show the wisdom of establishing and yearly replenishing an ice-house.

The cool drink that comes to the hay field is one instance that proves a cause of congratulation that an effort was made to gather the winter harvest of the river.

The food in the house may be kept in a much fresher condition where ice has become part of the farm supplies. The soft water, too, from the melted ice, will prove an acceptable means of washing.

It is not a difficult matter to keep ice; about forty cubic feet of space per ton of ice is about the right basis on which to plan storage. No floor is needed, and if the soil under the building is light and porous, it should be ample for drainage.

The earth should be covered by about one foot of small stones or cinders, and about the same depth of sawdust should be under the ice. A foot of space should be allowed between the ice and the walls of the ice house, the space being filled in with sawdust. The top layer of ice should be covered with one foot of sawdust.

THE ADMIRABLE TOWSER.

"I've got the most wonderful dog in the world—the smartest, I mean," said one of a party camping in Canada last fall. "When I bring out my rifle he knows I'm going after deer and he never offers to follow me; but if he sees me reach for my shotgun he knows that means patridges, and when I get to the woods I find him there waiting for me. Actually that dog knows the difference between a rifle and a shotgun."

"That's nothing," said Frank Packard from his place at the other side of the fire. "You fellows have seen my little Towser, haven't you? Well, when I begin to get out my fishing kit Towser runs up behind the barn and begins digging worms!"

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

EVERETT EXPLAINS TO SANDRA

CHAPTER LV.

When I found the little apolgetic note gone, I fairly raved in my disappointment and anger. That I should so have humiliated myself, and for nothing! I rushed into my own room, almost knocking Mrs. Gray down as she passed me in the hall.

"Why, what is it?" she asked, staring at me.

"Please come to my room. I want to ask you a question," I panted.

"What is it?" she asked with real concern in her voice after I had closed the door.

"Was she—the first—Mr. Graham's first wife, was she awfully smart and did she read and study after she was married?"

"She was smart, yes ,very bright and witty. But I don't think she studied much after she was married She read a good deal tho—mostly novels."

"Did she give up all her young friends and stay at home?"

"Why—no— she had a good many who came here, and whom she visited. May I ask you why you are making yourself unhappy over these things, Mrs. Graham?"

"I want to do as she did. Mr. Graham admired her. I would like to know all she did to win his admiration," I answered, my pride uppermost for once. I would not complain, altho I knew well enough that Mrs. Gray realized that something out of the ordinary was the matter with me.

I determined not to go down to dinner. I told Mrs. Gray my head ached, and asked her to excuse me to Mr. Graham. I would have some tea and toast later.

In about ten minutes after she had left me, and while I sat dismally starn out of the window, seeing nothing because of my tears, Everett rapped.

"Come in," I said hastily drying my eyes.

"Mrs. Gray tells me you wish to be excused from dinner. If you are really ill, Sandra, I will gladly excuse you, but if you are simply giving way to temper because you can't go to tea with Mrs. Sloane and her guest, I shall expect you in your place as usual." Then, without waiting for any reply, he left me.

There was no use to pretend with him. He saw thru my every subterfuge. 'So I bathed my face, and dressed, then joined him at the table. As usual with him, he made no reference to what had happened, but talked easily upon different subjects Then, after we had finished our coffee, he said:

"I will explain the course of study I have laid out for you." He drew a chair for me and one for himself up to the library table. Then he took from his pocket a folded paper on which were a list of books, and the hours to be devoted to the persual or study of each subject.

Shamed, embarrassed tears filled my eyes. I had graduated from high school, and had been one of the first scholars in my studies. He noticed, and said:

"I trust we are to have no trouble about this."

"But it is as if you thought me a know-nothing. As if I never had been to school. I feel so ashamed to have anyone know."

"That shows your childishness. I would give a great deal if I had the time to take up a course of study." It was on my lips to say that if he remained away from Mrs. Barton's and the club he would have the time, but instead I said nothing —just cried softly.

"May I ask you one question, Everett, and will you answer me?"

"Yes."

"When you were my age, 19, didn't you want any young company? Were you contented to be with older people all the time? And when you were asked somewhere just with two boys your own age, wouldn't you have felt badly to be told you had to stay home and study?"

"It seems to me you have asked three questions instead of one. But I will answer 'yes' to them all. But that was because I did not know at that age what was best for me. What I do for you is because I am trying to make your future happy." I said no more. What was the use? But I cried myself to sleep.

The next day Mrs. Barr came. But I disliked her from the moment I saw her, and instead of listening or trying ot understand the lesson in French. I was thinking of Mrs. Sloane and her charming niece Marion, and wondering what they thought of me for not coming after my promise.

Had I known Barrett Edmonds was with them, and that they had told him I had accepted, then excused myself, I would have been more chagrined than I was.

To-morrow—Mrs. Gray Gives Sandra Wise Counsel.

FARMERS ARE IN CLOVER IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE

(Canadian Press.)

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 24.—Five or six thousand dollars a day is a fairly good income. It represents the revenue which farmers in the Leduc district derive from the marketing of grain, livestock and general farm produce on days when weather, roads and railway car accommodation are especially favorable. Taken the season through it will be seen that the total value of the district's farm production looks like the financial statement of the Standard Oil Company in a palmy year. Over 750,000 bushels of excellent grain has already been sold in Leduc since threshing was begun last fall. About 660,000 bushels have been shipped, with the balance in the elevators. Owing to a protracted freight car shortage the grain movement has been slow for the most part of the winter and only recently outgoing shipments were speeded up sufficiently to permit hauling from the farms to reach capacity.

DRUG STORE RAVAGED BY FIRE

Did Big Business in Prescriptions.

(Canadian Press.)

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 24.—When a block in which was located a drug store was ravaged by fire in Riverside, Calgary, a temperance worker rushed in and rescued the liquor prescription file, later turning it over to Rev. H. H. Bingham, pastor of the First Baptist church, Calgary. Mr. Bingham told Premier Charles Stewart and other members of the Cabinet that the man who examined the file of prescriptions said they showed that the drug store had been selling from $14,000 to $16,000 worth of liquor a month.

WILD LIFE ALMOST EXTINCT

Chief Game Guardian Makes Appeal For Protection.

(Canadian Press.)

REGINA, Sask., Feb. 24.—"As a matter of fact, unless steps are taken immediately to give reasonable protection to beneficial wild life, it is only a matter of time before most species will be exterminated. The buffalo in its wild state is now extinct, and the antelope and the elk are the next candidates for oblivion, if drastic measures are not soon taken to save them." That is the prediction of Chief Game Guardian Fred Bradshaw in the course of an appeal to the young people of the province to protect Saskatchewan's wild life from destruction.

CACHE OF GERMAN GUNS FOUND ON SYLT ISLAND.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 23. — The Berlingske Tidende's Flennsburg correspondent states the International Commission has discovered 42 German cannon and ten machine guns in working order on Sylt Island, off Schleswig-Holstein.

Officers commanding the batteries, the correspondent says, were dressed in civilian clothes, and had forbitten the International Police to enter their territory after ten o'clock at night. It is said that British troops will replace the Germans.

DRY LAND PRESERVERS TAKEN FROM SAILORS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A dry land preserver is the latest idea of sailors in this port. Two tars from a ship in the harbour were stopped by customs officers as they were leaving the vessel. Each wore a tin preserver around his waist, and each tin contained about a gallon of whisky. The life-preserving element of the belts was seized by the officers.

FIX AGE LIMIT FOR ARMY OFFICER IN THE FRENCH SERVICE.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—A Bill regulating the age limit of army officers has been introduced in the Chamber of Deputies by the Ministers of War and Finance. Under its terms, the age limit for Generals and Colonels would be 62, for Division Generals 60, for Brigadier-Generals 59. No age limit for a Marshal is provided.

KILL NEGRO PATIENT VICTIM OF HYDROPHOBIA

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 23.—Jesse Toliver, a negro, who was bitten two years ago by a pet dog, developed hydrophobia here and was shot and killed by officers who were called to subdue him, after he had attacked nurses at a hospital where he was being treated.

DIDN'T REMEMBER MARRYING SO ASKS FOR A DIVORCE.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 23—His memory a complete blank regarding his being wedded on Nov. 27 1918, Samuel Z. Brown, 58, whose home is in White Plains, but who is now staying with friends in this city, yesterday applied to Supreme Court Justice Morschauser for an annulment of his marriage to Mary E. Brown. Justice Morschauser reserved decision for a few days.

HARDLY WORTH MENTIONING

As Al Stewart, who runs a hotel in New Orleans tells the tale, a 90-year-old negro man, who was homeless, penniless, infirm and crippled, crawled into a hayloft in a strange neighborhood to spend his last hours.

The darky who owned the hay saw a suspicious figure slinking into his stable and came with his shotgun to make the intruder a prisoner. Cautiously entering the stable he detected a rustling in he hay and aimed his gun in the direction whence the sound came and yelled out:

"I got you—dog-gone you, I got you."

The expiring wanderer raised his head ,and as he gazed down the gun-barrels, replied wanly:

"An' a great git you got."

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

A CIVIC ADDRESS FOR THE PREMIER

INFORMAL RECEPTION WAS HELD FOLLOWING ARRIVAL OF TRAIN.

There was little to denote the arrival of the Premier of Ontario as the 5.35 G.T.R. train pulled into the station last evening through the blinding snow storm. No band playing or flag waving greeted the leader of the government; it was just a simple formal affair ,a touch of real democracy, that has been lacking at such arrivals in the past. The officials were introduced by Mr. Thomas Tooms, M.L.A. and Mr. R. B. Rogers, after which the party drove to the Empress Hotel, where the Mayor formally tendered the welcome of the city to Premier Drury in the following terms:

We wish, on behalf of the citizens, to give a cordial welcome to Peterborough, on your first visit to this city since you have been called to your high post in the government of the province, said Mayor A. A McIntyre.

You will later meet and be welcomed by the Farmers' Club of this district, at whose invitation you have come to the city, but we are pleased that we have been given an opportunity to greet you and bid you welcome for the whole community. We are gratified to have visitors come to Peterborough, and become acquainted with our city, and especially to receive disintinguished men who hold positions of responsibility and honor in the public life of the country.

We had hoped that you would be able to remain long enough to see some of the points of interest in the city. Peterborough is the centre of an excellent agricultural and dairying district, and has within its borders some of the largest and most important manufacturing industries of the province. We feel sure that a visit to some of these would be of interest to you, and we will be pleased to have you see them. The lift-lock on the Trent waterway in Peterborough is one of the greatest engineering works on the continent. It is one of the only two locks of the kind in America, the other being farther north on the same waterway, and was constructed under the engineering supervision of the President of the Peterborough Branch of the United Farmers of Ontario. This cannot be seen in operation at this season, but we hope that you will find time to come again to Peterborough in the summer season when the waterway is open and the lock in operation, and when at the same time you may see the parks and other summer attractions of the city.

We are sorry that your stay on your present visit will be so short, but we hope that it will be most pleasant, and that we will soon have the privilege of again welcoming you to Peterborough, said the Mayor in conclusion.

Premier's Reply.

The Premier replied very briefly to this address, thanking them for their kind welcome and reception, and assured them that he was very sorry that his time would not allow him to stay longer, for he had been unable to resist the invitation of the Peterborough U.F.O. Association, but he would be glad to take advantage of their kind offer to visit Peterborough when his time was not so limited.

This brief reception to Peterborough's disintguished visitor took place in the upstairs sitting room of the Empress hotel, which was filled with representative citizens and members of the U.F.O. The premier's short reply to the Mayor's welcome in his quiet, simple and yet dignified manner, his easy flow of words, delivered in a well-modulated voice, won his listeners at once, and later, when they were introduced to him, his striking personality and free and easy manner further convinced them that Premier Drury is a man among men, a leader, an orator of no mean ability, a true democrat and withal a warm personality that carries an irresistible appeal to all.

Began Among the People.

The rural revival began among the people themselves, Mr. Drury said. Nothing would be done, they felt, until they did it themselves. The results astonished themselves as greatly as the rest of the country.

With this review of the last elections, the Premier referred to the working coalition with the representatives of organized Labour. There were people who said the two groups could not work together, but it was found that the two classes had the same ideals of justice and service and government. They were getting along quite satisfactorily. It was natural that the farmers looked for an ally among the Labour members elect.

Mr. Drury said he hadn't wished to be premier. He had his eye on quite another line of action, obviously referring to his interest in Federal politics.

"I am told that I must keep clear of Federal activity, but there are many farmers who will not keep clear when the time comes. They want to show the people of the Dominion that the farmers can produce men capable of running the country. We are bending to the task of making the utmost success of the government of Ontario. We want to show that the common people can do things, that they have the integrity and the ability to govern this country as it should be. I hope we will get their confidence and give the rest of the farmers a chance in the Federal Government."

Premier Drury alluded to his discoveries in legislative housecleaning since his ascent to power. It had been contended that political experience was necessary in governing. "If experience leads to government of that sort the less of that experience we have the better. I find that very often party advantage took precedence over public well-being. I find that things were done carelessly and with no eye to the ultimate effect."

Kapuksing Settlement.

He spoke of the meeting in Toronto today of the commission appointed to investigate the conditions of the soldiers' settlement at camp Kapuksing. He expected that the commission would bring in a report saying the s condition must be remedied. There were eighty-seven soldiers' families at Kapuksing. The settlement had cost $800,000, nearly $10,000 for each family, enough to buy them farms in old Ontario. "If that is Government efficiency I don't want any of it" he remarked.

Cabinet Harassed.

"I have no apologies to make for the members of my Cabinet. They were chosen for the particular work of each portfolio. No pressure was put on me in the selection, and I believe we have a good body of men. We have considerable stake in the country. Nine of the farmer members have been working 3,000 acres of land and have forty children. So we have not only a material interest in the country but also a human one. And we want men who are working for their own, and who are living for their ideals. We have faced great difficulties. There never was a Cabinet in the history of Canada that worked under the difficulties we have. But I believe we will have a greater majority in the house than we first expected. We worked under continual harassments. We had difficulties getting seats for the unseated members, but that difficulty was magnified out of all proportion in the columns of the press and by people who were not our friends. There are people who would do anything, legal or otherwise, to bring our downfall. I am glad to say their councils have come to naught, and that our Cabinet is not a seatless Cabinet but is firmly seated."

Not Class Government.

Mr. Drury said he hesitated to speak of the Government's policy. Electricity for farm homes, and improved rural schools had been mentioned by previous speakers. These things would have to be attended to, but while they were being done the Government wished to do justice by everybody.

"We are not for class government and you are the last people that would ask us to be a class government. You want to see absolute justice for the people of the cities as well as those of the country."

The Government was elected because the farmers realized that the farms were being depleted. They were the greatest natural and human resource the country possessed. The Government intended to try to make farm life more attractive, and to provide better rural schools. It was worth nothing, he said, that the educational system had never been investigated practically since the days of Edgerton Ryerson. The Hon. Mr. Grandy was now making a survey of educational conditions. If radical changes were necessary they would be made on a system of upbuilding that which had proved of value and doing away with that which was of no value.

Electricity for Farms.

"We want to see whether the Hydro-Electric can be brought to the doors of the farmers at a price they can afford to pay. This will be a tremendous problem, and some of the mistakes of the past will have to be rectified before we can do it. There is no place where the Hydro-Electric can give bigger results than on the farms of this Province."

Premier Drury intimated that if the scheme materialises, power would be supplied to the farms though there might be a shortage elsewhere.

City People More Friendly.

One of the results of the election was the shaking up it had given the people of the cities. They had awakened to a realisation of the importance of the farmers, and were finding out how much of the prosperity of this country came primarily and secondarily from the farms. The entire people saw that the development of agriculture was important. It was all a question of profits. The social, educational, and other issues rested upon the economic . It was necessary that the farmer should get a big enough share of his own product. That would solve the other problems. It would not only keep men on the farms, but it would keep the women too.

"We want to make it profitable enough for the young men and women to stay on the farms until they get farms of their own. While the Government will do its utmost and can do much to make farming better," Premier Drury assured his audience, "they could not gain all their ends until they reached the Federal Parliament. 'Keep your powder dry for the big fight that's coming,' " he advised.

The Legislature would keep the Ontario outpost well fortified and energetic in order that the rest of the people would have confidence in the United Farmers. The Premier said he felt sure tha the farmers and the new Government were gaining the confidence of the people. The movement was no longer spoken of as ignorant and Bolshevist. Since the change the people of the cities and towns were discovering that the people in power were not such a bad lot after all.

Premier Drury urged the farmers to strive to gain new confidence, in the meantime strengthening their own faith in themselves and solidifying their organisations. The ultimate result of the rural movement would be a better Canada, with greater justice, better homes in the country, and prosperity for everybody. The movement was for individual gain, not a matter of saving a few dollars and cents. In its full fruit it would realise the ideals our fathers had one hundred years ago when they settled in this province, ideals of a contented, happy, independent rural people.

"On that basis we may be sure that the other part of Canada will be strong and well built. They are beginning to understand that. Let us show that the confidence of the people has not been misplaced, that we are worthy of their confidence. I shouldn't have come here to-night, there is so much work elsewhere. There is a lot of work to do getting ready for the session. I should have been there looking after those affairs. But this meeting has been worth while so far as I am concerned. It has been a privilege to meet you. I wish you every success in the movement here. I assure you it is of great importance to the whole of Canada. It is the greatest movement in this country within the last fifty years."

Mr. F. C. Sandy.

Mr. F. C. Sandy, the Provincial U. F. O. member for South Victoria, spoke briefly. Mr. Sandy echoed the words of the previous speakers at the pleasure he felt in being present. Mr. Sandy dwelt on the urgency for better education in rural districts, emphasizing its need to enable the young men to take up the duties of leadership that would evolve upon them in the competition with strong and capable minds. Mr. Sandy spoke of the propaganda that had been used against the Drury government, and how this had effected public opinion, and concluded by saying that the public must be better educated as to the merits of the new government so as to end this trend of public opinion.

Thomas Tooms, M.P.P.

Following the Premier's speech, Thomas Tooms the local member of the Legislature spoke briefly paying tribute to the Government and set forth the aims of organized labour. The Labour Party, he stated, desired to co-operate in bringing about sensible, sane and just conditions. The social chasm had been yawning wider and although production had increased tremendously since the abolition of land labour the wealth thus accumulated had gone into the hands of the oligarchy and the top. High diet and the bread line did not go well side by side. The Labour Party aimed at the abolition of wage slavery and the introduction of common ownership and a system of taxation which would take the great fortunes from the hands of the few. The nation's wealth could then be expended for education, public improvements and the welfare of the people.

Mr. Sam Staples.

Mr. Sam Staples, member for East Durham, and incidentally one of the youngest members of the House, expressed his pleasure at being present at such a represenative gathering and commended highly those who organized it. Mr. Staples spoke on the get-together spirit evidenced, urging more such meetings in this "get-together" age.

The speaker referred to the past election as the dawn of a new era. In speaking of the Premier Mr. Staples said that he felt that they had no reason to regret their choice, and paid great tribute to Premier Drury. The responsibility on the shoulders of the new government was emphasized, and Mr. Staples outlined his own determination to push the U.F.O. while pledging himself to carry on a clear, honest, upright government.

Mr. C. E. Moore.

In calling on Mr. C. E. Moore to propose the toast/ to "Agriculture," the chairman expressed his regret at the absence of the Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Manning Doherty, but explained that Mr. G. A. Putnam, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, had been secured and promised them an excellent address.

In proposing the toast to "Agriculture," Mr. Moore dwelt on the need for greater production on the farms and for more careful and scientific cultivation of the soil. "We should be proud of our occupation," said Mr. Moore. The great men and women, leaders in all walks of life, many of whom came from the farm, were pointed out as examples of the kind of men the farms have produced and will produce. "I now ask you to rise and drink with me the toast to "Agriculture."

Mr. G. A. Putnam.

G. A. Putnam, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, replied to this toast. "One of the speakers said that I had been sent here by the Minister of Agriculture. He did not send me here, but I met the Premier this morning and he asked me if I would come. So you see that it is just by an accident that I am here."

Mr. Putnam is an interesting and forcible speaker and his words were eagerly listened for as he told how he had been compelled or really driven to leave the farm because of the lack of recompense in farming with too many on one farm.

The speaker spoke on Mr. Doherty's engrossment in his work and regretted his inability to be present. "It is just because he is so deply interested in his work that he is not here to-night." The Deputy-Minister said that he felt very out of place at the meeting to-night as he had come to regard himself as one of the permanent files of the cabinet, which is the fourth cabinet he has been associated with. He told of his and others' apprehensions at first as to the ability of this cabinet of green material, but he said that all doubt was now expelled, and his belief in the new government was expressed.

The Farmers' Movement.

The farmers' movement was referred to. "The farmers are organizing along lines that will mean that the business of farming will receive closer scrutiny than it ever has in the past." Mr. Putnam pledged the service of the department in assisting the farmers as much as they could. This service that can be rendered is in proportion to the degree of interest that is evinced along these lines. The Department's demonstrations and exhibits were commended by the speaker, as was also the plan of sending out able specialists to address farmers' meetings on farm matters and the literature distributed by the department.

"The present time is a time unprecedented as a time for real service," said Mr. Putnam ,and went on to ask for the assistance and co-operation of all women in the farmers' movement, and he felt that the united efforts of both the men and the women on public questions would make for a great advancement in all these questions, particularly on education.

In concluding his reply to the toast, he urged them not to expect too much from the government, but to ask themselves what their own responsibilities or possibilities on public matters are. He said that he trusted that we will soon see the men and women of the farms uniting with the city people on all discussions relative to the advancement and welfare of the Province.

The Conclusion.

The chairman, Mr. R. B. Rogers, thanked the members for their co-operation and assistance in putting on their annual banquet and for their attendance. Owing to the lateness of the hour several toasts had to be dispensed with, the chairman regretting that such a step had to be taken.

Th annual banquet and one that will not soon be forgotten by all who were present was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem, followed by a few bars of Auld Lang Syne.

Use Cocoanut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy, lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Voice Of The People

CONSCIENCE

Dear Sir,—I am sincerely thankful to my heavenly father for the age in which I live—that though there is so much grasping after money; there are some men that cannot be bought; as the following story which I have read or heard repeated three or four times— proves, which I should like to see give in your noble paper: When the Liquor men began casting about for a man to contest Constitutional Prohibition in the courts, they decided to look for some one of social prominence.

They laid down on a table in front of Charles Evans Hughes a check for $150,000: The great jurist replied: I would not champion this cause before the courts for any sum of money you could name.

Failing to buy Mr. Hughes they next went to William Howard Taft; and placed before him a signed check telling him to fill it in for any amount he wanted. The reply of this statesman will be memorable:

Gentlemen,—You couldn,t pile enough gold on this table to induce me to take your case before the courts and before the public, for I would have you know that my conscience is not for sale.

With Best Respects,

J. H. TAYLOR.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—Although I am not a boring expert, I would, with your kind permission and at the risk of somewhat boring your readers like to have a few more words to say on the Bridge question.

In your account of the meeting held by the City Council on the 12th inst., at which Mr. Frank Barber, Engineer for this notorious Hunter street bridge was present, Mr. Barber strongly objected to having this single arch termed experimental, his exact words as quoted were "This proposition he added is not experimental." Well, in all my communications to the Press I have called it experimental and I will insist on doing so unless someone proves to me that it is not. If this arch is not experimental I don't know the meaning of the word. Webster gives its meaning as something that is "known by experience or trial." Now if Mr. Barber or anybody else will let us know of a single reinforced concrete arch of this or equal length in any part of the world that is subject to the same or very similar climatic conditions of what this will be (viz. a range of one hundred and twenty five degrees Fahrenheit) as we have had it in Peterborough during the past nine months, and that has been standing intact for say 10 years, I will at once admit that I am in the wrong in using this word.

In your report of the meeting you say, "It was brought in that in excavating for the lift lock, rock was found at eighty feet which would be about level with Hunter street." What an extremely absurd deduction. While it is quite natural to assume that the original stratification of the limestone formation which underlies this city was horizontal or very nearly so, to suppose that it is to-day, is a very erroneous assumption indeed. Mr. Maxon, Mr. Barber's man Friday says, "I never knew rock to take so sudden and quick a dip as on the Otonabee's banks." If this expert expected to find rock at the River at the same elevation at which it was found at the lift lock, there would be no dip or strike to the rock in this locality at all.

Mr. Barber in reply to a question put by Alderman Whitehouse, "Isn't it usual to have half a dozen borings" said, "No, I don't think so, if he had put down a dozen holes he might have got the same results in each case." This is rot of the worst description. A very complete and thorough set of borings should have been made, an engineer must bore all over and be absolutely sure of what he has to build upon before he can prepare plans or give even an approximate estimate of what the bridge is going to cost.

Let the Alderman question their own Engineer on this point. Mr. Parsons who at his present munificent salary will take a life time to make as much as Mr. Barber expects to clean up on this job. (if they let him fire ahead)—knows better than this.

Again in answer to a question by Alderman Whitehouse as to what is was best to do under the present circumstances, Mr. Barber said: "We must determine how much pressure the hard pan will take," and in a minute or two after this in reply to Alderman Gordon's question as to the extra cost of spreading the foundation Mr. Barber replies $1405. Mr. Barber must certainly be a wonder if he can figure down to a five dollar bill what the extra cost is going to amount to before he knows or has made any test at all of what pressure this hard pan will take. I think this is spreading it over the ratepayers a little too thick. $1405 extra cost, does anyone believe such nonsense as this? Why it is quite safe to say that two or three times that amount has already been spent in extras looking for a foundation.

Mr. Barber objected strongly to the prescence of the Contractor at this meeting and said "it lessens my authority." This contention was very properly upheld by the City Engineer Mr. Parsons, but what about the propriety or ethics of having an employee of Mr. Barbers present and addressing the council, a man who is under no responsibility whatever to the city. If the presence of the Contractor at this meeting lessens Mr. Barber's authority, the presence of an employee of Mr. Barbers certainly lessens the authority and dignity of the Council and the people they represent. Nearly $200,000.00 to be exact $188,809.80 which includes the last payment made about ten days ago has already been spent on this work. Mr. Barber said he considered the bridge half built—to the ordinary observer—properly speaking—the bridge is not started at all yet—in fact Mr. Barber admits he does not know yet what pressure the material will stand that he is going to build the abutments for the bridge on and if he does not know this I think it is quite safe for us to assume that he does not know if it will be capable at all of standing the pressure of this immense arch. The simple retaining walls which constitute the approaches to the bridge may be half built but so far as the bridge is concerned it is all up in the air yet.

The Russell Townsend Company have guaranteed this Arch will not "fail or fall" for one year. This guarantee was given on the original plans and specifications—let me ask our worthy Alderman what good this guarantee is to-day.

From the lavish way in which the peoples money has been spent on this work to date my impression is that it is not so much a development commission or a housing commission that this City wants just now as a good live vigilance committee.

Respectfully yours,

J. W. FITZ GERALD.

ALEX. COURCY SAYS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HIS RHEUMATISM.

Quebec Man Who Was Crippled Has Found Complete Relief, and States That Dodd's Kidney Pills Are Entitled to All the Credit.

Ste. Andre de Restigouche, Bonaventure Co., Que., Feb. 23.—(Special)—Claiming that he is cured of Rheumatism, which had entirely crippled him, Mr. Alex. Courcy, well known and highly respected here, gives all the credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills for Rheumatism," Mr. Courcy stated when interviewed. "I was so bad I could not work.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. I can now do my work and am not tired."

Mr. Courcy is only one of thousands of Canadians who, relieved of the tortures of Rheumatism, give Dodd's Kidney Pills the entire credit. They have proved that Rheumatism is caused by diseased kidneys failing to drain the uric acid out of the blood It crystalizes at the muscles and causes those awful pains every sufferer from Rheumatism knows so well.

The remedy is to cure the kidneys. Heathy kidneys strain all the uric acid out of the blood. Without uric acid there can be no Rheumatism.

Ask your neighbours if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make healthy kidneys.

LONDON, Feb. 24. — The decision of the Supreme Council, it was recognized, precludes diplomatic relations between the allied governments and Moscow government in the immediate future.

The council expressed itself as pleased that the International Labor Bureau had decided to send a delegation to Russia to study the conditions but it stated its belief that the supervision of the delgation should be under the Council of the League of Nations, giving the investigator greater authority. The council, it was stated, decided that the Allies could not accept responsibility of advising border states to continue war against Bolsheviki which might be injurious to their interests. If Bolsheviki attack with in the territory of the border states, the allies promise every possible assistance.

WAGE DISPUTE.

Special to Examiner.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. — The threats of a break in the affiliated railroad employers' organizations militated to-day against immediate solution of the questions before representatives of two million railway workers conferring here on President Wilson's proposal for a settlement of their wage demands.

Because of the wide divergence of views held by the committee men called to Washington to consider the White House policy, the executives of the organizations admitted that they did not know whether they could hold the strength they had gained. It was agreed 10 days ago that organizations should affiliate to consider the proposal.

ENGLISH IS FAVOURED AS WORLD LANGUAGE.

German and French Tongues Have Lost Place Through the War.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 24.—English would undoubtedly be the most suitable as a world language, in the opinion of Professor Carnoy, of Louvain University, Belgium.

He made this statement in the form of a reply to the question addressed by the Northern Peace Society to prominent linguists in various countries as to which language would be best adapted to universal use. After declaring in favour of English, Mr. Carnoy wrote:

"The German and French languages have lost their place through the War. The English language is a hospitable one, being a kind of compromise between the Latin and Germanic tongues; also it is simple and is spoken by most progressive nations of the world and has one of the most beautiful literatures of modern times."

I KNOW IT IS TRUE

About ten years ago a farmer of Dummer Township, well past fifty, was used up with rheumatism. He was cured and has remained so by taking Gallagher's Kidney Remedy. If you could only see the splendid herbs —Buchu Leaves, Mandrake Root, Juniper Berries and many others, all put in a big boiler, steeped and the tea drawn off, you would say with me that it would be good for one's whole system, whether needing a Kidney Remedy or not. A little Blood Purifier at night to keep the stomach, liver and bowels active and the Kidney Remedy before meals to keep the kidneys right and help the stomach, and there you are on the road to good health.

TINKERS AND JOBBERS, BOB ROGERS TERMS UNION GOVERNMENT

WINNIPEG, Feb. 23.—"Canada's industrial and economic conditions have reached a most critical period in the history of our existence," said Hon. Robert Rogers, who addressed here in the Fort Garry Hotel an open meeting of the Conservative Club of Winnipeg, declaring that he had "no further political aspirations to gratify," and that he proposed to speak plainly. Mr. Rogers declared the Union Government to be "a Government of tinkers and jobbers, a Government of second-hand dealers—their energies almost entirely devoted to second-hand theories that are the product of the diseased brain of some poor unfortunate upsetter."

The former Minister urged strongly "a definite and a fixed scientific tariff," advocated the dissolution of every existing Government Commission pointed out "the necessity for the Conservative party to perfect immediately its organization everywhere," and elaborated on the benefits which he said had been secured for the farmers of Western Canada through the Conservative party. Mr. Rogers closed with an appeal for further recognition of the claims of Canadian veterans of the war.

Mr. Rogers declared himself a lasting believer in that traditional policy that has ever governed the actions of the Conservative party in this Dominion." Union Government might have been necessary during the war, but in peace it was a different thing.

Claims He Suggested It.

"I confess," said Mr. Rogers, "that at one time I thought myself that Union Government was advisable for the period of the war and stood prepared to make any and every sacrifice in my power to bring about such union with the Liberal party as a whole. I may surprise you when I tell you that I was the first to propose such form of union with the Liberal party. Many excuses were given why such proposals could not be accepted, among them being the exaggerated opinion of certain Liberal leaders of my ability to take advantage of such union to destroy the Liberal party."

CONTRIBUTIONS TO FORWARD MOVEMENT

The total amount given and subscribed by all Peterboro Anglican churches up to Saturday was approximately $18,700 but several of the canvassers have been a little slow in making returns and owing to this it is impossible to give a later figure. A very important list giving the totals of all parishes is now being prepared at headquarters to be sent to all parishes throughout the diocese and this report will be published in a few days. It is important that the latest figures should appear on this list and so it is hoped that each canvasser will turn in his books at once.

At St. Luke's church an Sunday evening Archdeacon Davidson warmly congratulated the congregation on the splendid contribution coming from a large number of subscribers.

"That was a nasty thing the cook said to me before leaving."

"What was it?"

"Just as she was leaving the house she turned back in a rage and said: "Well, I've got it on your husband anyhow. I dont' have to stay here."

A 15 YEARS' FIRE

Just think! That is the time through which Mr. H. C. Buckley endured all the fiery torture of itching, burning eczema. His life was a perfect misery until Zam-Buk—the great herbal skin cure—brought complete relief.

Mr. Buckley, who lives at 461 East Broadway, Portland, Oregon, writes:—"For fifteen years I suffered with eczema, and although I tried many so-called 'eczema cures,' nothing seemed capable of dealing with a case like mine. It was not until I had Zam-Buk recommended to me that I began to have hope. This wonderful skin healer soon brought about a change for the better. As I persevered with Zam-Buk the burning sensation got less. I found Zam-Buk wonderfully soothing. Gradually the patches of soreness and the inflammation were reduced, and complete and permanent cure finally resulted. I would strongly advise all afflicted with eczema to give Zam-Buk a trial. It will give them satisfaction. They will not be disappointed."

No skin disease can resist the potent healing forces stored up in Zam-Buk, which is unequalled for old wounds, ulcers, abscesses, bad legs, scalp sores, blood-poisoning, piles, scalds, burns, cuts and all skin injuries. All druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box.

YOUNG PEOPLE HAD SOCIAL EVENING

LIST OF THOSE PRESENT—COMRADES' CLASS.

Last evening the Gleaners' Class (young ladies) of Park Street Baptist Church entertained the Comrades' Class at the home of the Misses Booth, 516 Chamberlain Street. Without exception this was one of the finest evenings ever spent by the boys since their return from overseas. This is the class better known to the public as the 9-Point-2's, who have been giving entertainments the past few months. Promptly at ten o'clock the party assembled in the dining-room, where two long tables were beautifully decorated and laden with delicacies. After everyone had partaken of the feast prepared, Mr. Hawe proposed a toast to the Young Ladies' Class. Mr. N. Porter proposed the toast to Our Fallen Comrades, which was replied to by heads being bowed in silence. Mr. B. Nicholls moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Booth Family for their kindness and generosity in opening their home for the occasion. Mrs. Brown replied on behalf of the class the pleasure they considered it to be able to take this means of expressing their apreciation for the service these boys have given to their church and country, and though we mourn for our departed boys, we rejoice they gave their all for the cause of righteousness and liberty, and their sacrifice has not been made in vain. Those present were: Mrs. (Rev.) Brown, Mrs. P. Killingbeck, Miss L. Killingbeck, Miss B. Sloan, Miss E. Sloan, Miss L. Wade, Miss E. Hewitt, Miss I. Hudgin, Miss G. Woodgate, Miss C. Dicks, Miss V. Kennedy, Miss D. Pemberton, Miss E. Booth, Mrs. J. Booth, Mrs. S. Thomas, the Misses Booth; Mr. Hawe, Mr. P. Killingbeck, Mr. M. Sloan, Mr. A. Daniel, Mr. R. Jolliffe, Mr. A. Lee, Mr. J. WOULD NOT FACE A BYE ELECTION

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—It is generally understood in government circles that a successor to Hon. A. K. Maclean, whose resignation as member of the cabinet without portfolio was announced last night, will not be appointed. Mr. Maclean declined acceptance of Public Works portfolio on account of the acceptance entailing a by-election.

It is also believed that the government is prepared to carry out a policy of reduction in portfolios. The amalgamation of Railways and Canals Department and Public Works is much to the fore at present, but no action is expected until the return of Hon. J. D. Reid. Hon. Mr. Rowell is Acting Minister of Public Works.

ASHBURNHAM SCOUTS WON BY 5 GOALS TO 2

In a game of hockey between Ashburnham Boy Scouts and St. Andrew's Boy Scouts, played at Mark Street Rink last night from 7 to 8, Ashburnham Scouts won by a score of 5-2. The skating was very heavy on account of the snow, but nevertheless, the teams played a good game. St. Andrew's were a little rough in their play. E. Maniece handled the bell satisfactorily. The line-up for Ashburnham was: Goal, H. Ebbs; defence I. Dundas and E. Williams; centre, S. Laws; wings, W. McGee and L. Smith.

U.T.S. WIN ROUND FROM STAYNER TEAM

TORONTO, Feb. 23.— University of Toronto Schools qualified to meet Stratford in the O.H.A. junior semi-finals, when they defeated Stayner here last night by 5 to 1, and won the round by three goals. The champions were minus their good defense man, Rowell, and were undoubtedly weakened, but they proved superior to the visitors in the attack, and won the game on their merits.

Last season U. T. S. were conceded little chance to win the O.H.A. title but they kept plugging away, and at the end of the campaign found them leading the parade. For some reason or other the same condition of affairs exists in the present race, and the consensus of opinion is that Stratford will put them out of the running. U. T. S. supporters are, however, persistent in their claims that the Classic City team will have their hands full in disposing of the locals.

In beating Stayner the Blue and White accomplished quite a feat for the boys from the Northern town certainly are far removed from being a weak sextette. Nearly all of the players possess considerable weight, and they can skate and stick-handle with the best in the junior ranks. Defensively they were good, but they lacked system on the attack, and this weakness probably cost them the verdict last night.

BLACKLIST OF CANADIAN PHYSICIANS AT DETROIT.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 23.—United States immigration officials here now have a "black list" of Canadian physicians whose names signed to certificates of vaccination are held to be worthless. There are said to be more than one hundred names on the list of physicians in Ontario who have at one time or another been in trouble with the Government. Most of these, however, are doctors who have been found guilty of issuing an inconsistently large number of liquor prescriptions. The names of two Windsor physicians appear on the list.

The patient is reported to be well on the way to recovery.

BERT CALDWELL WAS AN ADDED ATTRACTION.

Colossal in theme, wonderfully staged and acted by the foremost movie people of the world, the "Right to Happiness" at the Grand last evening was admittedly one of the best pictures yet shown. Dorothy Phillips, the brilliant emotional star, who appeared in the "Hearts of Humanity," outdoes even her brilliant work in that play in the dual role she plays in the "Right to Happiness." Her work is so delicate, so real, that her audience can practically see her think.

The story of the picture centres about Paul, a Russian peasant, who, with the creed that social and industrial unrest is just insomnia of the heart, curable by love, understanding and helpfulness, accompanied by Sonia, a notorious girl, to New York, where the girl is to carry out her mission from the Russian Soviet. Sonia, on her arrival, incites the workmen of the city with industrial discontent, fans the smouldering members until they threaten to consume the workers, and is shot by the mob she led against her father's palatial home.

Added Attraction.

Mr. Bert. Caldwell made a big hit in his pictorial song reviews and brought down the house in the "Golden Song."

"A NIGHT IN HONOLULU"

In "A Night in Honolulu," which comes to the Grand next Saturday Matinee and Evening the native Hawaiian singers and musicians will be found to occupy a great deal of the spectators attention. Hawaiian music by the gifted native singers and players has been a great success in America because it is different. The wistful beauty of the music seems to carry the American audience across the Pacific to the Island Paradise. The melodious strains of their quaint songs and the accompaniment on native instruments is plaintive and fascinating. Mark Twain after his first visit to the Hawaiian Islands, said in an interview: "The music of the Hawaiians, the most fascinating in the world, is still in my ears and haunts me sleeping and waking. I can still hear the pulsing of the surf at Waikaiki, see the plumy palms drowsing by the shore, the garlanded crags and the leaping cascades, and this music fills me with the spirit of its woodland solitudes."

FISKE O'HARA

Fiske O'Hara, in the new romantic comedy that has been provided for him this season by Anna Nichols, "Down Limerick Way," will be seen at the Grand soon.

This is an event of joyful import to the many friends this Irish actor-singer has won here through the charm of his fine voice and most pleasing personality.

The new play chosen by Augustus Pitou for Mr. O'Hara has all the qualities that have made his yearly presentation in a new comedy such a happy success. There is no lack of laughter, and a bright tripping plot; last but not least, a captivating love story. And Mr. O'Hara sings a number of new song selections, specially written for this play.

The supporting company is an excellent one, and the production is massive. There is a special augmented orchestra.

WHERE NIAGARA FALLS HAS THE ADVANTAGE.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 23. —Niagara Falls debentures are not affected by the discount in the United States. Unlike Ottawa, which will have to put half a mill on the taxes to pay the difference on its bonds in New York, and Hamilton, which has lost $55,000 by the exchange situation, the bonds of this city are marked payable at the City Treasurer's office, Niagara Falls.

The only difference which sterling discount has made is a tendency on the part of British investors to send their holdings in Canadian bonds over here to take advantage of the exchange

DOES AN EDUCATION PAY?

Does it pay an acorn to become an oak?

Does it pay to escape being a rich ignoramus?

Does it pay to fit oneself for a superior position?

Does it pay to open a little wider the door of a narrow life?

Does it pay to learn to make life a glory instead of a grind?

Does it pay to add power to the lens of the microscope or telescope?

Does it pay to taste the exhilaration of feeling one's powers unfold?

Does it pay to know how to take the dry, dreary drudgery out of life?

Does it pay a rosebud to open its petals and fling out its beauty to the world?

Does it pay to push one's horizon farther out in order to get a wider outlook, a clearer vision?

Does it pay to learn how to center thought with power, how to marshal one's mental force effectively?—Success

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Feb. 24.—The road to Nipigon will be continued this summer. This statement was made by J. F. Whitson, road commissioner for Ontario, in a letter to the president of the Port Arthur Board of Trade. Mr. Whitson further says that the bridge across the McKenzie River will be commenced in the early spring. He does not say how much is going to be done this year, but promises all that conditions will permit. Grading and gravelling the road from Dorion to Loon will also be continued.

FROM A CHILD WAS CONSTIPATED

According to the best medical authorities, fully three fourths of the people of the civilized world suffer in some form from costiveness or irregular action of the bowels. There is no doubt that many distressing diseases are caused by constipation. It gives rise to sick and bilious headaches, jaundice, heartburn, floating specks before the eyes, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness and the painful, troublesome piles. Therefore it is of supreme importance to health that the bowels be kept regular. Simple food, fruit, etc., should be used and rich food and stimulants of all kinds avoided. This with the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills to regulate and establish healthy action of the bowels cannot fail to give permanent relief in the most obstinate cases.

Mrs. Letitia Wainman, Orillia, Ont., writes: "From a child I was always very badly constipated and I can well remember when quite young my mother giving me senna tea nearly every morning and I got to dread it. After taking Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for a while I am not troubled with constipation any more."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CHAINED TO A ROCK

How the Turks Once Imprisoned a Greek Battleship.

DARING OF A YOUNG OFFICER.

His Pluck and Strategy Resulted in Making the Powerful Enemy Vessel Lie Helpless Within the Landlocked Waters of the Gulf of Arta.

It was during the war between Greece and Turkey in 1897 that the inhabitants of Gaia Krini—a large village, since destroyed by the Turks, on the shores of the gulf of Arta—awoke one morning to find that a Hellenic battleship had entered the gulf and cast anchor off the shore. The surprise of the inhabitants of Gaia Krini was nothing compared with that of a party of five Turkish officers, who, from the very crest of a hill towering above the village, watched the vessel through their telescopes.

These Turkish officers were on an urgent and important mission—to block out the Hellenic fleet from the gulf of Arta. Behind them, at the bottom of the deep ravine, were a number of heavy guns which had been dragged all the way from Saloniki, a long and difficult task, and with this artillery they had been ordered to fortify the strait.

To reach the strait, however, the Turkish column had to run the gantlet of the battleship's heavy guns, which meant sheer destruction. Somehow or other they must escape the man-of-war or prevent her interference with their work, but to do this seemed impossible.

In the midst of their discussion a young officer who had been listening said he could hold the vessel a prisoner if they would allow him. His pleading won, and, horridly changing his clothes for those of a shepherd, he descended in that disguise to Gaia Krini.

Late that night a number of figures stole through the dark alleys of the village toward the shore. Close to the water's edge was an old boathouse, used as a shed for repairing boats. This the party silently entered and by the flickering light of a taper searched the black interior. At length there was a gentle rattle and from the gloom emerged Hassan, stripped to the waist, dragging a heavy chain. This, with the help of his comrades, he began to pull, and after an hour's laborious work the end of the great chain—once the cable of a Turkish vessel—was reached.

From the beach the chain was loaded on board a large caique, whose sides and floor had been covered with cloth to deaden the sound. This task accomplished, three men got in with Hassan and rowed with muffled oars toward a large rock in the middle of the bight. Round this rock the chain was laid and securely fastened. One man having been landed on the crag to keep guard over this end, the boat set out cautiously for the battleship, looming like a phantom in the distance. Not a sound did the men make as link by link the massive chain was paid out over the stern into the still water till they reached the vessel.

There was an excited gleam in Hassan's eyes as, with a sign to his comrades, he gradually lowered himself into the dark water, guiding himself by passing his fingers over the battleship's plates. A slight grating of the chain against the hull was all that his anxious companions in the boat heard, though now and then a reassuring pull was felt on the line that Hassan held, directing them how to pay out the chain. Hours rather than minutes seemed to have gone by ere the young officer came to the surface. So exhausted by his long dive was he that he had to be almost lifted into the boat.

"It is round the propeller," he gasped. "I have fixed it so that nothing can move it. Back you go."

Then link by link the tedious work was renewed until the boat returned to its starting point, where the other end of the chain was secured. The risky task was done, and the Hellenic battleship was securely moored to an immovable rock by a double thickness of cable.

The early rays of dawn revealed a sight which astonished the Greek commander. A whole regiment of Turks were on the march toward the strait of Arta, with train after train of artillery, the last of which disappeared beyond the intervening head before the ship's guns could be brought to bear on them. The commander gave orders for the guns to be run out and decks cleared for action, while the anchor was weighed, his intention being to prevent the Turks from fortifying the strait before they had become too strong. "Full speed ahead!" went the order to the engine room, and, propelled by her mighty screw, the battleship advanced, only to lurch backward as if dragged by some unseen force. Work as the engines would, the vessel seemed to be in an enchanted circle, beyond which it was impossible to go.

It was not until the sun's rays had penetrated the deep blue water alongside that the secret was revealed and the massive chain was discovered passing round the ship's propeller and the adjacent rock.

Before it could be removed, however, the strait had been sufficiently fortified by the Turks and a powerful Greek warship lay a helpless prisoner within the landlocked waters of Arta.

NIGHT COUGHS PREVENT SLEEP WEAR OUT THE SYSTEM

The dry, hacking cough, cough, day and night is very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition they get no chance to heal.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy without an equal for curing coughs and colds, soothing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, strengthening and healing the breathing organs, and fortifying them against serious pulmonary disease.

Mrs. Fred. Fairburn, Copper Cliff, Ont., writes:—"I caught a heavy cold, got a sore throat and had a terrible hacking cough that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night. I had tried quite a few remedies, but they did not seem to do me much good until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles my cough was all gone.

"It seemed to loosen the cough right away so that I could spit up the phlegm that gathered in my throat, and also took that hot, raw, burning fever out of my bronchial tubes. I feel that Dr. Wood's has no equal."

TAUGHT THEM A LESSON.

The Czar's Rebuke to the Officers of One of His Regiments.

The czar is greatly loved by his own soldiers, and no wonder, for the following story is typical of him:

A certain Russian lieutenant who was none too well off was one day seen riding in a tram. The other officers of his regiment were furious at what they called an insult to the uniform, and they told the lieutenant that he must send in his papers. The unfortunate young officer had no alternative, but before he could do so the czar heard of the affair. Immediately putting on his colonel's uniform of the regiment in question, his majesty left the palace, hailed a passing tram and, entering it, sat calmly down until it stopped in front of the barracks.

There he got out and, assembling all the officers, said to them:

"Gentlemen, I have just ridden from the palace in a tram, and I desire to know if you wish me to send in my papers. I presume I have disgraced my uniform."

Naturally the officers were dumfounded.

"Sire," stammered the major nervously, "you could never do that."

"Then," answered the czar, smiling, "as I have not degraded the uniform Lieutenant —— cannot have done so and will thus retain his commission in this regiment even if he, like me, dares to ride in a tram."

After that snobbery died a speedy death in that particular regiment.—Pearson's.

LAST MEETING OF THE SEASON

On Thursday evening the Board of Trade intends holding its last meeting of the Thursday evening series and arrangements have been made for an address to be given by Mr. W. R. Breyfogle on "Organized Co-Operation."

A large attendance of members is anticipated as Mr. Breyfogle, in co-operation with Mr. Turner, has done wonderful work in establishing and upholding the Board of Trade in its present form of organization.

The future of Peterborough is of vital interest and the co-operation of all classes working together under the leadership of the Board of Trade will help to make it a flourishing city.

This meeting will give the entire membership an opportunity of showing their interest in the subject of organization and also of expressing their approval of the Thursday evening educational meetings. The opinion of the members will be invited as to the propriety of continuing them as an established feature of the Board's regular programme.

It will also be the last one before the big annual meeting and will enable the members to take preparations for the biggest event of the year.

NOSKE WILL NOT TOLERATE 6-HOUR DAY FOR MINERS

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—Gustav Noske, Minister of Defence, in addressing the Employers' Councils and Socialists' delegates at Hamburg, reiterated his previous statement that he would put down attempts on the part of the miners to introduce a six-hour day at this time or attempts to paralyze the railways.

"When thousands of railwaymen declare they hold the State's throat and can close it if they will, then I, as Minister of Defence, have no hesitation whatever in crushing them," Herr Noske declared.

The Minister said he had instructed the directors of wharves to discharge immediately all men who did not want to work eight hours a day.

How to Absorb Freckled, Chapped or Harsh Skin

An over-red or a sallow complexion, or a chapped, blotchy, pimply or freckled skin, can be changed, by a quite simple, harmless and inexpensive method, to one of flower-like radiance, spotless purity and velvety softness. One ounce of common mercolized wax, to be had at drug and department stores generally, will remove the most unsightly complexion in from one to two weeks. By its remarkable absorptive power, the coarsened, roughened or discolored layer of thin film-skin which hides the healthier skin underneath, is gradually flecked off in tiny, almost invisible particles. This is done so gently there is no inconvenience, and no trace is left on the skin except that of enhanced beauty. The wax is smeared on like cold cream before retiring, and removed in the morning with warm water.

IN STUPOR FOR WEEKS.

And Another Montreal Man Asleep for Six Days.

MONTREAL, Feb. 23.— Although the Board of Health states that no cases of sleeping sickness have been reported to it, it is known that there are several such cases in the city. One is the son of a prominent real estate agent, who has been lying in a sort of stupor for weeks, and is only now beginning to show signs of returningto his normal condition. His sight has been affected, and he is almost blind. Another case is that of a man who has been asleep for the past six days, just regaining consciousness yesterday.

TRY IT ON THE DISK.

A Test That Proves the Human Skull a Good Sounding Box.

An interesting experiment that proves what a good sounding box the human skull is can be performed by any one who has a disk phonograph, says Electrical Engineering.

Stop up both of your ears with cotton as tightly as possible, so that no sound will be heard from the outside. Now place an ordinary darning needle between your teeth by biting on it hard, taking care that the tongue or lips do not touch the needle. The latter is important, because if either lip or tongue touches the needle the sound will be decreased considerably.

For the best results the needle itself should project not more than one or one and a half inches from the mouth. For that reason the darning needle should be broken off about one and one-half inches from its sharp point. It goes without saying that the sharp point should project out of the mouth, while the broken off end should be inside the mouth.

Now start an ordinary disk phonograph and carefully press down upon the record with the needle's point held at the same angle as the reproducer's needle is held ordinarily. As soon as the needle touches the record with sufficient pressure the inside of the head will be filled immediately with music exceedingly loud and clear.

Mungo Park.

The pioneer white man in Africa was Mungo Park. He began his travels through the dark continent as early as 1795, nearly twenty years before Livingstone was born. Park's first trip to Africa occupied two years and resulted in the very first definite knowledge of Africa in modern times. During his second trip he was killed by the natives near Bronssa, on the Niger.

Do you sing in your bath?

Have you that feeling in the morning of being born again? This is a joy accorded only to perfect health. Racing blood and high spirits are two results of exercise, regular living and regular bowel evacuations.

By an entirely new principle Nujol will keep the poisonous waste moving out of the body. Every other form of treatment either irritates or forces the system. Nujol works on the waste matter instead of on the system.

Nujol prevents constipation by keeping the food waste soft, thus helping Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take—try it.

LAZY BOYS AND GIRLS

Don't scold them—the chances are they are undernourished. They have plenty to eat, but not enough real food—the kind that builds bone, tissue and brain. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is all food. It is 100 per cent whole wheat, nothing wasted or thrown away. It is a food that gives strength and health to youngsters and grown-ups. A boon to mothers because so easy to serve. Two of these little loaves of baked wheat with hot milk make a nourishing meal.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

Many advertisers, and particularly retail advertisers, never get the full cumulative power of advertising behind their business because they lack patience. They demand direct returns. Thy run a one-time announcement in the local paper to-day and look for sales enough—sales directly traceable to the little one-time advertisement—before next week to pay for the cost of the space.

Of course they are disappointed. Retail advertising seldom works out that way. But they are impatient for results. They are not prepared to invest money in advertising as they would in new goods, in store fixtures, in stocks or in real estate—and wait for profits to be earned. No. The returns of to-day's advertising must ring in cash profits to-morrow, or, in the estimation of too many retail dealers, the advertising is not worth what it costs.

Hand-to-mouth advetising is not worth what it costs. It yields only hand-to-mouth returns. To show the best results as a business building power, the advertising of the retail merchant must be persistent. Its chief purpose should be to build up permanent trade; to make the people of your community turn to your store in preference to other stores; to make them think of you and of your place of business; to convince them that they cannot get better quality and price and service anywhere.

"Would you advise a sixty-inch advertisement in the newspaper once a week or six ads. covering ten inches of space each week?" was one of the questions asked.

"I would advise six ads., one each day, or, better still, three twenty-inch ads. each week" replied the advertiser.

"Anything that is desirable is advertisable," he said, and pointed out that the desirability of an article depends much on the consistency with which it is advertised.

"One of the best ways to advertise is to cultivate the customers you have acquired and they will assist you in your advertising."

His final message was: "Advertise and get out and prosper."

STOCK MARKET OPENED WEAK

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The Stock Market opened generally lower today. There were sharp breaks in some of the leading industrial but rail way securities continued to gain strength. Central leather responded further to its recent favorable statement of earnings and was up 2 -38 to 83 3-8. Crucible opened at 202 off 2 St. Louis and San Francisco 24 1-2 up 5-8; Studebaker 87 3-4, off 3-4; Republican 100 1-4 off 13-8; Baldwin 110 1-4 off 21-4; Mexican pet. 179 off 1-2 Reading 76 3-4; up 3-4; U. S. Steel 98 5-8, off 3-4; Sinclair 40 5-8 up 1-8; General Motors 245 off 51-4; Marine Pref 84 3-4, up 1-2; New York Central 73 3-8, up 11-8; Southern Pac. 98 up 1-4; American Woollen 130, off 2; Chandler 126 3-4, off 1.

The unfavorable showing of the federal reserve bank statement Saturday and the drop of 5 1-4 cents in sterling were responsible for the in industrials.

List Sold off.

The whole list sold off rather sharply in early trading there was a considerable amount of liquidation from out of town but the best information was that most of the selling was for short account. Oils and Steels were hardest hit. Announcement of an increase in January exports was unexpected and caused some covering, which resulted in much of the early losses being recovered. After the rally based on export figures, professional attacks were renewed and U. S. Steel was driven below its early low. Considerable Steel Common was sold at 97 1-2 Republic and all the oils also were under pressure.

Low priced rails made new highs on the move apparently on the assumption that President Wilson would sign the railway bill promptly.

General Motors got down to 240 1-2 off about 14 points from the high of Friday. Reports from the middle west continue to tell of great difficulty in obtaining freight cars to carry away automobiles from factories.

Sterling Exchange

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—There was a sharp break in Sterling at the resumption of business in the money market to-day. The British pound fell 5 1-4 cents to $3.35 1-4 at the opening.

Other foreign exchanges also were weak. Francs opened at $14.30 francs per dollar, off 56 centimes and lire 18.40 per dollar, off 45 centimes. Belgian cables were 13.70 francs per dollar and marks .0105.

Toward the close of the first hour sterling rallied to $3.38 1-2 francs rose to 14.08 and lire to 18.16.

SMALL FIRE LOSS.

(Canadian Press.)

BRANDON, Man., Feb. 24.—The fire loss for Brandon during the year 1919 was only $9,346, according to a report on the Fire Department submitted to the City Council.

PENSION INCREASES FOR THE SOLDIERS

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb 24.—While the demand of the War Veterans for increased gratuities is not expected to be an issue in Parliament this year, it is stated that there is every likelihood of legislation to increase pensions of disabled men and their dependents. It is generally felt among the members that there is need of further pension allowances so that these men may cope with the increasing cost of living. It is understood thta the Pension Commissioners are now working on some proposed changes in the regulations. Legislation based on the report of the Parliamentary committee on re-establishment regarding state insurance for returned soldiers is expected to be before Parliament this session.

MONCALM HAS REACHED SYDNEY

Vessel Was Six Weeks Making One Portion of the Trip.

(Canadian Press.)

QUEBEC, Feb. 24.—Canadian government steamer Moncalm arrived at North Sydney at twelve-fifty this morning all well. She is just back from the Magdelan Islands, where she took provisions and mails. The vessel was six weeks making the trip from Souris, P.E.I., to Pleasant Bay, Magdalen Islands. It is expected the Moncalm will remain at Sydney for a few days and then proceed to Halifax, where she will go into dry dock for repairs and overhauling.

FIRST MEETING OF THE LIBERAL PARTY

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 24. — The first meeting of the Liberal party leaders took place this morning in the temporary offices of Hon. Mackenzie King.

It is understood the conference was called for the purpose of discussing the policy to be followed on various matters which are expected to come before Parliament shortly after the opening of the Session.

OXFORD TO ADMIT WOMEN.

Steps Taken to Grant Membership and Degrees.

LONDON.—Women may soon be matriculated and admitted to degrees in Oxford University. In the congregation a statute was passed without division making this provision.

Final steps were taken in October when the council's advice was taken as to whether the university had the power to admit women to membership and degrees. It was favourable and it was decided to promote parliamentary legislation to insure power by means of a statute made by the university itself.

EAT

What you will—When you Will — Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Help Digest the Meal.

Good Food in itself is harmless. The usual reason that stomach troubles arise is due to faulty digestion, brought about by overwork, sickness, overeating, late hours, etc.

The best way to correct faulty stomach troubles due to digestive mistakes is to do what nature wants. All that nature usually needs in such cases is a little assistance to do this work. This is why the doctor tells you to diet. Nature is then compelled to aid herself. You do not then overwork her when she is already exhausted.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets go into your stomach just like food. They help digest the food and thus when the next meal is eaten the system is better prepared to do its work without any assistance.

By following this practice many have corrected their stomach troubles and have conquered the old "bugbear" of indigestion.

Always take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals or just before bed time. By doing this you will be acting wisely and playing safe.

Go to your druggist anywhere and buy a box now. Price, 50c.

The Only High Flyers.

An organisation which will stand in the same relation to aircraft as Lloyd's does to sea-going craft is about to be established.

It will be practically worldwide in its scope, although its headquarters will be in London. All airships and airplanes, including, of course, seaplanes and similar aerial hybrids, will be registered, and classified according to their build and carrying capacity.

The qualifications of aerial chauffeurs also will come under its sphere and a standard set by the establishment of an Aircraft Pilots' Register. A professional pilot whose name does not figure in the register will stand a poor chance of getting a job worth having.

Another branch of the organization's activities will relate to the insurance of aircraft and their passengers and luggage, and in this connection rules will be drawn up regulating air traffic of every description. These are now being arranged and they will be enforced by international agreement.

This part of the scheme is still in the air—both literally and figuratively—but it is probable that the atmosphere will be divided into zones for different classes of aircraft.

Thus it is proposed that up to 2,000 feet all flying shall be prohibited, except of course for landing and starting off. Between 2,000 feet and 4,000 feet will be a zone reserved for commercial planes of a heavy and comparatively slow-flying type.

Above this, up to 6,000 feet, will be the level for general air traffic; while any zone higher than this will be used only by official planes.—

WOULDN'T BE SORRY TO FIGHT MEXICO

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Rear-Admiral Harry S. Knapp, Commander of the United States' naval forces in European waters, in the course of a speech before the London section of the Navy League of the United States, last night said:

"God forbid that we should ever have war with Canada, but I don't know whether I would apply that to the country bordering the United States on the south."

FITZ IN NO HURRY.

New York.— Young Bob Fitzsimmons says that he appreciates all the publicity that he has obtained since he made his fistic debut recently, but he thinks it is entirely unfair to him to compare him with his noted father. "They seem to forget that I am only a novice, while dad was a champion," observed the youngster. "In a year or two from now, when I have either worked up near the top or have been convinced that I am not cut out for the fighting game, it will be time enough to compare with my father. Even dad was years reaching the position that he finally attained."

$5,500,000,000 WAR TAXES.

New York, N. Y. — The Internal Revenue Bureau colected $5,500,000,000 for war expenditures last year, according to a communication received by Collector William B. Edwards from Daniel C. Roper, Commissioner of Internal Revenue. In the opinion of Commissioner Roper this feat of America constitutes a record in world finance.

Former Premier Herbert Asquith is Elected in Paisley

Asquith Elected to House

LABOUR CANDIDATE RAN SECOND IN A FIELD OF THREE -- UNIONIST MADE POOR SHOWING.

THE FIGURES

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Herbert H. Asquith, former Premier, has been elected to the House of Commons from the Paisley District, it was announced officially to-day.

The figures were: Asquith 14,094, J. M. Biggar (Labour) 11,840, J. A. D. MaceKan (Unionist) 3,778.

The announcement of the result met with a mixed reception from a crowd of 10,000 persons gathered about the County Building at Paisley, there being cheering and hooting.

Mr. Asquith appeared on the balcony of the building, but did not attempt to speak because of the great din.

When he left he was pelted with meal, and an attempt was made to halt his motor car with a rope. Ultimately he burst through the obstructions amid a babel of cheers and hisses.

PROVIDE FOR LOSS OF DISCHARGE PAPERS

The Council's policy of exempting returned soldiers from the poll tax was extended by the Finance Committee last night to those who have lost their discharge papers.

Mr. Sidney Whatley explained to the committee the circumstances of one veteran who had lost his papers, but who could produce other documents as proof of his service in the Army.

The Council had instructed the City Treasurer to refund the poll tax to those who could produce their discharge papers.

Mr. Whatley informed the committee that the Militia Department would not duplicate them if lost.

The committee decided, on Ald. Phelan's motion, seconded by Mayor McIntyre, that a statutory declaration of having had discharge papers be accepted from those veterans who, having lost them, apply for the remission of the poll tax.

BOARD OF TRADE

Second only to the interest of members of the Board of Trade in the official ticket of nominees for the annual election of the Council, March 2, is the address of Mr. W. R. Breyfogle and the general discussion to follow on the subject of "Organization."

There will also be an open discussion of the plan to continue the Thursday evening meetings to take up the many problems concerning Peterborough.s growth. The plan is to bring forward those members who are posted and can speak to the point on the theory, "Be sure you're right, then go ahead."

Mr. Breyfogle believes in organized study, forethought and determination to carry things through, and as these happen to be fundamental to a successful Board of Trade, the members are to have the opportunity of general discussion.

The Council of the Board realizes that the value of co-operation is appreciated more than ever, but wants expressions of opinion before making specific recommendations in the annual reports of March 9.

Thursday's meeting is likely to be the star session of the Council in point of attendance and interest. Members only are to attend.

TRADE RELATIONS WITH RUSSIANS

Canadian Press

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 25. — Harold Scavanius, the Danish Minister to Petrograd, in an interview to-day, says that it is possible now to say that negotiations between James O'Grady, the British representative, and Maxim Litvinoff, of the Soviet Government, will result in the resumption of normal relations with Soviet Russia, but it must be hoepd that further detailed negotiations will be entrusted to men with a practical insight into Russian affairs.

"I cannot think that serious business men will trade with Russia on the sole basis of negotiations between men representing political theories only," he said.

"Business men must insist upon the Soviet Government's acknowledgment of the right of private property otherwise any connection commercial or financially is an impossibility."

Economic Fallacy Exploded

PROF. M'IVOR SAYS IT WOULD BE BETTER FOR CANADA TO DEVELOP HER NATURAL RESOURCES.

LABOUR MARKET

Special to Examiner.

TORONTO, Feb. 25. — That it is an economic fallacy to believe that Canada would be benefitted if the people were to purchase only made in Canada goods, is the opinion of Prof. R M. McIvor, economics master of the Department of Social Service at the University of Toronto.

"It is a matter of comparative advantage in production," observes Prof McIvor. "As Canada is rich in natural resources it would undoubtedly be a better policy for her to develop these than attempt to compete with other countries in the line of manufacturing. Of course manufacturing is profitable and I believe it has been figured that the profit in manufacturing is substantially greater than in agriculture but the argument should still hold that the best return would come to the country through pursuits along the line of development of our natural resources."

An Extreme Case.

Prof. McIvor took an extreme case to illustrate his point. It would be possible to set up a high barrier on the import of Bananas and at the same time grow enough under glass to meet the local demand. That would be forcing Canadian goods on Canadian consumers, but would it pay? Not only would it not pay, but such a course would divert industry from its natural development and result in artificial production at the expense of increased labor and capital outlay which might be better employed in agriculture, mining or fishing.

"Take men from the country and place them in manufacturing and you will find it very difficult to get them back on the land should occasion arise for their return. The situation might easily develop where a manufacturing plant which normally employs say five hundred would require the help of 1000 men to meet a new demand. The extra 500 men would be secured from other employments, probably from the rural districts and so long as their services weer required they would be kept on. But should that particular business get overstocked, as might easily occur by reason of competition within Canada, the extra men taken on to meet a temporary and special demand would be the first to be paid off—and what would be the result? They would be left without employment and should they desire to go back to the land they would find it needs a certain amount of capital nowadays to earn a good living on the farm.

Generally speaking I should say it is a short sighted policy to attempt to better our present economic position by adhering rigidly to a practice of purchasing made in Canada goods only."

DENTAL CLINIC OPEN AT ARMOURIES

All returned soldiers in the Peterborough district are reminded of the dental clinic opened for their accommodation at the Peterborough Armouries.

Ex-service men, no matter when discharged from the Army, who are in need of dental work, should report as soon as possible, as the clinic may soon be closed, and there may not be another opportunity of having this work done free of charge.

Anticipates No Difficulty in Collecting Half Billion Dollars Anglo-French Bonds

(United Ptess.)

NEW YORK, February 25.—Half a billion dollars' worth of Anglo-French bonds, maturing here in October, will be paid promptly in good American dollars, in the opinion of the financiers of this country, according to William Ewing, head of the Bond Department of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co.

There is nothing else for the British and French Governments to do, and there is no doubt in the minds of American financiers of their ability to do it, Ewing said in an interview to-day.

With increasing British and French exports to this country, the trade balance will be gradually restored, and the underlying cause of depreciated exchange will be removed. Of course, in the remote event of Great Britain or France being unable to pay, they will have to default—that's all there is to it.

MAY ABOLISH THE BOARD OF COMMERCE

Board has met with Strong Opposition From the Manufacturers.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—There is rumor in circulation to-day that lacks confirmation in official circles that the Government has under consideration the question of abolition of the Board of Commerce. Since its inception the Board has been a storm center and resignation of Chairman Robson, it is said has brought matters to a head. The Board in its numerous heaings has met with strongest opposition from manufacturers, luding textile men and dairy interests throughout the country, who have fought the rulings of the Board. It is claimed by critics that the Board's rulings have not been successful in reducing the cost of living.

SHE SEEKS CONTROL OF LIQUOR TRAFFIC AND PLEADS FOR WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

WANTS GOVERNMENT'S CONTROL OF LIQUOR

LONDON, Feb. 25. — Lady Astor made her maiden speech in Parliament last night during the course of a debate on liquor control

Sir John Rees, Unionist for East Nottingham, in a brilliant and witty speech urged the removal of the existing war restrictions the liquor trade. "I know that strong forces are arrayed against me," he said, "and that there is a rod in pickle for me. But I shall be prepared to kiss the rod."

Lady Astor followed Sir John and, although at first showing nervousness she was soon speaking with confidence and in a clear voice which rang through the house to the large friendly audience.

Wants Government Control.

Lady Astor supported control of the liquor traffic for which she pleaded strongly in the interests of the children.

"I am aware," she said, "that the country does not desire prohibition; and I am not working for that. I am certain that the country is ripe for drastic drink reforms, and I want to see that the drink submarine does not torpedo the Prime Minister, and that he is master in his own house."

Cheers and laughter greeted this sally. Vigorously attacking Rees and his supporters, and accusing them of constantly kicking during the past years against the Drink Control Board, she exclaimed amid cheers:—"What did they do during the Great War? Had they not a pretty record?"

Speaking for Helpless.

Lady Astor concluded with a fervent apeal for reform, saying, "Drink promises everything but gives nothing, and I beg the House not to look upon me as either a crank or a lunatic, because I am only trying to speak for thousands of women and children who cannot speak for themselves."

She was warmly cheered on resuming her seat, the members crowding around her and congratulating her.

The Rees motion was talked out.

In the course of the subsequent debate Lady Astor was warmly congratulated by both Sir Donlad Maclean and the Right Hon. Herbert A. Fisher, of the War Ministry, for her courageous and brilliant speech.

Mr. Fisher in behalf of the Government explaining the impossibility of returning to the conditions before the war and said that the only alternative was a new bill, which must be carefully considered by the House.

DIVORCE LAWS SAFE AND SANE

DOES NOT EXPECT MANITOBA TO BECOME A MECCA FOR DIVORCE PILGRIMS.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 25.—"No, disinctly no," replied Chief Justice Mathers when asked if Manitoba would ever become the mecca for divorce pilgrims.

"I would term the Manitoba divorce laws as eminently safe and sane," he declared. "On the one hand there must be a very good ground before the courts will grant a divorce. The applicant must show that he or she is really entitled to relief from conditions of hardship. On the other hand the law is framed so as to be within the reach of rich and poor alike.

With good grounds, the costs for a divorce will not exceed $50 or $60, according to legal experts.

Approximately 13 applications for divorce have been granted by decrees since the law became operative for Manitoba.

21 TONS TO SQUARE INCH APPLIED TO THE HARDPAN BASE

The hardpan upon which the eastern pier of the main arch of the Hunter street bridge is being erected, was tested yesterday by Mr. Middlemist, engineer for the Ontario Railway Board.

Ald. Hamilton gave the information last night that the test applied was twenty-one tons to the square inch, more han three times the weight that would be exerted on the bridge.

The hardpan was found to have almost the consistency of rock, and could be broken with a pick only with great difficulty. Mr. Hamilton reported that Mr. Middlemist was more than satisfied with the formation. Following his approval the pouring of cement was begun yesterday, and a force was at work last night speeding up the operations.

Mr. Barber was too ill to come to Peterboro, but was represented by another engineer.

New Bond Prices a Benefit

VICTORY BONDS ARE NOW SELLING BELOW PAR AND THE YIELD IS GREATER.

SELLERS LOSE

The drop in the market price of Victory Bonds, taking the average of 2 per cent. of all war securities issued by the Dominion Government, means, it is estimated, a shrinkage in the market value of over $25,000,000 to holders, comparing last week's market prices with those set for this week by the Market committee. A financial expert points out that the price only affects those who want to sell bonds, the securities he states are the best in the market and are as good as when originally bought as far as returns on the investment are concerned.

It is a selling price shrinkage. However, a seller with $500,000 worth of bonds would only get the new price from the Market committee, and taking the average drop of 2 per cent., would lose $10,000 in the transaction, if he sold at present prices compared with the prices of last week. The loss would be even greater if the present price is compared with the price at which the bonds were originally sold to the buyer.

Citizen Drops 4 Per Cent.

An illustration of this is a Toronto citizen, who, due to sickness in his family, went out to sell a Victory Bond maturing in 1934. He was offered the new rate of $96 for it. As he bought the bond originally, during the campaign, at par value of $100, it was a loss of 4 per cent. for him. He was angry about it and criticized severely the action of the Market committee in depressing the prize.

A comparison showing the market price of last week, and new prices set by the committee, and in effect with the loss to the seller and the gain to the buyer, follows;

1922	99¼-100¼	98-99	1¼	1¼
1923	99¼-100¼	98-99	1¼	1¼
1927	101 - 101½	99-100	2	1½
1933	102 - 102½	99-100	3	2½
1937	104 - 104½	100-101	4	3½
1924	99 - 100	96¼-97½	2½	2½
1934	99 - 100	96-97	3	3

The Market Committee.

Who compose the Market committee, and what is the function of the committee?

The committee is composed of representative bond dealers and stock brokers of the Dominion and are: Messrs. G. H. Wood, H. R. Tudhope, J. W. Mitchell, and W. A. Mackenzie, of Toronto; Messrs. E. Hudson, Purvis McDougal and J. W. Mackie, of Montreal, and Sir Augustus Nanton, of Winnipeg. Mr. E. G. Wills, of Toronto, is an adviser and Mr. R. A. Daly, of Toronto, is general secretary of the committee. This committee represents the Government and regulates the market price of Victory Bonds.

The function of the committee is to buy blocks of Victory Bonds which are placed on the market, and place them on the market again through the financial firms in Canada. They prevent the speculation in Victory Bonds on the stock exchanges, and stabilize the war securities of the Dominion Government. One expert says there are some brokers who think the Victory Bonds should be allowed to run wild on the stock exchange. Against this there is a very great mass of opinion among financial men. To prevent this, the Government appointed the Market committee, and this committee sets the price in Canada of Victory Bonds, and the commission to the brokers who sell them.

The following illustration shows the action of the Market Committee: A man may have $500,000 worth of Victory Bonds. He desires to sell them. The Market committee buys them at the selling or market price. At present prices the loss would be to the seller. And if at all possible it is likely he would hold them. The Market committee has about 300 financial firms in Canada on their lists, and they in turn buy Victory Bonds from the Market committee, and sell them to investors. The brokerage rates have been set by the Market committee at one per cent. They were originally one per cent. for the older securities, and when they were all [illegible] charge and [illegible] committee the inevitable. The Market committee had gone ahead hoping it would not have to be done. But the great decrease in sterling and fluctuations in exchange rates forced it.

Must Be Attractive.

It is claimed that if the Market

Council To Obtain a Report

COUNCIL OF PREMIERS LOSE NO TIME IN DEALING WITH RUSSIAN SITUATION.

PRESS COMMENT

(United Press)

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The Council of Premiers will lose no time in obtaining its report on conditions in Russia, it was indicated to-day. The Council it was understood, has requested Albert Thomas, Director of the International Labor Bureau of the League of Nations, to report on the Russian situation by March 22. The report it was said, will be forwarded through the League. The Press generally considered the Supreme coun cils announcement yesterday as a compromise, with Lloyd George taking a middle course between the desire of Premier Nitti of Italy for much freer relations between the allies and the soviet government and Premier Millerand's stand for commercial relations only. The compromise was viewed as a victory for the British Premier.

PRESS COMMENT

(United Press)

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Announcement of the allied policy toward Russia, has evoked mixed comment from the London press. The Times which is a strong opponent of Bolshevism biterly accuses Premier Lloyd George with having for more than a year "sought for his own purposes to throw, weak, ignorant and reluctant Europe into the vanal arms of her Bolshevik seducer". The Daily News says the new policy bears all marks of compromise while the Chronicle says yesterday's decision embodies a big step forward but is marred under evasive expressions. The Labor organ the Herald exults over the decision saying action should have been taken year ago.

PAPER COMPANY REFUSES SUPPLIES FOR THE WEST

WINNIPEG PAPERS ARE DUE FOR ANOTHER SHUTDOWN.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 25.—Fort Frances Pulp and Paper Mills yesterday notified the Canadian Board of Commerce and Western newspapers that after Thursday there would be no more shipments over the quota, as the Spanish River Mills Company had not supplied certain newspapers in the United States as ordered with whom the Fort Frances Company was under contract to supply.

This means that papers for Western Canada will again have to suspend, as 15 per cent. of the Fort Frances Mills output will not keep the Winnipeg papers going, not to speak of the other Western dailies.

Papers are paying $80.00 a ton for newsprint as ordered by the Board of Commerce, and the mill claims that $140.00 should be the figure.

CALGARY, Feb. 24.—President W. S. Woods ,of the local G. W. V. He advocated as a means of raising the $250,000,000 necessary for this scheme the raising of the import tax on precious stones 100 per cent., on silks and satins 100 per cent., and a $2.00 tax per week on gas automobiles and $5.00 per wheel on electrics.

BOOMS IN DWARFS

There have been many famous dwarfs, but none has created the sensation occasioned by the first appearance in public of Mrs. Tom Thumb—whose death at the age of seventy-eight was recently announced—and her diminutive husband, "General" Tom Thumb.

In America, where the tiny couple made their debut, millions of people flocked to see them, and President Lincoln organized a special reception in their honor at the White House.

Over here they were invited to Marlborough House as the guest of the Prince and Princess of Wales, and people came in shoals to London to see them from all over England.

Their success created a boom in dwarfs—or midgets, as they afterwards became to be called—and enterprising showmen ransacked the world for the tiny folk.

But the fickle public soon tired of them, so that Millie Edwards, who was actually the smallest midget to be publicity exhibited, quite failed to catch on, and was eventually reduced to showing herself at a penny a time in an unused shop in the Mile End Road. Yet Millie was only seventeen inches high, as against thirty-two and thirty-one respectively measured by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb.

Another famous dwarf on exhibition here about the same time was Admiral Dot, who measured exactly thirty inches in height. He eventually settled down at a place called White Plains, in the State of New York, where he ran an hotel staffed entirely by dwarfs, and by good management amassed a fortune.

FIGHTING FOR THE SICK IN THE NORTH

DOCTOR'S PARTY HAD TO BURN SLEIGH TO KEEP FROM FREEZING.

HAILEYBURY, Feb. 24. — Dr. Arnold, of Haileybury, who recently went to the Timagami district, in response to an urgent apepal to come to the assistance of the few Indian families scattered through that region, has returned and declares that he found the situation serious.

In company with two nurses and a priest, the doctor's party left the railway in the early morning, and after a trip lasting until 4 o'clock the following morning, reached their destination. The journey was but 25 miles distant into the wilderness and the party had two teams of horses at their command. In one sleigh were the four travellers, while in the other were provisions for the destitute Indians.

On Timagami Lake heavy slush was encountered, lying between the heavy coating of snow and the ice. This resulted in one team playing out, and the abandonment of one of the sleighs. Later on the second team played out and the driver was compelled to abandon the second sleigh and its contents. It was only by chopping the sleigh box into fuel that Dr. Arnold was able to get a fire started so as to prevent himself and his companions from freezing. Several hours passed between the time the driver left and the return of Indians and two dog teams and toboggans together with extra snow shoes. The priest was placed upon one toboggan, one nurse upon the other, while the doctor and another nurse travelled on snowshoes to their destination.

ALD. CROWE WANTS PLUMBING REPORT TAKEN OFF SHELF

Ald. Crowe told the Property committee last night that he was growing impatient waiting for some action upon the plumbing report last year's Council had secured on various work that had been condemned by Mr. Edward Newsome.

The committee had met at 7.30 and it was then 8 o'clock, with the Finance committee edging in to claim the room for their session. Ald. Jones, presiding, stated that this question would have to remain in abeyance for the present, but it was understood that the plumbing problem would have to be dealt with in the near future.

House For Caretaker.

Messrs. J. A. Aylmer, Harry Rush and E. F. Mason, representing the directors of the Protestant Home, appeared in support of a request for a strip of the Hilliard farm on the north side of the home, 50 feet by 900 feet, on which it is purposed to be built a house for the caretaker.

The parcel sought is somewhat larger than at first desired, as it is intended to grow more vegetables and to pasture another cow to increase the supplies for the home.

Ald. Crowe stated that the only objection might be raised by the Catholic ratepayers.

Mr. Aylmer replied that the request was made on the same basis as that on which the property for the Home was secured. The six acres then acquired at $200 an acre, made a total value of $1,200, The Catholics' proportion of the value of this city property was $172, which sum was paid by the City Trust to the House of Refuge.

Mayor McIntyre moved, seconded by Ald. Crowe, that the new strip of land be granted to the Protestant Home on the same basis as that on which the main and original lot was given by the city.

Tenders For Ashes.

Two tenders were received for the ashes at the incinerator.

M. M. Stevens' offer was $156 and Arthur Stenson's $211.50.

Mr. Stenson's tender was accepted on Ald. Crowe's motion.

SMOKING IN CHURCH NOT NEEDED, HE SAYS.

Montreal Pastor Says Revival Will Increase Congregations.

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—Characterising as trifles such suggestions for increasing attendance at church as the shortening of sermons, allowing smoking in the back pews, and the adoption of more free and easy manners, Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston, of the American Presbyterian Church, Montreal, in a sermon in Cowan Avenue Presbyterian Church, here, said three great principles needed to be emphasised: The supremacy of Jesus Christ, the authority of the Word of God, and the adequacy of the Church of Jesus Christ.

"It is a revival that we need," he added. "The Gospel is adequate to meet the situation."

HASTINGS NEWS

HASTINGS, Feb. 25—The annual school social and entertainment held in the Presbyterian church on Monday evening (23rd) was, as usual, a grand success. The weather, though somewhat stormy during the afternoon, cleared in time for the crowd to gather and those who attended were well repaid for the effort. The tables were laden with good things to tempt the appetite, and needless to say, this part of the programme was attended to with real earnestness. After supper a good miscellaneous programme was given by the school, each selection showing that good attention had been paid to the preparation, as everyone acquitted themselves very creditably. The financial side was very satisfatcory and great credit is due to the committees who had the entertainment in hand.

AMERICAN AND CANADIAN GRATUITIES

In referring to the efforts of the American Legion, composed of ex-members of the A.E.F. to secure a war bonus for the American soldiers who saw service overseas, the Examiner remarked the other night that the maximum amount demanded by the legion was less than the gratities already given to Canadian soldiers. This statement in so far as the totals were concerned was correct but it has been pointed out that in dealing only with lump sums involved and not with the rates the Examiner was creating a false impression. There is no desire to do so and accordingly it should be understood that the war bonus asked for by the American Legion is $50 per month of service. It is estimated that the average service of the members was eight months so that the average total gratuity for the Americans would be $400, while in the case of the Canadian soldier the maximum gratuity paid is $600. The point is, however, that if Canadian soldiers were paid a gratuity of $50 per month they would be in receipt of a bonus much larger than they have received because their war service in most cases ran over many months.

INCREASED PENSIONS.

Ottawa advices state that while there is not any liklihood of increased gratuities for ex-members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force being seriously considered during the coming session of the Federal Parliament, the prospects are that increases in the rates of pensions paid to disabled soldiers and to the widows and dependents of those who will not return, will be brought forward. It is generally felt that the extreme cost of living renders the upward revision of the pension scale absolutely necessity and the people of Canada will have no objection to increases to those who are at present in receipt of pension allowances. There is a division of opinion as to further gratuities or bonuses to all soldiers who fought but sentiment is united in so far as doing justice to the disabled and the dependent is concerned. Women who lost their husbands, men who lost to a considerable extent their earning capacity must be provided with enough by the country to enable them to live in comfort, and they cannot do so in many cases, under the present pension scale. The announcement from the capital that increased allowances are to be provided is therefore welcome not only to those who will directly benefit but to the people generally.

THE G.W.V.A. CONVENTION.

The action of the Finance committee of the City Council in recommending an appropriation of $1,000 for the entertainment of the delegates to the Provincial convention of the G.W.V.A. next month will undoubtedly be approved by the citizens. The veterans are coming to Peterborough on a civic invitation tendered at last year's convention and the city was to that extent bound to see that they were suitably entertained, but even without any such obligation it would have been the duty of the civic authorities to assist in welcoming the representatives of Ontario's fighting men. The reception should be one that will cause the hospitality of Peterborough to be recognized from one end of the Province to the other.

But Peterborough's obligations are not all discharged by an appropriation from the City Council. The problem of billeting five hundred delegates has still to be solved and here the individual citizen has a duty to perform. In the homes of Peterborough the visitors must be housed for the three or four days of the convention—as paying guests of course—because the hotel accommodation is utterly inadequate in the face of such numbers. The time is getting short and so far the total of billets offered does not come even close to equalling the required number. Many citizens who could entertain one or two or three delegates without serious inconvenience and who are hesitant about offering the hospitality of their homes, could solve the problem nicely by notifying G.W.V.A. headquarters at once that they are ready to help.

DRIFTING ONTO THE ROCKS.

The disintegration of the Union Administration continues. The resignation of Hon. A. K. MacLean from the Cabinet, not only reduces the rapidly-vanishing Liberal section of the Ministry, but removes the only Minister representing the Maritime Provinces. Hon. Mr. MacLean's action will occasion no surprise, as it is merely the fulfillment of a promise made to his constituents during the election of 1917, that as soon as the war was over and the work of reconstruction well advanced, he would retire from the Cabinet. His retirement now makes the position of several other Ministers, who had given similar promises, decidedly awkward. But they have clung to office in the face of other critical situations, and the example of Hon. Mr. MacLean will scarcely shake them from the positions to which they are adhering with a tenacity worthy of a better cause. The pilotless Union craft is rapidly being swept upon the breakers, and the crew are taking to the life-boats. Soon the Liberal representation in the Cabinet will have disappeared altogether with the possible exceptions of Hon. James Calder and Hon. N. W. Rowell, who have no life-belts into which to drop.

A BETTER UNDERSTANDING.

Much was said at the Farmers' banquet on Monday night about the need of a better relationship and understanding between the rural and urban sections of Canada's population. It is a problem that is everywhere being discussed at the present time, and in some districts the matter has gone beyond the discussion stage, and an effort is being made to find a solution. In Belleville, for instance, the newly organized Chamber of Commerce has undertaken the task of developing an entente cordiale between the city and country, and has appointed a committee of the Chamber to consider the whole question and to take such steps as will establish harmonious and pleasant relations. That there is need for such an effort, the Belleville Ontario does not doubt, for, says our contemporary, and its remarks are as applicable in Peterborough as in Belleville:

"The ill-feeling that exists is as deplorable as it is unnecessary. For the most part it is the result of misunderstanding and thoughtlessness. The basic causes are frivolous and the spite-work is engendered and propagated mainly by chatterers who think little and care less what effect their idle words are likely to produce.

"The trouble is largely due to misunderstanding of one another's viewpoint, one another's difficulties and one another's aims.

"Let us begin by saying that the very great majority of those who reside in towns are honest, hard-working people, who are trying to be of real service to their families and the world. The idea, somewhat prevalent in the country, that a high proportion of city dwellers are parasites, idlers, grasping middlemen, chasers after pleasure, is decidedly erroneous.

"Let us get it clearly into our heads that the town is an essential part of modern progress. It is neither a useless excrescence nor a parasitic growth. The artisans and organizers of industry who are engaged in the production of labour-saving machinery, or clothing or other goods for household use and consumption have accomplished a world of good in relieving the farmer, the farmer's wife, and the farmer's sons and daughters of the awful drudgery and the deadly monotony that once characterized farm life only afford the farmer's family leisure time for self-improvement, amusement and recreation. Farm homes now usually give one the impression of wholesome living conditions and, generally, you will find there plenty of evidence, not only material prosperity but of culture and refinement. Good books, magazines, several daily newspapers, phonographs, well selected pictures, rugs and furniture of pleasing and harmonious design and a cellar abundantly stocked with fruit and vegetables are now almost universal.

"Farmers should not be forgetful of the fact that towards this improved, convenient, comfortable, refined, modern home the work of those who live in towns and cities has contributed a great part and made the improvement possible.

"On the other hand the opinion held by many in towns that farmers are in general a lot of narrow, grasping tight-wads has no foundation to justify it.

"One can find just as many grab-alls and close-fisted skinflints along a city street as along a township concession. Niggardliness is no more general in one than in the other.

"There is this difference, however. Thrift is general in the country. Spendthrifts are not common. People are more likely to live within their means and avoid foolish extravagances. They do not senselessly throw a dollar away because they know how much labour is involved in producing that dollar. They would regard as a freak a man who regularly spent ninety per cent. of his earnings at theatres, dance halls and Chinese restaurants.

"Recklessness and prodigality of expenditure do not mean the same as liberality or generosity. The former lead to the relief-line and the house of refuge. When work fails, when depression arrives or when sickness or old age shut off the income, then do we see the true effects of the mad fever of extravagance that now appears to be possessing people least able to afford it.

"Such people never have money to assist in the promotion of worthy causes. It all goes in an orgy of selfish indulgence.

"There is happily very little of that sort of thing in the rural settlements. But there is a fine average of well reasoned liberality that is far removed from smallness and selfishness."

SUGAR KLEPTOMANIA.

Atlantic City — "Sugar kleptomania," as practised by an elderly woman, has so distressed restaurant keepers here that they have appealed to the police.

Entering a restaurant, carrying a large hand bag, the so-called "sugar kleptomaniac" orders an inexpensive meal and surreptitiously transfers the contents of the sugar bowl to the bag during the waiter's absence. She pays for the meal, the police said, but not for the sugar.

MONUMENT TO BIBLE TRANSLATOR

There is at Vilvorde, near Brussels, a monument to William Tyndale, translator of the Bible. On its low flat base are inscriptions in English and Flemish.

Tyndale was a native of Gloucester, England, but his sympathy with the new learning aroused suspicion, and he removed to London. Finding it, however, impossible to complete his translations of the New Testament and the Pentateuch, upon which his fame with posterity rests, he removed to Hamburg and later to Cologne, and hence became identified with the continent. He began his printing in 1528 in the very city which now forms the headquarters of the British army of occupation on the Rhine.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

MRS. GRAY GIVES SANDRA WISE COUNSEL.

CHAPTER LVI

So much had happened, so much that was disagreeable in connection with Rose's visit, etcetera, that I had almost forgotten the little black trunk in the attic; and had not been quite so vindictively jealous of anything which reminded me of Leola.

Now I determined to find the key of that trunk. But how?

One day I was standing before her picture in the library. Suddenly there rushed over me such a spasm of hate that I shook my fist at the beautiful face, exclaiming:

"I wish I dared smash the old thing."

"Mr. Graham would be very angry," Mrs. Gray's quiet voice broke in. I had supposed I was alone, and started guiltily.

"I mean it, Mrs. Gray. It may be wrong, it may childish, but how would you like to have another woman's picture staring at you all the time if you were a man's second choice. I can't forget her for a minute, no matter how I try, with pictures of her hanging on the wall."

"I would try not to look at them or think of them. I am so sorry you are unhappy," she added kindly.

"I don't know what I would do if I couldn't spit out at you once in a while!" I exclaimed, damnIne while!" I exclaimed, and I meant it. After she found she was not to be disturbed in her management of the house, that I did not interfere in any way, she had been invariably kind and even at times almost loving in her attitude toward me. Many times had I done as I felt inclined, I would have thrown my arms around her neck and told her how I appreciated her, and that I was learning to love her almost as if she were a sort of mother. But of course I didn't. Everett had warned me so many times to be dignified with the servants, never to talk to them save about the necessary work for which they were responsible, that I seldom gave vent to my feelings either for her or Hetty.

"Tell me all you please, my dear Mrs. Graham. I shall not repeat it. But be careful before the others. Even Hetty, much as she loves you, is young and careless.—Don't look so unhappy. You have so much to be grateful for; so much that other young women do not have."

"But—I—want to be loved!" I exclaimed passionately, "Loved as he lover her!" I pointed to the picture.

"You will—I am sure you will if you have patience, my dear Mrs. Graham. You are very sweet, very lovable, and he will see it in time."

Even she could not say he loved me then. That stood out so plainly that I moaned: "What did he ask me to marry him for, Mrs. Gray? I would have been happier home with mother." I knew I was not telling the truth, that nothing would make up to me for Everett's presence, even when he was seemingly set upon making me miserable.

"I think he—wanted—home—children"—she spoke with hesitation.

"Yes, that's what one of his friends said. Married me to bear him children! Well, I won't; She didn't, and he lover her. I won't be a wife just for that!"

"You love children. I have watched you stop and speak to them in the street," she spoke very quietly.

"Of course I do! I adore them. But I will not have any for him. Not until I know he loves me. If he wants them, let him adopt them."

I sank into a chair. I had given way to emotions until I felt almost ill. But no matter where I looked those big laughing eyes of Leola followed me. In all her pictures her eyes laughed, even when there was no smile on her lips. They looked like the eyes of some elfin child just full of mischief, ready to do something daring.

"Please try and forget—her," Mrs. Gray said, resting her hand for a moment on my hair. "You will be happier."

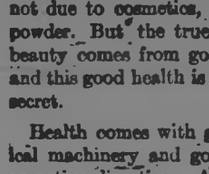
"I can't forget her! and he—does not either."

"He will in time. It rests with you how complete his forgetfulness is. Make him love you so much that he has no room for regrets. You would not want him to forget, if he ceased to regret she left me.

"It rests with me! how complete the forgetfulness is." I repeated aloud as the door closed "I WILL make him love me so he has no regrets—if it is possible."

To-morrow—Rose Grandon's Gossip.

BEAUTY SECRETS!



Whereshe gets her good looks, her healthy skin, her pink cheeks, is known to every one, because it is apparent that it is not due to cosmetics, paint and powder. But the true womanly beauty comes from good health, and this good health is a woman's secret.

Health comes with good physical machinery and good spirits, an active digestion. A body free from pains and aches comes with a tonic known for over fifty years as the best "temperance" tonic and nervine for woman—namely, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It can be obtained in any drug store in liquid or tablet form, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Cleansing of the intestinal tract is important. Take castor oil or select a vegetable pill. Such a one is composed of May-apple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap, and made into tiny sugar-coated pellets, to be had at every drug store as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Voice Of The People

A TRUE FORWARD MOVEMENT

The Editor "Examiner.

I understand that the clergy of this City, and other places having been talking, and asking the people to help them in this great Forward Movement, which is certainly a splendid thing if they can accomplish their object, as we understand it is for a great cause, and as we might say the great turning point of the world, between the different nations and people in it, and if we should gain the objective aimed at it will be for the best. The one great reason why we have had and are having so much trouble in the world is that the nations and people do not understand each other the way they should do. There is far too much talk, and not enough action going on just at the present day and before we can proceed to carry forward this great movement things will have to take a great change, but if this Forward Movement succeeds as we hope it will, and they can teach and spread the practical and Bibical education all over the world, and show the heathen nations a good example then we can talk of Christianity. We are on the verge of a great turning point and it all depends to us real Canadians and educated Christians to show the world an example and lead the way to a better future. I am very sorry to say there are quite a number of people wo misunderstand the real meaning of a Christian. We can understand the heathen people in Foreign lands worshipping idols and the sun, moon, and stars because they have never heard God's word preached to them, nor have they been taught from childhood in schools and other places of education, right from wrong, but can anyone tell me which is the worst those poor neglected heathens who don't know any better, and who have never been taught the word of God, worshipping idols of different kinds and our well educated and Christian people in this country worship their money, motor cars, and other things too numerous to mention? It is time to take steps to look after the poor uneducated people and children who can neither read nor write their own name, and who though some misfortune are not able to afford it. I am sure it would be a great benefit to Canada if she could teach and show those people the real meaning of Christianity, as well as to Japan and China. I am sure the action taken would help the others to take quicker steps towards the truth and light. Then Canada would be showing a splendid example of Christianity. I am very sorry to say a great number of people don't realize the meaning of the Sabbath Day, a day of rest and worship, and some of them use it for a day of sport, but they never think or know when they may receive a call, and then where would they be. Remember that God is a just God and judges according to your words, and deeds, and your thoughts and he cannot be bribed. What a splendid thing to be able to look forward to, and to know there is one place where the tramp on the road side and the king on the throne are on equal standing. Neither does the latest style in dress or the latest type of a car take you there, only being a true Christian of the faith, one who has lived up to her or his belief and carried it through to the last. There is no such a thing as social standing or classification among them there. What a splendid and glorious thing to be able to look forward to, everyone alike and all on the same standing. People should remember that they don't live forever, therefore they should be prepared especially while this terrible epidemic is travelling around. They may receive a call from this epidemic, and then if God should think fit to call them, their earthly possessions are of no more use to them, nor can a doctor save them. They can only relieve the pain. Let us hope that this great Forward Movement will take effect at home, as well as in the far off heathen lands. Let us think more of one another, and live the true Christian life as we should do and show an example to the world by our actions, as well as our talk, and that combined with the money which has and is being collected will make as we all hope a greater improvement and a greater advancement in our future lives. Let us live up to a true Christian's life and not make a laughing stock of God's House the way some people have done, and are doing at this present day.

Yours respectfully,
CITIZEN

HANDWRITING

Thackeray's handwriting was a marvel of neatness. He is said to have stated that if all other means of earning his own living failed, he would be able to write the Lord's Prayer on his thumbnail. His usual writing was so small that only eyes of microscopic power could with ease decipher it. Charles Dickens wrote a much less beautiful hand, but equally minute. He had a habit, too, of writing with blue ink on blue paper, a propensity which causes many a compositor to hurl invective at his head.

Carlyle wrote a patient, crabbed, jotting hand, sufficiently expressive of the character of the "dour" philosopher. A friend thus aptly describes it —

"Eccentric and spiteful little flourishes dart about his manuscript in various odd ways, sometimes evidently intended as a cross to a 't' but constantly recoiling in an absurd fashion, as if attempting a calligraphical somersault, and destroying the entire word from which they sprung. Some letters slope one way and some another, some are halt, maimed, and crippled, and all are blind." Carlyle used to enjoy a story told him by his London publishers. A Scotch compositor had just been added to the printing house staff. On the strength of a recommendation from the Edinburgh Review. His first copy was some of Carlyle's manuscript. "What," he fairly shouted, "have you got that man here? I fled from Scotland to get away from him!"

BITRO-PHOSPHATE IS GOOD FOR THIN NERVOUS PEOPLE

A French scientist has discovered an organic phosphate which should be a very effective remedy for weak nerves, sleeplessness, thinness and lack of strength, energy, and vigour.

Its substance is described by specialists as identical in composition with certain vital elements naturally found in brain and nerve cells and one which when taken into the human system is quickly converted into healthy, living tissue.

This phosphate is already widely known among druggists in this country as Bitro-Phosphate, and some physicians claim that through its use strength, energy, vigour, and nerve force are frequently increased in two weeks' time.

Dr. Frederick Kolle, Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says it should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital in the United States. As there are a great variety of so-called phosphates, those who wish to test the substance should be sure to get the genuine Bitro-Phosphate.

STRANGE AUSTRALIANS

For some years Capt. A. S. White has been exploring unknown Australia, and the account of his adventures in "Travel" introduces to general readers a new group of odd fellow-citizens of this diversified world. Residents in Ooduadatta, a hitherto unexplored part of north-western Australia, these odd people, to anybody but themselves, never have need to worry about the high cost of clothing; red ochre answers the purpose, and to paint oneself occasionally takes less time than dressing and undressing at least once every 24 hours. Here the men wear their hair long and the women wear their hair short, and a man would feel eccentric and be so regarded by others, who failed to follow the fashion of wearing the wing bone of a buzzard, or perhaps an ornamental stick, pierced through his nose. They proved a friendly people to the explorers, and made no hostile demonstration with the thick sticks, sharpened by fire, which serve them as weapons, and they attracted admiration by their physical development, their agility and the remarkable degree to which they had developed the sense of sight and hearing. All in all they seemed a happy sort of people, fond of their children, with whom the men spend a good deal of their time playing games, which on examination are discovered to be educational, according to local ideas, and therefore oddly suggestive of the kindergarten in more complex communities. A roving people, their homes in wet weather are temporary shelters somewhat like the tepees of the North American Indians. And sometimes, one regrets to add, they eat their enemies.

(2)—Provincial Board of Health to advise Government officers re heating of apartment houses and other living premises.

(3)—To direct the alteration or destruciton of buildings unfit for human habitation.

(4)—To prevent overcrowding in human habitation.

(5)—To control unnecessary noises.

(6)—To transfer control of lodging houses from police commissioners to City Council.

(7)—To regulate and control all places where food stuffs are made for sale or sold.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The career of Abraham Lincoln was a protest against socialism. His early life was one of extreme poverty and hard work. His opportunities were limited. His education was of the most rudimentary character. And the greatest tribute that we can pay to our democracy is that, handicapped as he was by his birth, his environment and his poverty, he forged to the front and made himself a master of men and the savior of the republic.

Socialism could never have given the nation an Abraham Lincoln. No such possibilities as he attained could ever have been reached in a political system that offered no incentive for individual effort.

The principles that should govern the conduct of men were never so clearly or so simply expounded as by this great American. His words are immortal because the truths they expressed are immortal. Lincoln believed in human progress, in the practice of integrity, in the dignity of toil and in the possibilities of self-culture. He believed in the righteousness of private property honestly acquired and in the security of such possessions, as an incentive to thrift and economy. To a workingman's association he said that "property is the fruit of labor," and "that some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise."

He did not believe in strikes and in violence as a means of redressing economic wrongs, or grievances real or fancied. All such forms and manifestations of discontent were to him destructive. "Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built."

Above all Abraham Lincoln was a true American—in thought, in hope, in word and in deed. He would have to-day little in common with the radical "red" and the walking delegate. He was too just and too honorable to inspire men of low intelligence with covetous thoughts. He was of the type that marks the true American, intellectually honest and high-minded.

If we all try to follow in his footsteps we shall be better citizens. The example of his life is a constant inspiration.

WHY FEBRUARY WAS SHORTENED

To the wisdom of one Roman ruler and the whim of another we owe our leap year. Julius Caesar found the Roman Kalends in such a muddle, for ignoring the seasons it often produced summer in the middle of winter, that, finding the astronomical year was 365 1-2 days, he made that the civil year too, dividing the days between the months in 30's and 31's, except that February had 29 days, with an extra one in leap year. But later came Augustus, who, annoyed that his name month had only 30 days, took one day from February and added it to August. Thus August now has 31 days, and February, except in every fourth year, only 28.

$1,000 GRANT TOWARDS RECEPTION OF DELEGATES TO G.W.V.A. CONVENTION

FINANCE COMMITTEE FELT THAT THE COUNCIL WAS MORALLY BOUND TO ASSIST IN ENTERTAINMENT OF VISITORS—LAST YEAR'S COUNCIL SUPPORTED INVITATION.

Acceding to the request of a deputation from the local branch of the G.W.V.A., composed of Mr. Robert Muir the president, Mr. S. Whatley secretary and Mr. R. E. Layfield, the Finance Committee of the Council last night recommended that a grant of $1,000 be made toward the entertainment of the 500 or 600 delegates to the annual convention of the Great War Veterans' Association of Ontario to be held in Peterboro from March 17th to 20th.

At the convention in Windsor last year ex-Mayor Duncan and Mayor McIntyre, who were in Detroit at the time on industrial business, supported the invitation extended by the Peterboro branch to the Association to meet in this city in 1920.

The committee recognized the importance of this convention and desired to assist the local G.W.V.A. in offering a welcome worthy of the city and at the same time felt morally bound by the invitation that had been pressed by members of last year's Council.

The deputation asked for $1,000 most of which will be expended in a civic banquet on the last night of the convention, and Ald. Morrison moved seconded by Mayor McIntyre that the request be granted. Ald Turner presided. The reception committee of the Council will co-operate with the Veterans in the entertainment of and welcome to the delegates.

Mr. R. Muir's Remarks.

"I have attended every convention since the Association's inception" Mr. Muir said, "and we were royally entertained. You have used us magnificently and we don't like to come before you, but ex-Mayor Duncan and Mayor McIntyre invited the Association last year to come to Peterboro. If we fall down it would be a black eye to the city. Peterboro was the first branch and has always taken the stand as the model in Canada. It is the most sane, and is the model in Canada."

Mr. Whatley.

Secretary Whatley said he anticipated at least 500 delegates. Rev. Fater Phelan had reported yesterday arrangements for seventeen delegates and expected to complete provision for twenty more in a few days. Eighty-five per cent. of the churches were yet to be heard from. On the Thursday night of the convention there would be an enterttainment and on Friday night it was usual to hold a civic banquet.

Windsor gave $1,000 last year when there were only 157 branches. There are now 287, an increase of 130, and if each of the new branches sends a delegate, the total attendance might be at least 130 more than at the Windsor convention. If each of the delegates spent three dollars a day the total sum they would leave here would be $6,000.

Mr. Layfield.

"The city has been so strong a partner of ours that they cannot very well back out" said Mr. Layfield. "You have given us the finest quarters in Canada. The delegates are going to see the best the G.W.V.A. can put up."

Mr. Layfield remarked that the Peterboro branch did not get excited over passing questions. They were sane citizens and wanted to join in community efforts. The success of this convention was an assurance of Peterboro's becoming a convention city. The assembly hall at the G.W.V.A. quarters was a perfect convention hall. The visiting delegates were picked men from all over the Province. Usually delegates were selected because of their intelligence.

"Is it not worth something to have them coming here? Speaking for our community work last night showed what could be done when a banquet was provided for 400 people. This must not be regarded as a three day entertainment at $2 a head. If the Trades and Labour Council hold a convention here some day they will have to come to our rooms."

Mr. Layfield stated that Peterboro had an opportunity to break in as a convention city. Rochester had established a reputation in this respect. Conventions from all parts of the United States were held there. The delegates would spend nearer $5 than $0 during their stay.

"They are not living billeted for nothing. They will pay their way. The convention will cost everyone of the local veterans something. I will have a couple of visitors with me but won't take their money. It will go to our comrades in the hospital."

PROCLAIMED SOVIET.

WORKERS SEIZE MUNICIPAL BUILDINGS IN ITALY.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Workers at Pieve-Di-Sotigo, Italy, have seized the municipal buildings and proclaimed a Soviet Government, according to a Rome despatch to the Central News, which says that fighting has taken place between the workers and Carabineers, in which many were wounded. A general strike in sympathy with the striking metal workers has been declared by the Labour Chamber at Naples, while disorders have also occurred at Vittorio and Montebelluna.

committee is to keep the Victory Bonds distributed in the Canadian market, they must at least be as attractive as other securities. One expert when asked what securities were competing with Victory Bonds, mentioned a well-known Canadian railway security, at four per cent. This security due to the drop in sterling could be bought in England with Canadian money, at an advantage, and brought to Canada, and offered here at such a discount that it actually earned six and one quarter per cent. And there were many other "sterling" securities which are very attractive. It would be good business for some holding big blocks of Victory Bonds to dispose of them, and invest the money in other securities under the abnormal exchange conditions. To stabilize the market, the prices of Victory Bonds were depressed, so that taking into consideration the present state of the market, and the great value of Victory Bonds, investors are expected to buy the bonds, and those who hold them will not be so anxious to sell. "The action taken is to stabilize the market, and make the Victory Bonds as attractive as other securities, known as sterling securities," said one of the leading financiers in Toronto.

"What else could they do?" asked another. And a well known banker stated the move was all right, "it had to be done."

Another expert declared that if Victory Bonds had been allowed to run wild on the stock exchanges, people holding them would have lost a lot more money in market values, with the present abnormal rates of exchange. He summed it up as follows: "The big fellow loses in market price as well as the little chap, and we must look after Canada's position first. It is a good thing to keep them off the exchange, and they will not go down any further. People do not need to sell, and the securities are as good as ever, and the best in the market."

BUSTLE OF PAPER UNNERVED HER

MRS. HOLMES PRAISES TANLAC FOR RESTORING HER HEALTH IN A SHORT TIME.

"It seems really remarkable that it has taken only two bottles of Tanlac to completely overcome my six years of trouble," said Mrs. Olive Holmes, who lives at 400 Atlantic Street, Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia, while talking to the Tanlac representative the other day.

"It was about six years ago that my health began to fail," she continued, "and since that time I have suffered from a complication of troubles. My nerves were so terribly shattered that even the rustling of a newspaper would upset me, and I was so restless at night that it was almost impossible for me to get a night's rest, and sometimes it would be three o'clock before I could close my eyes. I had a poor appetite, and indigestion caused me so much misery that I hardly ever cared whether I ate anything or not, and I was troubled with dreadful headaches that often kept me in bed for days at a time. I felt run-out all the time, and lost so much in weight that I looked almost like a frame, and was so weak that I had to give up my housework altogether.

"A friend of mine told me about Tanlac, and now I am certainly thankful to her for her advice, for it has proved to be just the thing I needed, and before I had finished my second bottle I felt like a different woman entirely. My nerves are so steady that I can stand any kind of noise, and I am never troubled with headaches any more. I have a splendid appetite and can eat just anything I please without any bad effects in the least, and my food is giving me so much nourishment that I am stronger than I have been in years. I sleep like a child and rest perfectly, and I never have that worn-out feeling, but instead I have so much energy and strength about me that my housework is a pleasure for me. I am so happy for what Tanlac has done for me that I wish I could tell everybody about this medicine."

GOVERNMENT SUPPLIES STILL BEING SOLD

The secretary of the War Purchasing Commission has issued an advertisement on the sale of military and government stores. Equipment of all kinds for hospitals, institutions, bunk houses, camps, dining rooms, kitchens, etc., including bedsteads, furniture, hardware, dry goods, rubbers, overshoes and other footwear, blankets, sheets, pillows and such supplies are being disposed of. Considerable construction equipment and machinery is also for sale and all these goods are being sold through stores located in all parts of Canada. Instead of or in addition to sales by sealed tender price lists will now be issued for most articles, the goods being offered in lots for purchase by wholesale houses, jobbers and the trade generally.

The trade only will be supplied, except that arrangements previously made to sell goods to returned soldiers and sailors and their dependents through the G.W.V.A. or some similar organization and to hospitals and philanthropic institutions will be continued.

These sales will cease in March and any balances left will be sold by public auction thereafter.

Those interested should apply at once for price lists and other information to the secretary of the War Purchasing Commission, Booth Building, Ottawa.

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made cough syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. ROUGEMONT THE FAKIR

The famous Louis de Rougemont is reported seriously ill in a London hospital. For some years now he has been lost sight of, and the world supposed him to be dead. De Rougemont first astonished the world in 1808 with his narrative of thirty years among the aborigines of Australia and adventures in the South Seas. He was hailed as the modern Robinson Crusoe, a man whose real life was more romantic than the fiction of Defoe. Members of the Royal Geographical Society went to hear him lecture. He even read a paper before the British Association on the Anthropology of the Australian aborigine. None doubted him until he made one important slip. He wrote in his history about flocks of flying wombats. As the wombat keeps to the earth, and does not venture into the air questions began to be asked, and finally De Rougemont was bowled out as a "spoof merchant." And now the poor old fakir is dying at the age of eighty-five.—Atlanta Leader.

History Repeats Itself

After periods of cruel warfare in the past, it is a remarkable fact that the attention of the people has been zealously turned towards the improvements of their homes.

It was at the close of the thousand years of bloodshed, known as the Dark Ages, that time of peril that followed the birth of Christianity, when, as the historian says, "the Nations of the earth went mad and destroyed one another," that the marvellous rejuvenescence of the decorative arts of the classic days, called the Renaissance, swept over Europe.

Again in the reign of Queen Bess, after Admiral Drake had lured to destruction the proud Armada of Philip of Spain, the Tudor homes of England became a synonym for comfort and refinement. In later days the ending of Napoleon's career created a seedtime for home betterment that bore fruit all through the golden ages of Victoria the Good.

And now that, after the most appalling of wars, the sword has been sheathed once more, it is only the natural order of events, approved by precedent, that people should turn their attention to home beautifying as never before.

HIGHER SALARIES FOR CITY OFFICIALS RECOMMENDED

FINANCE COMMITTEE DREW UP SCHEDULE LAST NIGHT---CITY ENGINEER PARSONS WILL GET $3,300, HIS FIRST INCREASE IN SEVEN YEARS--CITY CLERK'S DUAL POSITION BROUGHT HOME TO THE COMMITTEE--DR. M'PHERSON'S DEMAND MET BY INCREASE TO $2,000.

Civic salaries were generally if not uniformly increased by the Finance Committee last night in preparing their chapter of the 1920 budget. The continued exigencies of the high cost of living were the guiding influences, but not the sole consideration.

In recommending an increase for City Engineer Parsons from $2500 to $3300, Ald. Turner, chairman, dwelt on the fact that Mr. Parsons had been overlooked practically since his appointment seven years ago.

The diligence and ability of City Clerk Armstrong was recognized by an extra $500, bringing his salary to $3000. At first the committee stopped at $2725, and when they had called Mr. Armstrong from his office, and acquainted him of the advance he expressed his appreciation of the committee's action and of the sentiment that had prompted it. He asked permission to refer to his dual position as City Clerk and Industrial Commissioner. He said he was trying to perform the duties of Industrial Commissioner as satisfactorily as possible under the restrictions of other work. Belleville, although not its council alone, had recently engaged an Industrial Commissioner on a three year contract at a salary of $3600 the first year, $4000 the second and $4200 the third.

"I mention this not with the idea that I should receive that salary but as an indication of the kind of work I do apart from my duties as City Clerk," Mr. Armstrong added.

A few minutes later he was again asked to retire. "I completely forgot his work as Industrial Commissioner" said one Alderman expressing the thought of the committee.

It was suggested that the two offices be defined by their salaries, but Mayor McIntyre replied that the result might make the Council look cheap if the Industrial Commissioner were set out beside Belleville's handsome figures.

The committee quickly decided to move their increase on to $3000. Mr. Armstrong's salary had been fixed in December at $2500 to take effect on January 1st of this year, but in the general advance it was recognized that the Clerk deserved further favorable consideration.

Ald Turner presided with Ald Hamilton, Phelan and Morrison, and Mayor McIntyre present. Ald. Crowe remained from the meeting of the Property Committee but had no vote in the proceedings.

Ald Turner submitted a tentative schedule with last year's salaries alongside for the purposes of comparison. He said he had made some investigations before filling out the list for the approval of the committee and the council's ratification, and had made many enquiries upon which he based the proposed increases.

Tax Collector Green's salary last year was $1550 with an allowance of $450 for office help and stamps, making a total of $2000. Out of his new salary of $2250 he will have to pay the usual expenses incidental to his work.

Relief Officer Miller's salary shown at $1650, is actually only $850 as far as the council contributes to it. The remaining $700 is paid by the Board of Education for his work as Truancy officer. The committee believed that Mr. Miller would be satisfied under the new arrangement.

Dr. McPherson's Claim.

The salary of Dr. McPherson, the Medical Officer of Health, was only $800 previous to a belated increase to $1200 towards the end of last year. He had notified the new council that the increase was unsatisfactory and the committee realized that under the regulations he could take his case to the County Judge appealing for adequate remuneration, and the Provincial Board of Health would support him.

Stenographers' Salaries.

The stenographers' salaries were approved in the lump, and Ald. Crowe broke in with the rather reproachful remark: "It's a shame to offer those girls those salaries. I hope none of you men will have daughters that are working in offices for such sums. You ought to be generous with those who are working for the smaller wages. I am surprised that Mayor McIntyre fell in with them."

His Worship replied that he was simply backing up the suggestion to complete the list.

To Ald. Turner's deprecatory remark, Ald. Crowe answered, "Why you said you made out the list yourself."

The Plumbing Inspector.

Mr. Peter Thompson's salary was lifted $40 to an even $1000 mainly for present appearances.

Ald. Hamilton said that the whole question of the Plumbing Inspector's department was in abeyance awaiting consideration of the report on certain work presented last year. Until that question was settled he advised no action beyond the $1000 mark.

The last three names on the list are the members of the Court of Revision who get the same amount as last year.

Ald. Crowe asked what allowance would be made for an increase to the laborers this year.

Ald. Turner turned the question to Ald. Phelan who remarked that the overdraft in that department last year was mainly owing to the increases in wages to the street employees.

The revised list as recommended to the Council was as follows:

	1920	1919
Mayor McIntyre	$1000
S. R Armstring, City Clerk and Industrial Commissioner	3000	$2500

MOTHERS' PENSIONS IN UNITED STATES

Hawaii, Alaska and 39 States Have Laws Providing Allowances.

Mothers' pension laws, designed in part to make it possible for widowed mothers to give their children an education, are now in force in thirty-nine States, Alaska and Hawaii. This legislation has all been passed since 1911.

There is considerable variation in the laws in force in the different States. Some States provide pensions only for widowed mothers; others include women who are divorced or who may have been deserted by their husbands, or those whose husbands are in prison, in State asylums, or who are otherwise incapacitated. In three States, expectant mothers may receive mothers' pensions; and in a number of instances the mothers of children born out of wedlock come within the scope of the law.

The age up to which an allowance may be made for a child varies from 13 to 17 years. Only one State has a 13-year maximum, but this State allows an extension to 16 years if the child is ill or incapacitated for work. Sixteen years is the maximum in the greatest number of States. One State and Alaska give 17 as a maximum and one other State with a 16-year limit for boys makes 17 a maximum in the case of girls.

The amounts of the allowances vary greatly in the different States. They range from $2 per week per child to $25 a month for one child and $15 for each additional child. In many States the amount is considered far too low to maintain a decent standard of family life, particularly in view of the greatly increased cost of living.

"It is encouraging to note, however," says the Government Children's Bureau, "that the newer laws and more recent amendments, with a few exceptions, are in the direction of making more liberal allowances and of raising the age limits of the children who may be aided to keep pace with advances made in child labor and compulsory education laws."

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 109 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as hers are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

EXHIBITION GRANT DEFERRED WITH A NUMBER OF OTHERS

The Finance Committee of the Council began last night to apportion grants, but after aproving $1,000 for the War Veterans' convention and passing a few others they decided to let the rest stand until the budget was under consideration and the tax rate for his year loomed into view. The requests thus left over were $1,000 for the Playgrounds Association, $5,000 for the Exhibition Board, $1,500 for the City Development Commission and $400 for the District Orange Lodge to advertise the celebration of the 12th of July here this year.

The Public Library Board asked for $6,600 an increase of $600. Dr. McPherson's salary was raised to $2,000 on Ald. Hamilton's motion, seconded by Ald Morrison. The Nicholls hospital board announced a requirement of $450 a month from the city which was recommended on a motion by Ald Morrison, seconded by Ald. Hamilton. For the first time in years the Board in 1919 sought the city's financial help.

Louis Yeotes appealed for the refund of the $100 license he paid last year for his bowling alley which he ran only three weeks. He put in pool tables paying $300 for the licenses. The refund was granted on motion of Ald Phelan, seconded by Ald. Morrison.

A grant of $25 was made to the Sick Children's hospital of Toronto. Ald. Hamilton mentioned the item of hand grants. There was no action by the committee. No applications have been received from any hand yet.

TURKS BLAME GERMAN OFFICERS

Mustapha Kemal Says Army Commanders Were Poor Strategists.

CONSTANTINOPLE — German military leaders who commanded the Turkish armies during the great war played a losing game from the start, their ideas of strategy being badly at fault, said Mustapha Kenal Pasha, leader of the Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor, recently. He declared he brought the condition of affairs before the Turkish Government, but received a rebuff, which brought about his resignation from his post. He said he warned German commanders on the western front in France in 1917 that the Allies would win the war.

Mustapha Kemal served in the Balkan war of 1912-13, and when Turkey entered the world conflict on the side of the Central Empires he went to the Gallipoli peninsula as a Colonel. Later he was promoted and was in command of operations there. Then German officers began to arrive and Kemal was transferred to Erzerum, where he was put in command of the Turkish forces holding that stronghold. After a short time he was again shifted, this time to the British front in Syria and Mesopotamia.

"Knowing the country and the capabilities of the Turkish troops," he said in an interview, "I saw the futility of the plans of Field Marshal Liman von Sanders and General Falkenhayn, who were sent to Turkey by Germany. I even went to Berlin to have them recalled, but did not succeed. In 1917 I was on the French battlefront and knew then the war would be lost, and expressed my views to Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff. The latter was quick to see my reasoning, and gave me a sympathetic hearing, but nothing came of my efforts. It was suspected by the-e German leaders that I was trying to get Turkey out of the war, which was the truth.

"Gen Falkenhayn under whom I was asked to serve with our Seventh Army, was so obviously wrong in his strategy that I refused to continue in my post. We lost engagements near Aleppo, and I made a report to Enver Pasha, then Turkish Minister of War, advising him that, in case of a victory, General Falkenhayn would attempt to make a German colony of Turkey and another of Arabia. This may be found in official records. Enver Pasha answered I must serve under General Falkenhayn so I resigned. Later, when the German Generals had been recalled, I rejoined my troops, winning my last two engagements against the British between Damascus and Hama.

"After the armistice I was sent by the Sultan to investigate uprisings in Asia Minor. My strong Nationalist sentiments were known, and when I failed to return to Constantinople my military commission and all my titles were revoked by the Sultan, who feared my Nationalist leanings were adverse to policies to be followed in securing peace."

SICK HEADACHE For Last 10 Years

Headaches affect all ages and both sexes alike, but in all cases the treatment should be directed to remove the cause for with the cause removed the headaches vanish for all time.

What is necessary for a permanent cure is something that will go right to the seat of the trouble. For this purpose it is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of all descriptions than Burdock Blood Bitters acting as it does on every organ of the body to strengthen, purify and regulate the whole system.

Mrs Flora Hall, Dominion, N.S., writes:—"I have been troubled with sick headaches for the last ten years. I had lost faith in all remedies until recently a friend of mine advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. This I did, and found relief in a very short time. I would now recommend B.B.B. to anyone who is suffering as I did. I only took 3 bottles and am never troubled with sick headaches anymore."

THE REVOLUTION DISCUSSED BY MR. LOUIS JOFFE

Last evening Mr. Louis Joffe spoke on conditions in Russia, laying before the audience in St. Paul's church the cataclysmic events which have taken place in the former Russian Empire from the beginning of the fall of the Romanoffs up to the present day. It was an eye witness report and the speaker reasoned with his audience. It was an address that will not be forgotten by those who heard him.

The speaker stated that the underlying currents which have led to the fall of the Russian Empire were due to the graft, selfishness and lack of godliness of the mighty ones at the helm of the Russian ship of state who allowed it to drift unto dangerous rocks protruding into the sea of Russian political life. He explained in a most clear manner the effect of the removal of the Romanoffs. The Czar, he said, was to the average Russian soldier, a giant bestriding the universe with his might and when they heard in the trenches that he had been removed they kept quiet, not because they had accepted understandingly altogether the vast political change that had taken place in the Fatherland, but due to their non belief at first that the giant had been removed They attributed these rumors at first to the undermining influence of Germany who they thought was spreading these rumors to discourage them and break the morale.

The Revolution.

But this blessed ignorance could not last long because in the interior of the Empire an actual revolution had taken place and the Russian people who were held in restraint by oppression for centuries had suddenly broken loose like the gushing waters of a mighty dam Million tongued Russia commenced to give expression to the crude and at times most stupid ideas of its mystic soul. And what confusion ensued. Russia resembled a huge mad house, a veritable Tower of Babel. Every street corner became a rostrum to which a bewildered population flocked in thousands to hear the new philosophies expounded by the various orators on how to organize and reconstruct Russia and of course every orator had his own little doctrine for the salvation of Russia. This cry of confusion even penetrated into the trenches and slowly but surely it commenced to dawn upon the Russian soldier that the Czar, upon whom he was accustomed to look with awe had been removed. Once this thought became crystalized in his mind nothing could hold him. To fight for the plot "Wherein the members cannot try the cause which is not salient nor tomb enough to hide the slain," and the cry was 'Damon,' 'Damon' (Home, Home), and nothing could hold them back. The officers who intervened were summarily put to death.

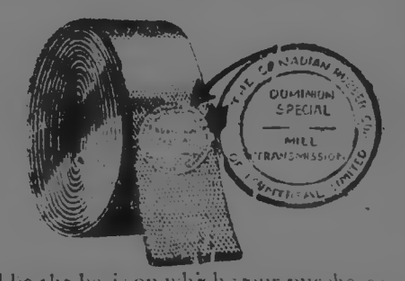
Became Infested.

And in this manner Russia became infested with an armed, grunting, dissatisfied mob. The speaker here pictured what would have happened even in Canada with a civilized, cultured people inured to democracy for centuries if when, in the midst of political debate the voters were armed to the teeth, more especially under the exciting influence of a war and just emerging from the most autocratic government of modern times. At that time there was still a chance for Russia and there was one word that could have saved it and that was 'work.' When the ex-Kaiser started the war he had thrown a monkey wrench into the machinery of the world's affairs and it had and is still playing havoc throughout the world. Canada and the United States are already feeling the effect of it. Money in itself is useless. Dollars, etc., are a wonderful institution under normal conditions, because they represent the medium of exchange of human effort and labor and modern finance. Such institutions as banks and general commerce have made it a wonderful factor. But if there are no actual things to back it up, commodities, food stuffs, building railroads, etc., it becomes useless. The speaker here dealt with the financial conditions of the world and explained why there is such distress experienced by Great Britain and the States.

Against Bolshevism.

Mr. Joffe declared himself out and out against Bolshevism no matter under what disguise it might be. Men are not like bricks cast in one mould. Every one is a world unto himself. All differ spiritually and intellectually as in physical appearance, and are alike only in the presence of God, but otherwise every man has a faculty for a different thing. God has his physical prophets as well as his spiritual prophets. Millions have lived and died without conceiving the idea of harnessing steam to do men's work It was left to Watt, Stevenson and Foulton. Millions have likewise lived and died without conceiving the idea of using electricity. It was left to Edison. These men and thousands of others are God's vessels through which he is gradually unfolding the beauties of the world. "Eyes have not seen nor ears heard the wonderful things God has stored up for them that love Him," and we have only touched upon the fringes of the vast storehouse of God's beneficence and abundant provisions. And since men are not all alike he denounced the idea of Bolshevism as stupid ignorance. Russia is paying with her heart's blood for the terrible experiment. Let us, the speaker concluded, take a lesson here and let us turn to Jesus Christ and we shall have happiness, joy and prosperity.

The speaker was questioned by son apparent followers of Bolshevism and with these he dwelt. He will accept here, as elsewhere, any debate by any adherent of Bolshevism. Should anyone care to debate he will accept only upon the following conditions: That if possible admission shall not be charged and if there should be a collection taken up, the money to be divided equally between the Salvation Army, the hospitals and the Armenian Fund. The chairman to be a minister of some Protestant church and the debate to be conducted according to British accepted parliamentary rules. Mr Joeff will meet any one at any time and at any place.



"Plus Service" Transmission Belting

Service, not price, should be the basis on which your purchases of transmission belting are made. The highest-priced belt is built to give maximum service and, in the final analysis, is the most economical. Low-priced belting is the most expensive, for it cannot be expected to wear for any length of time, and usually doubles its first cost in expensive repairs, power waste, idle machines and lost production.

Leaving price out of the question, no belt will prove economical unless it is the right size and construction to efficiently carry a given power load.

The possibilities of waste in buying and placing belts is so great that no one but a belting expert should ever be permitted to select a belt for even the most unimportant purpose. It isn't necessary that you maintain a belting expert. We have established a special service department in charge of belting engineers who will, without cost, gladly take the responsibility of making your transmission belting give Plus Service by keeping its cost at the minimum. They will specify

LETTER FROM MR. J. H. BURNHAM

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir.—Your correspondent of yesterday surprises me He seems to forget that the churches according to their own showing have failed. The Rev. Dr. Johnston of Montreal, preaching in Toronto last Sunday took his text: "What must the churches do to be saved?" This of course is all due to that presumptuousness which makes some members substitute themselves and their own idols for God. That Ex-President Taft would hesitate over the interpretation of the constitution of the U.S. upon the true meaning of which the liberty and the life of any man may depend I do not believe. Greater justice and a better conscience than that could be found even at a prize-fight. The truth of the whole situation I believe to be the failure of many people to understand that belief in God and Christ makes the world beautiful and transforms it and all men. It is our duty to make it known and, if we believe, "to rejoice." We must leave the rest to God. He is more solicitous about it even than we are and He alone can save people from their sins. If Jesus made water into wine in these days He would no doubt be reproached by some for so doing Now God does not prohibit or compel us to be "good". Upon what theory do we dare to substitute our methods for His? He will not save us even from Hell itself by a Prohibition or any other form of Force which, as History shows in the last refuge of the tyrant and the unbeliever. Rely upon God Mr. Correspondent and all will become different and clear to you.

J. H. BURNHAM.

FORMER PREMIER EXPLAINS DEAL.

Special to Examiner.

PARIS, Feb. 25.—Joseph Caillaux, the former premier, explaining his activities in Italy, on the resumption to-day of his trial before the Senate, sitting as a high court, on the charge of having had treasonable dealings with the enemy, said he foresaw in 1916, economic conditions that would prevail after the war.

He declared he had sought an economic alliance with Italy within the entente, so that Italy's and France's interests would be safeguarded at the peace conference.

At no time, M. Callaux asserted, was there any question of politics or peace or compromise.

Heart Disease and Nerve Troubles Sweep the Country

Probably at no period in the world's history have heart and nerve trouble been so prevalent as they are to-day.

The heart can't stand the stress and strain of this busy, hurrying age, and the care and worry, the anxiety and activity of business life constitute a serious drain on the nervous system.

The business of this work-a-day world goes with such a rush that the stoutest hearts and strongest nerves break down under the strain.

On the first approach of any breakdown of the system Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills should be taken. The reconstructive power of these pills on the heart and nerve system is simply marvellous.

Mr. W. A. Wright, Hopewell Ave., Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"After suffering for some time with my heart, I consulted a number of doctors, but got no relief. However, I read what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills had done for others, who had the same symptoms and thought I would give them a trial. Believe me, six boxes cured me completely. I am feeling fine now, and can attend to my work every day. I can recommend your pills to any one suffering as I did."

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this to-night and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completey dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky, and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

PETERBORO WON FROM PORT HOPE

SCORE WAS 18-1 IN FAVOUR OF THE P.C.I.

Yesterday afternoon the Collegiate Institute hockey team easily defeated the Port Hope High School team by a score of 18-1. From the first the P.C.I. team had everything their own way and waded through the Port Hope defence for goal after goal with little opposition.

In point of weight the two teams were fairly evenly matched but in both speed and stick handling the Port Hope aggregation were outclassed. Leggon and Mowat played a fast game for P.C.I., Leggon scoring 6 of the 18 goals.

The P.C.I. defence effectively blocked Port Hope's weak attempts to break through and the forwards kept the puck in the vicinity of the Port Hope goal most of the time.

Westwood was the outstanding player of the lake shore team and scored Port Hope's single goal in the third period.

First Period.

The game opened with slow playing and a see-sawing up and down the ice. The break came when Leggon, the P.C.I. forward, carried the puck through the Port Hope defence and scored the first goal, following this almost immediately with a second. Play lagged again until Mowat towards the end of the period scored the third P.C.I. goal.

Score at end of first period, P.C.I.-3, Port Hope-0.

Second Period.

P.C.I. opened the second period with a burst of speed and easily breaking through the Port Hope defence kept Martin busy trying to stop the fusillade of shots. Port Hope made a few attempts to get the puck down to the Peterboro end of the ice but their rushes broke at the P.C.I. defence.

Score at end of second period, P.C.I.-11, Port Hope-0.

Third Period.

The third period was a rehersal of the second with the exception that early in the period Westwood, the Port Hope right defence succeeded in finding the net for Port Hope's only tally. P.C.I. continued to hammer the Port Hope goal and piled up 7 more counters before the gong rang.

Final score, P.C.I.-18, Port Hope 1.

Line-up.

The teams lined up as follows:

Port Hope—Martin, goal; Westwood, Ott, defence; Merking, centre; Reid, Haultain, forwards.

P.C.I.—Hay, goal; Pogue, Mowat, Green, defence; Rishor, centre; Leggon, Stevenson, Hunter, forwards.

Referee—C. S. Brown.

BELLEVILLE HAS NO LOVE FOR KINGSTON

Belleville Intelligencer: Kingston Whig sporting writer who reported the game at Belleville Thursday evening wrote a lurid account of the game.

What the Whig man says is all right except that he had the wrong perpective — the trifling exception being that Kingston were the aggressors and Peterborough the victims of the rough-house stuff, otherwise his remarks might pass, although somewhat exaggerated at that.

The Kingston team were out to 'get' any Petes at all dangerous and made a dead set on Murray, the goaltender, who was unmercifully and quite unnecessarily banged about the head by Kingston sticks. It was no wonder he tried to retaliate, but unfortunate that he did not have the Kingston brand of slickness to get away with rough stuff. Kingston players are poor sports and the fans who follow them are worse — poor losers and poor winners. The Peterborough players are clean and clever and if the team had not been demoralized by sickness Kingston would probably have been retired. Kingston hockeyists are so popular in Belleville that the rink manager could hardly be persuaded to allow the use of his rink for the playing, and every restaurant in the city closed just as soon as the sporting special from Kingston arrived. Must be something about the Kingston outfit or is it only imagination?

The Kingston Standard reports the game without any grouch, and compliments both the officials and the Peterborough players. Where does the Whig man get his awful grouch? Forget it, old man, and come out into the sunshine of good sportsmanship.

PETERBORO BOWLERS TO PLAY ROSEDALES

Mr. C. H. Keys, captain of the Rosedale Bowling Club, of Toronto, has invited the Peterborough five-pin bowlers to engage in a series of home and home games with the Toronto club.

The invitation has been accepted, and the first game will be played at Orr's Alleys, Toronto, on the 12th of March, with the return game here one week later.

"A NIGHT IN HONOLULU"

"A Night in Honolulu," which comes to the Grand Saturday Matinee and Evening, is a story of Hawaii, which immediately suggests a myriad of thoughts to the stranger, especially the American. One pictures Hawaii as a land of sunshine, of flowers and of music. One cannot bring the sunshine of Hawaii to our land, nor the flowers in their glorious radiance, but the music is another matter. The Americans have taken the beautiful wistful music of Hawaii to their hearts as they have no other. The quaint "Ukelele" now holds a favored place in our homes. Students of this instrument are as numerous as those of the violin. In "A Night in Honolulu" one may hear the veritable native musician chant their weird melodies, hear the mournful prayer of death or the gay care-free hulu music. It all has a peculiar fascination for us and is an opportunity not to be missed.

A GOOD BILL AT THE EMPIRE

Last evening at the Empire Theatre the excellent programme of pictures was greeted with a full house. The feature production "The Better Wife" is a picture that will not soon be forgotten by those who witnessed it last evening. Clara Kimball Young as Charmian Page, a beautiful young American, is given full power to display her great histrionic ability and the story of how she becomes a "better wife" than her husband's first wife and pours on his litle son all the mother love that his own mother failed to do and fills the home with happiness and love.

Bessie Love in a "Fighting Coleen" visibly delighted and amused the audience for the picture is filled with Irish humour and wit. How this little sprig of Old Erin holds her own against the world, how she falls in love with Jimmy and nearly loses him again acting as a private detective and of her other adventures ending up with her getting Jimmy and both being given a responsible position as a result of her detective work, forms a pretty plot and a crowded house should see this picture again to-night.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

The Editor of the Examiner.—

Dear Sir,—On Monday night the United Farmers Clubs ignored the men who really elected Mr. Thomas Toms. None of the labour men who bore the heat of the battle in the last election were invited to sit at the head tables. Premier Drury should have had an opportunity of meeting the Independent Labour Party's Executive, and why they were left out I cannot understand and an explanation is due them.

Yours truly,

LABOR.

TWO CHARGES IN ANTI-DRUG CAMPAIGN BY POLICE DEPARTMENT

In the investigation of the drug traffic in Peterborough, the Police Department has prepared two charges, involving a doctor and druggist that will be heard in the police court on Friday.

Some time ago Chief Thompson directed his plain clothes staff in a campaign to obtain evidence as to the extent of the local traffic with results that have been fairly satisfactory. This illicit business thrives by covert methods and for that reason it is extremely difficult to obtain evidence to warrant prosecution. The police know many of the local addicts, and that number is much larger than most citizens are aware of.

WILL RESIDE IN PETERBORO

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS TO MR. AND MRS. DAVID BATEER.

A presentation and address was made to Mr. and Mrs. David Bateer, well-known farmers of Fairview, Cavan Township, who are coming to Peterborough to reside. Speeches were made by Mr. S. S. Staple, M.P.P., Rev. Mr. Craw, and others. The address follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Bateer:

We, the people of this community have gathered in your home this evening to show you in a small measure that we have appreciated your friendship while among us.

It was not without a feeling of regret we received the news that you were leaving us. We recognise the fact that your home has been one of abundant kindness and hearty hospitality to all who have entered. Your presence has always brought goodwill and pleasure wherever you went.

With the poet we would say:
"Friend thou art of mine indeed,
Friend, true friend to one in need.
Whatever else does pass thy way,
May it be my lot to say—
Kind Fortune smile her richest blessings
On thee, who art a soul refreshing,
To all in truth and love."

For this reason, we ask you to accept this little remembrance, which in but a small way conveys our feelings of true friendship and best of wishes for you in your future home.

Signed on behalf of the people of this community—

William Bothwell,
John Morrison,
Frank Ballantyne,
William Fair.

WAS REMOVED FROM TRAIN

A PLEASANT SURPRISE FOR PASSENGER FROM ORILLIA.

Evidently sharper at diagnosing disease than the patient's physician, a conductor on the train from Orillia yesterday recognized a case of smallpox and telegraphed the city to watch for the man, and upon his arrival in the city he was taken to the Isolation Hospital.

Dr. A. W. McPherson, M.O.H., said to-day that the epidemic, while not on the increase, is keeping up a good average and that it has not affected any one locality but is spread about the city. On Aylmer street, however, in one section five houses are placarded. No further cases have proved serious.

Ready For Influenza.

Anticipating an epidemic of influenza which, however, fortunately has not as yet developed, the north end of the Isolation Hospital has been opened for patients, but only one case has been brought in so far.

CONVENTION IN PROGRESS TO-DAY

The annual convention of the Peterborough Sunday School Association opened this afternoon in St. Paul's Church with a splendid attendance. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. The subject of "Community Tasks in Religious Education" was taken up and previous to closing the departmental sessions held. Supper will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock.

D. L. MOODY

in early life was seized with one passion, and that was the salvation of young men. This desire grew stronger with the years, till the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago is the result — out from which there goes every year an army of young men to preach the same gospel that Moody preached. And Mr. Harold Harper is one of these young men. He will be at Gospel Hall next Sunday, and continue every night for at least two weeks.

THE JOYS OF A FIREMAN'S LIFE

Chimney fires during the last couple of months have been the chief cause of worry to the firemen, but these too have apparently ceased. Cleaning windows, scrubbing floors, polishing brass and all the other little diversions of a fireman's life have been resorted to and the fire hall has had a thorough renovating. If the city fathers would only allow them to go out pleasure driving in the big truck or have a nice sleigh drive on the hook and ladder waggon it would surely help to remove the drudgery of scrubbing and house-cleaning.

A SOCIAL EVENING

A very pleasant evening was spent on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. A. E. Lucas, Apt. O, Charlbond Apts., when the Ladies Bible Class of the Salvation Army Sunday School gave a Surprise Party to Mrs. W. J. Lloyd, their teacher, who is residing at the above address. Mrs. Lloyd was very much surprised at receiving such a beautiful piece of Ivory that Adjutant Bunton presented her with, also for the wonderful address from the Bible Class, which Mrs. Bunton read, for the faithful services during past year. She also received beautiful cut flowers.

The evening was spent very pleasantly in games. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

TO GET TO CHINA AT LAST.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, business man, millionaire, and world traveller, who was appointed United States Minister to China by President Taft in 1909, and recalled while on his way to Pekin for "talking too much," has been selected by President Wilson for the same post to succeed Dr. Paul Reinsch.

APPOINTMENT WAS A BIG SURPRISE.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Colby, who was appointed to succeed former Secretary of State Lansing, was a Republican until the famous Bull Moose bolt at the Chicago Convention in 1912. He had been actively identified with Theodore Roosevelt's candidacy for the Republican nominal for President that year.

When Col. Roosevelt bolted the Convention, Mr. Colby helped to found the Progressive Party, and continued an active leader in 1914 and two years later, and after that he identified himself with the Democratic party.

Mr. Colby is fifty-one years of age, and is engaged in the practice of law in New York for twenty-eight years.

The selection of Mr. Colby came as a surprise most officials assuming that Frank L. Polk would be the choice of the President.

The new secretary was appointed a member of the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation in July, 1917, but retired more than a year ago.

OBITUARY

ZACK KNOTT

A well known Indian guide passed away yesterday at the Indian village in the person of Zack Knott, aged seventy-three years. Pneumonia was given as the cause of death. The funeral took place this morning at the Indian village. The deceased leaves a family of several sons and daughters. His wife predeceased him several years ago.

FRED DUNKLEY

The death occurred at Calderwood Hospital, Kingston, yesterday, of a well known Peterboro boy in the person of Fred Dunkley, aged 34 years. Death was due to heart troubles arising out of wounds and the effect of gas received at the front in September 1916.

The deceased was born in England but had lived in Peterboro for four or five years before the war and during this time made a wide circle of friends by whom his early demise will be deeply regretted. He enlisted with the 59th Battalion in 1916 and saw long service at the front. He was severely wounded and gassed in September 1916, but was after hospital treatment able to return to the front again in the Forestry Service. In this branch he served until the end of the war being returned to Canada just one year ago.

After receiving the severe wounds his heart was affected and throughout his later service he suffered greatly. After returning to Peterboro he was employed at the C.G.E. until several months ago but his condition was growing worse so he went to Calderwood Hospital to undergo treatment. All that medical science could do failed to restore the young man's fast failing health and last night his brother received a wire that he had passed away.

He leaves besides his mother, one brother, Maurice of this city and one other brother Collin in New Zealand and one sister in this city.

The remains of the late Fred Dunkley will arrive in the city this afternoon on the 5.30 train. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

REV. DR. HUNTER.

At his home in Riverside, California, on Sunday, Rev. Dr. W. Hunter, D.D., Ph. D., pastor of Calvary Presbyterian Church, and one-time minister of Erskine Church, Toronto, passed away. The deceased, who was the son of a farmer, was born in Millbrook, Ont., and educated at Knox College, Toronto, and had friends in Lindsay and district. His first charge was the pastorate of a church in Orangeville, after which he came to Erskine Church Toronto, where he remained for twelve years, being succeeded there by the late Rev. Dr. James Murray. Through poor health he was compelled to seek a milder climate and left Toronto in 1888 to minister for eight years to a congregation in Denver, Colorado. From there he went to his last charge at Riverside, Cal., where he remained for the last thirteen years. For several years he was Moderator of the Presbytery for the State of California.

Besides his wife he leaves three sons, Stanley, who is pastor of a church in Pittsburg; Graham, who has a charge in New York, and Professor Allen Hunter, of the Assonsin College, Cairo, and one daughter, Irene, of Riverside, California.

JOHN McFARLANE.
(Contributed.)

On Saturday evening, 14th February, after a brief illness, John McFarlane, at the early age of 38, passed beyond to his eternal rest.

His death came as a great shock to the community, of which he was a valued member, and to which his death will be a distinct loss. Of a quiet and kindly disposition, he made many friends, who will long remember him, and in his own and in his father's home he has left lonely and aching hearts. To his sorrowing wife, to whom he has ever been a true and loving husband, to his little children Malcolm and Gladys, to his parents and brother Walter, in whose hearts his place can never be filled, the sympathy of the entire community is extended.

On Monday afternoon we laid him down to rest in Keene Cemetery, to await the Resurrection Morn.

Not now, but in the coming years,
It may be in the Better Land,
We'll read the meaning of our tears;
And then some time we'll understand.

One Who Knew Him Well.

JOHN SAVIGNY.

John Savigny, a well known resident and business man of Peterborough, passed away last night after a short illness from influenza.

The deceased was born in Otonabee fifty-four years ago, the third son of the late George Savigny of Otonabee. During the past twenty-five years he and his brother, James H. Savigny, have conducted the grocery and flour and feed business on Water street, under the name of Savigny Bros., and Mr. Savigny in his business has shown himself to have a clear insight into business maters. Although sufferings from physical incapabilities he has overcome these and has worked steadily in the store and in the business which engaged his undivided attention.

He leaves six brothers, George of Peterborough, William of Windsor, James H. of this city, Richard A. of Toronto, Thomas of Moose Jaw, Lawrence of Pittsburg and one sister, Mrs. R. S. Merrell. Both of the deceased's parents are dead.

The deceased was a regular attendant of St. Paul's Presbyterian church and was always eager in church work.

The funeral will be held from the residence of his brother, James H. Savigny, 214 London street, on Friday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock. Service will be held at the house at 2 o'clock by the Rev. Robert Pogue.

MRS. JAMES PRINGLE.

The death occurred yesterday in Toronto of Mrs. James Pringle after an illness of about one month's duration. The deceased was born in Coldsprings and for a number of years resided in East City, where she was well and favorably known. She then moved to Stratford and later resided with her son, James Pringle, of Milwaukee, U.S.A. Shortly after Christmas the late Mrs. Pringle returned to Toronto to visit her granddaughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Trowe, at whose home the death occurred yesterday. Her husband, who predeceased her about two years ago, was a brother of the late Mrs. William Swanston of East City.

The funeral will take place in Seaforth on Friday.

STANLEY BYERS.
MRS. STANLEY BYERS.

The saddest tragedy yet caused by the epidemic of influenza that is sweeping over the city, occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cox, 183 Lock Street, when their eldest daughter Grace, aged 21, wife of Stanley A. Byers, passed away yesterday afternoon about 4.30 from pneumonia, and this afternoon at 2.30 her husband, Stanley A. Byers, aged 27, eldest son of Mr. Robert Byers, of Brownton, died from the same disease.

The death of these two young people has darkened two homes and cast a deep gloom over the entire community, where they were loved and respected by all who knew them.

The late Mrs. Byers was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cox, and was well known throughout the city. She attended the Collegiate Institute before her marriage several years ago, and was employed as a stenographer in the Dela[illegible] Co.

Before her marriage she attended St. Andrew's church, where she was intimately associated with the life and work of the church but since her marriage her time has been devoted to her young child and her household duties.

She leaves her father and mother and one younger sister, Ethel, at home, and one little daughter, Muriel Esther. A young child died several days ago.

The late Stanley Byers was born in Hope Township but had resided in the city for many years and was employed in the C.G.E. as a pattern maker.

His illness was similar to that of his wife's death being due to septic pneumonia for which all medical aid proved futile.

Besides his parents he leaves one younger brother, Garnet and three sisters, Pearl, Lillian and Ruby.

The deceased was a regular attendant of Knox Church and was a member of the I.O.O.F.

Those who were acquainted with his estimable qualities, his sterling character and his kind disposition will deeply regret to hear of his sad death.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

A very delightful afternoon was spent last Friday when Miss Scott entertained about forty young people at a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Margaret Eastwood, whose marriage to Mr. Alan Cameron takes place next week. The house was artistically decorated and the dainty refreshments heart-shaped. Mrs. Vincent Eastwood presided at the tea table.

Mr. John Smith, baritone, has been specially requested to sing the bass solo part in Barnaby's "Rebekah" to be given in Trenton on March the 2nd under the direction of Mr. George Kenyon formerly of Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cressman leave at the end of the week for California, to spend a few weeks. Miss Jessie Cressman who will accompany them will remain in the south for a year.

In honor of Miss Margaret Eastwood whose wedding to Mr. Alan Cameron takes place next week the Misses Cameron, 292 Stewart street, entertained at tea yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neil returned yesterday from several weeks visit in Chicago.

Mr. W. Lawson, manager, Heintzman Hall, is in Toronto to-day on business in connection with Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman and Company, Limited.

Mrs. W. J. MacLean, of Calgary, is visiting her brother, Mr. A. W. Gamble, 321 Rogers Street.

IN MEMORIAM.

POWERS.—In loving memory of Etta, beloved wife of Neil Powers, who died Feb. 22, 1917:

Three years have passed, our hearts still sore,
As time goes by we miss her more,
Her loving smile, her welcome face,
No one can fill her vacant place
Forget her, no, we never will,
We loved her then, we love her still.
We loved her eyes no tongue could tell,
How dear, how deeply, nor how well.
God loved her too, and thought it best
To take her home with Him to rest.

GOVERNMEMT ACCUSED OF AUTOCRACY

LACK LEADERSHIP

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Franc A. Vanderlip, international financier and former president of the National City Bank, told the members of the Economic Club last night that Congress should appropriate one hundred and fifty million dollars to relieve Europe and the exchange situation.

Charges that since the armistice the Government has been without leadership were made by Vanderlip, who declared that the administration is dominated by prejudice, hampered by obstinacy, talking democracy, and growing increasingly autocratic in its actions.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR ANNUAL MEETING ON TUESDAY, MARCH 9TH.

At to-night's meeting of the Board of Trade Mr. W. R. Breyfogle will speak on "Organization" and there is every indication that a large gathering will greet him as his personality and subject are both popular and timely.

The Council has arranged to have a supper served to the members on the occasion of the annual meeting on March 9th., when a big attendance is promised.

The anniversary gathering will be held in the Great War Veterans' Hall The supper will be served at 6.30 o'clock and the general session meets at 8 p.m. One or more of the women's auxiliaries or patriotic societies will probably undertake the service.

The occasion marks the thirty-first year of the Peterborough Board of Trade and its first as a re-organized body. Formerly its character was deliberative and commercial. Now it is a working, rather than a debating society, devoted not only to business, but to civic interests.

It has made greater gains in efficiency and prestige during the last nine months than in its entire previous history.

The Thursday evening meetings are to be discussed at to-night's session and as they have gained in favor they are likely to be continued as a Committee-of-the-whole Board.

MURDERER ATE A HEARTY BREAKFAST BEFORE EXECUTION

Special to Examiner.

KITCHENER, Feb. 26. — Stoyko Boyeff, whose execution for the murder of John Sorokaty, near Galt n May 25, 1919, was postponed for a month, was hanged in the court yard here this morning.

The condemned man slept most of the night and ate a hearty breakfast.

Early this morning he showed slight nervousness but at 7.30 he walked to the gallows with the gaol officials with a firm step. Death was pronounced instantaneous by the gaol officials. The heart stopped beating eleven minutes after the trap was sprung. Boyeff made no confession.

This is the first execution that has taken place in Kitchener for twenty-four years.

Report on East Pier Footings

LOCAL BRANCH OF ENGINEERING INSTITUTE OF CANADA ADVISE COUNCIL TO OBTAIN BORINGS ON WEST SIDE TOO —TEST OF 20 TONS A SQUARE FOOT.

The following letter from the Peterboro Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada was read at last night's meeting of the Council:

In accordance with your request of Feb. 12th, "that the Peterboro Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada be asked to give its opinion as to the sufficiency of the foundation for the eastern river pier of the Hunter street bridge," a committee of the Branch was duly appointed consisting of the following members: R. B. Rogers, A. L. Killaly, P. P. Westby, E. R. Shirley, W. G. Montgomery and R. L. Dobbin.

This committee has examined the work and the character of the foundation and was also fortunate in being present at the time tests of the bearing power of the material in the foundation were being carried out under the direction of Mr. Barber's staff, February 23rd.

The material upon which it is proposed to place the footings consists of an exceedingly compact hard pan. From information given us by the engineer in charge this hard pan is at least 13½ feet in thickness at the south side of the bridge, and 17 feet at the north side. This information was obtained by means of a churn drill.

Sand Stratum Underneath.

We were also informed that underneath this hard pan at the south side is a stratum of sand, the depth of which was unfortunately not obtained.

There was also a test pit sunk 8 feet below the level of the present excavation and the soil was found to be uniformly hard pan to that depth.

A section of the foundation in the pit was cleared to body hard pan and levelled. A load of 4600 pounds was applied to a block of wood 4 inches square, this being the equivalent of a load of 20.97 tons per square foot. This load was applied for 5 minutes at 2 points in the pit without appreciable penetration at either point.

According to Mr. Barber's figures, the revised plan shows a load of six tons on the material of the foundation per square foot. This corresponds to a factor of safety of at least 3.5, which considering the depth of the foundation and the confinement of the material, we are of the opinion is ample to sustain the weight of the eastern pier of the bridge.

In view of the fact that the excavation of the eastern river pier has shown the inadequacy of the preliminary information regarding the foundation for that part of the structure, we strongly recommend that ample borings be immediately made with a core drill, and samples obtained from the site of the western river pier. At least four holes on the confines of the pier should be made.

(Signed) R. L. Dobbin, Secretary

Forwarded to Mr. Barber.

Ald. Crowe moved, seconded by Ald. Copping, that a copy of this letter be forwared to Mr. Barber, with the request that he have the borings made as suggested by the local engineers, whose cooperation was appreciated by the council.

Judge Robson Not in Favour of Present Regulations and Existing Price Restrictions

LATE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF COMMERCE TELLS EXAMINER CORRESPONDENT WHY HE LEFT THE BOARD—LAW TOO INCONGRUOUS.

WILL RETURN TO WESTERN HOME

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—Judge Robson has broken his silence. He was just preparing to shake the snow of Ottawa from feet when the Examiner called to ascertain the reason for his resignation from the Board of Commerce. At first he declined to discuss the matter.

"I don't want to be discourteous to the government," he said. "My position is set forth in a letter to the Acting Prime Minister, Sir George Foster, and he will no doubt make a statement shortly." Upon being pressed, however, for some message to the public, which has been watching the work of his Board with such keen interest, His Honor said:

"Price fixing and profit restrictions on the products of the country while well for war-time, should not, in my view, be part of the permanent law. Regulations of profits on necessaries will tend to discourage persons from entering on the useful services of life. It is besides, an injustice to restrict these classes while those engaged in production and distribution of luxuries or even useful things not classed as necessaries, go free. This seemed to me so incongruous that I was uneasy in the administration of the Act and felt it my duty to resign."

"Will the work of the Board of Commerce go on?"

"Oh, yes, so far as I know. There is lots of work for them to do," replied the Judge.

His Honor again emphasized his point concerning price-fixing and profit restrictions. Chatting informally as he was preparing to take the midnight train for Winnipeg, he said: "Why should you lay your hands on the man who brings the milk to your door and let the people who sell books at one hundred per cent. profit, and flowers and perfumes, go scot free."

"These are luxuries," suggested the correspondent. "Yes, but if you continually soak the people who are dealing in necessaries they will eventually quite the business and go into some other that is not controlled by the Board of Commerce.

"It may not be popular doctrine," added Judge Iobson, "but I think Canadian producers should be allowed to make all the money they can."

His Honor explained that he never felt the work of the Board of Commerce would be permanent and for that reason he did not move his family to Ottawa. He said he would probably return to the practice of his profession in Winnipeg, after taking a short rest.

MEMBERS ASTOUNDED WHEN SHOWN STATEMENT

Claim Judge Robson Did Not Reveal the Real Reason For Resigning.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.— Commissioners O'Connor and Murdock of the Board of Commerce, were amazed when shown the statement authorized for publication by Judge Robson before his departure for Winnipeg.

They looked at each other in perfect astonishment for a few moments. Finally Mr. O'Connor exclaimed: "The reason given by Judge Robson is not his real reason for resigning.

"There has certainly been a big smash up in the Board of Commerce and when the inside story is made public it will make good reading."

Commissioner Murdock was simply astounded and would have stated his position, but Mr. O'Connor persuaded him this was not the time for action. It was intimated that there may be quite a sensation when the remaining members of the Board of Commerce "lay their cards on the table." "We won't say any more just now," observed W. F. O'Connor.

"This statement is laconic, but when the real facts are made public you will find that Judge Robson is not revealing the reason for the action he has taken."

"Has there been friction over appointment of experts by the Civil Service Commission?"

"There have been some differences of opinion but that is only a pin-prick," said Mr. Murdock.

It was quite clear that there has been a serious smash up among the members of the Board themselves and that Judge Robson has got out because he and his colleagues could no longer agree "Will the work of the Board of Commerce go on."

"Oh, yes," replied Mr. Murdock. "The Board provides for that." He quoted this clause.

"No vacancy in the board shall impair the right of the remaining Commissioners to act."

PRESIDENT WILSON'S REPLY TO THE ALLIES SAID TO BE VERY MODERATE

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, February 26.—President Wilson's reply to the Allied Powers, says Pertinax, writing in the Echo de Paris, is most moderate in form, and does not contain a menace to withdraw from European affairs, but in substance stands by the Adriatic plan of 9th Decembar.

Premiers Lloyd-George and Nitti will consider the note and the attitude they will take to-day, and it is presumed that if Premier Nitti allows them, Lloyd-George and Millerand will try again to bring the Italian representatives and the Jugo-Slavs together.

Some persons hope that the Jugo-Slavs, not wishing a buffer state between them and Italy, as proposed in the December plan, which would deprive them of two hundred thousand Jugo-Slavs, will show themselves much more accommodating than in the past.

THE BOLSHEVIST CLASSES BRED BY THE REVOLUTION IN RUSSIA

THE NEW ARISTOCRACY LIVE IN LUXURY WHILE THE POOR SUFFER TERRIBLY AND DIE LIKE FLIES FROM MISERY.

(Canadian Press.)

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 26.—Two distinct types of Bolshevists, described as "Salon Bolshevists" and "Bomb Bolshevists" were noted by the staff correspondent of the "Handelsblad" in his tour through Soviet Russia, from which he has just returned. The former, he says, are represented by former officers in the army of the late Emperor, while others include fanatical, sinister commissars and all their followers. Bolshevik army commanders, with whom he travelled in luxurious armored and non-armored express trains from the Polish front to Moscow, form the new aristocracy. Sometimes, he says, the impression one gets of the entire outfit is that of "a parlor car with third class people in it." In the cities, the communisic aristocracy live in luxury. In a big town like Smolensk, he declares, "army commissars who already belong to the "upper ten' do not live in the town near their headquatrers with their staff officers, but a long way off on a side track in a beautiful car, every one in his own compartment, and in front of every one of these cars is a policeman armed with a rifle who keeps the proletariat in order.

High and Mighty.

They call each other "comrade" from morning to night, the high to low and low to high, and yet the proletariat suffer terribly and die like flies from misery, cold and contagious diseases, while the high and mighty lord it on the fat of the land. When typhus appeared in Moscow, he declares, great care was taken to see that "clean gentlemen communists were not troubled by raggy and baggy proletariat. The Lenine theory, he says, was to let the old state die, according to the Marvian theory, and gradually make all class distinctions disappear until there was only one class left, that of the working men, but up to now, the correspondent writes, they have only managed to breed a few more very remarkable classes in addition to the existing ones.

FINE IMPOSED ON THE AUCTIONEER

George Jackson, the veteran auctioneer, and his son, of Port Perry, who conducted a very successful sale of Shorthorn cattle at the Montgomery Hotel, about a month ago, found the after result of the sale a little sadder and more expensive than they had reckoned with when they were fined $10 apiece and costs which amounted to $6.10 and $4.10 respectively for conducting the sale without a license, contrary to Bylaw No. 1803 of the City of Peterboro.

The negotiations for the fine were conducted by mail.

DECORATORS ARE INCREASING SCALE

NEW RATE WILL AVERAGE ABOUT SEVENTY CENTS AN HOUR.

Painters and paper-hangers in the city are following in the line of the Forward Movement by endeavouring to raise the rates fifteen cents an hour, commencing April the 1st, thus reaching 70 cents an hour for a ten hour day. One of the contractors stated to-day that while they will endeavour to keep the rate down a little below the desired standard, there is no doubt there will be a raise, as their men cannot live with wages on the old schedule.

PARLIAMENT OPENS TO-DAY

OUTLINE OF LEGISLATION TO BE CHEWED OVER AT OTTAWA.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 26. — Parliament opened this afternoon in the new buildings, "worthy," as the Governor-General expressed it in a speech from the throne, "of the people whose national life it will henceforth serve." The Government's Legislative programme, outlined in a speech, comprises a bill to provide for a Dominion franchise, a bill respecting copyrights, bills providing for amendment of the Patent Act ,of Loan and Trust Companies Act, Indian Act and Exchequer Covert Act, and a bill to ratify International opium convention. Referring to formal constitution of the League of Nations, the speech significantly states: It is satisfactory to note that the status of Canada as a member of the League has been definitely fixed. In the European economic field the Goveror-General continued, a clear vision was still impossible. Unsettled state of exchange, lack of International credits and inflation of paper currency, combined with scarcity of raw materials and demoralization of labor and transport united to retard production and restrict rebuilding of waste caused by the war.

The address in reply to the speech from the Throne will be moved in the Senate by Senator William Proudfoot and seconded by Senator Chapais. In the House it will be moved by Hume Cronyn, London, and seconded by Alexander McGregor of Picton.

SOLDIERS DIED BY THE THOUSANDS IN RECENT FIGHTING

(United Press)

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Tolstoy Anti-Bolshevik army has been defeated by Soviet troops in the region of Guriev, near the Moscow wireless dispatch to-day the mouth of the Ural River, a claimed.

Thousands of the white troops died in their retreat over the waterless steppes toward the Caspian sea, the dispatch said, adding that the white armies in this district now have been "obliterated."

May Lead Liberals In House

POLITICIANS IN ENGLAND ARE STILL RUBBING THEIR EYES OVER ASQUITH'S ELECTION.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 26.—All political questions are for moment completely eclipsed by former Premier Asquith's triumphant return to Parliament by a majority the size of which astonished everybody, including his own supporters. The result is universally recognized as a notable personal achievement. Politicians talked of nothing yesterday but the possibilities opened by his active resumption of leadership of the opposition, which, it is generally conceded he will take over forthwith from Sir Donald MacLean, whose tenure has always been regarded more or less temporary. It is understood Mr. Asquith will take his seat in the House next Monday. A number of papers interpret election as a repudiation of the Coalition Government, foreshadowing defection of certain Liberals from the Coalition organization.

FIRST AID FOR C.P.R. EMPLOYEES

HEAR LECTURE ON ITS VALUE AND CLASS IS TO BE FORMED IN PETERBORO.

As a result of the visit of Mr. S. A. Gidlow, the General Secretary of the St. John Ambulance Association, of the C.P.R., and his assistant, Mr. Noble, to Peterboro yesteray, a class in first aid work is to be organized among the local employees of the C. P. R. Mr. Gidlow gave an address before the employees in the local freight ofices yesterday afternoon, dealing with the desirability of their knowing how to handle themselves in the case of accidents. He pointed out how helpless the average man was when called upon in an emergency to render assistance to some one who was ill or hurt. The simple first aid operations that might save a life before a doctor could be secured were unknown to most people and it was to remedy this condition of affairs that the C. P. R. was organizing first aid classes. Mr. Gidlow referred to some of the cases in which knowledge of this kind was of great importance and with the aid of simple appliances showed how easily and readily assistance could be given. His demonstrations made a big impression upon his hearers, who were greatly interested in the subject.

At the conclusion of Mr. Gidlow's address Mr. W. S. Dodd expressed the hope that all the local employees of the C. P. R. would participate in the class which would be formed and which will meet one hour a week in the company's time.

Mr. Noble will remain in the Peterboro district for the next two months in connection with the class. At the conclusion of the course the employees will be examined by a local physician and those who are qualified will be given certificates from the St. John's Ambulance Association.

PROMISED LAND FOR HEBREWS

OVER SIX HUNDRED JEWS POOLED EVERY CENT OF THEIR SAVINGS-

ADVANCE GUARD

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—A band of 634 Jews from Southern Russia, who pooled every cent of their life savings to charter a steamer at Odessa with the 3,000,000 roubles they raised, have landed at Jaffa, in Palestine, according to a despatch made public here to-day by the Zionist organization of America.

The immigrants broke through the Governmental and Zionist restrictions holding them back until the land is opened to immigration by the signing of the Treaty of Peace with Turkey the despatch said.

The entire Jewish community of Jaffa greeted this, the first large group of Jews reported to have reached Palestine, as the advance guard of a "world mass migration of Jews to the Holy Land," it was stated.

IMPROVE HEATING OF MARKET HALL

ALD. HAMILTON ADVOCATED BETTER METHOD FOR NEXT WINTER.

Some fuel dealers' practice of selling sawn wood at a certain price a load, was questioned by Ald. Crowe last night who recalled a local by-law requiring that wood be sold according to measure.

"It is hardly fair to the consumer," he said, "because you don't know whether you are getting one or a dozen wheelbarrowsfull. There ought to be some regulation along these lines.

This suggestion was referred to the Property Committee.

Heating of the Market Hall.

Ald. Hamilton referred to the unsatisfactory method of heating the market hall and proposed and improvement by putting a hot air furnace in the basement.

He moved, seconded by Ald. Turner that the City Trust Commission be asked to consider some improvement in the heating for next winter.

The Price of Gas.

Ald. Phelan's implication that the price of gas in Peterboro was too high at $2 a 1000 did not arouse any interest.

Mayor McIntyre—I understand it is not paying even at that.

Ald. Gordon—The price was raised since the new government went into power.

Ald. Phelan—I see that everybody around this board are willing to dance to the tune.

To Return Rolls.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Copping, that Mr. W. J. Green, Tax Collector, return last year's rolls by March 15th.

Ald. Gordon—Mr. Green is kind to some people who are having difficulty in paying their taxes. That is what has caused the delay.

SUFFERING CATS! GIVE THIS MAN THE GOLD MEDAL

Let folks step on your feet hereafter; wear shoes a size smaller if you like, for corns will never again send electric sparks of pain through you, according to this Cincinnati authority.

He says that a few drops of a drug called freezone, applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out.

This drug is a sticky ether compound, but dries at once and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue.

It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone obtained at any drug store will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Cut this out, especially if you are a woman reader who wears high heels.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. his famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

A Presentation.

On Thursday evening of last week, about seventy of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brock paid an unexpected call at their home and presented Mr. Brock with an electric reading lamp and Mrs. Brock with a casserole.

Although taken by surprise, Mr. and Mrs. Brock made suitable replies. A good time was spent in music, games, etc. A dainty lunch was served and about two o'clock a.m. the gathering broke up. Following is the address:

To Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brock,—Your friends and neighbors have gathered together this evening to say farewell. It is always with feelings of regret that we part with our friends. You, Mr. Brock, have been so many years a leader in the community and an official of the church that you will be greatly missed. With this house have been associated generations. Your grandfather and father were pillars in the church and active in every good work. You have followed in their footsteps. It is natural for the community to associate you and your family with this homestead.

You Mrs. Brock have so heartily co-operated in maintaining the traditions of the house that you have found a place in the affections and esteem of the community. You have always been active in every good cause in the community and church and we will feel that a true friend has removed from our midst.

Now that you have decided to remove to another home, we wish to express our regrets at losing your presence an influence. We will always keep fresh in our memory the associations of the past and pray that God's blessing may rest upon you and your family in your new home. May you be spared to see many years of usefulness and service.

Kindly accept this small token of our esteem and friendship. Your many friends and neighbors wish you every success and happiness, and hope you will find congenial associations in your future home.

Signed on behalf of the Zion community.

RIVAL VILLAGE GOBBLED UP WHEN IT WOULDN'T UNITE

ENTERPRISING SASKATCHEWAN TOWN BUYS NEIGHBOURING CENTRE PIECE BY PIECE AND MOVES ACROSS PRAIRIE.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 26—Out on the frozen plains of the West a town is giving up the ghost.

It is the culmination of a battle to the death —a battle between two towns that has waged nearly four years.

The towns are Dodsland and Druid located in Sasatchewan, 150 miles south-west of Saskatoon.

To-day scores of teams are moving the old town of Druid—piece by piece—over to Dodsland, a mile and a half away.

Drag Railway Into it.

Railway interests have watched the development of this unique contest for years—and to-day these railways magnates are being dragged into it.

Dodsland is on the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Druid is on the Canadian Pacific.

The two railways cross between the two towns—and the C. P. R. skirts the edge of Dodsland without stopping.

Dodsland has had to haul its C. P.R. passengers and freight to Druid. It wants the C.P.R. to stop at Dodsland, but Druid is a C.P.R. town.

"Very well," said the people of Dodsland last week, "we've tried every fair means at our disposal. You're going to stop at Dodsland—because in a little while there won't be any Druid."

And Dodsland started to buy up its older rival. House by house, business by business, the younger but more enterprising town is making inroads into Druid. After each purchase, Dodsland teams haul the building over to Dodsland, the buildings being mounted on sleigh runners.

"Druid will soon disappear from the map," say the Dodsland people.

At first Dodsland [illegible] the pipe of peace. Druid was [illegible] first. Along came Charles A. Henderson, colonizer. He [illegible] the territory and decided [illegible] build himself a town. He [illegible] around and found one [illegible] W. J. Rorke— who was willing to take a chance.

Everybody laughed.

"How can you start a new town a mile and a half from one already established?" they asked.

But Henderson persevered.

Other merchants came.

Then Dodsland made its first offer to Druid.

"Let's unite and move over to the railway crossing," they said. "Then we'll both be on the C. P. R. and G.T.P."

But Druid haughtily declined the offer.

So Dodsland went on fighting. Inch by inch the town made inroads—first an elevator, then a school, then a hospital, then a newspaper, then a theatre, and so on.

The people of Druid began to get alarmed. Dodsland made another offer to unite. Some of the leading lights in Druid prevented the fruition of the plan.

"Very well," said Dodsland, "its your last chance. It's a fight to the death now."

To-day the fight is just about over. Dodsland is gobbling up Druid, buying it piecemeal and transporting it away by teams.

The event is said to be unparalleled in Canadian history.

Mr. Henderson, who is in Winnipeg to-day, says five houses were transplanted last week and a grain elevator is being shifted piecemeal. Other buildings, he says, are to join the procession in a few days.

LOST HIS NERVE AS KNIVES CUT

COMOUFLAGED DOCTOR SHEDS DISGUISE WHEN SEES SURGICAL OPERATION.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 25—With a complete kit of surgeon's tools and a professional air, "Dr." Earl W. Collard, thirty years old, asked permission to witness an unusual operation at Ann Arbor Medical School yesterday and then dropped in a dead faint as the doctors' knives cut deep into the flesh of the patient on the operating table.

Imposed on Profession.

Collard came to Detroit recently and represented himself to physicians here as a Harvard medical graduate looking for a location. His apparent social position coupled with a knowledge of medical phraseology completely fooled the medical men, and when he suggested he was interested in laparatomy, he was invited to attend a clinic at Michigan University. Dressed in the usual long white gown and cap "Dr." Collard entered the operating room in the wake of the surgeons.

Broke Under Strain.

He looked interested while the anesthetic was being administered, but was observed to turn deathly pale as the narrow steel knife made the preliminary incision. A moment later he started to walk from the room, but fell in a dead faint before crossing the threshold.

Collard was later arrested charged with stealing a gold watch and chain and a $600 diamond ring from Dr. George McClure, an Ann Arbor surgeon.

FATFFUL YEARS FOR ALL WOMEN

HOW BEST TO OVERCOME THE TROUBLES THAT AFFLICT WOMEN ONLY.

The most fateful years in a woman's life are those between forty-five and fifty. Many women enter this term under depressing conditions through overwork, worry or a neglected condition of the blood, and so they suffer heavily. Still, variations of health at this time can be relieved by home treatment.

Among the commonest symptoms are headaches and pains in the back and sides, fever-flushes, palpitation, dizziness and depression. Women stand in need of rich, red blood all their life, but never more so than in middle age, when the nerves are also weak and over-wrought. Now every woman can prove the prompt help afforded to her health by renewing her blood supply. It is a test that any ailing woman may make by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for these pills make rich, red blood, which in turn helps the appetite, strengthens the nerves and restores robust health. Thousands of women have found in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the means by which new health and a brighter outlook of life were gained. In proof of this is the voluntary testimony of Mrs. H. S. Peterson, Milford, Ont., who says:—"I have suffered greatly from those troubles that afflict my sex, and I have found that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in such cases not only do all that is claimed for them, but more. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done so much for me that I urge every weak woman to try them, and they will soon realize the great difference in one's health they make."

If you suffer from any of the ills that particularly afflict womanhood you should avail yourself at once of the health help of Dr Williams' Pink Pills. You can get them from any dealer in medicine or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SLEEPING MALADY FOLLOWS THE FLU

FAMOUS BACTERIOLOGIST ANALYZES DISEASE WHICH HAS APPEARED IN ITALY.

ROME—Sleeping sickness, or sleeping headaches, as the Italian scientists prefer to call the malady which has appeared in Rome and several other Italian cities, is believed by Professor Giuseppe Sanarelli, the distinguished Italian bacteriologist, to be the same as that which followed other waves of influenza. Pope Benedict XIII died from influenza in 1730. The after effects of the epidemic at that time were so baneful that his successor, Benedict XIV, waived the fasting of churchmen during Lent, and similar action was taken by Pope Leo XIII, in 1890, when there was another wave of influenza, or grippe.

Professor Sanarelli, who has been studying the disease, says that the best way to avoid sleeping sickness is to keep the powers of resistance up to the highest point, as it seems to attack chiefly persons who are in a rundown condition. He also warns the public not to be unduly alarmed over the disease, and, says he is unwilling to concede it is highly communicable or contagious until the actual cause of the malady is determined. And he does not think the germ will be discovered until after extensive experimentation with the brains of monkeys—such an expensive work that it can be carried out only with the aid of the millions of some philanthropic millionaire like John D. Rockefeller.

Prof. Sanarelli says because of the sporadic appearance of the disease it is reasonable to assume many persons carry the germs but are immune to the disease until there is some sudden let down in their physical condition which overcomes their power of resistance. As the malady always makes its appearance at the same season as infantile paralysis and cerebrospinal meningitis, or spotted fever and as it persists in reappearing occasionally between epidemics, Prof. Sanarelli says it is not strange that it is frequently believed to be identical with them. However, he thinks it is quite a distinct disease, as it is confined chiefly to adults and does not leave the serious effects of cerebro-spinal meningitis.

The malady has been diagnosed in widely scattered parts of the world in 1917, 1918 and 1919. At least one hundred cases were reported from English cities in 1918, but it died out in June. Until this year it had not been reported in Italy since 1889 and 1890 when it appeared in Mantua. Many persons died then after a few days, sometimes even hours, of lethargic sleep which could not be overcome. Bulgaria also had an epidemic at that time, and cases occurred in the United States.

In most cases the illness begins with mental depression, which is followed by sleepiness which develops into complete prostration. Drooping of the eyelids and frequently a crossing of the eyes occur. Loud talk, and even shaking, will not arouse patients suffering acutely with the malady, who answer incoherently to all inquiries and fall immediately into sleep again. The face is generally colorless and devoid of expression.

Prof. Sanarelli is a member of the faculty of the University of Bologna, and was formerly professor of microbiology and public hygiene at the University of Montevideo. He was also formerly Under Secretary of State for Agriculture in Italy.

EARTH LIKENED TO TOP.

If World Stopped It Would Fall Into the Sun, Says Writer.

All spinning bodies possess curious properties, which they do not possess when in the state of rest. Stand a top on its peg and it will immediately fall over, but spin the top and it will stand up so long as the spinning motion is present. Spinning bodies, says Leslie's, seem to possess or acquire a rigidity when they are spinning; for example, a steel chain at a high rate of speed, and suddenly jerked off, will go running along the street like a hoop, and will only collapse int oa limp pile of chain when its spinning motion comes to a stop. Our earth is a spinning body and hence possesses all the curious properties which spinning bodies do. It points to the pole star, like all spinning bodies, for every spinning body—a top, a wheel, anything—if under no restraint in its movement will gradually turn on its axis and point to the pole star. If our earth were to stop spinning it would immediately fall into the sun! Spinning bodies also have a tendency to stand up on end—that is, on their long axis. If you spin an egg-shaped body it will always endeavor to "stand on its hind legs," so to speak, and spin on one of its ends.

WOULD RETIRE THEM AT FIFTY AND SIXTY YEARS.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—For the past few days a rumour has been travelling through the Civil Service that the Civil Service Commission is working on a plan which, when completed, will provide that all women over the age of fifty and all men over the age of sixty in the service shall automatically be retired.

Moreover, it is stated that the plan proposes that for the future all civil servants shall automatically be retired when they reach this age.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh or if phlegm drops in [illegible] ar throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength.) Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

Warsaw Correspondence

WARSAW Feb. 25— Miss Ella Tucker is visiting friends at Indian River.

Miss Dewart was unable to get through to school Monday nor Tuesday.

Master Hiram Anderson went to school on his snow-shoes Monday and Tuesday, but had no teacher.

The teacher of the junior school boards near, so was at school, but had only a very few pupils.

Mr. Crapp could not get to Peterborough with the stage Monday nor Tuesday; he did well to make the trip both ways on Wednesday.

Mr. Paul Payne passed through the village on Saturday on his way to Mr. Luther Payne's.

Mrs. Percy Loyd started for Lakefield on Thursday, going the near way, but the roads were so bad she broke her cutter and had to get assistance.

Rev. Dr. Archibald was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Choate during part of his enforced stay in Warsaw.

Some men who had broken a mile of their own road Tuesday last had to go to Bethel and had to break the English line for quite a distance, and were not a little amused to find that the pathmaster on one of the beats had broken his own lane, but the road was untouched.

The Douro and Dummer boundary from the Dummer road to Mr. David Miller's gate is closed. The road is broken across the fields and the traffic must go through the village.

Mr. Verne Selkirk, who is taking a business course in Peterborough, spent Sunday at home.

Mr. Fred Lonsdale of Toronto, is visiting Mr. Levi Payne.

Mr. Levi Payne has started his work as assessor for this year.

Session Met.

There was a meeting of the Session at the manse last Tuesday afternoon.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid will hold its next regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Richard Deen. All the ladies of the congregation are cordially invited to attend.

The Presbyterian Sunday school and church services were well attended. The Sunday school collection for Forward Movement totalled $21.55; objective $2000. The total for the congregation was only $101.55. Only 12 families contributed outside the Sunday school. If each family had contributed only $5 the objective of $200 would have been passed.

The trustees of the Methodist church held a business meeting on Wednesday.

The League had planned a little social evening for last Monday night, but it had to be postponed on account of the roads.

There were the regular Sunday school and preaching services. So far no report has come in of the Forward Movement work.

There were no services of any kind in the Anglican church Sunday. It is not certain whether there will be any next Sunday. That congregation has taken quite an interest in their Forward Movement work and expect to make their objective, fifty dollars.

Rev. Roberts, of McMaster University, took the service in the Baptist church yesterday. He spoke on the Forward Movement.

Grove school, Lakefield hockey team is to play Warsaw on the Warsaw rink this afternoon.

Hockey Game.

There was a fair turn-out to see the hockey game, Norwood vs. Warsaw, on the Warsaw rink Friday evening. It was a very interesting game. Warsaw won 21-7. Mr. Puffer, Norwood, was referee. A return game will be played in Norwood Tuesday evening.

A FIRST AID SYSTEM.

The local C. P. R. employees are to be given a course of instruction in first aid methods in order that they may know how to handle themselves in the case of accident. It will be time well spent, and will not only benefit the company but the employees. The average citizen is helpless in the face of even a simple accident. If a person falls in a fainting spell on the street nine tenths of the people who gather round are at a loss what to do. Simple first aid methods pending the arrival of a doctor would be of the greatest assistance but usually there is no one in the crowd who knows anything about such methods. The first aid course to be inaugurated here by the C.P.R. will teach the company's employees what is to be done in emergencies and to that extent will make them more valuable workmen and more useful citizens. A similar system of instruction in the schools would be of more practical benefit to the pupils than many of the things they are called upon to learn. There need be nothing technical in the instructions, for most of the first aid remedies are simple in their nature.

AN OBSTACLE REMOVED.

By the decision of the Labour wing of the new Government not to press for an eight-hour day during the coming session the greatest obstacle to the smooth working of the Farmer-Labour alliance has been removed. There was little possibility of the two factions coming to an agreement on the question. The shorter workday so eagerly sought by Labour was not acceptable to the farmers nor was any compromise excluding agriculture from the operations of an eight-hour day likely to be reached. There is a shortage of labour on the farms under present conditions and the adoption of legislation putting into effect an eight-hour day would serve to intensify the troubles of the farmers in this regard. A crisis would undoubtedly have speedily developed had Labour's representatives shown a stubborn attitude on the point, and the decision to drop the matter for this session at least must have been as welcome to Premier Drury as the announcement that Hon. W. E. Raney had been elected by acclamation in East Wellington. Although they have abandoned for the moment the eight-hour agitation the Labour members have several advanced measures that they expect to be successful in passing through the Legislature and the chances of these reforms will be heightened by the dropping of the shorter work-day legislation.

SPREADING THE PLAGUE.

There are two classes of citizens who are helping to make the small-pox epidemic in Peterboro a serious menace. The first and larger class is composed of those who have refused to avail themselves of the protection that vaccination affords and the second consists of those who having contracted a mild form of the disease, decline to call in medical advice and ignoring the risk they are causing others, go on with their daily work and recreation, mingling with their fellow citizens and spreading infection wherever they go. To these two classes the blame for the present epidemic must be assigned. Peterboro has a medical officer of Health whose salary is to be increased to $3000 and who is worth every cent of it but the people who have to pay his salary are defeating his efforts by refusing to co-operate with him. The result is that small-pox is on the increase in various parts of the city, six or seven new cases are developing every week and there is no indication that there will be any falling off unless those who are afflicted with the disease are more careful of the health of others and until the public generally realize the absolute necessity of vaccination. This simple preventative, the effectiveness of which has been demonstrated beyond a doubt is available to every one and the people are urged to adopt it at once. Small-pox has been prevelent in Peterboro for eight months—had compulsory vaccination been possible the epidemic would have undoubtedly died out in a short time. As it is there are more cases than ever and there is always the danger that the disease may assume a more virulent form.

OUR "GOLDEN SMILE" TO GO.

Traditions are upset about as frequently as automobiles in these days, points out the Kingston Whig. The dentists are the latest to take a hand at the upset fame. Academy of dental science has condemned the wearing of gold in the teeth as "unsanitary and productive of diseases."

Time was—and not so long ago—when the individual who had a gold filling could not escape the feeling that some how he had joined a select company. To paraphrase Mr. Le Gallienne, the "quest of the golden smile" seemed quite general. When the dentist asked: "Will you have cement or gold in that tooth?" you answered promptly "Gold," and then added an "of course," just to let the slave of the buzz wheel know that he had no ordinary patient in the chair.

It did not matter that at the same time we might be making swift calculations to see just how we were going to pay for such a large chunk of gold as this threatened to be — the main thing was ordering the best the dental market afforded.

Now comes the sad news that we wtre all wrong in ordering gold, and the dentist was all wrong in putting it in. Truly these scientific gentlemen who look after our bodily welfare are somewhat puzzling to follow in their professional convolutions.

Meantime, the great army of those who ordered the yellow metal would like to know just what diseases the gold-filled tooth brings in its train and why—information which probably will be retailed at regular rates while the plastic cast is hardening and the patient is staring at the ceiling.

FROM THE BLEACHERS.

To many sympathetic, humanitarian American souls it seems a shame that the unspeakable Turk should be permitted to remain in control at Constantinople. It seems to them monstrous that Armenians, Syrians, Greeks and Jews in the near-East should still be subject to the hateful rule of the Turk. And so it seems to many others who are not Americans.

But our good friends across the line are hardly in a position to pour contempt upon the supreme Allied council because it does not see its way clear to driving the Turk, "bag and baggage," out of Europe just now. Such language as Henry Morgenthau, former American ambassodor at Constantinople, used in an address at Philadelphia yesterday serves only to bring into relief the failure of Mr. Morgenthau's own country to do its duty and co-operation with other countries in the tasks of world-settlement. "The British and French politicians for selfish purposes," he said, "are arranging to let the Turk remain in Constantinople," and he added that the American people should make a protest against such an arrangement.

The American people, through their government, might be in a position to do something more effective than uttering protests. They might now have the power of determining what shall be done about Constantinople. If the U.S. government were willing to accept a mandate from Armenia or for Constantinople or for both, it is quite certain that the council of the League of Nations would gladly consent to grant such mandate or mandates. But the U.S. government, and probably the American people, prefer not to take any such risks or assume any such burdens. It better suits the disposition of the American people to play the part of "lookers-on in Venice"—to sit in the bleachers and shout their approval or their protests and execrations and threats at those who are playing the game to the best of their ability.

There would be no risk whatever to the United States in having the Turk driven from Europe. No American interest would suffer—rather the contrary. But the risk to the British empire would be great, and France and Italy would also incur risk though in a lesser degree. Britain has more Moslem subjects than there are Germans in Germany, and protests and warnings have already been uttered, in behalf of these millions, against the expulsion of the sultan and his government from Constantinople. If the British government were a party to such a course it might be compelled to deal with a revolt in India far more disastrous than the great mutiny of 1858.

Let the U.S. government come forward and co-operate with the other enlightened governments in the gigantic tasks of reconstruction which they are tackling. That will be more honorable and also more useful than shouting protests and advice from the bleachers.—Hamilton Herald.

HANDWRITING ON WALL

It must be obvious to even the most careless observer that the trend of the paper market clearly indicates increasing difficulties for the consumer. The condition is already so serious that no further note of warning would seem necessary to cause every publication, large and small, to reduce consumption to the utmost, and in this connection, utmost bears no relation to convenience.

If panic may properly be used to describe the condition of last November and December, famine may well be applied to at least some of the coming months, if not indeed to many months. It is assumed that all publishers have long realized the truth of this, but it is obvious that many continue to resist what seems to be the inevitable, and continue to publish daily more pages than are imperative.

During July the spot market was under four cents. Today it is approximately ten cents and with but little supply even at that price. Its upward climb has been constant. There seems to be no more reason to expect price advances to stop now than there was a month or two months ago.

The pity of it is that many publications are forced, through lack of foresight or other causes, to buy on the spot market, and many of them cannot long continue to pay even the present spot price and survive.

With the possibility of increased labor cost to the mills, indeed even without increased cost of production, there is every reason to expect adjustable price contracts to show a marked adjustment upward.

The surplus has been exhausted and the increased tonnage in sight is wholly inadequate to meet future demands. The demand for advertising space exceeds the most optimistic forecasts. Presidential year is a factor in the problem and Scandinavian news-print—what can be secured—keeps pace in price with the domestic market.

Bills to regulate consumption continue to be introduced in Congress and constant complaints are heard that major publications are prospering unduly at the expense of the smaller. There may well be differences of opinion as to whether or not Congress, through either postal or other legislation, will seek to take away from those who have exercised foresight and provided for their needs, sufficient tonnage to supply those who may otherwise be forced to suspend, but it is well to bear in mind the state of public opinion regarding hoarding during the war.

Let us hope that each and every one in his own way, and by concert of action with competitors where possible, will reduce consumption to the lowest possible limit consistent with continued existence.—From Bulletin issued by American newspaper Publishers Association.

ODE TO THE MEN

(By one of the Girls.)

Little "Mannie" why that frown?
Let me pull your panties down;
I should think your legs would freeze
With them half-way to your knees;
When you started in to dress,
Hitched 'em up too tight, I guess.
And you have such skinny legs
They sure look like wooden pegs.
Say, your legs are awful small—
They don't look like legs at all.
I guess you want to show your socks,
With their pretty colored clocks:
But you surely are a sight
With your pants so short and tight.
Don't you s'pose the girls will laugh
When they see your skinny calf?
If I had a calf like that
I would try and make it fat.
But, perhaps, you like it so,
Looks so genteel, don't you know.
Put some spats on, sonny please.
And try to cover up your knees;
I don't like to see them so,
For they are so thin, you know.
I'm afraid that you will fall,
'Cause your leggies are so small:
You are not to blame, poor lad.
'Cause your panties fit so bad.
Then your hair is shaved so high,
Mister Man, you are a guy.
You're a figure, I declare—
Someone's corsets you must wear.
Throw away those corsets dear,
For they make you look so queer.
Don't you think with that mustache
With the girls you'll make a mash?
Yes, I think it safe to say
You'll be corralled some sweet day:
Some poor girl, it's safe to bet
Will get fooled by mamma's pet:
Then she'll put a string on you,
Lead you round for folks to view.
Now, I'm going to tell you
What I think you ought to do.
Turn that cuff down on your pants
Have them long enough to 'vance."
Put on good old, homemade socks,
Unadorned by fancy clocks;
Cover up your skinny shanks
Then you'll have the people's thanks
Take from me this little tip,
Shave that down from off your lip;
Grow some hair behind your ears,
Say farewell to butchers' shears;
Banish, too, that Monocle,
It makes you look so comical.
Throw away your cigarette,
Lest it run you into debt.
Stand up straightly if you can,
Do not be a "cissy" man.
So long, "Mannie," do not cry,
See you some time soon.
Byebye.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

ROSE GRANDON'S GOSSIP.

CHAPTER LVII

It is one thing to determine to make a man love one, especially a man who is still in love with another woman, and another thing to do it. Also it is hard to attempt when your heart is bitter, filled with jealousy and an outraged sense of justice.

I had told Mrs. Gray that I couldn't forget Leola, and that Everett didn't either. The day after Mrs. Barr came for the first time to teach me what I didn't want to know. I had proof of this—or so I thought.

I had not heard Everett come in It was a dark gloomy afternoon. Rain had been falling in a sort of a rain that gets on one's nerves. I wandered into the library. Evidently he did not hear me. The door had not been quite closed, altho I am positive he thought it was, and my slippered feet made no noise on the thick rug.

He was sitting by the table, a picture of Leola before him. When I spoke he opened a drawer and hurriedly shoved it in. He had no idea I had seen, I knew by this actions.

I was already nervous and miserable. And the sight of him sitting there with her picture when I supposed him at the office hurt me dreadfully. But this time I said nothing, simply apologized for my intrusion and withdrew. Everett was very punctilious in all such matters, and had insisted from the first that we respect each other's privacy. I did not realize how very wise he was and often rebelled, but now I can understand many things that then seemed foolish—and one of them is that every persons in the world is entitled to a certain amount of privacy.

That night he went out directly after dinner, and did not return until long after midnight. All the long lonely evening I thought of him and Leola, instead of reading or practising as he had suggested. Had he not done so I might have kept busy. But I declared to myself that I would not be dictated to; that I would do as I pleased. So wandered thru the rooms until I went to bed, a very miserable wife indeed.

The world is full of people who deliberately go into the House of Worry and try to pull it down over their own heads. I was one of that kind, regardless of Mrs. Gray's good advice and my own common sense. Mother had written me that Rose had told her I was terribly unhappy with Everett, but she hoped Rose exaggerated. She said she had asked Rose not to say anything about the way her visit ended—she had told mother —but that she feared she had talked, as she had heard some little gossip.

"I wish you might come home for a visit dear. It might stop the neighbors talking. Do 'come if your husband can spare you. We are all longing to see you".

I showed Everett the letter. He scowled frightfully and when he gave it back, said:

"Write your mother that it isn't convenient for you to visit her now. Perhaps, later, when you are not so engrossed in your studies, you may go for a short visit." Then: "I hope you are not disappointed."

"No, I do not care to go—ever." I was referring to the gossip Rose had spread about him, and he knew it.

"You will change your mind about that."

"I never shall! I bragged about you, that you cared for me. I never want to go home again, never!" Then, more calmly, I added: "If sometime I may invite them all here, Father and Mother and the boys, I shall be delighted to have them, and very grateful." As I talked, it seemed the most desirable thing in the world to have my own folks with me. I knew they all loved me, even tho the boys did tease me unmercifully at times.

"That, too, can wait for a time. I would like you to become more mistress of yourself before we have house guests, even your parents".

I said no more, but I felt oh, so bitter! Father and Mother loved me just as I was. The same way he had loved Leola. Mother said once when we loved people, it was regardless of their faults. I wanted to say so; but as I always tried to do, I restrained myself.

"Don't look so sad," Everett interrupted my thoughts. "We will have them some day."

To me "some day" seemed very far away.

To-morrow—Everett Explains his Ideas.

Voice Of The People

MR. JOFFE ON RUSSIA.

Mr. Editor:—

Doubtless there will appear elsewhere in this issue an account of Mr. Joffe's lecture an "The Downfall of Russia," last evening in St. Paul's Presbyterian church. As neither time nor place was opportune to take full advantage of Mr. Joffe's kind invitation to ask questions, I shall ask permission through the columns of your paper further to discuss this so vital topic.

I write as a man who knows nothing of Russia except through books and the press, also as one who is interested in the whole truth of the Russian situation, for as Mr. Joffe very pertinently remarked, we cannot pretend to be disinterested or isolated from a country and a people comprising about one-seventh of the inhabited world. And yet, to every earnest and impartial observer it has become more and more patent that we are thoroughly and effectively isolated from the happenings in Russia by a barrage of systematic propaganda, misrepresentations and lies.

Lies? Yes, we can easily call to mind many examples of press reports assiduously circulated and quoted, which in the light of subsequent events have proven to be sheer unblushing, unscrupulous lies. What of the "nationalization" of women? Of the capture of Petrograd? Of the repeated assassinations of Soviet leaders? Of the flight of the Soviet Government from Moscow? Every reader of the daily press can recall scores of similar reports that were featured as actual facts and, having served their momentary purpose of propaganda, were allowed to lapse and later, in the ordinary course of events were amply reputed by their own absurdity and lack of foundation in fact.

Then the shameless cupidity with which influential financial journals discussed the tantalizing wealth of the oil fields, the minerals, the forests, in short the fabulous natural resources which, presumably the Russian people proposed to utilize in harmony with Lincoln's dictum, "for the people, by the people" in a literal and real sense never hitherto attempted. And the excited flurries in Wall Street and the Bourse among the heavy investors at every chimerical glimpse of the "imminent" collapse of the Soviet rule!

There has, however, also been considerable information from both partisan and impartial observers, less widely circulated and less easily accessible to the average citizen. The Manchester Guardian" and the "Nation" are not widely read and therefore their influence on the great mass of the reading public has not been great. Enough has filtered through, however, of the constructive and educative efforts of the new regime to give rise to the suspicions that inside the dark cloud of misinformation, exaggeration and misrepresentation thrown about Russia, there must indeed be a silver lining of hopeful idealism and sincere constructiveness.

The average man may therefore be pardoned if at least he is inclined to keep an open mind on this subject. Certainly he will resent the continuous one-sided repetition of streotyped press propaganda such as Mr. Joffe's address proved to be, no more, no less. It should be remembered that Mr. Joffe has no first hand knowledge of post revolutionary Russia.

In spite of all propaganda, in spite of Churchill, Clemenceau and Joffee, thanks to the silent but eloquent influence of the clear-minded, liberal-minded masses of the world—prompted too, no doubt, by the strategical impregnability of Russia—the allied governments have at last taken the first step to the inevitable recognition of the Russian Republic. Then we shall know all about Russia, without cant, hypocrisy or prejudice.

Then we shall know why the Soviet Republic expanded against unparalleled difficulties and machinations, to Archangel to Vladivostok, to Odessa. We shall know why Messrs. Yudenitch, Petlina, Denikin and Kolschak failed. We shall know why these gentlemen obtained allied support on the pretense of establishing democracy, only to be later disclosed as scheming czarists, leaving in their wake of invasion barbarities, destruction and pogroms unequalled even by the most lurid atrocities attributed to the Bolsheviki. We shall know why Kolschak perished on the bayonets of his own soldiers.

Until then we should preserve a dispassionate attitude and an open mind.

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. LONDON LAWYER CHARGED WITH THEFT Disappears, But Partner Says He Hurried to Toronto to Defend Chrage.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 25.—Arrested on a charge of the theft of money from Richard Tew & Company, assignees, Toronto, Donald Swanson, a local lawyer, who has been associated in a legal capacity with Major G. N. Weekes, barrister, was detained by the local authorities for some time, but was later released pending the arrival of an officer who was to take him back to the Queen City. When the officer reached here today Swanson could not be found, but his partner, Major Weekes, said he had hurried to Toronto to defend the charge laid against him.

Swanson had explained that the charge was merely the echo of a transaction which dated before the war. Since that time he had served five years overseas, and he claimed to be greatly surprised that he should be placed under arrest on what he described as a trivial charge.

Mr. Swanson has been in the public eye very much of late through the Asylum investigation, he having been the counsel for the plaintiff, Harry Lawder, who had made many charges against the conduct of the institution.

EGG SUPPLY INCREASES WHILE WELLS GO DRY

The following is this week's summary of the reports by Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Fall wheat, which entered the winter in excellent shape, continues to be well protected by snow.

The bad condition of the roads recently has prevented much marketing of live stock. Norfolk states that there is also a tendency to hold on to cattle on account of the depressed prices, and adds that there is a reduction in the number of hogs being kept.

According to the Elgin representative, there is a scarcity of water on a number of farms, as some wells and springs have gone dry, for which the steadily cold winter is blamed. Wintry weather also appears to be telling upon milk production, which is hardly sufficient for the demands of factorymen and town milk dealers. Port Arthurs states that milk is retailing locally at 20 cents a quart.

Egg Supply Increasing.

Norfolk reports that eggs are increasing in supply, and that grocers in that county are paying 60 cents a dozen.

Oats and other coarse grains have advanced in price and are hard to secure at that. Hay in Northern Ontario is commanding as high as $36 a ton. In the older portions of the Province prices range from $20 to $22 in the barn to $24 to $30 a ton delivered.

Ensilage has proved to be of excellent feeding quality this season, and is holding out well.

Farmers in the Port Arthur district are showing enterprise. Several new clover hullers have been brought in lately, and the yield of red clover seed is turning out well. At a meeting of the Marketing Association of the district, held recently, the prices of seed potatoes were set as follows: No. 1, $3.35 a bag, and No. 2, $3.20 a bag, f.o.b. at point of shipment.

Some farmers are seeking men for spring work, but so far the response has been slow. Brant states that some reliable married men are getting from $600 to $700 a year with house, garden, milk, etc., and that some well qualified single men are getting nearly the equivalent of that.

OATH PRESCRIBED FOR SINN FEINERS

Every Member of Irish "Republic" Expected to Take It.

DUBLIN, Feb. 25.—Every member and official of the Dail Eireann (Sinn Fein Republic) has been asked to take the same oath as prescribed for members of the Irish volunteers. It is this:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I do not and shall not yield a voluntary support to any pretended government, authority or power within Ireland hostile or inimical thereto, and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowledge and ability I will support and defend the Irish Republic, which is the Dail Eireann, against all enemies, foreign or domestic, and that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same, and that I take this obligation freely without any mental reservations or purpose of evasion, so help me God."

Stomach and Liver Trouble

Once the liver fails to filter the poisonous bile from the blood, there is a clogging up and poisoning of the whole system which causes many troubles to arise. Therefore, upon the liver, more than any other organ of the body, depends the general health.

Carelessness and neglect, and oftentimes wilful disregard of nature's laws will put the system out of sorts. The bowels become constipated, the liver inactive and the stomach upset. To bring the system back to its normal you should take Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. They liven up the liver, get the bowels back to their proper condition and tone up the stomach.

Mrs. G. L. Cackett, Enchant, Alta., writes:—"I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and have found them good for both stomach and liver troubles. I have told others about your valuable medicine and they have used them with good results.

"They are also good for headache."

TAX RATE OF 35 MILLS WAS PREDICTED BY ALD. TURNER

INCREASE OF FOUR MILLS OVER LAST YEAR—COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE GAVE $3,000 TO EXHIBITION, $1,020 FOR PLAYGROUNDS AND $400 FOR 12TH OF JULY CELEBRATION.

STOPPED AT MAP OF CITY

The prospective rate of Peterborough's taxes this year is 35 mills, according to the announcement Ald. Turner made to the Committee of the Whole Council last night. Probably the citizens remember that the 1919 rate was 31 mills. The garbage tax is not included in either of these figures.

From the departmental estimates that have already been discussed or approved, for example, the requirements of the Board of Education, Police Commission, Fire, Water and Light Committee, and from what may be anticipated for the Board of Works and other committees, City Treasurer Adams compiled a tentative budget for which the rate of 35.352 mills would be necessary.

Ald. Turner, the reigning Finance Minister, suggested that the fraction might be pared off, leaving an even [illegible]. The other members were evidently prepared for the appreciable increase this year, for there was none of the brandishings of the pruning knife that used to be ex-Ald Stratton's delight when obese appropriations were laid on the operating table.

Estimates Incomplete.

Ald. Turner reminded the committee that the final estimates had not yet been turned in by some of the spending departments. Hence, the tabulated list afforded only a rough outline of the completed budget. They were subject to further revision, but he did not encourage the hope of a rate less than 35 mills.

Leaving the final estimates of the committee of their spending programme, the tentative list was next minutely examined. The total of the appropriations as mentioned last night was $[illegible], as compared with last year's estimates of $[illegible], and the actual expenditure of $[illegible].

Of course some of the drafted estimates were available last night, and Ald. Gordon recommended that each member of the Council be supplied with these for consideration before the question comes up again.

$1,000.00 GRANT TO THE PLAYGROUNDS ASSOCIATION.

The committee had previously received a deputation from the Playgrounds Association, composed of Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, Mrs. W. R. Morris, and Mr G. O. Cameron, who urged the Association's request for $1,000.00 for the promotion of this year's work.

Mrs. Morris said that in the past the appeal had been made to the Board of Education, who had generously fostered the movement. All over the city parents and children alike testified to the success of the playgrounds. They were thrown open to all the children. They were non-denominational, and largely for that reason the Board was asked this year for only $1,000.00 and the Council for an equal sum.

Five supervisors were engaged last year, and the work was made possibly mainly by the subscriptions of citizens, who, it was found, usually gave to every public cause. Employees of the factories had also shown their sympathy by contributing freely. The $2,000.00 expected from the city treasury through the Council and Board of Education would barely pay the salaries of the supervisors. New equipment would be needed here and there, and would cost more than in the past.

This request had been laid over by the Finance Committee on Tuesday night, but the whole Council demonstrated their gratification with the success of the Association's efforts by unanimously recommending the grant of $1,000.00 on Ald. Crowe's motion, seconded by Ald. Jones.

Ald Whitehouse: I should like to add the Council's appreciation to that.

$3,000.00 FOR THE PETERBOROUGH INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

The next item deferred by the Finance Committee for the wider opinion of the Council was the appeal of the Industrial Exhibition Board for $5,000.00 toward the cost of additional improvements to the ground, including an extension to the grand stand, new cattle barn, and other needed facilities.

The Committee almost reached a deadlock on this question, and arrived at a decision only after three or four votes.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald Gordon, that $2,000.00, the same as last year, be given the Exhibition.

Ald. Turner moved an amendment, seconded by Ald. Jones, for the amount asked for, $5,000.00.

Both aldermen warmly advocated the city's support of the Exhibition.

Ald. Hamilton moved an amendment to the amendment, seconded by Ald. Crowe, for a compromise of $3,000.00.

The amendment for the $5,000.00 was defeated on the show of hands, and the result was determined by the ayes and nays on Ald. Hamilton's amendment for $3,000.00, as follows:

Aye—Aldermen Phelan, Gordon, Hamilton, Morrison, and Crowe.

Nay—Aldermen Jones, Whitehouse, Copping, and Turner.

The aldermen voting nay held out for the entire $5,000.00, but lost by 5 to 4.

Held Option on the Grounds.

Ald. Turner assured Ald. Crowe that the directors of the Exhibition have an option on the grounds to run for seven years, and [illegible] the city would be compelled to do so.

Ald. Whitehouse spoke of the asset of the Exhibition to the city, and of the lack of facilities to merchants and other exhibitors who displayed their products. He contended that a grant of $5,000.00 would be money well spent.

Ald. Turner held up the vision of the Exhibition returning a revenue to the city, as with the Toronto and some other exhibitions. Peterborough's Fair was now the largest between Toronto and Ottawa.

$400.00 for District L. O. L.

The request of the District Loyal Orange Lodge for $300.00 to be expended in advertising the celebration in Peterborough this year was passed on Ald. Jones' motion, seconded by Ald. Morrison.

I think an organization of that kind should run their own show and not come to the Council at all," Ald. Hamilton remarked.

Ald. Jones: If we can give $1,000.00 to the Veterans, we can surely spare $400.00 to the Orangemen.

Held Up $1,500.00.

The last of Ald. Turner's special items was the City Development Commission's petition for $1,500.00 for a topographical map of Peterborough.

Ald. Phelan: I move that it be received for the present.

Ald. Hamilton seconded the motion, and adjournment followed.

A Few Minor Increases.

Earlier in the evening the civic salary increases, the work of the Finance Committee, were introduced by Ald. Turner for slight revision.

City Solicitor Widdifield's salary, increased from $1,000.00 to $1,100.00 on Tuesday night, was advanced to $1,500.00 by the Committee of the Whole last night.

W. J. Henry, assessor, had been getting $2,000.00. The Finance Committee recommended $2,000.00, and the Committee of the Whole made it $2,150.00.

"He's the man who gets you your money in one sense," Ald. Gordon said. "His figures generally stand in the Court of Revision. He watched the Quaker Oats Company taxes, and got us about $20,000.00 a year school taxes. His is an important job, requiring skill, thoroughness, and care. I'd like to see Mr. Henry get $2,150.00."

More for Assistant Assessor.

On a motion by Ald. Morrison, seconded by Ald. Gordon, Mr. A. R. [illegible]'s salary as assistant assessor was increased to $1,100.00.

The Finance Committee had raised [illegible] from $900.00 to $1,000.00.

[illegible] Johnson, stenographer in the City Clerk's office, will receive $1,000.00, an increase of $25.00 over the previous recommendation.

The members of the Court of Revision had been passed over by the Finance Committee. Last night an increase of $20.00, bringing his salary to $150.00, was given to the chairman. Mr. W. F. Johnston, Mr James Finnie and Mr B. Morrow each received an additional $25.00, making their salaries each $100.00.

Ald. Crowe's Position.

There was little discussion in the process of advancing salaries.

Ald. Crowe renewed his objection that, considered as a bonus, the increases should be scaled upward in favour of those whose salaries were lowest.

The Ontario Government, he pointed out, had fixed a scale for its employees receiving less than $3,000.00, as follows: From $2,500.00 to $3,000.00, an increase of $120.00; $2,000.00 to $2,500.00, an increase of $180.00; from $1,500.00 to $2,000.00, an increase of $240.00; $1,200.00 to $1,500.00, an increase of $300.00; and for all those receiving less than $1,200.00, a flat $360.00.

"That lifts the low man," he remarked.

"But the Ontario Government didn't complete its list," Ald. Gordon commended. "They didn't include their outside service, and didn't give them a square deal."

Ald. Crowe: The Dominion Government did better. To salaries of $1,200.00 and less they gave a bonus of $420.00."

Ald. Turner: We are not thinking only of bonuses, but of increased salaries.

Ald. Crowe: If wages come down in a few years, you will be inclined to reduce the salaries. You are doing the opposite to the Governments. You are increasing the high man. It costs just as much for the man with a small salary to live as the high man. More, for the man with the larger salary can buy to an advantage the low man can't afford."

Ald. Crowe eulogised the man who gave a family to the world, and said he would "stick up" for him. He was in favour of a minimum wage of $550.00 for stenographers, and proposed a motion to that end.

"I won't vote for these salaries except on a flat increase of $200.00, except for girls, $150.00 for them."

Ald. Turner: There is no equality in that. You would give a man with a family only $200.00, and a single girl $150.00."

Using Ald. Crowe's figures for an adequate percentage of increase shince 1914, Ald. Turner showed that City Engineer Parsons should be paid $4,111.00 a year. The committee recommended $3,300.00.

"He's entitled to it," Ald. Crowe declared. "I will do what's fair. But if $200.00 is good enough for the firemen, it's good enough for everybody else."

None of the members followed Ald. Crowe's lead, and the consideration of Ald. Turner's amendments proceeded.

Mothers! NEVER NEGLECT WHOOPING COUGH

Many mothers make the mistake of thinking that whooping cough is not of serious importance, but unfortunately this mistake often leads to the neglect of this dangerous child's disease.

Never neglect whooping cough, for it may be followed by some serious lung trouble.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble. It will clear the clogged-up air passage of the mucous and phlegm that has collected in in this way bring on the "whoop" which bring the so-much-sought-for relief.

Mrs. Francis Burlingham, New Gate, B.C., writes: "This spring three of my children took the whooping cough, and they had it so bad I thought they would choke. I was getting pretty worried when my sister wrote me, telling me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I sent for some right away, and, believe me, I will never forget how it worked. I will always have it in my house."

There are many imitations of Dr Wood's on the market. Get the genuine when you ask for it. It will pay in the end. Put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

METROPOLITAN OPERA SINGERS

Equal to any of the best musical attractions which have ever come to the city the Metropolitan Opera Singers Miss Beulah Hayes, soprano; Miss Madge Miller, contralto; Mr. Alfred C. Green, tenor and Mr. Leonard C. Aldridge bass, nad Miss Mary Glen, pianists and accompanist were agreeted last evening at the Conservatory of Music by a full house. The audience was most enthusiastic in its applause and not a number was allowed to finish without a hearty encore which was at all times generously responded to.

The Programme

The programme was most artistically arranged and covered such operatic selections as the trio from Faust, the Rigoletto quartette, "Home to the Mountains" from Il Trovatore, Carmen and Martha also the opening anthem "Praise The Lord" "I'll Sing Thee Songs of Araby," Brown's Gypsy duet sung by Miss Hayes and Miss Miller and several other classic and humorous selections. One particularly pleasing feature which was novel to a Peterboro audience was the presentation of three of Percy Grangers 'Artistic Burlesques', "The Fly and the Humble Bee", "Cradle Song", and "Oh, My Little Sixpence" by the quartette. Each of the singers was undoubtedly an artists and the voices in the duets trios and quartette were marvellously blended. While all artists were unusually gifted particular mention may be made of Miss Mary Glen the pianist and accompanist whose piano solos and accompaniments surpassed anything which has been heard in the city in years.

Those Present.

A few of those noticed among the audience were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Renwick Mr. Jock Renwick, Mrs. George King, Mrs. Aylmer, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Miss Rannie, Mrs. J. W. Worth, Mr. Walter Worth, Miss Bessie Mather, Miss Isabel Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Logan, Miss Coleman and Mr. Charles Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Greene, Mr. L. Fraser, Miss May Perry, Major and Mrs. Gifford Dr. and Mrs. Holloway, Mr. Forth Mrs. J. M. McCulloch, Mrs. Allen and I. Allen and Dr. Buchanan.

Third Attraction.

Last evening concluded the third of the Lyceum course.

SOCIAL EVENING AT LONG ISLAND

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MR. GEORGE NURSE.

Many sociable evenings have been spent by the people of Bensfort and surrounding country at the home of Mr. George Nurse on Lang Island, in Rice Lake, where hospitality reigns.

The evening of Friday, 20th February, spent there by a few friends, was no exception to the general rule. The occasion was the birthday party of Mr. Nurse. A sumptuous oyster supper was the method of celebration used on his natal day, to which everybody did ample justice; and since the best way to a man's heart is considered to be through his stomach, Mr. Nurse won the hearts of every individual present.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games and music. Before going home Mr Dawson, playing the part of chairman, suggested speeches from Messrs. Everett Wood, Wilbur Barnard, George Wood, and Miss Robb, in which each speaker wished Mr. Nurse many happy returns of 20th February. Everyone voted that Mr. Nurse was a jolly good scout, who attended strictly to business at all times, except when "the lunge are in the marsh and the ducks are in the bay."

The host replied in an appropriate manner, thanking all for their good wishes, and bidding them "come again and come often." The gathering dispersed after everyone had joined in lustily singing "For Captain's a jolly good fellow."

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wood, Miss Hall, Mr. George Wood, Miss Robb, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Wood, Mr. Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Dawson, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Barnard.

Tightens Her Skin--- Loses Her Wrinkles

"I want to tell you how easily I got rid of my wrinkles," writes Luella Marsh. "While in London a friend, much envied because of her youthful looks, gave me a formula for a home made preparation which has the effect of instantly tightening the skin thus smoothing out wrinkles and furrows.

"The principal ingredient is powdered saxolite, which can be had at drug stores here. An ounce of saxolite is dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. After bathing my face in this but once the transformation was so marvelous I looked years younger. Even the deep crow's feet were affected and the annoying creases about my neck. It seems difficult to believe anything could produce such results. Several to whom I recommended the recipe, have been similarly helped one an elderly lady whose cheeks had become quite haggy."—Social Mirror.

TENDER GUMS — A WARNING

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea—many under forty also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

New Apparel for the Children Is Receiving the Attention of Many Mothers Just Now

Almost ever since this store has been a store we have sold children s apparel, but never before have we been able to provide such splendid assortments as those that confront you now. It has been interesting to note not only the growth of this department but the growth of the children who have had their clothing supplied from it. Their first visit was in their mother's arms, when they graduated from their infant s togs they toddled in at their mother's side, later they became old enough and wise enough to aid in the selection of their garments After this came a time when only a juniors' or misses' size would give a proper fit, and finally they passed out to our ladies' department, and it has not only been interesting but gratifying to note that we have retained their patronage in this larger section where they have made their own selections and found the same high standard of satisfaction.

We Call Your Attention to These Infants' Dresses Because They Have Many Endearing Little Touches

Long Dresses

The length of this one is 27 inches. The quality of the lawn is commendable but it is further enhanced with workings of French embroidery and a ribbon garniture at the yoke; also narrow edgings of lace on the sleeves and yoke. The price is $8.25.

Another of fine lawn in the 27-inch length has less trimming, but is quite durable in spite of its lower price; has a pin tucked yoke edged with lace, also the hem, and val insertion above the hem. The price is $2.39.

We have many "Gertrude" under-slips at various prices. One is priced at $3. It buttons at the shoulder and has val lace and insertion trimming at the yoke and hem.

Infant's Short Dresses

Two of the numbers are so outstanding and so different that they are indeed worthy of mention.

One of fine white lawn has a deep hem embroidered in pink with birds and wreaths, a tiny pink collar and the yoke is outlined with pink hemstitching; also the cuffs. The price is $4.25.

The other is of white lawn and is much on the same order with hemstitched collar and cuffs and a group of pink smocking on both sides of the yoke. The price is $4.50.

Play Time Is Romper Time

We have a particularly fine assortment of these useful little garments. There is a good variety of styles, prices and materials.

There is one line of Dutch blue chambray with the edges piped with brown and a playtime picture pocket in patch style on front. The knees are narrowed with elastic. Sizes for 1 to 3 year olds Priced at $1.69.

Much on the same order is one of Dutch blue chambray with a belt and a small breast pocket, edges piped with white, elastic at the knees and a belted waist Sizes for 1 to 3 year olds. Price $1.49.

At $2.29 and $2.49 for 1 to 6 year olds there are many designs of checked and striped ginghams, and in some cases combined with plain chambray.

Spring Coats of Donegal Tweed for Little Toddlers of 4 Years to the Young Miss of 15

Some are Brown and some are Blue hues, but all are Genuine DONEGAL TWEEDS that will give no end of wear. They are subject to great variety in Trimmings—some show pleated backs, others depend on a belt to hold, in the fulness, if there is any, for many are on the straight line order. For the smaller sizes Brass Buttons are often used to advantage, and the larger ones are more sedate, with Bone Buttons, and often Novelty shaped Buckles of Brown Bone make a pleasant trimming. Best of all, they are a desirable Spring weight, without lining. If you cared to put them to use again next Fall and Winter, it can be done by lining them, and the cost will be small. Here is the Price schedule:

Sizes 4 to 6 ..... $9.95 Sizes 8 to 10 ..... $12.00
Sizes 12, 14, and 15 ..... $15.95

A particularly handsome model that has required more time to make is priced at $18.00.

$2.19 Flannelette Sleepers—$1.98

They are a light weight quality, but durable, nevertheless, that is suitable for this time of the year. They have buttoned cuffs and a drop seat Regular $2.19 value for $1.98.

NEW COMPANY TO FOSTER U. S. INDUSTRIES IN BRITAIN

AVAILABILITY OF GREAT ENGLISH MARKETS AND ADVISABILITY OF CIRCUMVENTING PREFERENTIAL TARIFFS DRAWS MANY INQUIRIES FROM MANUFACTURERS.

The American Chamber of Commerce in London reports a new company, known as British-American Industries Limited, has been formed to arrange the manufacture of American goods in Great Britain for British and empire markets.

With the growth of the movement for preferential tariffs and other preferential arrangements among the countries making up the British empire, many American manufacturers already have considered it desirable to establish factories in Canada. The new company is working, however, on the presumption that the advantages of a factory in Great Britain are infinitely greater for the following reasons:

The British home market is a larger one, and is better situated for export trade, because of steamship facilities to all parts of the world.

London is the financial centre of the empire and handles a large percentage of the Colonial trade; insurances are more easily effected in London; Colonial buyers visit London more readily than Canada.

British labor, in spite of its unrest at present, is understood to be cheaper and more plentiful than in Canada.

The chamber understands that the new company will encourage and assist American manufacturers of successful commodities to build plants in Great Britain.

Where the American manufacturer is not interested in so doing and is willing to sell his manufacturing rights, the new company will undertake to find British or French manufacturers who will take over these rights.

Similarly it will introduce into American goods which have proved successful in Great Britain or France. In the case of patented articles, this would entail the granting of a license to manufacture in the foreign country.

The new company is understood to have received many inquiries from manufacturers on both sides of the Atlantic who are anxious to have their goods produced in the other country.

The function of the new company is to bring such manufacturers together, its profit arising out of a percentage of the royalty or a lump sum payable for the patent or the process.

CONVENTION WAS SUCCESSFULL EVENT

INTERESTING ADDRESSES BY PROMINENT SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

A decided impetus was given to Sunday School work in the city at the Annual Convention of the Peterboro Sunday School Association held yesterday in St. Paul's Church. Each of the teachers and Sunday School workers received valuable hints upon their work both through the masterly addresses and the departmental and denominational sessions.

The Addresses

In the afternoon Rev. T. A. Halpany and Dr. J. C. Robertson spoke at length on "Community Tasks in Religious Education" dealing thoroughly with the necessity of uniting of the Christian forces of all denominations in matters relating to the religious education of the young. Both speakers dealt with the new organization known as the Ontario Council of Religious Education which has recently supplanted the Sunday School Association of Ontario and which has opened some valuable channels of information in Sunday School work.

At the conclusion of this address the leaders went into departmental sessions and problems of each department were dealt with.

In his brilliant address on Sunday School Evangelism Mr. Frank Langford pointed out ways in which the work of evangelism could be carried out and impressed his hearers that all Sunday School work is futile unless the child may be brought to Christ.

Leaders Needed.

Leaders are needed to-day to take the place of those who gave their lives for their country. Dr. Robertson said in a most interesting address on "The Challenge to Leadership" which he gave at the evening session of the convention. He also impressed his audience with the fact the leaders are needed in every age to bring the young to Christ. Trained leaders are needed particularly in this age and the Church is providing for these in the Teachers' Training Course and in the Summer Schools.

Religious Survey.

It was agreed that for 1920 the city association should undertake to extend the work of the Teachers' Training Course by combining the Sunday Schools of the city into groups for this week. It was also resolved that the Association in co-operation with other religious organizations should undertake a religious survey of the city some time during the present year. These resolutions undoubtedly will receive the hearty support of all.

Officers Elected

The officers elected for 1920 are: President—Mr. A. Mowat.

First Vice-President—Mr. A. B. Gates.

Second Vice-President—Mr. C. E. Sisson.

Secretary—Mr. H. Stock.

Treasurer—Mr. A. J. Johnston.

Supt. of Primary Dept.—Mrs. E. D. Lewis.

Supt. of Teen-age Dept.—(a) Boys—Mr. R. H. McCarton; (b) Girls—Mrs. R. H. McCarton.

Supt. of Adult Dept.—Mr. Andrew Mackenzie.

Supt. of Home Dept.—Mrs. John Logan.

Supt. of Teachers Training Dept.—Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner.

Supt. of Missionary Dept.—Mrs. Jas Kendry.

Supt. of Temperance Dept.—Mrs. John Speer.

The above named Superintendents will act as convenors of committees composed of the Superintendents of the Department of the various Sunday Schools of the city.

The Secretaries of the various Sunday Schools of the city are reminded that Mr. Johnston, the treasurer, has to remit the contributions of the City Schools to the Provincial Council before Easter Monday.

The churches of the city united in providing a supper for 100 teachers and workers. This brought the Sunday School workers together in a delightful and informal way.

LIEUT.-COL., THE REV. JOHN PRINGLE, D.D.,

Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Coming to Peterborough For One Night, St. Andrew's Church To-morrow Evening, 6 O'clock.

The people of Peterborough will have an opportunity on Friday evening of hearing the man of the hour of the Presbyterian church in Canada, Lieut.-Col. the Rev. John Pringle, D.D., Moderator of the General Assembly. John Pringle is perhaps more widely known than any other Presbyterian Minister in Canada, and he is favorably as he is widely known. He was the first missionary to the Yukon in the days of the gold rush, and was idolized by the miners for his endurance, sincerity and good comradeship. When war broke out he was the minister of a large church in Cape Breton, but it was inevitable that such a man should find a way to the front, and he went overseas in the early days of the war and did not return until after the armistice was signed. It is said of him that he addressed more soldiers than any chaplain in the Canadian forces. Men gathered instinctively about John Pringle, the man who knew the human heart and trusted man, the man with winning eyes, the padre with a good story and a great message. So they gathered about Pringle. He was the unanimous choice, without a ballot, of the General Assembly last year, for the highest position in the gift of the church. His congregation has given him to the whole church for a time and Peterborough gets him for one night. He will not likely say much about the money side of the Forward Movement, but he will say something worth hearing and say it in his own way. The citizens of Peterborough are invited and every seat in the church is at their disposal.

SAWDUST SILK STOCKINGS THREATENS WOODPILE

Unlimited possibilities are suggested by the announcement of the chemists of the college of forestry of Syracuse University that they have perfected a process of making silk from sawdust. Phonographs from sausage casings and binder twine had been produced from the same source. It is true that sawdust silk is still in the laboratory stage, which is a long way from factroy output, but it is a promising discovery, just the same, and no more incredible than imitation cotton from nettles, or a good many other of the comparatively recent discoveries by scientists.

The public will be skeptical however, as to the Syracuse prediction that "stockings that now cost $5 to $25 a pair will be produced at not more than 50 cents a pair." Somehow, it does not seem to have worked that way in the past. We no sooner perfect a process for making a new vegetable oil, or a new metal kitchen utensil, or a substitute for rubber or leather from materials that formerly were a total waste than something happens to drive the price upward. In theory silk stockings made from sawdust ought to stimulate the healthful exercise of home wood-sawing; no man with a family of beautiful daughters could resist the appeal to go out to the shed and make enough sawdust for a set of silk hose all around; but in the practical working of it there is almost sure to be a hitch somewhere.

Still, if sawdust does acquire a high market value there will be compensations. Think of having a lawyer insist on making three cuts instead of two to split hairs to cut the Winter's wood! If we recovered from the shock we would be willing to pay almost any price for that sawdust sucker, to say nothing of the phonograph records, sausage casings and the rest of them.—Portland "Oregonian."

C.G.E. BY-LAW VOTE ON TUES. MARCH 23

COUNCIL WILL ASK RAILWAY BOARD FOR EXTENSION OF TIME TO PRESENT PLANS OF DISPOSAL PLANT.

In a special session last night the Council fixed March 23rd as the date for the voting on the bylaw to extend the C.G.E. Company's assessment of $150,000 for another period of ten years, beginning January 1st, 1921

In the agreement the company offers the city they will spend at least $500,000 on additional buildings and equipment, the work to begin on July 1st of this year. The $150,000 fixed assessment includes the business assessment but not the assessment for school purposes and local improvements.

City Solicitor Widdifield stated that every person on the municipal list is entitled to a vote and that the bylaw requires a majority of two-thirds of the number who vote.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Copping, that the Council ask the Board of Trade to consider the C.G.E. bylaw and to give it their co-operation and support if it meets with their approval.

Ald. Crowe's Opinion.

"My idea in putting this to the people," said Ald. Crowe, who was the only member to offer any discussion, "is that it relieves the council of responsibility. The day has come when the people should declare their wishes. It is too late in the day to do otherwise as we committed ourselves to that extent to Senator Nicholls. I feel that it is a hardship to put a load on a man when the company is declaring good dividends. The only thing to combat them with is to get as many buildings here as we can. It reminds me of when the C.P.R. went to Perth. They asked for 20 acres to put their shops there at a fixed assessment for 20 years. When that time was up they went back to the Perth council for the renewal of the assessment, but the council refused. The C.P.R. then pulled up stakes and went to Montreal, where they built the Angus shops. You know what Perth is to-day."

Ald. Crowe added that ten years from now there would be others in the council to look after the Company.

Ask for Engagement.

Ald. Phelan notified the Council that the time for the submission of new plans of the sewage disposal plant to the Ontario Municipal Board expired on Monday, March 1st. He had seen Mr. E. D. Kerr, solicitor for the townships who agreed to a postponement for three weeks.

City Solicitor Widdifield explained that it would be necessary to apply to the Railway Board for a postponement for three weeks until the site approved.

Ald. Phelan moved to this effect, seconded by Ald. Wheelhouse.

The Board of Works is obliged to meet the Provincial Board of Health during the second week of March.

ALD. PHELAN IN ROLE OF DAVID HARUM

BOARD OF WORKS HORSE SOLD TO D. DRISCOLL DEVELOPED CIRCUS ABILITY.

Somewhat like the proverbial cat, the Board of Works horse which Ald. Phelan recently sold to Mr. D. Driscoll of Otonabee came back last Sunday, and the purchaser requested that since he couldn't handle it that his money be returned to him.

Explaining the deal to the Committee of the Whole last night Ald. Phelan stated that Mr. Driscoll had bought the horse for his wife's use as a driver or roadster, but on the first try out it manifested circus abilities by rearing on its hind legs and pawing the air with the front probably having heard of the Russian bear that walked liked a man. At any rate its propensities did not recommend it as a docile driver for a farmer's wife.

So on the morning after that experience the horse mysteriously appeared in its place at the fire hall, and Ald. Phelan was in a quandary.

"Where is he now," asked Mayor McIntyre.

"Tied up in the stall," replied Ald. Phelan.

Ald. Gordon—"Tell Driscoll to take the horse away or we'll charge him $2 a day for its board."

Ald. Morrison informed Ald. Gordon that $1.50 was the prevailing rate of fare for horses.

"Well make it $1.50", Ald. Gordon laughed.

Mayor McIntyre—He claims the horse was misrepresented.

Ald. Phelan—"Not by the chairman I sold him the horse in good faith."

Ald. Gordon—"We've been feeding him too much oats. That's what made the overdraft in the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Ald. Crowe—"It sounds about as bad as David Harum.

The committee made the most of this humorous incident.

Mayor McIntyre—"What will we do with it?

Ald. Crowe—"Do the other fellow before he does you."

Ald. Gordon—"I've often bought things I had to keep. Let Driscoll sell it to some one else."

Ald. Phelan—"I would move that we take it back. The poor beggar can't use him. And Driscoll is a young farmer just starting out. The only thing is the value of the horse will be depreciated by taking it back."

Ald. Whitehouse—"Can't Driscoll get rid of it."

Ald. Phelan—"Sure, he's brought it back to the firehall."

Ald. Gordon moved seconded by Ald. Whitehouse that Driscoll be charged $1.50 a day while the horeats from the city's trough.

Ald. Phelan moved seconded by Ald. Morrison that the treasurer return Mr. Driscoll the $115 he paid.

Ald. Hamilton advised that Driscoll sell the horse and the city would make up any loss he suffered.

Whether the committee arranged it or not the vote resulted in a tie putting it up to the Mayor to decide the fate of Mr. Driscoll's $115.

Mayor McIntyre—"So it's up to me. Well I'll give him his money back.

Ald. Phelan—"We've got another buyer in sight anyway."

MR. BURNHAM GETS ANOTHER PLACE ON THE ORDER PAPER

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb 26.—F. H. Burnham, M. P. for Peterboorugh, in expressing to-day his disappointment that Premier Drury had backed up on his educational policy and an eight hour day, stated that he has placed the following resolution on the order paper of the House of Commons at Ottawa:

"That in the opinion of this House it is desirable that the extent of jurisdiction of this Parliament in a national, legal eight hour working day should be re-established immediately, subject only to right of express private contracts."

Speaking on educational matters, Mr. Burnham said: "Disease in Ontario in regard to education was philosophic and ideal had been removed in favor of scientific and real with the result that rising generation is becoming mechanical mentally and showed little regard for fundamental principles."

FIFTY CENTS FOR A HAIRCUT HERE

PETERBORO BARBERS MAY INCREASE PRICES ON MONDAY NEXT.

While the boss barbers have not as yet signed for the increase in prices which the barbers intended bringing in on Monday, March 1st, it is fairly certain that the prices will be rasied in the course of a few days.

Hair cuts will be raised under the proposed schedule from 35 to 50 cents and a shave from 15 to 20 cents.

FINAL RESULTS FOR ANGLICANS

The canvass on behalf of the Anglican Forward Movement in Peterborough is officially completed, but some canvassers have kept their books in order to get a few names of those whom it had not been possible to see before. About $300 was handed in at Kent's Drug Store yesterday, in moderate and small subscriptions, by persons not called on, showing the desire of people to be in the line-up for this national cause. Efforts are now being made to wind up the campaign at once.

The results up to last evening by congregations were approximately as follows: St. John's $8224; All Saints' $5542, and St. Luke's $5500. The contribution by St. George's, $178, will be added in the parochial list to $400 which has been subscribed since Sunday, nearly all in cash, by the congregation of St. Mark's, Otonabee (Mr. Thos. Graystock being chairman of their committee). St. Mark's and St. George's belonging to the same mission. This leaves the Peterborough aggregate as $19,240 on the $20,000 objective. Returns arriving this morning indicate that the Deanery of Northumberland and Peterborough, with an objective of $30,000, has been carried, over $32,000 being subscribed. The Deanery of Durham and Victoria, with an objective of $24,000, has overpaid its objective by $7,000. Its parishes, Lindsay, Port Hope, Millbrook, Omemee and others have all contributed most generously Lindsay being over $7000 and Millbrook $5124, Omemee and Emily $2,620, Manvers Township added $1,015. This has been a notable achievement. The Deaneries of West York and West Simcoe have also carried their objectives. A complete list of parishes throughout the country is now being prepared by Archdeacon Davidson as organiser, to be sent to all parishes, and will be published in a few days. This involves a very large amount of work in the obtaining and compilation of parochial reports from a very wide area.

The Figures.

At one o'clock to-day, Mr. J. A. Aylmer, chairman for Peterborough, gave out the information that the objective of $20,000 for Peterborough had been exceeded the results being as follows: St. John's $8,540, All Saints' $5,939, and St. Luke's $5,581—making a total of $20,060. It is confidently expected that several more contributions will come in, increasing this splendid total, and thus ending a most notable campaign—one of which all who participated should be proud.

LOCAL BICYCLE DISPLAY COMPLIMENTED

recent issue of "Vim," issued in the interests of the Canadian Bicycle Dealers' Association, Ontario section, contains an interesting half-tone reproduction of the attractive display of Massey bicycels made by the White Brothers, Hunter street, this city, at the last Peterborough Industrial Fair. It describes the unique character of the display minutely, and adds: The White Brothers are continually working out new and clever ways of advertising their store and their bicycles, and although a comparatively new firm, sold a great many new bicycles last year, in addition to a very nice business in repairs, accessories and second-hand machines"

Reference is also made to the catchy window display made by the White Brothers during Christmas week, giving a description of the attractive and appropriate lay-out.

THE DOG CAME BACK.

Owen Wister is a connoisseur of "tall" western stories which the tenderfoot is supposed to accept as gospel truth.

It was with such a tale that John Bromall of Media, deceived a guileless and unsuspecting company of his friends.

"I was going to Atlantic City and was sitting in a smoker christening a new pipe a friend gave me.

"To my amazement some one tapped me on the shoulder and a high pitched feminine voice said: "Young man, put that nasty, dirty pipe away."

"I turned around. The woman had a dog in her lap. "I beg your pardon, madam, but I have a right to smoke here. It is the smoker. Furthermore the pipe is a new one."

"The next thing I knew the pipe was knocked from my hand and went flying through the open window.

"I lost my temper. I seized her dog and threw it after the pipe.

"The car was in an uproar, the woman's threats of vengeance were heard above the din. She left the train when it stopped at Hammonton and boarded it again as it started.

"At Atlantic City three policemen came up and the enraged owner of the dog pointed me out to them. They took me into custody and when I protested they said: "Cut that out. You can tell it to the judge."

"They were just starting off with me, when lo, and behold, along the track came the dog with the pipe in his mouth."—Philadelphia Ledger.

BOARD REMOVES CONTROL ON SUGAR

ORDER MADE BY WAY OF TEST

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 26. — Control by the Canadian Board of Commerce of the sugar price is abolished to-day for the specified purpose of proving whether or not the control has been effective in keeping down excess profits.

The fixed price of 16 cents per pound at the refineries no longer obtains.

The cost of production has undoubtedly increased since the order was made fixing the price on 8th January, and the Board feels that some concession should be made to the dealers.

The order of the Board rescinding the control of the sugar in Canada is signed by Commissioners W. F. O'Connor, K.C., and James Murdock.

The order goes on to say:

An agitation has arisen for the abolition of this Board, which agitation is based on the ground that its work is ineffective and control of profits on commodities impossible, and that various efforts of the Board have failed.

A canvass for funds to secure the suppression or the abolition of this Board, or to impede its efforts, has been made throughout Canada by a personal approach and by way of a circular letter. This Board deems that it will be in the ultimate benefit of the public that a test or demonstration be now made as to whether or not the orders of this Board have been effective, and especially as to whether or not profit control is possible or beneficial, and for the further purpose of discovering whether the demand made on behalf of the retailers of sugar, if acceded to, would have been taken advantage of.

This Board, in order to provide such a test or demonstration, has decided to entirely cease control over the profits on sugar.

MEN THREATEN TO GO ON STRIKE

(Canadian Press.)

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 26. — A large majority of N. S. & T. Railway employees are understood to have voted in favor of an immediate strike, but at the request of the minority have decided to await the result of a memorial that is being sent to-day to Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor. The men are dissatisfied with the recent award of the Arbitration Board.

CANADIAN MILLING INDUSTRY

The Canadian milling industry has since 1914, made progressive strides and flour exports between that year and 1919 increased nearly five times Today this business has an annual capacity of slightly more than 85,000,000 barrels a year and new mills are being continually added. In 1890 Canada exported 115,099 barrels of flour valued at $521,383. By 1910 this had increased to 3,064,128 barrels valued at about $15,000,000. In the fiscal year of 1919, 9,196,806 barrels were milled at a value of $99,836,896.

Great Britain has been by far, Canada's best customer for flour, her imports from the Dominion of this commodity, for the last fiscal year, being equal to about 60 per cent. of the total, or $56,000,000 out of nearly $100,000,000.

Exports by countries for the last year were as follows:—Great Britain $56,270,225; United States $99,794; British South Africa $17,709; Newfoundland $24,147,527; British West Indies $6,329,527; Other countries $34,147,750.

The Trade returns for the present fiscal year show that, as yet, the exports of flour are holding their own, though the European countries are again engaged in grain growing and milling. In the last available period of five months 4,928,164 barrels of flour were exported, as compared with 4,461,313 in the same period in 1918. Of these 3,912,405 barrels went to the United Kingdom; 39,420 to British Guiana; 146,594 to the British West Indies, 297,845 to France; 100,382 to Greece; 55,735 to Italy; 73,109 to Newfoundland; and 229,084 barrels to other countries. Great Britain took a little more than 1,000,000 more barrels than she did during the same period in 1918, and 1,700,000 more than in 1917. Other departments of the milling industry loom large also, as the following figures show: oatmeal $4,032,567; cereals $4,267,240; bran, etc., $1,592,312.

Whether on account of the change of conditions in Europe, the export trade may fall off considerably, the Canadian milling industry by reason of the activity produced during the war, is in a very strong position and should be able to hold its own in the period of competition which is undoubtedly ahead.

STOCK MARKET IS STILL ON TOBOGGAN

STERLING EXCHANGE SHOWED LOSS OVER YESTERDAY'S CLOSE.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The stock market opened irregular to-day, but the tone was generally weak. General Motors recovered 3 points from its low of yesterday to 234, and Lackawanna Steel regained 3-4 to 69 1-2, but most of the other issues declined fractionally.

U. S. Steel opened at 94 1-8, off 1-8; Anaconda, 54 7-8, off 1-4; Pan-American 77, off 1-4; U. S. Rubber, 92 5-8, up 1-8; Chandler, 117 1-2, off 3-4; U. R. Stores, 64 5-8, off 3-4; Republic, 88, off 3-8; Southern Pacific, 93, off 1-2; American Loco. 87, off 1-2; Baldwin, 104 3-4, unchanged; Crucible, 191 1-2, off 1-4; New Haven, 32 1-4, up 1-8.

After some early hesitation the market turned and shorts in many of the high priced issues had trouble in covering their stocks. Crucible was run up to 197, compared with a low of 189 yesterday. General Motors 7 to 238, while Steel Common at 95 1-8 was up 1 3-8. Brokers report few margin calls as the result of the slump the past two days.

New York—General Motors acted best of any prices stocks during the forenoon and shorts found little stock for covering purposes.

After the early rally the bears turned their attention to the shipping group, with principal pressure on Atlantic gulf. This stock sold at a new low on the decline at 137. Marine sold off about a point. The Steel group acted better with the exception of Lackawanna which broke 7 points to 63 as the result of the expectation of an unfavorable statement of earnings after the selling which resulted from call money renewing at 10 per cent. there was another rally and U. S. Steel nearly reached its high of the first hour. Crucible was leaning at 11-8 indicating that much of the recent selling had been up short accounts.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—There was a downward tendency in sterling this morning, the first quotation on the British pound being $3.37 1-4, a loss of 2 1-4 cents from yesterday's close.

Shortly after the opening Sterling advanced slightly to $3.37 3-4. France opened at 14.25, off 1/4 centimes, and Lire 18.42, off 20. Marks were 0103.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES ARE LAUNCHED AGAINST DEMPSEY

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT TAKES ACTION AGAINST HIM AND KEARNS, FEDERAL GRAND JURY ALLEGING PERJURY IN CONNECTION WITH DRAFT EVASION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 26.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, and his manager Jack Kearns, will be indicted by the Federal Grand Jury, which will file its report Friday. The Grand Jury voted to return these indictments. Whether there will be other indictments in the case was not stated.

Dempsey and Kearns are to be charged with having made false statements and otherwise perjuring themselves in furnishing information to the Draft Board in San Francisco that placed Dempsey in the deferred class when he was called as a soldier.

Indictment Returnable Friday.

That the Department of Justice was sure of its ground in the investigation of the Dempsey case was made known when E. E. Orr, Agent of the Department, said the Federal Grand Jury would return an indictment, Friday being the last day of the jury's sitting.

Sensational charges against Dempsey were intimated by Orr in connection with alleged letters of Dempsey to Mrs. Dempsey and to other friends in Wells, Nev., where Orr went a few weeks ago to uncover information on the status of Dempsey during the war period.

Some Incriminating Letters.

That the Government, since Orr's visit to Wells, has been in possession of thirty-five letters upon which the charges against Dempsey and Kearns are based was admitted by E. Blanford, chief for the district of the Department of Justice. Blanford refused to make known the contents of the letters, saying the Government would not show its hand before the trial.

E. E. Orr also refused to comment on the letters, except to concede that the Government would lean largely on the letters in the prosecution, which he admitted would take place.

Government Guards Secret.

"Naturally Dempsey cannot remember what he wrote a year and a half ago," said Orr, "and naturally he would like to know what are in these letters. But the Government does not intend to give them out." United States Prosecuting Attorney Adams refused to comment on the case in any way.

The charges against Dempsey and Kearns are based on an alleged conspiracy on the part of the two to secure Dempsey's exemption from military service on the ground of dependents.

Wife Supports Dempsey.

It is said on this ground Dempsey was placed in Class 4 of the draft, while the Government Prosecutor asserts that Dempsey did not have dependents, and intimates that Dempsey not only did not support his divorced wife, Maxine Dempsey, a dance hall girl of Wells, Nev., during the period mentioned in the charges, but that she supported him.

The position of the Government in this particular arose from the famous letter of Mrs. Dempsey to The Chronicle, in which she stated Dempsey did not support her during the war, and alleged that she signed exemption papers under threat.

Scene from "A NIGHT IN HONOLULU," a new play by Howard Mc Kent Barnes, which will be presented at the Grand Opera House, matinee and night, next Saturday, February 28th.

TKAE BLOOD TEST AT THE BEDSIDE

CHICAGO—A new method of diagnosing typhoid fever which can be performed in ten minutes at the bedside aroused interest here among physicians attending the meeting of the American Congress of Internal Medicine. The test was discovered by Prof. E. C. Bass of Tulane University, New Orleans, who will give a practical demonstration of the method.

"The present method of determining typhoid fever," said Dr. Frank Smithes, secretary-general of the congress, "usually takes 12 to 24 hours. A bacterial culture is made and a laboratory examination is required. Dr. Bass performs a blood test at the bedside which can be done in 10 minutes. Such a rapid method would not only permit earlier treatment but would serve to check materially the spread of the disease."

NEWSPAPER MORALS PRAISED BY PASTOR

Press Forced to Report Sensational Rather Than the Customary, Says Dr. Hill.

PHADELPHIA.—Praising the moral qualities of newspapers and declaring that there is less graft in the press than in business or politics, the Rev. Dr. Edward Yates Hill told a congregation of business people at the First Presbyterian church that the language used in the news columns should be a subject of scrutiny for all up-to-date persons. Doctor Hill continued:

"There is less corruption in the newspaper world than in the business world and less graft among newspapers than among politicians.

"Certainly, the morals of our newspapers are above the average morality of the people. The language used in the daily columns is far above that heard on the street. What is printed in the paper is of choicer quality, in mater and form, than the average conversation.

"The newspaper is almost necessarily more or less sensational in that it must report the extraordinary and exceptional rather than the common and customary. The deplorable sequence of this is that too much attention is given to the details of crimes and lapses of character. Such prominence often leads the thoughtless to magnify the amount of iniquity in the community.

"Not all newspapers are better than their constituency, but whatever they are in quality, moral or otherwise, they are a response to public demand."

TILBURY BEGINS HOUSING SCHEME

TILBURY, Eng.—Tilbury has begun a great housing scheme involving an expenditure of £1,500,000 for the benefit of the transport workers at the docks. It is planned to erect about 1,520 houses, which will be equipped with baths and all the most modern appliances for sanitation and comfort. These buildings will be grouped about a triangular central park.

QUAKER OATS PLANT WILL COST $750,000

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Details have been announced for the factory which the Quaker Oats Co. of Chicago, will build at Memphis. The buildings alone will cost about $500,000 and the equipment of machinery about $250,000. They will include a 500 by 130-foot concrete, steel and brick main structure, a mill for grinding wheat and corn, a concrete elevator with capacity of 150,000 bushels of grain, ten concrete tanks for 200,000 bushels of grain, a mill to be equipped for daily capacity of 500 tons of mixed feed, tanks for 200,000 gallons of molasses, six miles of railway trough yards and plant.

Contract for the buildings has been awarded to the Leonard Construction Co., of Chicago.

WATERLOO'S GLORY HAS DEPARTED

Ypres and Other Battlefields Have Stolen Its Attraction

BRUSSELS, Feb. 26.—The inhabitants of Waterloo, scene of the historic battle, have petitioned the Belgian Senate to relieve their town of all taxes. They cite as reason that tourists have ceased to visit the famous battlefield, depriving them of their biggest pre-war revenue. Ypres and the other battlefields in Flanders, they add, have "stolen Waterloo's attraction and glory."

ARABIC DICTIONARY WEIGHING 100 POUNDS

Arabic dictionaries of 500 years ago which are still the great authority for students in that language, more than surpass the ponderous dictionaries of Europe, even the famous many-volumed etymological index of Larousse, the monumental work of all modern tongues.

The Arabic dictionary most used by scholars familiar with no other language, which was made in the time of the great Caliph Haroun al Raschid, is in 20 quarto volumes and weighs close to 100 pounds. There is a 50-pound, 10-volume abridgement of it, presumably for use at home.

Arabic dictionaries are of so large a size because each of the words that have been familiar in the daily life of the nomad Arabs for centuries has an enormous number of synonyms. The camel, for example, was the sole means of transportation across the thirsty deserts and is characterized in 122 different ways. Above all, the horse and the sword were the two great standbys of the Arab, and more than 200 different words convey ideas of the two Arab essentials. All other familiar words are interchangeable and in constant use.

"THE SPITE BRIDE" AT THE EMPIRE

A JILTED MAN WHO MARRIED FOR SPITE—SEE HOW FATE DEALS WITH THE SITUATION.

"The Spite Bride," a Selznick Picture starring Olive Thomas, comes to the Empire Theatre next Monday.

It's simply a knockout—the best thing that the screen has seen in many moons. It has snap, dash and zest; a human picture of human people presented in a human way. And Olive Thomas was never better in her life. She is the essence of youth—youth at its finest with its simplicity, grace, charm and wistfulness.

"The Spite Bride" is a drama of youthful impulse with just enough thrills to make you a little bit creepy—not enough to make your spine run cold—with enough suspense to keep you interested from start to finish—with enough laughs to give that nice, warm feeling inside and a few tears which give you a pleasant, happy feeling afterward.

When Millicent Lee threw over Billy Swayne for another man, Billy thought the world had come to an end. He did not know what to do so he married Tessa Doyle, a beautiful, sweet, little dancing girl, out of spite. He didn't love her—he hardly knew her. After a few weeks, when he had reaped his satisfaction by making the world think that he had jilted Millicent for Tessa, he had the marriage annulled and proceeded to forget all about the little girl who had been his wife for a few short weeks. But he hadn't reckoned with the hand of fate.

"A NIGHT IN HONOLULU"

Miss Una Carpenter who plays the Hawaiian dancing girl in "A Night in Honolulu," which comes to the Grand Saturday Matinee and Evening is a young woman who has made her way on the stage by careful study. Players are often asked about how to get on the stage, and how to succeed after they have managed to secure an engagement. It seems a question which is always being asked by folks outside the theatre. The inevitable question was put to Miss Carpenter and the interviewer found the young lady had very definite and set ideas on the subject of her profession. The only and practical way for one ambitious to learn the ways of the stage is to "act" said Miss Carpenter. The various schools of acting may be well enough in their way, but my observation of their graduates has been that they are harder to fit into a role than a person who has had no training at all. The Stock Company is the best school which can be found in the country today, while there is little chance for study and characterization still it does give the student the opportunity to study and see the result certain intonations and gestures have on audiences. Getting to know the temper of an audience proved my greatest difficulty. Finding our audience and forcing response from it is of the great secrets of winning success.

FARNUM SCORES HIT IN "HEART STRINGS"

A play of tremendous interest is "Heart Strings," a Wm. Fox production in which William Farnum is the star, which was received with great enthusiasm yesterday at the Allen Theatre.

Pierre Fournel (William Farnum) plays himself into the hearts of the people with his wondrous mastery of the violin. He is a composer of music, big-hearted, kind, loving. His great nature finds expression in his music. Through his love for his young sister and his desire to save her pain, Pierre renounces his opportunity for a splendid career in order to devote his life to the care of the frail young girl.

The story is filled with tense situations. In one big scene the sister's dissolute husband beats and cripples her for refusing to aid him in criminal acts. Goaded beyond endurance, Pierre saves his sister from a life worse than death, just as the door of opportunity has opened for the musician. In the end love comes to the faithful heart-hungry man. Never has a play been presented with more beautiful scenes.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Adjutant Banton, King street, yesterday morning at 11 a.m., when Mr. Stanley Davidson and Miss Kathleen Chard of this city were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The bride wore a pretty blue going away suit of blue serge and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Edith Chard, who was prettily attired in blue silk.

The groom was supported by his brother-in-law, Mr. Frank Evans.

At the conclusion of the ceremony luncheon was served at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank Evans, 130 Rubridge street, after which the happy couple left on the 3:20 train for London and points west.

OBITUARY

ANDREW McKAY.

Andrew McKay, of Findlater, Saskatchewan, who came east to attend the funeral of his father, the late William McKay, and who arrived here with an attack of influenza, passed away on Friday morning last from congestion of the lungs, following that dread complaint. The deceased was in his 35th year, and unmarried. The funeral took place from the family residence, King Street, Havelock, on Monday afternoon, to the Maple Grove Cemetery, services being held at the house at 1.30 p.m., which were largely attended.

JANET McINTYRE.

Janet McIntyre, relict of the late Duncan McIntyre, passed away at her home in Havelock, on Thursday last, in her 77th year. The deceased lady has been ill for some time and her demise was not unexpected. She leaves to mourn her loss two sons and two daughters, Mrs. P. G. Cromar of Toronto, Campbell of Moose Jaw., Sask., and Archie and Annie of town. The funeral took place to the family burying plot at Keene on Monday afternoon.

MRS. CHARLES MATTHEWS.

Mary Elizabeth Whatman, aged 37 years, beloved wife of Chas. Matthews, passed away this morning after a short illness from influenza and pneumonia.

The deceased was born at Uxbridge, Ontario, but had lived in Peterborough for some fifteen years and during her residence here she has made a wide circle of friends. Besides her sorrowing husband she leaves four small children ranging in age from 1 1-2 years to 13 years, also two sisters, Mrs. D. Ainsworth of Winnipeg, and Mrs. Fred Hall of this city, and four brothers, William, Russel and James of this city, and Roy of Campbellford.

The family of the deceased will have the sympathy of the entire community, for the death is made doubly sad as her husband is in the hospital suffering from the same dread disease.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

ELMO R. PATTERSON.

Elmo R. Patterson, second son of Mrs. Emma Patterson and the late Thomas Patterson, died at his home, 51 Dorval Road, Toronto, on Friday of last week, after five days' illness from pneumonia. The deceased, who was born in Havelock and lived here all his boyhood, enlisted with the 39th Battalion in March, 1916. Going overseas, he was transferred to the 116th Battalion, and went to France with that regiment. He was in the trenches only eight hours when he received a bullet wound in the right arm, which confined him to the hospital for eight months. He returned to Canada in March, 1919, and after a vocational training, was employed by Gunns, Ltd., West Toronto.

The funeral took place at Havelock on Tuesday afternoon, on the arrival of the C. P. R. noon express, to the Maple Grove Cemetery, and was conducted under the auspices of Havelock Royal Lodge, No. 286, I.O.O.F., the deceased being a member of Fairview Lodge, No. 440, Toronto. Besides his mother, he is survived by four brothers and two sisters.

Among the relatives who attended the funeral were Mr. Ward Patterson of Peterborough, Mrs. (Dr.) McArthur, of Markdale, Mr. and Mrs. C. Holcombe of Deloro, and Miss Mabel Wilde, nurse-in-training at the Kingston Hospital.

A GAME WITH GROVE SCHOOL

Yesterday afternoon an exciting game of hockey took place in Lakefield, when the Grove school defeated St. Luke's team to the tune of 18-10. It was a good game, although loose on account of the smallness of the ice, which also prevented the Peterborough boys from getting away. The Grove team showed the result of constant practice in their fine combination, while the St. Luke's forwards had a great tendency to 'hog' the puck. For the winners, Hamilton and Mackenzie were the stars, both doing some fine rushing and stick-handling. Bleeker, although small, did good work in the nets. On the forward line, G. Mahjece and Legon were the stars for the losers, while on the defence E. Maniece was particularly good, breaking up some rushes which were sure to add to the Grove score. St. Luke's captain made a mistake in playing him forward part of the time. Another mistake on the St. Luke's team was so much "subbing." The team would get together nicely when a sub would come on, while the Grove played practically the same from beginning to end. The return game on Brock should be more evenly contested.

WILL HELP THE EXCHANGE MARKET

MAY ALSO BENEFIT VICTORY BOND HOLDERS.

Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26. — Securities estimated to total a billion and a quarter dollars will be affected by a recent agreement reached with brokers on the Canadian Stock Exchange.

The securities are Canadian securities, government, municipal and industrial sold in London before the war. Now owing to the collapse in sterling they are being bought in London and dumped on the Canadian market.

The action taken, it is stated, authoritatively here, is necessary if the price of Victory loans is to be stabilized.

Stocks bearing the Dominion Government guarantee, it is asserted, have been bought on the London market at so low a price, owing to the decline in sterling, that they are being offered in Canada at prices to yield as high as 6 to 10%.

CONFIRMS ACTION.

Canadian Press.

MONTREAL, Feb. 26. — An official confirmation of the action to be taken to effect a desired improvement in the stock market situation, which was a result of a conference at Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto, the outcome of which up to yesterday's publication in Toronto, had been regarded as confidential, is given in the following statement by C. A. Bogart, the preseident of the Canadian Bankers' Association:

"The present abnormal British exchange situation lends itself to speculation in Canada in securities held overseas, with the resultant aggravation of Canadian finances. At the request of the Government, in order to minimize and prevent this speculation bankers will take measures to discourage such transactions until conditions improve, and in co-operations with brokers and bond-dealers will use every legitimate means to accomplish the end in view."

STATES FORCES BEAT RETREAT

SOME CHEAP WINE SPILT

IRON, RIVER, Mich., Feb. 26.—Major A. V. Dalrymple, head of the "Camels' squad" of the district of which Chicago is the centre, marched his "army" into Iron River last night and to-day marched it out again.

It was a bloodless invasion. Some rather inferior badinage and a few barrels of cheap wine were spilled, but there was no gore. The great "Rum Rebellion" is over. States-Attorney Martin McDonough and the residents of Iron county appear to be the victors, and the forces of the United States Government, as represented by Major Dalrymple and his sixteen fearless agents, are in retreat. It was a case of marching up hill and marching down again.

Accompanying the Dalrymple army were a score of newspaper correspondents, backed and supported by twenty members of the Michigan constabulary. This formidable force arrived last night and was met by twelve persons—eleven reporters and Patrick O'Brien, a diminutive but important citizen, who hastened to assure the invaders there would be no resistance.

To Vindicate Act.

As soon as Major Dalrymple had established headquarters in a hotel and posted sentries and issued instructions to his lieutenants, he gave out a statement to the effect that he was here to "vindicate the Prohibition Act, to recover the wine taken from Leo Grove, one of his agents, who had seized it, and to arrest three Italians, owners of the wine, and also to arrest to take to Grand Rapids for trial States-Attorney McDonough and his assistants, including five deputy sheriffs and two police officers."

Then the doughty Major and his "army" went to bed to rest up for the strenuous work in hand.

This morning at ten o'clock, they went to the home of the Parish Priest in the basement of which were stored eight and half barrels of wine. The casks were removed to the roadside, and the heads smashed in with a sledge hammer, and the liquor poured into the snow, samples of each barrel first being taken as evidence.

This done the Major and his army went to dinner. At noon Major Dalrymple announced that he would not meet the States Attorney for a conference and thirty minutes later McDonough appeared at the hotel and, as he expressed it, "bearded the lion in his den."

Defies the Major.

He warned Dalrymple that if any attempt was made to arrest him or any of his assistants, or to enter any private homes in search of liquor, he was prepared to arrest and immolate in jail every member of the raiding party. He denied that Iron County was in revolt and defied Major Dalrymple to "start something."

Dalrymple was in a state of mind. At no time did he have a settled programme. In a walk extending one block, he changed his mind four times on the question of remaining here or going back to Chicago.

During the heated colloquy at the hotel, States Attorney McDonough called Major Dalrymple a bar three times and also branded him as a four-flusher of the first rank.

Apparently the authorities at Washington took a fresh tack in the affair, for a telegram arrived at one o'clock for Major Dalrymple notifying him that H. B. Gaylord, Chief of Prohibition forces, had left Washington for Iron River and that District Attorney Myron Walker, of Grand Rapids, was also on his way here.

Fifteen minutes later a telegram to States Attorney McDonough notified him that Assistant Attorney-General E. C. Converse, of Michigan, had started for Iron River.

At four o'clock Major Dalrymple announced that he had important business in Washington, that he and his forces would leave within an hour and that he would issue no more statements.

At 5.50 o'clock the Major and his army departed and Iron River settled back into its former peaceful state of mind, with States Attorney McDonough clearly in charge of the situation—and there the rebellion stands for the present.

SKATING PARTY.

A party of about twenty young people from Park street Baptist church assembled at Mark street rink last night and spent a very pleasant evening skating after which they visited the home of Mr. Harry Campbell, Ware street, and spent the evening in singing and games. Dainty refreshments were served and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

VOL. XLVI NO. 49 PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1920 PRICE TWO CENTS

Made Quick Reply to Wilson's Note

WILL ENTER INTO FRESH NEGOTIATIONS WITH JUGO-SLAV FOREIGN MINISTER--- ITALIAN CONCESSION.

VIEWS EXCHANGED

Canadian Press.

PARIS, Feb. 27. — Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand were able to quickly reply to President Wilson's note relative to the Adriatic through the action of Premier Nitti, who anxious to give proof of his moderation, consented to enter into fresh negotiations with M. Trumbitch, the Jugo-Slav foreign minister, says Pertinax, in the Echo de Paris.

The premiers therefore hastened to make known this new Italian concession to Mr. Wilson, begging him to use his good offices to facilitate an agreement.

The two premiers, the writer adds, also discussed the Italian zone in Asia-Minor, which he says will comprise all the western part of that region with the exception of Smyrna and its environs, which will be reserved to the direct administration of Greece.

The last Greco-Italian exchange of views gave to Italian influence the Meander Valley, while Greece was given Karahissar in the vilayet of Sivas and an important railroad centre on the Bagdad line.

The Supreme Allied Council also considered yesterday morning the answer to the observations made by the Hungarian peace delegates to the treaty submitted to that country by the entente.

Pertinax concludes: "The council, he understands, maintains the treaty terms in their essentials, particularly the clauses relating to territory.

NOV. 11 AS NATIONAL THANKSGIVING DAY

MANITOBA TRUSTEES TO ASK DOMINION GOVERNMENT TO MARK IT.

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Feb. 27. — The Dominion Government will be asked to set aside Nov. 11 of each year as a holiday to be known and observed as a National Thanksgiving Day, in accordance with a resolution passed today by the Manitoba Trustees' Association at the session of the annual convention.

A resolution was passed asking the Provincial Government to increase the grants to school boards in proportion to the advance made in the salaries of teachers. The Department of Education will be asked to establish a bureau for the obtaining and distribution of textbooks and supplies to the schools.

Infant mortality was found to be in direct relation to the income of the father, stated Dr. Helen MacMurchy, Director of Education, in her address on "Child Welfare.' This meant, she said, that a payment of a living wage was a vital thing to the State. In Canada, where the death rate was about 100 infants out of every 1,000 forty of these died within one month of birth. This meant, said Dr. MacMurchy, that the mothers were not cared for. The death rate of mothers was about five out of every 1,000.

DARLINGTON FARMER SUFFERS HEAVY LOSS

BOWMANVILLE, Feb. 27 — Particulars have just come to hand of a serious fire on the farm of Mrs. Joseph Armour, northwest of this town, on Concession 3 of Darlington township, entailing a loss of approximately $15,000.

The splendid large and modern barns and stables on the Armour homestead, occupied by Ambrose J. Armour, son of the owner were completely destroyed, the fire having apparently been the result of a son of the occupant playing with matches in the barn.

Mr. Armour was working in the horse stables under the east barn when he saw smoke coming from the north barn. With the aid of his sister, Miss Armour, all the live stock was saved, excepting one heifer and some hens. In the stables were 27 head of cattle, four horses, 40 pigs, 15 sheep and 70 hens.

Kind neighbours divided the live stock among them and will care for and feed the animals till Mr. Armour can arrange for them.

THE WEATHER

Some poet (his name I do not now recall) speaks of "Winter lingering in the lap of Spring." While Spring may not be here yet, according to the almanac, yet the season should be making its influence felt by this date. This morning the thermometer was 13 degree below zero. No lower was recorded during the night. Milder conditions are on the way.—W. P.

TOTAL TAX RATE MAY BE 36½ MILLS

GRANTS MAKE FRACTIONAL INCREASE AND GARBAGE TAX MUST BE CONSIDERED.

The grants recommended by the Committee of the Whole Council will increase Peterboro's tax rate to 35.6 mills, City Treasurer Adams said this morning.

The first estimate based on the information supplied by some of the spending departments, indicated a rate of 35.35 mills, and Ald. Turner had expressed the opinion that it might be shaved down to 35.

The Committee was confronted with grants that they could scarcely refuse and instead of lopping off the previous practice they increased it by they aid they intend to give the Playgrounds Associations, Industrial Exhibition and other organizations.

Assuming that the rate will be 35.6 mills, there is also the garbage tax of 9/10 of a mill, which will make a total of 36.5 mills.

NO DISCRIMINATION AGAINST SOLDIERS

HOSPITAL INVESTIGATION DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb, 27.—The following Macbeth, who acted as commissioner statement was issued to-day by Judge in investigating the charges made by Harry Lawder at the London Hospital for the Insane.

"Investigation at the Ontario Hospital London, has been adjourned to the twenty-eighth instant, when statements will be taken of a few persons as to some matters of minor importance. I expect that the inquiry will then be closed and my report made to the Lieut.-Governor. Reports of proceedings which appeared in the daily press would give to the public an erroneous opinion of the facts disclosed in the evidence. Charge of widespread thieving in connection with the institution broke down completely. There was no evidence of neglect of duty on the part of officials resulting in wrongs or injuries to patients, or of ill treatment on patients by attendants. No discrimination against returned soldiers has been shown."

POSTOFFICE GIRL MADE HER OWN DRESSES

Now Confesses That She Opened Money Orders.

DETROIT, Feb. 25.—Miss Clara Zaremba, a pretty 18-year-old Post office clerk here, confessed to Post-office inspectors to-day that because her weekly salary of $32.40 was insufficient for her needs, she had been rifling money letters. It is said she has been opening letters addressed to time-payment houses and removing the remittances.

Other employees of the Post-office had wondered how Miss Zaremba was able to dress so well on her salary and had given her credit for being wonderfully economical.

"I make them all myself," she told her friends, and now they believe she did.

ITALIAN PRESS TAKES A MORE HOPEFUL VIEW OF SITUATION IN THE ADRIATIC

"The Time is Coming When Wilson Will No Longer Influence the Allies," Declares the Giornale D'Italia---Italy Will Continue to Occupy the Armistice Line.

(United Press.)

ROME, Feb. 27.—Time will settle the Adriatic dispute since America's interest in European affairs is decreasing constantly, the "Giornale D'Italia" said to-day.

All the newspapers took a more hopeful view of the Adriatic situation, feeling that Italy's position is not as hopeless as at first appeared, following President Wilson's Adriatic note.

The time is coming when Wilson will no longer influence the Allies, the "Giornale D'Italia" continued.

Italy will continue to occupy the armistice line, the newspaper said, pointing out that Italian support is becoming more and more indispensable to France and Great Britain because of the developments in the Russian and Turkish situations and the "German Peril." Franco-British-Italian accord already is assuming concrete form, the "Giornale D'Italia" asserted.

WESTERN CANADA'S OLDEST MAN DEAD

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 27. — The death of Allan McDougall, the oldest man in Western Canada, occurred at Portage La Prairie, Man., yesterday. The deceased, who was in his hundredth and first year, was one of the real pioneers of the west. Born in Scotland in 1819, the same year as the late Queen Victoria, he emigrated to Ontario and later in 1878 moved to Manitoba, residing at Minnedosa for a number of years. In 1884 he moved to the Moosomin district, where he has since lived.

MINISTER WINKS SUNDAY BASEBALL

IN DAYTON, OHIO, THE POOR MAN HAS SAME PRIVELIGES AS RICH MAN.

(Special to The Examiner.)

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 27.— In addressing the Chamber of Commerce banquet last night Rev Dr. Frank Garland, Welfare Commissioner of Dayton, Ohio, told of the splendid community spirit which exists in Dayton coincident with its rebuilding after the flood. A great factor is the recreation opportunities afforded the pople.

"Sundays," said he, "we have our baseball games, thousands of folks quietly enjoying themselves. I don't encourage Sunday baseball, but as a minister I wink at it. I do not offer any objection. Why should it be that the rich man is allowed to have his golf on the Sabbath why should we deprive the poor man of his Sunday baseball when he has infinitely less time for recreation? I don't say it's right, but under the circumstances I cannot say it's wrong."

FRENCH TROOPS FIGHT TURKS

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 27. — Official despatches on the situation at Marash, in the Vilayet of Aleppo Syria, where French troops have been engaged in a severe struggle with Turkish forces, announce that the French succeeded in extricating their contingents after very hard fighting. The French evidently withdrew hastily, as they were compelled to leave the wounded, who will be cared for by the American Red Cross. A message from the same source confirms reports of massacres of Armenians in the Marash section, but does not substantiate the statement from Armenian quarters that several thousand were slaughtered.

GUARANTEE FOR WHEAT GROWERS

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 27.— Minister of Agriculture announces that the Government has decided to guarantee the wheat growers of the United Kingdom one hundred shillings per quarter for their produce next year. The Minister says the government is gravely concerned over the decline in the wheat production of the United Kingdom, which is attributable to state control and consequent absence of free market, the result being that almost any other crop gives the farmer a better return.

Debated Turkish Question

TURKISH FINANCES WILL BE PLACED UNDER INTERNATIONAL CONTROL--A BITTER DEBATE IN HOUSE.

DIVIDING SPOILS

(United Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 27.— The Council of Premiers has decided definitely to award the Smyrna and Adrianople districts to Greece for economic exploitation, it was understood to-day.

The Council also decided, it was understood, that Turkish finances will be placed under International control.

A bitter debate on the Turkish question featured yesterday's session in the House of Commons.

Premier Lloyd George answering arguments put forward by Lord Robert Cecil who declared the Allies should seize this opportunity to expel the Turk from Europe, pointed out that pressure from India had been largely responsible for Great Britain's decision to allow the sublime porte to remain in Constantinople.

400 FT. CONCRETE SPAN OVER THE MISSISSIPPI

IS FEATURE OF NEW 1032 FOOT BRIDGE AT MINNEAPOLIS.

A recent issue of the Engineering Record includes an illustrated article describing the Franklin avenue concrete bridge over the Mississippi at Minneapolis. Its total length is 1032 feet with a long central span of 400, two side spans of 199 feet each, and two smaller spans of 55 feet each.

This bridge is 62 feet longer than the famous Risorgimento bridge across the Tiber at Rome.

This undertaking, which is not yet complete, will probably be of interest to those citizens who have questioned the feasibility of Peterboro's 235 foot span, apart from the possible effects of the more extensive range in temperature of the local climate.

TORONTO REACHES 500,000 FIGURE

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—Toronto has a new "official population." While the assessors found 499,278 people in the city, the strip south of Bloor street, from High Park to Jane, has now been annexed, and the population therein must now be added to that of the rest of the city. But it numbers only 17. The official "pop" is, therefore, 499,295, at which figure it will stand until this year's assessment is completed, when it will be found to be far over five hundred thousand.

MONTREAL, Q., Feb. 27.—Effect of bring the government control of sugar prices is as yet uncertain. Big shipments from Cuba, however, will ease the situation in the near future in that respect.

Drug Cases Heard In Police Court

TWO OF THE CASES WERE DISMISSED--OTHER CASES REMANDED UNTIL MONDAY NEXT.

THE EVIDENCE

Three cases were heard by Magistrate Dumble in this morning's Police Court in conection with the drug practice which it is alleged has been going on in Peterboro for some time. The three cases involved the alleged user of the drug, the druggist who filled the prescription and the doctor.

The cases are the outcome of the investigation carried on by the police force for some time but the case around which the other two revolve was dismissed by the Magistrate.

The first one on the docket involved Mr. C. M. Moncur, a local druggist. Mr. Moncur was charged with selling morphine or salts of morphine to Joseph O'Brien, neglecting to make a proper record in a suitable book of the name and address of the physician signing the prescription, the date of filling of such prescription and the name of the person for whose use the prescription is granted contrary to the Opium and Drug Act.

Mr. Moncur was represented by G. N. Gordon, who pleaded not guilty to the charge.

The first witness called by the Crown was Acting Detective George Cookman, who told of being instructed by the chief to examine all drug books in the city and how the book of Mr. Moneur was examined.

This book a much be-thumbed and antique looking volume, was produced in court. Cookman said that some of the entries in this "poison" book could not be easily understood and names were not properly entered.

An entry for Joseph O'Brien for heroin, was found for Feb. 14, several blanks occuring where the address of the purchaser and other necessary information should have been.

Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton wanted to use other charges besides the one specified but Mr. Gordon objected at once to this claiming that he had prepared only the one case [illegible] charge," he said. The Crown Attorney would not hear of this so Mr. Gordon requested an adjournment in order to get the case prepared if he persisted in wanting to use more than on instance. The magistrate made an adjournment till Monday next, March 1, and agreed with Mr. Gordon when he requested full particulars of the charge a day or so before, ordering Mr. Gordon to be given full particulars two days before.

The "Poison" Work.

A little diversion [illegible] Mr. Gordon and Ch[illegible] crossed swords over the [illegible] hook, but the matter [illegible] smoothed over.

Dr. Carmichael, the physician involved in the case was charged with during February giving prescription to O'Brien, when they were not required for medicinal purposes contrary to the Opium and Drug Act. Dr. Carmichael was represented by Mr. J. Wearing, who also asked for an adjournment as the charge had, like Mr. Moncur's been changed to the plural. The case was adjourned till Monday.

The last case and the one around which the other two revolve, was then dealt with.

Joseph O'Brien, a local man was charged with having in his possession on Feb. 17 without lawful reason morphine or salts of morphine, contrary to the Opium and Drug Act. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for Mr. O'Brien.

Detective Cookman was the first witness and stated that on Feb. 19 he saw the accused on Hunter street and told him the Chief wanted to see him. That afternoon he appeared at the Police station and was arrested after interviewed by the Chief.

He [illegible] asked if he had any of the dope in his possession.

"That generally means morphine," said the Magistrate.

He replied that he had used it all up on the 17th.

Cookman told how O'Brien said to him downstairs that he had been getting heroin from different doctors.

Much interest is being evinced in the meeting in political circles here.

THE PIGEON LAKE FLOATING BRIDGE

PETERBORO DEPUTATION WAITED ON GOVERNMERT OFFICIALS.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 27.—The deputation of [illegible] which waited upon the government this morning urging the government aid for the construction of a birdge at Pigeon Creek, Victoria County, received a promise from the government which seemed eminently satisfactory to the delegation. It was the impression of the deputation following the interview that the Government would be willing to build as much of the proposed bridge as the dam has raised the water. This according to County Treasurer Elliott and other members of the deputation, was most gratifying. The deputation, which consisted of representatives of the City of Peterborough, the County of Victoria and the County Council, received most attentive hearing from [illegible], representing the government and was introduced by J. H. Burnham, M.P. for Peterborough West and J. A. Sexsmith, City Clerk Armstrong presented a comprehensive statement of the reasons why Government aid was solicited for the construction of the Pigeon Creek bridge. The Government promised to send engineers to survey the proposed work at a very early date.

(Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. — A large deputation of prominent citizens of Peterboro and Victoria counties, waited on the Minister and other officials of the Department of Public Works in the Chateau Laurier this morning, with a view of impressing upon them the great necessity of a new bridge over Pigeon Lake in Peterboro.

It was estimated by the members who spoke that the bridge desired--which would be of the floating type and one mile and a quarter in length --would cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The chief speakers for the deputation were Mayor A. A. McIntyre of Peterboro, Ald. G. Phelan, S. R. Armstrong City Clerk o Peterboro; Geo. Nicholl, Warden of Peterboro County, and Edward M. Elliott, County Clerk.

They pointed to the great danger of the present structure over Pigeon Lake, which was unsafe for any kind of traffic. They urged the government to consider the building of a new bridge without delay, contending that as the original one one had been necessary owing to the operations of the government in the vicinity of the lake, it was up to the department to maintain a new one.

The Minister promised consideration of the application, assurine the members that engineers would be sent to Pigeon Lake without delay.

EXTRAVAGANT EUGENIE.

The Empress Boasted That She Never Wore a Gown Twice.

It is true that the cost of women's dress has so increased that it is not given to the many to be as truly elegant as their grandmothers were able to be at comparatively small cost. But, then, those were the days when an elaborate ball gown consisted of yards of flounces of tarlatan or some other light and uncostly material.

Empress Eugenie, it is said, declared she never wore the same gown twice. She it was, by the way, who made Worth, the renowned Paris couturier, famous. The great luxury in those days was to wear several ball gowns during the course of a single ball. Dressing rooms were provided, and the ladies retired to reappear resplendent and as fresh as at the beginning of the evening. The gowns of the day, which were dimsy of train and spread by crinolines, suffered much from an evening's wear; hence these wasteful ways.

There is a tale of the lovely Empress Elizabeth of Austria which recounts her appearing at a function in a white tulle gown, flounced and ample, decorated with garlands of real camellias, and changing both gown and camellias every now and then to preserve the impression of absolute and uncrumpled freshness.

Bird Stories.

A German scientific journal published in 1897 a story to the effect that a golden eagle shot in that year at Esseg, Slavonia, was found to have a ring about its neck engraved on which were the arms of a Slavonian family and the date 1646.

In 1793 the Gentleman's Magazine told about a hawk, captured when flying in the vicinity of the Cape of Good Hope and taken by an Indian ship to England, which wore a gold collar inscribed:

"This goodlie hawk doth belong to his Most Excellent Majesty James, King of England, A. D., 1610."

If this bird really escaped from England in the reign of James 183 years elapsed between its escape and its recapture, and it had flown a distance of 6,500 miles away from its former owner.

Have a Cheery Kitchen.

One should bear in mind that the kitchen is the engine room of the home, and the comfort and happiness of the family depend upon its running smoothly and well. Lack of system, inadequate equipment, inconvenient arrangement of furniture and utensils and the total absence of beauty and cheer are the things that make drudgery of housework. Servants are as susceptible to surroundings as their mistresses, and the little aids to housework, such as cheerful aspect and pretty furnishings, do much to secure a more loyal interest and co-operation. A harmonious environment in a kitchen will go a long way toward making a happy home.—Harriet Sisson Gillespie in Mother's Magazine.

Milton and Aerial Warfare.

Milton had a prophetic vision of way aeroplanes and Zeppelins when he wrote:

The towers of heaven are filled
With armed watch that renders all access
Impregnable; oft on the bordering deep
Encamp their legions, or with obscure wing
Scout far and wide into the realm of night,
Scorning surprise.

What if . . . this firmament
Of hell should spout her cataracts of fire
One day upon our heads?

Modern war is a very apt example of fitting after events to a prophecy.

Sure to Grow.

"What you said about Jack isn't worth repeating."

"It's young yet, give it time."—Exchange.

The future is purchased by the present.—Johnson.

The Chippewayan Woman.

Ideals may vary, but it seems that the Chippeway Indians also had a well rounded conception of "woman's sphere." "Women were made to labor," an old chief told the traveler Hearne. "One of them can carry or haul as much as two men can do. They also patch our tents and make and mend our clothing—in fact, there is no such thing as traveling any considerable distance without their assistance."

A Change.

"We must economize," he said peremptorily.

"I'm so glad!" his wife exclaimed.

"You take the announcement more good naturedly than usual."

"Yes; it's pleasant to hear you use the plural pronoun. Ordinarily when there is any economizing needed you expect me to do it all."

Feminine Confidence.

"I shall never scold my husband again for spending so much time at the club."

"Tell me about it."

"Well, last night a burglar got into the house, and my husband knocked him senseless with a poker. I've heard several men speak of him as a poker expert. He has evidently been practicing at the club for just such an emergency."

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural colour and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural colour and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

INCREASE GRANT TO CONTINUATION SCHOOLS

More generous assistance to the continuation schools of the Province was promised by Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education, to a deputation representing practically all the continuation schools of the rural districts, which waited upon the Ministry yesterday at Toronto.

The spokesman for the deputation, introduced by Rev. Father McAuley, of Ennismore, all emphasised the urgent necessity for increasing the grants if the Continuation Schools were to continue to do the work for which they were established. The request was made that the present grants be doubled and that the Education Act be amended this session to require the County Councils to contribute to Continuation Schools in their counties, double the amount of the Government grants.

At the present time the grants by County Councils vary according to the mood of the County Councils. In some districts the Councils equal the Government grants, in some they pay more, in many less, while in a few no county grant is made at all.

ACCUSE GIRLS OF STEALING AUTO

ONE OF THOSE CHARGED IN DETROIT HAILS FROM LONDON, ONTARIO.

MUNROE, Mich., Feb. 27.—Modishly garbed in a dark green fur-trimmed coat and small black turban, Miss Catherine Davidson of London, Ontario, appeared in the Justice Court here this afternoon in company with Miss Cecile Vester, and both pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving away an automobile without the owner's consent. They were bound over for trial at the next term of the Circuit Court and released on $500 bail. The Vester girl was mixed up in the J. Stanley Brown murder mystery at Mount Clemens two months ago.

The driver of the auto which is alleged to have been driven away by the girls told the court that he had been slugged by Louis Baker, who was in the company of Miss Davidson and Miss Vester.

The Davidson girl freely admitted having seen the assault, but declared neither she nor her companion had anything to do with it.

HOW LANGUAGE IS ENRICHED

New Words and Phrases Most Frequently Have Their Origin in the Patter of Thieves.

It is necessary that the language of a nation should be refreshed and strengthened now and then by the introduction of new words and phrases, and, as befits democracy, these spring from the soil; not one of them descends upon us from the Olympian heights, observes the New York Herald. Neither scientific nor scholastic bodies ever enrich the common tongue with expressions so apt and full of meaning that they gain immediate and enduring vogue. The slang of the undergraduate collegian is pitifully inept and meager.

For anything that can give a new zest to the vulgate we must look to the stage, the gambling house and even to the opium den and thieves' resort. Returning soldiers will certainly bring with them much of the argot of field and trench of which "cooties" is a sample. The word "joint" as applied to iniquitous and other resorts comes from the joint of bamboo from which an opium pipe is made. "Dope" was originally the slang term for opium—hence "dope" and "dopy." Innumerable are the verbal products of the gambling house. Among the commonest of them are "four flushing," "keeping tab," "standing pat" and "down to cases." To "give the office" or "office" some one is a very old bit of London thieves' slang.

The cause of all this is quite apparent to the thinking mind. Persons of education and cultivation have a vocabulary of their own sufficiently large and varied to enable them to express themselves without going beyond its limits. Those who are lacking in education sometimes coin words in an emergency that prove so expressive that they acquire general currency.

Submarine in Warfare.

In spite of the fact that the British have some steam-driven 2,700-ton submarines, capable of a surface speed of from 20 to 25 knots, the submarine, as a weapon of war, is too slow and too blind when it is submerged to be considered a serious weapon of naval warfare. When it can see, electrically, to a distance of ten to fifteen miles, while it is submerged so deeply as to be invisible to the air scout, and when it can steam 20 knots submerged it will dominate the naval situation.—Scientific American.

BROWN WAS FAST GOING DOWN HILL

ABOUT TO QUIT WORK BUT TAKES TANLAC AND FEELS FINE NOW.

"I told my wife one day that if I didn't find something pretty soon that would help me I would just have to quit work," said Bertram Brown, familiarly known to his friends as "Bert", who is employed by the Piercery Supply Company, and resides at 46 Maynard street, Halifax, N.S., while describing his condition before taking Tanlac, continuing, he said:—

"For the past two years I suffered from the worst sort of stomach trouble, and finally became so weak and felt so tired all the time I could hardly get about. I had no appetite to speak of and could not eat the least thing without simply forcing it down, and for a long time I could not even do this at breakfast and would go for weeks without eating a single mouthful in the morning, for I knew if I did I would suffer from it all day long. What little I did manage to eat would sour and ferment and I would bloat terribly and my heart would palpitate dreadfully. I also had such cramping pains they would almost draw me double and such a burning sensation that it felt like there was a coal of fire in my stomach. I would have such severe attacks of heartburn they would nearly drive me wild, I would have blinding headaches and would sometimes become so dizzy I would just have to catch hold of something to keep from falling. I was extremely nervous and could get but little sleep. I would roll and toss from one side of the bed to the other all night long, and would get up in the morning completely tired out. I also suffered from constipation and was simply in a bad fix every day, and for two months before I started taking Tanlac there was hardly a minute when I was free from pain and I was so weak I could hardly stand on my feet.

"One day I was talking to a friend of mine and telling him how bad I felt, when he told me how much good Tanlac has done him and advised me to go right down to the drug store and get a bottle, as he felt sure it would do me good also. Well, I took his advice, and I hadn't taken but a few doses when I could notice it was helping me. I have taken six bottles altogether and I am entirely over my stomach trouble. I have a fine appetite and never suffer any bad after effects from anything I eat. My nerves are in such good condition I sleep as sound as a log all night long and always get up feeling greatly refreshed. I am regaining my lost weight and strength and my work is a pleasure to me. I have not had a headache since I began taking Tanlac, and never become dizzy and I think Tanlac is the greatest medicine ever put on sale in Canada and I am always recommending it whenever I get an opportunity."

HIGH SALARIED POSITIONS ARE NOT PICKED OFF EVERY BUSH

AMBITION INSPIRED BY MAGAZINE ADVERTISEMENTS OFTEN PROVES PERNICIOUS, W. R. BREYFOGLE HAS OBSERVED—INTERESTING ADDRESS TO BOARD OF TRADE.

EMPHASIZES NEED OF HOUSES

"Organization is the collection of men and materials for service or production said Mr. W. R. Breyfogle in beginning his address on "Organization" before the Board of Trade last night at the last of the weekly meetings which have all been successful and much enjoyed by the members.

Mr. J. J. Turner presided introducing Mr. Breyfogle. President Turner commended him highly for his work on the Board of Trade and expressed much pleasure at having him address the meeting.

Mr. Breyfogle briefly thanked the president for his kind words before commencing his address. Considerable curiosity had been aroused by a large anatomical chart showing the different parts of man's anatomy but its purpose was at once made clear when Mr. Breyfogle stated that the human system embodies the best system of organization anywhere.

The speaker compared the human organization with industrial organizations. "One of the essentials in the human organization is that each organ will synchronise with the other organs" he said, and went on to show how this was true of a railway where everything depends on the men, materials and every detail functioning perfectly and as in the human body. If they do not the whole system is disrupted.

Now sickness affects the organization in which we work and how this in turn affects the municipality and even the nation to say nothing of the distress caused in the home and home life were all emphasized by Mr. Breyfogle." The pride of service is not felt by some men he said and told of the way some men throw themselves into their work, the finished parts reflecting their very souls while others take no interest in it

The feeding of the human system resembles the feeding of an organization for just as certain kinds of food cannot be assimilated so certain classes of men cannot be assimilated into industries and Mr. Breyfogle went on to place the root of all industrial upheavals on men being in the wrong organization. "Fortunately Canada has been very free from such troubles unlike some countries" he said. Continuing Mr. Breyfogle said that we cannot overestimate the physically fit whether it be a man or a machine and offered elimination as the only cure if it wasn't a profitable investment.

In referring to the need for loyalty of all connected with an organization he said that it could not be overvalued, or the dependence that can be placed on a loyal employee.

Mr Breyfogle termed the brain "the office" of the human organization and went on to outline how if the brain became inferior to the physical, man is degraded. This does not mean that the other organs are not important. They are all important and each small part must function in accordance with the rest. In speaking of vaccination he referred to the Canada during the last year when the I.W.W. and O.B.U. crept in from the country to the south and caused so much suffering but finally law and order prevailed.

The cost of injury to the organization was dwelt on, the speaker claiming that no one could be hurt without passing it on and others feeling the result. The moral injuries are also transferred through the whole neighborhood. "The criminal statistics are a revelation," Mr. Breyfogle stated.

No Difference in Equality.

"The relative importance of units in any organization is only relative" said the speaker and continuing gave his personal opinion "I don't consider any difference in equality between the man in the office and the man in the factory. "The difference is more imaginative than real." The thing we should all strive for is results, not dollars and cents, which come as a natural sequence to these results. The importance of building men into an organization was dwelt on and the necessity for discarding unfit material and putting them on the right track. Mr. Breyfogle said that he had often had a man who had been discharged come back and thank him for putting him where he belonged.

The importance of provisions for clean environment and surroundings for employees was emphasized by Mr. Breyfogle. "You can't have poor surroundings and poor conditions in any sense without making the organizaton inferior and the speaker urged the necessity for good healthy recreation for the employees.

The difference between contentment and satisfaction was explained. "We should all be content with our work but we should never be satisfied with it and always striving to improve it. Personal acquaintance with all employees no matter what their position was strongly urged as it served as a mutual bond between the employer and employee." You must be genuinely interested in the men's affairs—not superficial interest" added Mr. Breyfogle.

The blessing Peterboro had enjoyed during the past year by lack of industrial unrest was eulogized by the speaker who advised when trouble was apparent to get it cleared away, the sooner the better.

Guiding Ambition.

In referring to the training of young men the speaker said that he had no use for a man without ambition but that sometimes there was a superfluity of it. This ambition is largely roused up by the glaring advertisements in magazines of correspondence schools offering $3,000 and up jobs after a short course by mail. These pernicious advertisements are well known to the public and attract many young men by their roseate promises and get-rich-quick propensities but finally after a long study and a loss of perhaps one hundred dollars they discover that such positions are not on the bush to be picked off over night and can only be reached by proper application and regular promotion.

Mr. Breyfogle spoke on these courses remarking that it was funny that the teachers who instructed them did not pick up some of these high paid jobs.

In speaking of the home organization Mr. Breyfogle called it the basis of all organizations and on which all other organizations are dependent.

Municipal Organization.

The municipal organization was touched on only briefly by the speaker who remarked on two things vital to the life of our city. One of these is the necessity for better transportation facilities and the other is the necessity for more houses. The former he left to the new Council hoping they would at least reach a decision on it. He summed up the housing situation in one sentence. "The manufacturers are opposed to any new industries coming to Peterboro till more houses are built, for the men have to have good decent houses." He said that if they had proper transportation and housing facilities all the plants we want could be induced to come here

Mr. Breyfogle paid the police force a striking compliment when he said that no city in United States or Canada had such an efficient one. "I don't see how they keep the crime down with such a small force." The Board of Police Commissioners were highly commended and the fire department was also in the bouquet line. Mr. Breyfogle referring to the decrease in fires in the last year and the efficiency of the department.

In conclusion the Board of Trade received the praise of Mr. Breyfogle for the way it has pushed Peterboro and helped to advance the city's interests in every way.

Mr. Turner expressed the appreciation of the members in hearing Mr. Breyfogle's address remarking jocularly that he was glad to know that his own anatomy had something to do with his business. Before closing he asked the members to keep in mind the annual election on March 2nd, urging them all to use their franchise for the election of the very best men to its council.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

THE USE OF FLOWERS.

A suggestion made by a woman reader of the Examiner in regard to the use of flowers as a mark of respect in connection with funerals contains so much sound sense that it is passed on for the benefit of other readers. The generally adopted custom of sending funeral wreaths and other floral tributes, that are left at the cemetery to perish in a few hours, seems to her a practice that might will be changed. Why not send the flowers when a person is ill or failing to do this why not wait until after the funeral and then send a floral tribute to the home of the bereaved relatives as a token of sympathy and affection? The flowers would serve a more useful purpose in either case than under the system now in use by which beautiful flowers are left to die in the cold.

JUDGE ROBSON'S RESIGNATION

There is an element of mystery about the resignation of Judge Robson from the position of chairman of the Board of Commerce that seems to call for an explanation. Various causes were assigned for the action of Judge Robson. Difficulties with the Civil Service Commission, and internal fiction were mentioned in Ottawa despatches as the reason for his retirement. Yesterday, however, the former Board of Commerce chairman declared that he had resigned because he did not believe that price fixing and profit restrictions on the products of the country should be continued in the time of peace, however, necessary they might have been during the war.

On its face the explanation of Judge Robson would be accepted as a legitimate reason for his retirement. If he were not in sympathy with the policy of the Board there was indeed nothing else that he could consistently do. But the public is no doubt mystified at the declaration of Messrs. O'Connor and Murdock, the other Commissioners that the reason given by Judge Robson is not his real reason for retiring. What was the real reason? The public is entitled to an explanation and the Acting-Premier seems the person to whom they have the right to look for the information.

ENTERTAINING THE DELEGATES

The Great War Veterans' convention will be held in Peterboro in less than three weeks time. There is thereby only a comparatively short period in which to arrange for the accommodation of the 500 or 600 delegates who are expected and the response from the general public in answer to the appeal for assistance has not been as spontaneous as could be wished. During the past few days however, a number of citizens have kindly agreed to throw open their homes during the convention for the entertainment of delegates. They realize that the reputation of Peterboro as a hospitable city is at stake, that there is a debt of gratitude to the men who fought that should be fulfilled in every way possible, and that acting as hosts to some of the delegates is after all a small return for the services rendered by the visitors. The delegates will be representative of the finest manhood of the province, guests whom any citizen should be proud to entertain. Among the best known visitors will be found such men as Principal Taylor of Queen's University, Col. A. T. Hunter of Toronto, Rev. Capt. Jeakins of Brantford, President of the Ontario G.W.V.A., Col. E. D. O'Flynn of Belleville and many other representative citizens of Ontario. The best that Peterboro can offer should be forthcoming and during the next few days there should be enough billets offered to set at ease the minds of the local veterans on the question of accommodation. Citizens who are in a position to help should notify the Peterboro headquarters of the G.W.V.A. as soon as possible

AN EXPERIMENT IN SUGAR.

The Board of Commerce, in order to demonstrate to the public that its work is effective and its method of profit-fixing beneficial to the consumer, is making a simple test by abolishing the fixed price of sugar. In announcing this action a statement from the Commissioners says:

"This Board deems that it will be in the ultimate benefit of the public that a test or demonstration be now made as to whether or not the orders of this Board have been effective and especially as to whether or not profit control is possible or beneficial and for the further purpose of discovering whether the demand made on behalf of retailers of sugar for liberty to take a profit of twenty per cent. upon sales of sugar, if acceded to, would have been taken advantage of, this Board in order to provide such test or demonstration, has decided to entirely cease control over profits on sugar."

The result of the experiment will be watched with as much interest by the public as by the Board. Up to yesterday the price of granulated sugar in Canada was 16c. per pound, plus freight, while in New York State as high as 30c. a pound is being paid, the advantage in favor of the Canadian consumer being due to the activities of the Board of Commerce. Now that the restrictions have been lifted, the public will be able to judge by the developments of the next days just how beneficial are the operations of the Board. The Toronto Star declares the Board of Commerce is the one friend the public has. Perhaps the test that is being tried now will show that there is considerable truth in the Star's tribute.

FRENCH ARMY OF A MILLION

France, despairing of the ratification by the American Senate of the Peace Treaty in such form that Article X. of the covenant of the League of Nations will afford her protection against "external aggression," and fearing that has nothing to hope from the agreement between the United States and her Government signed at Versailles June 28, 1919, obligating the United States to go immediately to her assistance if Germany in certain contingencies attacks er before the covenant is in working order, is preparing to maintain an army of 1,000,000 men to defend herself. She has no assurance of help from any quarter, not even from Great Britain. The Anglo-French agreement, similar in binding terms to the treaty with France which President Wilson sent to the Senate on July 29, 1919, is conditioned upon ratification of the Franco-American agreement by the Senate at Washington.

Conscription ceases in Great Britain on March 31 and Winston Churchill, Secretary of War, told the House of Commons on Monday that after that date the strength of the British Army would be 220,000, exclusive of troops serving in India. Therefore, taking counsel of her dread of German designs, France, advised by Marshal Foch, feels herself being forced into the decision to organize and hold prepared for service an army of pre-war strength. In 1913 the French field army consisted of 800,000 combatants, supported by a reserve of 500,000. A committee of the Chamber of Deputies will take up this momentous question today, when the calling up of the class of 1920 will be considered. The difficulties of maintaining such a force as 1,000,000 men are physical as well as financial. Of the French population of 40,000,000 before the war 1,700,000 men capable of bearing arms were killed in the great struggle, and 1,000,000 more were disabled by wounds and incapacitated for either military or industrial service. How can France train and equip for war 1,000,000 men without breaking the back of industry at a time when competition with the Germans, with their untouched factories and unravaged fields, must be so painfully strenuous? How could France, with so many cumulative obligations to meet, stand erect under the financial burden?

What peace and security, what surcease from anxiety, has France gained by the victory of the Allies if she must support an armed camp at the expense of progress in industry and trade, in the arts and sciences? Why talk of the saving of civilization if such things must be? It is lamentable that so much blood was shed and so much treasure lost if battle must still hold first place in Frenchmen's thoughts and their calculation must always be the strength of the armies that Germany is organizing secretely for a war of revenge.

This fear of France, this desperate design to keep armed at all points, drawing upon the last available youth who can carry a rifle, is one of the first fruits of the failure of the American Senate to ratify the Peace Treaty and accept the covenant with rational interpretations, however unnecessary. The opportunity was presented, and can still be availed of, to join our allies in making war on a large scale practically impossible among the nations. Not "entangling alliances" are proposed, but an association of interests and responsibilities that should preclude such embarrassments and assure for generations the free play of industry and the practice of peaceful pursuit. Can it be doubted if nations like France are to be driven into expansion of armaments that war will again desolate the earth at no distant time, and that the United States may find itself once more involved in a struggle that will take dreadful toll of its manhood and consume again its resources in still greater volume? What escape is there from the conclusion that if the Peace Treaty is rejected and the covenant refused America must maintain for her own protection a formidable fleet and a great army always ready?—New York Times.

THE APPLE BARREL

This is the month when apples even Northern Spys, begin to lose both in flavor and firmness.

Many housewives are complaining that apples are not keeping well, and asking a recipe which will prevent the decay. Keeping apples in a dark, cool place will help. But we must remember that the season has advanced. We cannot reasonably expect the fruit to keep as it kept in mid-winter.

The best thing to do with apples which show signs of spoiling is use them up. Well made apple sauce is the equal of any peach, quince, or berry preserve you can produce from the fruit cellar. Is there any pie more of a general favorite than an apple pie?

There are few more efficacious recipes than that of Mrs. Mulloy.

"Is it how to kape apples from spoiling You're askin'?" cried Mrs. Mulloy,
"Sure 'tis aisy as winking or nodding
To the woman that's blissed wid a boy."

Baked Apple Dumplings.

Put three cups boiling water in a baking pan on top of stove, add to water the following; One-fourth cup butter, one cup sugar, two tablespoons maple syrup; flavor with cinnamon and nutmeg. Then prepare a batter as follows: One cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder, pinch of salt, half-cup chopped apples and enough milk to make a stiff batter. Drop batter by spoonful into the above mixture, which should be boiling, and put in hot oven and bake twenty minutes.

RECTOR TURNS DOWN $1000 SALARY BOOST

TORONTO, Feb. 26.—St. Simon's Anglican vestry, at an adjourned annual meeting, voted an increase to the rector, Rev. Dr. E. C. Cayley, of $1,000, which Dr. Cayley promptly declined to accept. His present stipend is $3,000, and the congregation proposed to make it $4,000. Dr. Cayley said he did not feel that he could accept the increase, as he had recently made an appeal on behalf of the current expenses of the church.

ROLLING PIN BUSINESS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Ball players may storm and raise ructions on the ball field and they may disobey their managers at times, but in their own home they are like any other married citizen. Heinie Groh, it was been reported, is a holdout. As a matter of fact, Heinie's wife is the holdout, and Heinie is only acting as the spokesman or middleman.

Groh recently returned his contract to President Garry Herrmann of the champion Cincinnati Reds, demanding more money. Herrmann figures that he can pay no more than the amount stipulated in little Heinie's contract. Enter Mrs. Groh, manager of the Groh household.

A despatch from Cincinnati last night had it that the directress has forbidden Heinie to sign the contract until Mr. Herrmann comes across with more money. And, as yet, Heinie hasn't dared to sign.

350,000 LIVES SAVED.

Washington, D.C.—Surgeon-General Rupert Blue's New Year's greeting to the American people is the announcement that in the last twenty years it has been possible to reduce the general death rate in this country from 17.6 to 14.2 per 1,000. Had the conditions of twenty years ago prevailed during the year just passed, Surgeon-General Blue says, 350,000 more persons would have died than actually did die.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

EVERETT EXPLAINS HIS IDEAS.

CHAPTER LVIII.

Mrs. Barr came three times a week. I had studied French in school, and at home with Mother, who was a good French scholar. But I was very rusty, and Everett was anxious I should become expert.

"I shall take you abroad when I go, and it will be a great pleasure to you if you can talk French fluently." He invariably put things that way—as a coming pleasure to me.

Aside from the French, we read the poets and standard writers. At times it was horribly dull, and I spent most of the time yawning behind my hand. At other times I became interested in spite of myself and the time slipped by quickly.

I never liked Mrs. Barr, never changed my mind about her. When ever I expressed an opinion, or said anything which showed any knowledge or cleverness, she always looked surprised, altho she made no remark. It was as if someone she thought very ignorant had stumbled upon some bit of knowledge. It was not at all flattering.

I spoke of it to Everett. He treated it very lightly.

"Mrs. Barr is extremely erudite. Surface knowledge means nothing to her. That is why I wanted her to take charge of you. She knows what she teaches, can explain intelligently everything you should know about the different subjects with which I wish you to become conversant."

He was especially anxious I should know ancient history, as well as the modern. In school, history had been my bugbear. I really was woefully ignorant of other countries,' their manners and customs and even the more vital facts concerning them. And do my best, I could not be particularly interested in what Alexander the Great or Nero did. I cared nothing about Old World wars, their defeats or conquests. But it did no good to object. Everett was all the more firm, insisted the more that I should devote long hours to this reading when I longed to be out of doors, or with Alice Sloane, and her niece.

Everett himself was a perfect mine of information upon all subjects, it seemed to me. But while I admired him for it, I used to think that when I was as old as he was I would be that way too, and probably enjoy it. Forty-two seemed so far away—there were so many years in which to study after I passed 30.

"You will thank me some day," Everett said when I grumbled. "As you grow older the real enjoyment you get from a wide and varied knowledge will bring you many happy hours which otherwise would be boresome, if not lonely. Believe me, I am only doing this for your own best good, Sandra."

"Let me have a good time first," I pouted. "Like the girls at home. I had a letter from Ruth Loring and she told of the dances, the tennis, and all the fun they were having. They are all as old if not older than I am. It makes me feel like a regular grandmother."

"Then you are a suitable companion for 'grandpa'."

I blushed furiously. How did he know the boys and girls had called him "grandpa?" Buster must have told him.

"There is no need to look so miserable because of my knowledge that your friends named me 'Grandpa'. They might have called me something worse. It isn't what people call us, Sandra, that makes any difference—it is what we are. Not that I should feel at all bad to be grandpa when my time came. And, dear, I realized that I did seem old to your young friends, and perhaps to you."

"Not so very"—

"Yes, I did seem old—perhaps I do yet. But Sandra I do not feel old at all. A man at 42 is not old. He has simply lived long enough to know how to live, that is all. I enjoy things just as keenly—more so, than when I was 20. I don't show my feelings as plainly perhaps, but that doesn't alter the fact of my being able to enjoy, to appreciate things. But, Dear, the longer we live, the more we appreciate that real lasting enjoyment must have some foundation. That it isn't a will-o-the-wisp. So we must lay some sort of plan to have that foundation."

When we were first married he never used to talk to me like this. Now he did so often. I did not know whether to be flattered or bored. But it made no difference—I had to listen. And now I know that almost unconsciously I profited by these discussions.

To-morrow — Sandra Longs For Love.

FATALITY IN A WORD.

Why France Changed the Name of the "Life Saving Belt."

A vivid illustration of the power of mere words over human beings was once brought to the attention of French people by Francisque Sarcey.

After the wreck of the Bourgogne many passengers were found floating drowned with life preservers on. These life preservers were fastened upon the bodies, but round the middle instead of under the arms, and the greater weight of the upper part of the body had tipped the head under water and the person of course was inevitably drowned.

Now it appears that the greater number of the persons so drowned were French. The French term for life preserver is ceinture de sauvetage, or "life saving belt." This word ceinture suggests to the mind in its moments of disorder and unreadiness, such as a great catastrophe brings, the idea of putting on a belt, and as a belt is put round the waist and nowhere else the frightened person instinctively adjusts the life preserver close about the hips.

The result is that as soon as the person so provided falls into the water his body tips over, with the heavier part downward, and the head is plunged beneath the surface.

The word "belt," therefore, was the cause of the loss of many lives in the Bourgogne disaster. Sarcey accordingly proposed to counteract the fatal effect of the French word by renaming the article and calling it a brassiere, which is a kind of waist, and by bringing the word bras, or arm, to mind to teach people to put a life preserver on just underneath the arms.

ANCIENT POSTAL SERVICE.

The Old Persian and Roman System of Couriers on Horseback.

While the Roman postal service of ancient days was, of course, a crude system, yet the mails were forwarded with considerable speed. The system of couriers on horseback was borrowed from the Persians, who, according to Xenophon, had established it under Cyrus. The Roman adaptation of this was the best system of transmitting letters among the ancients.

All along the great Roman roads stations were erected at distances of five or six miles from one another. At each of these stations forty horses were constantly maintained, and by the help of relays it was easy to travel 100 miles in a day.

These services were intended for the state only, it being imperative to secure the rapid interchange of official communications. In the time of Julius Caesar the system was so well organized that of two letters the great soldier wrote from Britain to Cicero at Rome the one reached its destination in twenty-six and the other in twenty-eight days.

Private citizens were obliged to resort to the services of slaves, and it was not until the end of the third century that there was an establishment of a postal system for private persons by the Emperor Diocletian, but how long this system endured history does not inform us.

The supply of horses and their maintenance was compulsory, and only the emperor could grant exemption from it.

Weakness of the Great.

The two greatest men who appear in "Julius Caesar"—namely, Caesar himself and Cicero—are allotted but minor parts in Shakespeare's play, and to each with daring originality the dramatist has attributed a physical defect, for the existence of which history supplied him with no evidence. Caesar, for instance, confesses to deafness, bidding Antony—

"Come on my right hand, for this ear is deaf," while Brutus speaks of Cicero's "ferret and fiery eyes," as if no one could fail to note them. Respect for these two immortals was no doubt thus diminished, but by showing them as not above human weaknesses Shakespeare made them more easily realized.

When two Wives Meet

Secretly, every wife is fiercely ambitious for her husband—his success, appearance, strength—his standing among his fellow men.

Be worthy of that wife of yours. Keep healthy! Strength, appearance, success depend on health.

Living habits today are largely artificial—indoor—sedentary. To be healthy, we must regard Nature's laws. And one of the first of her laws is "Avoid Constipation. Keep the poisons of intestinal matter moving out of your body."

By an entirely new principle Nujol will keep the poisonous waste moving out of the body. Every other form of treatment either irritates or forces the system. Nujol works on the waste matter instead of on the system.

Nujol prevents constipation by keeping the food waste soft, thus helping Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take—try it.

SUBSEA VESSELS AN OLD IDEA

Inventors Had Thoughts of Such Craft Centuries Ago, as Ancient Records Give Proof.

Not in 1660, when Lord Verulam first made a vague allusion to the subject, but in 1648, it seems, was first mention made of the submarine; and then at some considerable length in a memoir published at "The Brasen Serpent, in Paul's Churchyard." And with this discovery comes another, that the submarine, or "Ark for Submarine Navigation," as the author, John Wilkins, terms it, had been tried and found a practical possibility in the days of the civil wars. "Cornelous Dreble" had experimented with "the contrivance," "here in England," and "found it feasible." There is something captivatingly Elizabethan about this John Wilkins, "Chaplain to the Prince Elector Palatine," and his far-sighted consideration of the submarine as a war auxiliary. Londoners became acquainted with him one March evening recently, as they opened their Pall Mall Gazettes and dipped into the contents. "Cornelous Dreble and his contrivance" arouse a tantalizing curiosity.

A Novel Machine.

Among the novelties produced by the war is a machine for collecting barbed wire scrap in war-destroyed areas. The machine, which has a remote resemblance to a straw and hay elevator, is carried on caterpillar chain tracks. The wire scrap is picked up and cut into lengths and then dumped into cars or pressed into bales.

Taxes Drive Out Estates.

There are, or were before the war, nearly 1,000 great country estates scattered over Great Britain, many of which have now been closed because of the huge taxation. Of these sixty may be classed as private palaces, for each required a staff of from 200 to 600 servants and attendants. Outside of the household servants there were many men employed as caretakers for the grounds, gardens, parks, coverts outbuildings and stables. — Rocky Mountain News.

The Fishing Worm.

William Brake is a little fellow living in Eastern avenue. Birds, fishing worms, crickets and spiders are strange creations to him this year and he has not been fully able to determine just what kind of noises they make when happy and when angry. A few days ago William was watching a neighbor woman prepare ground for flowers. An unusually large fishing worm came to the surface.

"What is that?" William asked excitedly.

"That is a fishing worm."

"Well, I thought I heard her going 'tweet,' 'tweet' a while ago when you commenced digging," he said, and ran to tell his mamma of the strange animal.—Indianapolis News.

FIRE THREATENS RACING YACHTS

Shamrock and Vanitie, America's Cup Boats, in Path of Flames.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Fire broke out in the shipyards of Jacob Brothers on the East River, where the Shamrock IV., Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's Cup, and the Vanitie, one of the American trial yachts, are being overhauled. The fire is raging 500 feet away from the yachts, which cannot be moved on account of heavy ice. A heavy snow storm is hampering the work of the firemen.

In addition to the Shamrock IV and the Vanitie, there are about 65 yachts in the yard, many of them famous in local waters as racers. At 1.30 a.m. the firemen reported that all the yachts would probably be saved unless there was an unexpected shift in the wind.

ON LOFTY ARARAT

Beautiful Mountain Is a Long-Extinct Volcano.

It Has Been Scaled, and, Contrary to Tradition, No Proof That Noah's Ark Ever Landed There Could Be Discovered.

The recent appeal made by the newly established republic of Ararat for recognition by the United States will be better understood, at least geographically, when it is explained that the region in question is a province of Armenia.

It takes its name from the mountain on which the ark made a landing after the flood—Ararat meaning Noah's mountain.

The whole world, according to the Bible story, was submerged during the period of the Deluge and Ararat's topmost peak was the first dry land to appear above the waters, for the simple reason that it was the loftiest—in Armenia, at all events.

As viewed today it gives a notion of the depth of the flood, inasmuch as the peak is more than three miles above sea level. It is dome-shaped, and its slopes for 9,000 feet from the top are covered with everlasting snow and great fields of glittering ice.

The climb down must have been rather difficult for Noah, his family and all the animals disembarked from the ark. As for an ascent to the top, it was formerly believed to be impossible. The Armenian monks declared that remains of the Noachian hark still existed on the summit, and that by reason of their sanctity a supernatural influence forbade approach.

Nevertheless, in September, 1829, a bold climber, Dr. Johann Parrot, succeeded in reaching the top of Ararat, and on coming down stated that he had found not even the keel of the ark up there. Since then the feat has been repeated by several other adventurous persons.

Ararat comes pretty near to being the most beautiful mountain in the world. It is a long-extinct volcano, standing almost isolated save for a lesser peak, called Little Ararat, which (really part of it) is a cone of exquisite symmetry—an ideal volcano of a type plainly recognizable as an ash-pile formed about an eruptive chimney.

Below, in the valley of Armxes, was the Garden of Eden, according to Armenian tradition. At Marsand, in that neighborhood, was (so say the monks) the burial place of Noah's wife. At Arguri, a village near a great chasm that runs into the heart of the mountain, Noah planted the first vineyard.

Heodoo Ship Redeems Herself.

The American transport Sierra, which steamed into harbor recently carrying more than 1,500 wounded soldiers, is a ship that "came back," according to stories told by old-timers who follow the sea. A dozen years ago she rammed a coral reef in the south seas and was, apparently, wrecked beyond hope of salvage. If the stories told about her are correct, she has crashed into vessels anchored in harbor, but she has sailed serenely through the mined waters of the English channel and evaded the German submarines on the high seas as she carried the troops to France. So she has evened the score and lifted the spell.

Incidentally, despite her misfortunes, she is a comfortable ship and a good sea boat. Once she was regarded as unlucky and it was almost impossible for her owners to get a crew. When the war broke out the Sierra broke her spell of misfortune and performed her share in driving autocracy and militarism into exile. Any sailor will tell you that ships have a personality. The Sierra just cascades personality and temperament. Having shown the world what she could do in the line of tantrums, she reformed. She has made money for her owners, despite her accidents, and has an excellent record in the service of her country.

MY HEAD!

When the head feels thick or aches, when one feels all out-of-sorts—perhaps a coated tongue—it is the signal that poisons are accumulating in the system, and should be cleaned out at once.

Auto-intoxication can be best ascribed to our own neglect or carelessness. When the organs fail in the discharge of their duties, the putrefactive germs set in and generate toxins—actual poisons, which fill one's own body.

Sleepiness after meals, flushing of the face, extreme lassitude, biliousness, dizziness, sick headache, acidity of the stomach, heartburn, offensive breath, anemia, loss of weight and muscular power, decrease of vitality or lowering of resistance to infectious diseases, disturbance of the eye, dyspepsia, indigestion, gastritis, many forms of catarrh, asthma, ear affections and allied ailments result from auto-intoxication or self-poisoning.

Take castor oil, or procure at the drug store, a pleasant vegetable laxative, called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, composed of May-apple, aloes and jalap.

OLD CUSTOMS IN UKRAINE

Wedding Celebrations of Country Peculiar; Horse Thieves Summarily Dealt With.

The Little Russian costume became fashionable for women in the Ukraine after the formation of the republic; red boots, short skirt, allowing the embroidery of the chemise to be seen; a pretty apron; jacket without sleeves. Around the neck large beads of many-colored glass, always in great numbers. The married women wear on their heads a kind of fichu arranged as a diadem, the unmarried girls a simple Ukrainian kerchief, the betrothed, flowers.

They have an amusing custom: after the marriage celebration the whole procession goes to drive, adorned with broad red ribbons; even the horses are abundantly provided with them. That is a sign of the bride's virtue. If the contrary is the case, she has neither ribbons nor music, not even a white veil, because the pope refuses to bless the marriage.

The Little Russians are very superstitious. At midsummer they light a large fire of ferns. The young people jump over the fire. Those who succeed in not touching it will marry within the year. If anybody puts it out, it is a sign of death. Everybody tells fortunes with cards, predicts what will happen in the future. On the eve of Saint Andrew somebody places mysteriously under the bed a pond and a bridge (a saucer filled with water and a few pieces of wood). Without knowing it one sleeps "on the bridge." Then one may be sure that the dream of the night will come true. If one wanted to act according to the rules one ought to spend the night on a bridge above a real pond and look at the water; there you would be able to read your whole future life.

In the country some of the old barbarian customs are still in force; the konokrades, or horse thieves, are condemned to be quartered, or to be attached by a rope to a horse's tail and dragged until death follows.

You've Heard of 'Em.

"Leddy," said Mournful Marmaduke, the meandering mendicant, "could yer help a poor feller what's the victim of circumstances?"

"What circumstances?" asked the suspicious woman with the pointed nose and drooped chin, as she glanced significantly toward the wood pile.

"Reduced circumstances, leddy."

SHORT OF BREATH
Could Hardly Walk Without Resting

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected there engues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak, sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Mr. Stephen Cronse, East Clifford, N.S., writes:—"I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

HOME-MAKING NOT SO EASY

Housewife Seems to Be Right When She Condemns Ideas Formulated by the Theorists.

"I am always amused," said the housewife, according to the New York Evening Post, "at the proposition we so often read and hear that munition and factory girls enter domestic service. The theorists seem to imagine that such a change can be accomplished right about face—overnight, in the twinkling of an eye. Good housework, of the sort that should be our standard, is not so easy as all that. While I don't consider that housework requires lifelong training, yet never have I taken a girl from a factory who knew the difference between a cloth for washing dishes and one for wiping floors. As a rule a factory girl is ignorant of the simplest sanitary essentials that stand for home making. Cooking she may be taught, and cleaning she may learn, but the basic principles and habit are not picked up so readily. Many a time have I said to a maid: 'Had you gone to kindergarten you would never have piled your dishes and saucers like that.' It was at a kindergarten conference in California, you may recall, where it was said that no convicted criminal in that state had had kindergarten training. Besides their uncertain help in the homes of others think how wanting in their own homes—when they get them—these young factory girls will be—unless they pick up considerably more knowledge about domestic ways and

HAS SOMETHING OF A JOB

Bill Is Finding That Thinking Up an Explanation Is by No Means an Easy Task.

Bill Dudley and eleven other pinochle players who are members of a progressive pinochle club left their South side homes to go to Beech Grove the other night. While at Fountain square waiting for the Beech Grove car Bill and Joe Beck got too far away from the car to catch it and the other ten went to Beech Grove. Then Bill got an idea and he and Beck stole home to where Bill's car rested—for his wife won't let him take it out after dark. They opened the garage door noiselessly, pushed the car out and down the street for a block and then stepped on the starter. They got to Beech Grove before the rest of the club did.

Bill and his friend Beck drove home after the club meeting and repeated the performance in getting the car back in the garage. Then he went into the house. Presently the crowd came along and yelled at Bill through the window. Of course, that entailed explanations on Bill's part to his wife as to how he got home first. The other members of the club say Bill has not yet been able to explain to his wife how he beat them home.—Indianapolis News.

Not Worth a Rooster.

Having lived next door to the home of a minister, I was often called in to witness a hasty wedding.

On one occasion the prospective bride and bridegroom arrived in a farm wagon. After the ceremony was duly performed the bridegroom asked to be excused just a moment, and on returning from his wagon he said: "Parson, I have no money to give you, but here is a nice young rooster for your Thanksgiving dinner, and I will bring you a turkey for Christmas."

On several occasions the minister saw the same man in town, who seemed to avoid him. One day on meeting him face to face he said: "Parson, I may as well tell you that I am not going to bring that turkey; I have found out she was not even worth the rooster I gave you."—Chicago Tribune.

Return of the Ox.

The ox as a beast of burden is coming into its own again in the farming communities of Maine and the oxsling and apparatus used by blacksmiths in shoeing the animals, long ago thrown into the discard, is in use again. The sling consists of a rude frame of timber into which the animal is fastened by a pillory. Straps are then drawn under the body, the ends being made fast to upper timbers of the frame. In blacksmith shops 20 years ago the slings were common. Oxen are less expensive to feed than horses and are equally as useful on small farms and the rising value of feed is having much to do with the comeback of the ox as a work animal.

Van Der Goltz a Novelist.

A good deal of the late Field Marshal von der Goltz's reputation rested upon his military text books, and it is interesting to recall that he first won literary fame by writings of a very different character. When a poor cadet at Grossilchterfelde with a widowed mother to support he turned his hand to novel writing and gained a considerable reputation by a series of sentimental romances.—London Chronicle.

Rejuvenating Your Pipe.

To make an old tobacco pipe as good as new plug the stem with a bit of match, fill the bowl with alcohol, light and let burn. Do this three or four times and the pipe will be as clean and as sweet as when new without the bother of breaking it in.

Jam Sandwich.

Rub two ounces of fresh butter into one pound of self-raising flour, add two to four ounces of sugar, a little grating of lemon (or lemon essence added to half a pint of milk), one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, and half a teaspoonful of carbonate of soda; mix with half a pint of fresh milk, turn into a well-greased tin, and bake in a moderate oven for about half an hour till a golden brown on the top. With a sharp, big knife split it carefully in two, spread the lower half with some nice jam or syrup, put the top half on, cut into squares, and serve hot as pudding, or cold as jam sandwich.

Tamale Pie.

Two cupfuls tomato sauce, two cupfuls chopped cooked meat, one teaspoonful salt, one green pepper, or one pimento (chopped), one small onion, one half cupful corn meal cooked in one-half cupful boiling salted water one-half hour, one-half cupful grated cheese.

To one cupful tomato sauce add meat, salt, onion, pepper and cornmeal mush. Put in a pan, sprinkle with cheese and bake. Serve with remaining sauce, to which may be added one half cupful chopped olives.

TO-DAY

in medicines, as in every other necessity, the public is satisfied with nothing but the best! This explains the ever-increasing demand for Zam-Buk. Not only is this great balm the best household remedy to-day, but it is also the most economical.

Zam-Buk's superiority is due to the fact that it is all medicine, containing none of the coarse animal fats or harsh mineral drugs found in ordinary ointments. Again, the medicinal properties are so highly concentrated that they contain the maximum amount of healing, soothing and antiseptic power, so that a little of this balm goes a long way.

Another reason why Zam-Buk is most economical. It will keep indefinitely and retain to the last its strength and purity. Best for skin diseases and injuries, blood-poisoning and piles. All dealers, 50c. box.

JAZZ BAND STORM SCHEDULED FOR FEB. 26TH.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. — Prof. Gustave Meyer, Hoboken reader of the stars, has a tip from the skies that he thinks ought to be conveyed to New York's Snow Removal Council, and such others as may be interested. Says the professor:

"As an American scientific astrologer, I wish to state that the starry messengers indicate and impart to me the fact, via wireless, that a rip-roaring, howling, jazz-band blizzard is due to hit us on the 24th to the 29th inst., inclusive, hence the public would do well to secure sufficient supplies in advance, such as eatables and fuel.

"It would be a very good idea for the city officials to have the present snowfall removed immediately in order to avert serious consequences. I judge that we will experience some of the most peculiar atmospherical disturbances in history on and during the above mentioned dates, and that calamities of magnitude will also occur on land and sea."

Don't Be a Slave to Your Nerves

Good Advice to Nervous People

People who are excessively nervous, tired out and all run down, who get the jumps and fidgets, who can't concentrate their minds on work, have fits of blues, trembling, nervous headaches and dyspepsia and that "don't give a hang" feeling so common to nervous folks, may take it as a certain fact that their trouble is due to impoverished or devitalized nerve force. Their nerve cells are starving and when they give out entirely, complete nervous prostration or breakdown is the result.

A splendid treatment for weak nerves is found in the famous Ferro-Peptine, composed of six of the best nerve vitalizing elements known to modern chemistry. These tablets go straight to the nerve cells and begin immediate action. Take a Ferro-Peptine tablet, wait ten minutes and watch yourself perk up. They feed your famished nerve cells, start healthy blood circulation and normal digestion. Then you brighten up, put on a smile, get some of the old-time "pep" back in your system and feel as happy as a clam at high tide. Ferro-Peptine is absolutely harmless contains no dangerous habit-forming drugs, is easy to take, inexpensive and all leading druggists sell it on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back.

Live Stock for Belgium.

No one in Belgium rejoiced more heartily when the Germans were driven out than the small farmers whose lot under the invaders had been made intolerable by the constant requisitioning of produce and stock by the enemy. A British farmer, who has just returned from the wide agricultural district around Menin, reports that the country is now practically devoid of live stock and that tillage and farm operations generally are at a standstill in consequence. Efforts are being made by the agricultural relief of allies committee to replace the animals in that neighborhood killed or stolen by the Germans with good British stock and a first consignment of dairy cattle will be forwarded in the course of a few weeks. These animals will, it is hoped, play a valuable part in restocking the farms of the peasants which lay across the path of the Germans in their march toward Calais.

Goat Got Even.

One really unusual incident occurred during a recent military ceremony in France, and that revolved about the goat mascot of one of the divisions in the parade. The goat had followed in with his men as befitted a proper mascot, but once in the square he was rudely relegated to the rear ranks. It chanced that a number of red-hatted staff officers took up their position in front of the goat and stood during the inspection at attention with huge bouquets cut back from under their arms. When the inspection was over the officers stood at ease again and looked to their bouquets. They were holding only stems. The mascot had taken a sweet revenge and a square meal for the insult to his dignity.

WHIPPET TANK "BAD ACTOR"

Instrument of Warfare That for Excellent Reasons Was Dreaded by the Kaiser's Huns.

It was with the "whippet" that imagination touched the "tanks." The whippet—so named I suppose from the speedy dog which chases rabbits to earth—is the pacing dromedary of tankdom. She is light—only a few tons I should guess—and instead of accommodating man Jonah-like in her entrails, carries a cab like a camel's hump, from which one can look, sometimes perpendicularly, behind. The whippet has two engines, one for each of her paw series, and that accounts for her eccentric motion. As she runs her sight, ten, up to a conceivable 20 miles, an hour, she squeals raucously. At a rock or a stump—both bad for tanks, which can be "hung up" on their "bellies"—she whirls with unbelievable rapidity, till your eyes are looking one way and your stomach another. Then she rumbles gaily over the field seeking for trees under 12 inches through to practice on, sees a treach, rises on her hind quarters, drops below sky-line with a teeth-shaking bump, grips the further bank, rolls up screaming and charges off for more.

A bank attracts her. She noses it until she finds an angle not quite, but almost perpendicular, and sticking her nails in the sod, worms, up, while you cling to the machine gun, and look at grass which is both back of and below you. And as she goes she spits oil, blows dust and flattens the world behind her. If an enemy, you may escape her by lying on the bottom of a trench; you can smash her with a shell if you can catch her on the wing, which is not easy; but the preferable place with a whippet, is on top. Never was devised a more dangerous, humorous, human engine of warfare than this.—Henry Seidel Canby, in Yale Review.

Found an Executive.

The boys in a small Indiana high school desired a football team, but got no encouragement from their principal, who is a young woman. Finally they asked her if they could hold a meeting to organize a team. She gave her consent, but offered no comment other than, "I'm afraid you boys aren't good enough executives to manage such an affair."

The next morning they told her the result of their meeting. "We organized our team," they said, "and, remembering what you told us about needing good executives, we elected you captain."

TIME AND THE CLOCKS.

Curious Contradictions That Spring From Our Present Methods.

The paradox of time, reckoned as we have come into the habit of reckoning it, by which a cablegram that leaves England at noon is received instantly in India at 5:30 p. m. and in New York at 7 a. m., has long since been discarded by astronomers and mariners. To these the time is always Greenwich time, and it is on Greenwich time that the wireless signals of all the world are based since the international time conference which met in Paris in 1912 declared that "the universal time shall be that of Greenwich."

The Scientific American analyses the paradox and prophesies that the day will come when all the world will have but one standard time. We should then abandon our time zones, with their strangely irregular boundaries based upon the exigencies of railroad systems and political frontiers and the "curious fiction of the international date line could be given up."

"It would at first seem strange to the New Yorker to begin work at 4 a. m. instead of 9 a. m. and dine at 2 p. m. instead of 7 p. m.," says the Scientific American, "but as these changes would be merely nominal and involve no distortion of his habits with respect to daylight and darkness he would soon become accustomed to them."

As things are now we are so familiar with such contradictions as receiving a telegram four or five hours earlier than it was sent and finding it 7 o'clock on one side of a street when it is 8 o'clock on the other that they do not strike us as strange. Yet now is always and everywhere now, no matter what we may call it. When it is now in New York it is now in Calcutta and in London. "Call it what you like, the time remains identical."

We have inherited our ideas of time from ancestors whose only clock was the sun and who divided the day into twelve hours between sunrise and sunset. In summer these were very long hours and in winter very short. How perplexed a Greek or Roman horologist would have been near one of the poles where his "hours" would have been as long as many modern days! With clocks numbered from 1 to 24 we could abolish "a. m" and "p. m.," as several countries have already done. "Noon" at any place would be when the sun was at the meridian, and it would not matter in the least what clock time coincided with it. Today in the United States the only places at which noon and 12 o'clock exactly coincide are those precisely on the meridian. For example, when it is "noon" in Florida it is 1 p. m. just across the border in Georgia and when it is "noon" in Georgia it is only 11 a. m. in Florida. Similar conditions exist in many places.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT FOR PETERBORO MAN

MR. W. S. CAMPBELL MADE MANAGER OF THE "TRANSPORTATION AND CUSTOMS" DEPARTMENT CANADIAN ELECTRIC CO., WITH OFFICES AT TORONTO.

Peterborough lost this week the citizenship of one of its most promising young men when Mr. W. S. Campbell, who has been in charge of the Customs and Transportation Department of the Canadian General Electric Co. here, was appointed manager of the Transortation and Customs Department of the same company at the head office, King street west, Toronto. This is an important advancement for Mr. Campbell, which his many friends in Peterborough will be pleased to hear of.

Mr. Campbell, who has been a resident of Peterborough for some years, was born in Roseneath, Ont., and attended school at Harwood, leaving to engage in farming, which he followed for five years. He then returned to school for a short time, and afterwards took a business course at the Peterborough Business College. His first position was in the Peterborough Lock Company's office where he remained for a year, leaving to enter the employ of the C.P.R. under Mr. W. B. Bamford, the local agent. After serving in several capacities here he was moved to Hamilton as chief clerk to W. J. Grant, D.F.A. C.P.R., and then was made soliciting freight agent He later returned to Peterborough to take charge of the local freight office under Mr. W. S. Dodd.

After giving the general public satisfaction in this capacity he was approached to join the organization of the Canadian General Electric Co., Limited, which he did in January, 1910, taking charge of their customs and transportation department. His efforts have resulted in a great development of this department with his company, so much so that the company decided on January 1st of this year to open up a regular department at head office.

Mr. Campbell's services were not lost sight of and he was selected to fill the office of manager of the Transportation and Customs Department for both divisions of this company's interests in Canada. This includes about ten factories and about 25 warehouses scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He will have full charge of all matters affecting transportation and the customs tariff. Mr. Campbell has had much experience on this through the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He is a member of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and on their Transportation committee, representing the Central Ontario district and the Peterborough Board of Trade and local Manufacturers' Association. He is a member of the Canadian Traffic League, an organization of traffic men who meet monthly in Toronto, and chairman of the Transportation committee of the Peterborough Board of Trade.

Mr. Campbell was a member of Peterborough Lodge, 155, A.F. & A.M., and took up the office of secretary following the death of the late Bro. W. H. Walkey. He was also a member of the Board of Managers of St. Andrew's church.

The Peterborough Lodge, A.F. & A.M., at a regular meeting in February took Mr. Campbell by surprise by presenting him with a magnificent Past Master's Jewel for services rendered.

During their residence here, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell have worked asiduously for all the organizations with which they have been connected, and Mrs. Campbell will be missed from the Young Ladies' Mission Band and the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's church, of which she was a member. Mrs. Campbell was also a member of a Ladies' 500 Club in the west end, the members of which presented her with a handsome piece of china a few days ago.

Mr. Campbell is the type of young business man the city does not care to lose, and both he and Mrs. Campbell will be further missed for many acts of kindness they have been responsible for. Their Toronto address is 116 Gothic avenue, and it goes without saying that old Peterborough acquaintances will be heartily welcome at all times.

RECEIVE $4,000 FOR LOAD OF TOBACCO

CHATHAM, Feb. 25.—That Kent county land will give good returns to tobacco growers was demonstrated here, when Achille Beeband of Dover received a cheque for $5,600 for seven tons of the weed, and Fred Cadotte received $5,800 for his season's tobacco crop, grown on ten acres. Both of these growers live in Dover township.

The largest shipment of tobacco in the history of this section was made to-day, more than 125 loads being delivered at the local freight yards up to a late hour this afternoon.

The price paid was $800 a ton, and many of the growers expected to receive from $3,000 to $4,000 per load.

NORWOOD MAN SUFFERS ACCIDENT

Mr. Robt. Mackey, who was visiting his brother-in-law, Mr. Jas. Craighead, last week, met with a severe accident, which may yet result in the loss of one of his eyes. He was putting his horse away in the stable and struck at the animal with the whip, when the lash tip struck his eye-ball. Mr. Mackey is undergoing treatment for the injured optic at Nichols Hospital, Peterboro.

MONSTER FIELD DAY THROUGHOUT ONTARIO

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—Arrangements are being made by Rev. Dr. F. J. Oaten, Field Secretary of the Dominion Alliance, to have every Protestant pulpit in the Province occupied on Sunday, April 11, with representatives of the Dominion Alliance with the idea of instituting a further temperance campaign. It is stated that arrangements have already been made with the Ottawa churches, and that there is little doubt but that the 'Field Day' will be recognized in every church in the Province.

Suffered With Boils Past Five Years

Boils are simply a breaking out of bad blood and anyone who has suffered from them knows how sick and miserable they make you feel. Just when you think you are cured of one another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery. All the poulticing and lancing you can do will not get rid of them.

While the skin appears to be the cause of the irritation the real disease is rooted in the blood and to get rid of these painful pests it is necessary to get right at the seat of the trouble.

When the blood is purified, cleansed and vitalized by Burdock Blood Bitters, the boils will quickly disappear, you misery is at an end, and health and strength come back again.

Mr. Robert Johnson, Barkway, Ont., writees:—"I hav suffered very much, during the last five years from boils, having as many as five at once. I tried different remedies without any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters which I did and after taking just one bottle I have had no more boils."

B.B.B. has been on the market for over forty years and is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WAR MEMORIAL PLANS WERE DISCUSSED

At Meeting of Memorial Committee of I.O.D.E. in Toronto Saturday

The War Memorial Committee of the I.O.D.E. continued in session in Toronto, when a great deal of change or ideas presented by the delegates present from the eight Provinces of the Dominion was particularly interesting and helpful and a great deal of enthusiasm was shown in this, the greatest national undertaking in which the order has engaged.

The two parts of the memorial to which most time was devoted, were the scholarships in Canadian Universities, for which the sons and daughters of deceased and totally disabled soldiers and sailors are eligible, and the nine post-graduate scholarships in the departments of history and economics in the British Universities.

Candidates for the latter will be selected annually from among the graduates of the different Canadian Universities by Provincial committees appointed for that purpose. These are open to both men and women and in addition to literary and scholastic attainments, consideration will be given to worth of character, physical strength and powers of leadership.

The next meeting of the War Memorial Committee will be held on the occasion of the annual meeting of the National Chapter of the I.O.D.E. in the last week of May at Calgary, Alta.

STOP TRADING IN SECURITIES

EFFORT TO AID THE EXCHANGE SITUATION.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—All trading in stocks, bonds and other securities from outside Canada stops today in this country. At the request of the Minister of Finance, Sir Henry Drayton, this drastic action has been taken by Canada's financial interests to protect the home security market.

Trading with American exchanges for cash comes to an end for the time being, though there is no restriction against buying on orgins except that imposed by adverse exchange. Action was forced by the flooding of the Canadian security market with bonds and stocks from Britain, under which the sellers reaped a handsome profit owing to the premium on the Canadian dollar.

In a statement issued last night by the Bond Dealers' Association intimation is given that action will be taken to prevent the importation of non-essentials, especially from the United States, and that the issuance of new securities for non-essential purposes in Canada will be discouraged.

Agents of American manufacturers in Toronto who learned last night of the proposed new restrictions were greatly agitated and anxious for information as to the probable course of Parliament.

MAKE "FLU" HARMLESS AS THE CHICKEN POX

During the prevalence of the present epidemic your bed is the best friend you have, better than doctor or nurse, food or medicine, and the sooner you attach yourself to that friend, once a symptom develops, the better for you.

Do not wait for the doctor to tell you that you have the "flu." If you have aches or pains or cough or fever, go to bed and stay there awaiting developments. If the "flu" does not develop no harm has been done, and if it does develop your early management will surely save doctor's, nurse's, and probably undertaker's bills, besides a lot of anxiety to your friends. Your fever may go up and your spirits down, but don't worry. The "flu" is as harmless as chickenpox if you go to bed early and stay there religiously till you have been free from fever for twenty-four hours, and then stay four days longer to insure yourself against pneumonia. I feel absolutely assured if you follow this simple rule you will have no pneumonia and no deaths.

Next to your bed, your best friend is water, hot or cold, colored or flavored, it makes no difference; but fire-water is to be despised as the rattlesnake. Experience as well as reason proves alcohol in any form in this disease is nly harmful.

No one can fight the "flu" standing up. You cannot affford to try it. The sooner you realize this fact the safer for you. One cannot insist too strongly on the absolute necessity, even in mild cases, on confinement to bed for four days after the fever has gone, nor upon the necessity of closely observing the children for the approach of trouble. If every mother would take the temperature of her children morning and evening during this epidemic it would be time and energy well spent.—Dr. Hanks, M. O.H. Blenheim, Ont.

TRACKLESS TROLLEY CARS.

LONDON, Eng.—In order to improve local travelling facilities the Southend-on-Sea Corporation is considering the question of again running motor 'buses or introducing trackless trolley cars. So far, trackless trolley vehicles have not been adopted in the south of England, although in two or three of the northern towns they are run in conjunction with the local electric tramways. The cars resemble a single-deck motor 'bus, fitted with a trolley arm similar to that used on tramcars.

KISSES WERE SACRED.

New York, N.Y.—Among old laws against kissing those of Iceland appear to have been the most severe. Banishment was the penalty laid down for kissing another man's wife, either with or without her consent, and the same punishment was enforced for kissing an unmarried woman against her will.

WHAT ARE The "VITAMINS"?

A little attention to food values will add to your health, happiness and working efficiency. The outer coat of the whole wheat contains a mysterious chemical substance called "vitamine" which is essential to life and health. THE 57TH REGIMENT CHAPTER HELD EIGHTH ANNUAL MEETING YESTERDAY

REPORTS PRESENTED BY THE REGENT AND OTHER OFFICERS OF THE CHAPTER—OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE YEAR—TREASURER'S REPORT.

The 57th Regiment Chapter held their 8th annual meeting on yesterday afternoon, the Regent, Mrs. J. C. Davidson in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted as also the treasurer's report. The regent and three members were appointed as representatives to the local council of women—Mrs. D. Walker, Mrs. J. H. Eastwood and Mrs. R. C. Widdifield. A motion was passed that a letter of condolence be sent to Mrs. Gooderham, our late national president on the recent death of her mother. Mrs. J. Gemmell was appointed auditor for the coming year. While the ballots were being counted the President gave a short address and the secretary and treasurers annual reports were read. Moved and carried that the chapter have four large wants during the year for raising money. A dance on Armistice night, annual bazaar, a St. Valentine party and some large event after Easter, the form of the entertainment to be made known later. Thursday April 8th was the night chosen if satisfactory arrangements can be made. The meeting then adjourned while tea was being served. Mrs. E. B. Clegg read an address to Mrs. J. S. Sharpe, an appreciation of her many years service as recording secretary and the executive presented her with cups and saucers.

Officers Elected

Officers elected for the coming year as follows:

Regent—Mrs. J. C. Davidson.
1st Vice Regent—Mrs. E. B. Clegg
2nd Vice Regent—Miss F. Davidson.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. B. Gillespie.
Education Secretary—Mrs. C. E. Jamieson.
Echoes Secretary—Mrs. Hounsell.
Corresponding Secretary — Mrs. Widdifield.
Treasurer—Mrs. W. G. Hall.
Standard Banner — Mrs. F. C. Neal
Councillors — Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Cottrell, Mrs. W. Sharpe, Mrs. V. Eastwood, Mrs. H. Rush, Mrs. T. W. H. Young, Mrs J. H. Eastwood, Mrs. J. M. Gemmell, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Miss Rutledge.

Mrs. J. C. Davidson's Address

"To begin with I want to congratulate the Chapter, most heartily on what has been done financially during the past year. We have met all obligations, comparatively easy. Let us try to raise our principal annual amount by four events and let all other entertainments, be mainly for sociability amongst our members. I hope by the time we have our March meeting, we may be able to return to our original quarters in the Armouries, where we will all feel more at home, and will be able to work up our Chapter again, as a real regimental chapter. Nothing has yet been done by us, regarding a monument to our fallen men, this, of course is rather a complicated matter and the committee seem to feel, as we have so many other obigations it is better to "rest on our oars", with regard to this for the present.

Coming Year.

Our main energies in the coming year must be bent on securing funds for our Great War Memorial. This is the greatest national undertaking in which our order has ever been interested and means a great deal to our Dominion of Canada, both in the near and far distant future. By providing university education for boys and girls of deceased soldiers, sailors or members of the air force, we are helping to form the characters of our future citizens and only by religion and education can we fight Bolshevism and all that stands for disloyalty and unlawfulness. There will be a post graduate scholarship one for each Province of our Dominion. Candidates for these will be chosen annually from among the graduates of different Canadian Universities, by committees appointed by the provinces, for this purpose, so the work will follow our boys and girls into their manhood, womanhood.

As Dr. Colley says, "we don't want our youths to go to German Universities, as they did almost exclusively before the war," and this fund will help to bring this about.

"What we need," says Sir Robert Falconer," is to be able to develop brains and character, wherever they are found, to save for the country the human qualities that otherwise go to waste. In my judgment", he added "you are absolutely right and doing a good thing for the country in conserving our human resources."

Then to come down to our individual responsibilities as 'Daughters of the Empire.' When we join, we promise to be loyal subjects to His Majesty King George V, and to "abide by the constitution of the order." I would like to add to that "that every member be loyal to the officers, and the whole Chapter to which she belongs."

Then let us have co-operation amongst our members, all working together, with the same aim, the good of the whole. Let us live up to our reputation of holding together and all working for the good of the whole chapter.

Then also as individuals we have a duty in our own homes, of instilling loyalty into the other members of those homes. We do not often realize enough, what a large part example plays in our lives, in this, as Daughters of the Empire, let us try to be examples, in using our influence for good, in our homes our city and our general life in the community. I have been sorry to notice, since the Armistice, how careless our people are becoming again, about the respect due to the National Anthem. Let us never forget as daughters of the Empire, that that is one way we may show our colours by behaving reverently, when this Anthem is being sung, also let us see to it, that in and on our houses, our National Flag is kept in evidence.

In attending movies and theatres, we should again be careful of the example we give. The best in art and music, we ought to have, but the worst ought not to be tolerated, and each individual has a responsibility in this also.

Another way we can help our country, as women, as well as Daughters of the Empire, is by encouraging in every possible way, our home industries. Let us gladly do without things we cannot get in our own Empire, these commodities I know are numerous, but surely we are willing, as we were during the war, to deny ourselves for our country's good, so

CHICKEN THIEVES BEAT FARMER TO INSENSIBILITY.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 25.—Awakened from his sleep by a noise in his chicken coop, Robert Armour, a farmer residing east of the city, south of Pottersburg, ran out to find four men robbing the hen roost.

Armour grappled with one of the marauders, and immediately all four set upon him, beating him terribly. He was finally knocked insensible by a club in the hands of one of the robbers, and he is now in bed and in a serious condition. The thieves took fright when they heard the hired man coming to the rescue, but they got away with one bag of poultry. The thieves fled in a cutter, which was tracked a considerable distance from the farm.

AMENDMENTS TO THE INDUSTRIAL LAWS

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—Amendments to the Industrial Dispute Act, which will be introduced into the House this session, have been prepared for final submission to the Cabinet.

The hartbeest easily outruns a greyhound.

THE 57TH REGIMENT CHAPTER HELD EIGHTH ANNUAL MEETING YESTERDAY

will we be worthy of the words said of us, by men who have returned, only the other day Brig. General Mitchell said: "When we think of all the things that helped us win the victory, we soldiers realize how much the women at home had to do with it." Let us prove ourselves worthy of this opinion, there are still many lesser wars to fight and we can if we will, bring much influence to bear, in fighting against what is now a great menace to our nation, the love of expensive luxuries, which for the sake of our country and from loyalty to our King, we might well do without.

Surely for our country and for our fellow countrymen's sake we ought to try to cultivate more simple tastes, and as loyal Daughters of the Empire, set an example for others. May this the oldest chapter in Peterborough prove, by its members that it leads to some good and worth while purpose; and let others see that we are honestly trying to help our country, in this difficult time, by denyihg ourselves expensive and unnecessary luxuries and buying, what we have to buy in Canada.

Mrs. C. R. Widdifield's Report.

Regent, Officers and members of the 57th Regiment Chapter,— I beg to present the eight annual report of the 57th Regiment Chapter I.O.D.E. as follows:—

During the past year there have been nine regular meetings. The meetings were omitted in July and August also the December meeting. While the Chapter is no longer devoting its energies to the supplying of comforts and socks to the soldiers a few knitters still send in their quota of socks and these are sent when an urgent appeal comes in. This year the chapter has been able to give towards local affairs, although the largest sum was sent to aid the War Memorial Fund.

At the February meeting the Chapter decided to make the grant of $100.00 to the Preventorium and annual affair, also $25.00 was sent to the Grenfell Mission.

In March a birthday tea was held at the home of Mrs. Vincent Eastwood. Everywhere St. Patrick held sway and an excellent musicale programme was provided. This tea netted the Chapter $49.50.

Dr. Birnie addressed the April meeting on behalf of the Baby Clinic, which she hoped would be started very soon and the Chapter voted $100.00 towards it also promising assistance if required. At this meeting $100.00 was voted to the 57th Band.

The G. W. V.A. held their building fund drive in May and $100.00 was given by the Chapter. On Empire day the cemeteries were visited and the graves of departed soldiers decorated. Also in each cemetery a large flag was placed with a tablet and suitable inscription to commemorate those who had fallen at the front.

Mrs. A. W. Turner was the delegate to the annual meeting held in Montreal and her report was most interesting.

In June a Garden Party was held at Mrs. V. Eastwood's. The afternoon was most gratifying in its results, but unfortunately the evening was stormy.

A moonlight was held in July and a most enjoyable trip down the river was experienced by those partaking.

Congratulations and loyalty to the New National President were sent by the Chapter in September. Several members attended the 2nd annual district conference in Hastings, that month and the following afternoon Mrs. Bruce, National President, Mrs. Stewart, National Organizing Secretary and Mrs. Smith the National Educational Secretary addressed the open meeting of the Peterborough Chapters under the auspices of the 57th Chapter explaining the I.O.D.E. War Memorial.

At the October meeting the membership of the Chapter was extended to wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of any member of any Military Organization and relatives of the 66th Veterans.

The I.O.D.E. questionaire re secondary education which had been followed up during the summer months was completed, and a delegate, Mrs. Widdifield, was sent to the conference at Hamilton where question was discussed and a committee formed to delve into the problem, and bring in a report.

A Navy League tag day was held in October under the auspices of the I.O.D.E., with gratifying results.

$25 was voted at the October meeting to the Mary R. Gooderham fund for building an emergency hospital in northern Ontario.

The Chapter's first annual dance took place on Armistice night, the money going towards the War Memorial Fund.

In December the annual bazaar was held with such successful results that the first $500 for the War Memorial was forwarded to Toronto.

The Chapter has again affiliated with the Local Council of Women.

At the January meeting $50 was sent to the Armenian fund.

Mrs. Sharpe was appointed delegate to the Conference in Hamilton for the organization of a provincial Chapter. The first I.O.D.E. year book was received that month.

Deep regret is felt by the Chapter in the death of Mrs. Derrick, one of its most able members.

The Chapter has lost for a time only we hope, two valued members, Mrs. T. Hay and Miss Hay. Mrs. Hay was a most conscientious worker.

Unstinted praise is due Mrs. J. Sharpe for her many years service as recording secretary. Though resigning from that office we know she will still give her unfailing interest and support to the Chapter in all its undertakings.

Too much stress cannot be given the I.O.D.E. War Memorial. Though we have given $500 if we compare our vigorous chapter with some of the small ones in outlying districts, we can readily see how we should give much more to help our weaker Chapters make up their share. One thousand dollars is little enough to expect from a Chapter such as the 57th.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Marion Widdifield,
Cor.-Sec.

STOCK MARKET OPENED STRONG

DECIDED UPWARD TREND TO THE WHOLE LIST.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The Stock Market opened strong to-day. For te first time in many days there was a decided upward trend to the whole list, and first sales were made at higher prices.

U. S. Steel opened at 94 1-4, up 1-8, Mexican Petroleum 172 3-4 up 2, Crucible 106 1-2 up 1-4, Reading 75 up 1-4, General Motors 244 1-2 up 3, Pan-American 82 1-2 up 2, Studebaker 83 3-8 up 7-8, U. S. Rubber 95 5-8 up ¾, Texas 176½ up 1-2 Bethlehem B. 84 up 5-8, Republic 88 1-2 unchanged.

Call money renewed again at 10 per cent. This came somewhat as a surprise as early reports had indicated easier rates. Stocks sold off on the announcement, General Motors declining from 251 1-2 to 148 and other stocks a point or more.

It was the prevailing opinion that the market would be entirely governed by money conditions for some time.

Soon after the opening sterling dropped to $3.36 1-2. Francs were 14.34; Lire 18.47 and Marks .0103.

Industrials showed a firm tone in the first hour. Crucible, which continued to loan at a premium, rose to 199, an advance of ten points from last week's low. There was little in over-night developments to affect prices, but shorts in some of the other high prices industrials, became frightened by the sharp advance in General Motors.

His Utter Selfishness.

"I adopted a French war orphan the other day," admitted J. Fuller Gloom. "Observing that nearly everyone else asked for pretty little girls, I specified that mine should be a boy—the homelier the better, the rattiest and runtiest that could be found, and bowlegged if possible, or one who had lost his palate, or something of the sort. My idea was to get one that, having been shoved back and snubbed all his little life, would appreciate the small bit I was doing for him all out of proportion to what it really cost, and thus get myself vastly overpaid in gratitude. My motive was an entirely selfish one, I assure you."—Kansas City Star.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

151 Lock street,
Peterborough, Ontario,
February, 27, 1920.

To the Editor of the Examiner.—

Sir.—The Dominion Alliance not satisfied with existing conditions under the O.T.A. are now trying to Prohibit the use of certain light domestic wines.

In a book called the New Testament I have read in the Second Chapter of the Gospel of St. John, the account of how Our Lord changed water into wine and in the Tenth verse of that Chapter is stated, that it was good wine.

If Our Lord should come upon earth and to Ontario, at present, and He should happen to change water into wine and He were caught in the act by the Dominion Alliance or their myrmidons, would Our Lord be fined or would He be imprisoned—neither there would be a Judas to betray Him and a mob to Crucify Him.

Yours Very truly,
G. H. POPHAM.

DEMPSEY ANXIOUS TO CLEAR HIMSELF

"I HAVE DONE NO WRONG AND MY CONSCIENCE IS CLEAR," SAYS CHAMPION.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.— Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, declared that he is glad of the opportunity to meet his accusers in open court to prov alse the charges which the Federal grand Jury in San Francisco, according to report, deemed sufficient to warrant the returning of an indictment against him.

Both Kearns and Dempsey, according to the San Francisco report, must face a true bill on accusations that they conspired to enable Dempsey to elude the draft. Neither Dempsey nor his manager has been officially notified of the action to be taken against them, but both were preparing to-day to fight the charges.

"I have refused to worry," said Dempsey. 'My conscience is clear and there is nothing that can be held against me. I would rather be taken into court and have the entire matter cleaned up than to sit back while charges are being hurled around.

"I have tried to play the game square and am sorry I have become the target for attacks, but since the attacks were made, an open court, where all sides can be heard, will be welcomed by me.

"I have done no wrong and will go into court confident that my name will be cleared."

Jack Kearns, his manager, said:

"There's nothing to it, but if the reports are true, we will to go to court and prove our side of the story. We can do this without trouble. I want to say, however ,that enemies of mine and of Jack have brought this thing about I do not mean that the grand jury has been unfair, but it has been misled by false information.

"We will welcome any step that will give us a chance to prove that we are innocent. I am sure that there is nothing that can be held against either of us in any way. If Dempsey is guilty, then I am guilty."

CURLING

Playing in Lakefield.

Two rinks went to Lakefield at noon to-day for friendly games this afternoon. The Ridpath-Strickland club has been down to the Charlotte street rink quite often this winter and the local club desired to show their appreciation by return games. President G. H. Giroux arranged the rinks as follows: John Reid, M. J. Duffus, Andy Webb and George Boucher; R. Hamilton, Capt. Morrison, G. H .Giroux and A. R. Moore.

Millbrook To-night.

The Millbrook club is sending four rinks for games here this evening. They will arrive at 5.30 and return on the 9 o'clock train.

Finals of the Scheduled Games.

The scheduled games will likely be completed next week. Several games remain to be played but their results will not affect the group winners. The play-off will be between J. H. Connal, Alex Kay and George Stevenson, the respective winners of the three groups. The finals should produce close curling for the club prizes.

May Go to Campbellford.

Campbellford curlers have invited Peterborough to play them before the winter breaks and an effort will be made to send three rinks next week.

Lindsay Cup Games.

The only local cup games that remain are those with Lindsay. Several telephone communications between the two clubs have failed to find a day that would be acceptable to both. These games are usually as good as any the season produces, and will likely be played early in March.

A Local Bonspiel.

To wind up the season the local club may run a little bonspiel of their own, shaking up all the rinks and picking entirely new ones. This should prove an attraction to the members and offer a decided variation from the scheduled games that have been filling in the evenings since December.

A LETTER ON THE PETERBORO-KINGSTON GAME

Sporting Editor, Mail and Empire.

Sir,—The letter signed "An Admirer" in your issue of the 21st inst, is deeply resented in this city, because of the fact that it is not in accordance with the truth, and because it reflects on the sportsmanship of as fine a lad as there is to be found playing hockey in Canada. We in Kingston who know the lad treat the statement of the writer with contempt, but because of the wide circulation of your esteemed paper, it is considered that your readers are entitled to know more about the lad who is the subject of "An Admirer's" unjustified attack.

Corporal "Billy" Cook enlisted with Queen's University Battery in 1915, and proceeded to France, where he served for over three years. From France he volunteered for service in Russia, to which he proceeded, returning to Kingston in 1919, after four years' service, during which time he was decorated by his Majesty the King, "For bravery on the field." He has played all of his hockey in this, his home city. He has never at any time shown the slightest disposition to resort to "rough-house" tactics, with an opponent. True, he is a hard, energetic player, but he is also a boy of high character, and scorns to resort to foul tactics.

During the Peterboro-Kingston game in Kingston a mix-up occurred in front of the Pete's goal, a number of players were massed together, and the Pete's goalkeeper was apparently hurt in the mix-up. Referee Marsh ruled Cook off for the offence. Such things occur in games all over the country, and are considered settled when the referee penalizes the player. Outside of this one offence the penalties awarded by the referee amounted to six minutes for each side during the entire game; in other words, three Peterboro and three Kingston players drew penalties of two minutes each. Not very much in that for complaint surely. Peterboro fans claim that a number of their lads were used up during the contest. Well, honors must have been even, for three of the Kingston team sported severe cuts and bruises after the game also. It was stated by eye-witnesses that "Billy" Cook did not touch the goalkeeper at all, and was unjustly penalized. Referee Marsh, however, did his best to be fair in the matter, and with the exception of the Peterboro "flu" players, whom we regret were absent in the play-off at Belleville, all of the players of both teams were on the job, apparently none the worse for the game three nights previously. Incidently it might be interesting to your readers to know that the penalties handed out by Rerefee Munroe and Judge of Play LeSueur at Belleville were—Peterboro 31 minutes, Kingston 7 minutes.

Peterboro has a splendid team. They did their best to win. It was not the team's fault that a spectator at the game in Peterboro leaned over the side of the rink and knocked "Jimmy" Stewart unconscious, neither was it the team's fault that one of the Kingston players was assaulted in the penalty box by a Peterboro man at Belleville. If there has been any "rough sledding" in the round the Kingston team had to stand the gaff and take their medicine. Peterboro players lost to a good team. Pity that "An Admirer" has not just a wee bit more of the real sport in his make up. If he had he would have thought twice before he started in to defame the character of as high-class a boy as the one mentioned by him. Such attacks are cowardly in the eyes of the best thinking sportsmen in Canada.

Yours, etc.,
"KINGSTONIAN."

COLLINGWOOD WON ON SEAFORTH ICE

Champions Spring Surprise by Defeating Home Team 9 to 3.

SEAFORTH, Feb. 26. — Collingwood, last year intermediate O. H. A. champions, sprang a surprise to-night when they defeated the home team by a score of 9 to 3. After the locals' splendid showing against Wiarton it was confidently believed that they would give the champions a real battle for the honors, and their overwhelming defeat was the source of much disappointment. Until the third period the game was comparatively close though Collingwood led all the way, the score at the end of the first period being 4 to 2 ,and at the end of the second 5 to 2. When the third round commenced, however, the locals seemed to have lost heart, and the visitors ran in four tallies to Seaforth's one. The return game will be played in Collingwood on Tuesday night. The teams:

Referee—Lou Marsh, Toronto.

PREPARING FOR TYRONE POWER

SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE WAS IN THE CITY YESTERDAY.

Mr. L. J. Slevin, special representative for Tyrone Power and his company of theatrical stars, was in the city yesterday preparing some of the arrangements for the reception in Peterborough of the noted actor and his retinue. Mr. Tyrone Power has been in Toronto for the past two weeks and when it is known that he receives six and eight curtain calls each night, some idea of his popularity and merit can be gained. Mr. Power, who appears in Peterborough the second week in March in "The Servant in the House," has been characterized as one of the best actors on the stage to-day

GOOD PICTURES AT THE GRAND

In "Her Purchase Price" the feature picture at the Grand, Bessie Barriscale the popular screen idol has ample scope to display her wonderful gifts as an actress and her delicate intrepretation of the part she plays shows careful study and a full grasp of the possibilities of the situations. The story of the play is of a child stolen by Arabs from an English mother, who having been reared in the harem in India for the auction block accepts her fate, knowing no better. Her displays of temperment, however makes her an awkward proposition to handle in the harem and through her independent spirit she becomes involved in a love affair with a young Englishman travelling in India. Hearing of the affair her captors hurry her to the auction where she is bought by the Englishman, who having disguised himself as a Mohammedan gains entry to the auction Her subsequent life in England is filled with difficulties as she has not as yet grasped the civilized customs and some most amusing situations ensue until at the climax of the picture she turns out to be an heiress and is proved to be of British parentage.

Tom Mix appears in a humorous picture "In The Northern Wilds" in which he displays his marvellous horsemanship to best advantage. A side splitting strait comedy and a Gaumont News picture also supplement the programme

"A NIGHT IN HONOLULU"

The scenes of this latest play of Hawaiian life are laid on the Island of Hawaii. There are three acts. The action takes place in a small village on the bay of Hilo, not far from the volcano Kilauea. It concerns an episode in the life of a beautiful Hawaiian voodoo woman, an Englishman and their child. The play reveals the story of a night long past as one pictures a terrific storm raging on the outside of a hut. The voodoo woman amid the chants and weird music of her native companions is heard praying for the recovery of her infant who lies near death and for the safe return of her lover, who has gone to Hilo. An old Servitor enters and tells her the lover will never return to her, that he has gone to Hilo to await the arrival of the boat from England, which will bring him his swhite wife and baby. He swears by the great goddess Pele that his information is correct, shows her from the window the English vessel driver far out of her course by the storm and struggling in the breakers sending out calls for help. The natives in their superstitious fears do not dare aid the ill-fated vessel and it is wrecked, washing ashore many of the passengers, the majority of whom were drowned; among these is the white wife of the Englishman, but the child survives. The Hawaiian wife substitutes the white child for her own, rears her, and in the following two acts, which are supposed to take place seventeen years later, the child is seen as the girl "Kalama" favored by the gods and the idol of the natives.

This will be at the Grand Saturday, matinee and evening performance.

FISKE O'HARA

Fiske O'Hara, the popular Irish actor-singer, will be seen at the Grand on Wednesday, March 4th, in a new romantic comedy, "Down Limerick Way," by Anna Nichols, which has been judged by both critics and public as the brightest vehicle in which he has ever appeared. Sparkling shafts of Gaelic wit, enliven a novel and interesting plot, and there is a love story that is a dream of when the world is young During the action of the play, Mr. O'Hara will sing his new selections of song ballads, which are such an important feature of appeal to his audiences.

The supporting company is an excellent one, including Patricia Clary, Nan Bernard, Laurette Allen, Mary Louise Malloy, Robert H. Irving, J. P. Sullivan, J. E. Miller, W. T. Sheehan and Norman Post.

Mr. Augustus Pitou has given "Down Limerick Way" an elaborate production and there is a special augmented orchestra on tour, who will render selections as usual.

You'd startle your tailor if, when you wanted a suit of clothes, you asked him to submit a bid in competition with a dozen other tailors

"Why," he would say, "this is ridiculous. This man knows what kind of a suit of clothes I give him. He knows he can depend on the quality of the material, the make, the fit. He knows me, and has proved my work. Some fellow around the corner may underbid me—but what will he deliver?"

You don't buy tailoring that way. No man does. You know your tailor you rely on him, you trust him, you give him your work just as long as he turns out good work at prices that are fair.

Do you buy your printing as intelligently? Do you make it your business TO FIND A GOOD PRINTER as you do a good tailor, and then rely on his experience, his ability and his judgment?

WILLING TO BE TRIED IN GERMANY

GERMAN WAR CRIMINALS ASSUME FULL RESPONSIBILITY.

(Canadian Pres.)

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—A number of prominent generals and admirals accused by the Allies of war crimes, to-day issued a declaration which, while reiterating their refusal to appear before a foreign court, expresses willingness of the men to go to trial before a German judge in whose fairness they declare their confidence. Signors of the declaration are Gen. Enrich Ludendorff, former First Quartermaster-General, Admiral Alfred Stonierpit, former Minister of the Navy, Gen. Enrich Von Falkenhayn, former Chief of Staff, Field Marshal Von Kluck, Admiral Von Schroeder and numerous other generals and admirals. A German judge, the declaration asserts, will proceed according to German law. "We will only submit to trial conducted in accordance with these principles, but now that we know what the enemy accuses us of we expect our trial will be immediately carried out for the preservation of Germany and their own honor," the document continues. "We declare that we are prepared to assume full responsibility for all commands issued to our subordinates."

NAVAL POLICY OF GOVERNMENT

WILL ASK PARLIAMENT FOR TWENTY MILLION DOLLARS.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. — Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine, stated to-day that the government would ask parliament for a vote of twenty million dollars to complete the government mercantile marine ship-building programme.

The Minister of Marine stated that the government ship-building programme called for a total of sixty-two ships. Of these thirty had already been launched, while a number of others were in the course of construction. Questioned concerning the government's naval policy, Mr. Ballantyne stated that Admiral Jellico's report is now being printed and will possibly be brought down to the House within a week. He would not say whether the government proposed introducing any legislation based on the report. All the information he would give was to the effect that the government had decided on the course it proposed to pursue, but that it was premature to make an announcement at the present time. The naval bill and the new franchise bill were, he said, two of the most important matters to be brought before the House at the present session.

ALEX. GORDON

I asked him if Dr. Edward Wood was not his doctor. He said he had been going to Wood but Dr. Carmichael had been giving him the prescriptions for the heroin tablets. He said Dr. Carmichael was going to take an ex-ray of him.

To find the heroin tablets remarked the Magistrate.

Detective Cookman stated that he had been speaking to O'Brien a day or so ago and he he was like a raving lunatic sin ad quit taking it and he couldn't ep at nights.

Crown Attorney— "Do you know that he had it on the 17th?"

"No only from what the book shows and what he told me."

In his cross examination Mr. Gordon brought out that the accused was overseas but only reached England where he was for some time in a consumption sanitarium. Cookman admitted that in the chief's office, he said he used it for his cough at night.

William Madill, local druggist, was now put in the box. He produced his prescription book showing that on February 17, a prescription was given to J. O'Brien by Dr. Carmichael, for 24 1-6 grain heroin tablets, one to be taken each night. Mr. Madill said that the signature was correct.

He could not tell whether he or Mr. Borland filled the prescription and could not identify Mr. O'Brien as the one who got it.

When the Crown Attorney wanted to delve deeper into the prescription book the defence objected. "There's just the one day", Mr. Gordon said.

Cross examined by the Crown Attorney, Mr. Madill agreed that the 1-6 grain dose was not quite as usual as the 1-12. He also said that a man would be able to take a larger dose as he became edicted to the habit.

On further questioning by the Crown Atorney Mr. Gordon objected as Mr. Madill was not a qualified physician.

Mr. Madil said in reply to a question that in his mind the use of drugs was increasing.

"So are colds," was Mr. Gordon's comment. He also stated that morphine and salts of morphine in which class is heroin could only be sold on a doctor's prescription.

Dr. T. W. H. Young was the next witness. He explained that the dose of heroin prescribed depended entirely on the condition of the patient and how a man when he became used to taking it could take a great deal. He said that the 1-6 grain dose was the largest he knew of put up in tablet form by the druggists who get it from the manufacturers. He went on to explain how it was used to relieve coughs and bronchial disorders although not curing them and is much used in this way. He believed O'Brien could take one of the tablets every two hours till he got relief.

Habit Increasing.

Dr. Young claimed that the drug habit had certainly increased since prohibition.

In Mr. Gordon's cross examination Dr. Young agreed that if the man was suffering from tuberculosis he would require a large dose. The only use of the drug he said was to relieve the suffering, the effect being only temporary.

The chief witness, Dr. Carmichael was put in the witness box and questioned by Mr. Gordon.

"Did you examine Joseph O'Brien".

"Yes."

"From what was he suffering?"

"My diagnosis was tuberculosis of the throat and lungs," the doctor replied and said that from the history of the man he learned latter he felt this was the right diagnosis. He said he prescribed the heroin merely to make him sleep and relieve the cough. He warned Mr. O'Brien of the possible results of the use of the Drug and corroborated all that Dr. Young said as to the use of the drug.

When questioned as to whether he could use them up in 24 hours he said from what he learned later he believed he could.

You don't know anything outside of morphine that would give the same result.

"No."

Dr. Carmichael told how the accused was waiting to go to Kingston Sanitarium each day but there was no room so he gave him the heroin in the meantime.

Dr. Carmichael was put through a rigid cross examination by Crown Attorney Hatton. It was brought out that the doctor did not know how many times or how many prescriptions he gave O'Brien or what time intervened between the prescriptions.

Dr. Carmichael firmly stated that he was very careful in giving prescriptions and would not consider giving them less than 10 days or two weeks apart.

In replying to the Crown Atorney's question he said that two hundred tabiets used in twenty days would be a very excessive amount to be used and a man would have to be addicted to the use of it to use so much. He said he thought O'Brien could use that much from his observation.

This concluded the defence. Crown Attorney Hatton held that the man had in his possession the heroin that was not needed as a medicine and that the amount he used constituted him a dope fiend as the doctor stated that 200 tablets in 20 days was an excessive amount and would make any one a dope fiend.

Mr. G. N. Gordon made a stirring appeal claiming that it was used only for medicinal purposes and the Magistrate in reviewing the case agreed with the counsel for the defence. The case was dismissed.

HER IDEA VERY MUCH WRONG

Hired Girl Made Trouble by Sticking to the Precept, "Better Late Than Never."

Commander John G. Towers, who is in charge of the navy's transatlantic flight plans, said at a New York banquet:

"The better late than never method doesn't go in aviation any better than it went in the Jones case.

"Jones was a drummer and his wife during one of his trips gave birth to a son and seemed in a pretty bad way in consequence, so a telegram to that effect was given to the hired girl for dispatch to Jones, but the girl put it in her apron pocket and forgot all about it.

"Well, by luck, the next day Jones came home. His wife was then much better. He saw his son and departed again well pleased.

"A couple of weeks passed when the hired girl found the forgotten telegram in her pocket and in a panic sent it off to Jones, saying nothing to anybody about her remissness. And that is how it came about that Jones was horrified at dinner at his hotel that evening to get a wire which said:

"'Another addition, a son; your wife very ill; return at once.'

"'Another?' poor Jones groaned. 'Impossible!' Then he added. 'What a terrible thing! Her condition must indeed be very grave.'

"He took the express and got home the next morning in a state of frenzy. The hired girl confessed all.

"'I thought it was better to send the telegram late than never, Mr. Jones,' she said."

Garlic in the Milk.

As to milk diluted by the light diet of the cow, what is this compared with the garlic to which any one at breakfast in Italy in spring is subject without warning? The mere tourist is no doubt guarded by a taster in the hotel keeper's service, but the resident may any morning find his milk or his butter or both made impossible by a flavor more rank than any onion. The Italian cow evidently loves the garlic plant and inconsiderately feasts upon it, with consequences overpowering to the senses of man.—London Mirror.

The Famous Lake Windermere in B.C.

(1) There are trees on the banks of the Lake.
(2) On the Banff-Windermere road.

Nestling in the heart of a two-hundred-mile-long valley between the Canadian Rockies and the Selkirk Mountains, Lake Windermere has attracted to its very beautiful shores a considerable settlement of ranchers, who by means of an excellent irrigation system, grow alfalfa, potatoes, smaller fruits and certain varieties of apple and cherry trees. There are several successful dairy farms, and the Valley is particularly well adapted for horse breeding. The wonderful scenery of the creeks and canyons leading up to the Great Selkirk icefield is easily accessible from this Valley, and the number of tourists and Alpine climbers who make this their summer headquarters is steadily increasing.

Already there is a small tourist hotel, and there is talk of a Tent City for the forthcoming summer, on the lines of the Tent Cities at Coronado Beach and other popular resorts in the United States. The water of the Lake which is ten miles long is of a uniform temperature of about 66 degrees, and there are excellent beaches beside the local golf course.

The Valley is served by the Kootenay Central Railway, connecting the main line of the C. P. R. at Golden, B.C., with the Crow's Nest branch at Colvalli and Cranbrook. As the district is best known on account of the Lake, the names of several of the Stations are to be changed. "Athalmer" will now be known as "Lake Windermere"; "Environ" will be changed to "Columbia Lake," and "Bentrick" to "Lake Bank".

Under an agreement between the Federal Government and the B. C. Government, the Banff-Windermere Road now under construction will form part of the National Parks System, and will be completed by the Federal Government. This road will render accessible to motor cars some of the most spectacular scenery in the Canadian Rockies, and should bring many more tourists to one of the most delightful lake districts in Western Canada.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralising effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralise the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder of tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In answer to the letter signed "Labor" and to all whom it may concern: The United Farmers Clubs did NOT ignore or neglect the I.L.P. The President of the Independent Labor Party did receive an invitation to be present, accompanied by a complimentary ticket. While most others invited "outside of the labor circle," were permitted to pay the prescribed fee of one dollar and fifty cents, which I believe they did gladly for the opportunity of being present. The half hour before the banquet a telephone message was received from the President of the I.L.P. saying he could not be present owing to not feeling well. A seat had been reserved for him at the head table.

WHY PETERBORO CLERKS HAVE GRAY HAIR

Scene—The kitchen goods department of a Peterboro retail store.

Enter Mrs. Would B. Housekeeper, dainty, demure and smiling—but with a glint of determination in her eye——a sort of "I-don't-believe-it-and-I'm-going-to-find-out" expression. One of the clerks steps forward and the following dialogue ensues:

"I want to look at a kitchen cabinet, please."

"Certainly. Would you prefer the all-white finish?"

"Well, my kitchen is finished in old gold and geranium pink. I suppose the cabinets do not come in assorted colors?"

"No, I'm afraid not, Madam. Natural wood and the white enamel."

"Enamel—it sounds so dreadfully like something you put in teeth. But I'll look at it. There's one thing I do insist upon—it must have a lot of sifters—for sugar and flour and things you know, I think sifters are the cutest things."

"There is a flour sifter."

"Oh, dear! Just one. What will I ever do for breakfast. You know I must do my own work. My husband and I have just married and he likes oatmeal and rice and shredded wheat and things. They need sifting, I suppose."

"I scarcely think so, Madam. However, suppose we look at the cabinet. It is in the rear of the store. Will you kindly step this way?"

"Why don't you keep them up here where it's handy? Very well, I suppose I have no business telling you how to run your own store. Is that a kitchen cabinet? It looks like an organ. The advertisement said it saved steps. Can you tell me how many?"

"That really depends upon how you go about it. They really are convenient. Here is the stool. You sit on it, pull out drawers and special pie boards, open doors and it isn't necessary to move during the entire operation of—well, let us say, making a pie."

"But I don't know how to make pies!"

"Bread, perhaps."

"I can't bake bread. I thought I had told you I was just starting house-keeping."

"Whatever the work, Madam, you can sit on the stool, with things handy and within easy reaching distance. That's the idea of the kitchen cabinet. It is a conserver of space. It puts system in a kitchen."

"Oh, what a cunning little stool! I'm sure I will not be able to stay on it. If I buy this cabinet could you arrange to have a larger top put on the stool?"

"They come in one size only."

"How silly! Just as though all women were the same size. It makes you feel positively childish, sitting on a stool. All one needs is a dunce cap. What's this door down here?"

"That is a place for keeping supplies, canned stuff, bulk goods, etc."

"But I would have to lean over to get them. I couldn't reach down there from the stool!"

"Well, something had to be on the bottom of the cabinet. You keep emergency things down here."

"Olives and anchovies, I presume."

"Anything you desire."

"And these funny racks on this side door. What are they for?"

"A place for at least ten flavoring extracts, Madam."

"Ten! My goodness, I only use vanilla. Did you think I intended to run a soda fountain or something?"

"Oh, there are many kinds of flavoring—almond, lemon, orange——."

"Do the flavors come with the cabinet?"

"No, the cabinet provides only the racks for them."

"Now, isn't that just like a manufacturer! How can I tell which is which, even if I ever wanted to make an orange pie?"

"It really doesn't make and differance—their rotation."

"And these shelves?"

"For coffee, tea, spices, packages of crackers. There are jars for them."

"My husband never drinks coffee. He prefers Postum. Can you change one of those to a Postum jar?"

"The coffee container will do for that, Madam."

"Then I must take the one marked coffee?"

"The letters could be scratched off and——"

"Now don't say that. Isn't it horrid of you storekeepers to sell a person a makeshift. What else is in the cabinet?"

"Here are more shelves, and —"

"More shelves! There seems to be nothing else. It's really more like a clothes closet. What can I do with so many empty shelves?"

"That is for you to decide, Madam."

"It's merely a big white box with some planks in it, after all"!

"The cabinet is absolutely sanitary, Madam. It is constructed in a scientific way."

"I never liked science, even when I attended college. You refer to it as if it were a bookcase. But what are those little jiggers up above there?"

"Seasoning containers—each glass jar is for a different spice."

"What, more flavorings! Are you sure you are not showing me the hotel size?"

"But, Madam, when you cook you will need spices. Take cloves, for instance——"

"Cloves! Those are the horrid things that men used to get in barrooms. I would have you know that my husband doesn't drink and neveh has. I won't have them about the house."

"The cabinet is patterned as you see it, Madam. You need use only such features as you wish, of course."

"Tell me—where do I keep the Irish potatoes and the sweet potatoes? Are there special compartments for them?"

"I do not think they belong in the cabinet at all, Madam."

"Where do you think I would keep them—in my dresser drawer?"

"In the cellar perhaps."

"We live in an apartment."

"I suppose the potatoes could be kept underneath here."

"Then you mean to tell me there are no special jars for potatoes! Why they are ever so much more important than cloves and nutmegs and vanilla."

"This cabinet, Madam, is intended for certain definite purposes only."

"Tell me another thing. Has any provision been made for salt for freezing ice cream? My husband and I are very fond of ice cream. Is this the ice cream salt place?"

"That tin container, Madam, is for the sugar."

"Then there is no place, either, for the salt?"

"Not that I know of."

"Really, I never heard of such a stupid kitchen cabinet. The really essential things have been forgotten. You will be telling me next that there is no place for salt mackerel and other sea food, you know, things one serves for late suppers."

"Those articles belong to the ice box, I would say, Madam."

"You don't need ice for salt mackerel."

"But it would give an unpleasant odor to the other things in the cabinet, if you placed it there, I am afraid, Madam."

"My husband likes mackerel very much; salted mackerel. Just because you think it smells badly doesn't mean that everyone does. It's an acquired taste."

"I was referring to the odor, Madam."

"And this—what is this?"

"A patent meal chart. You turn it around, day by day, and a different combination comes up. It is simply an added feature of the cabinet."

"Breaded lamb chops, potato salad, stewed tomatoes—impossible. My husband doesn't care for any of these dishes!"

"But you do not necessarily have to follow the chart."

"On Tuesdays I do. The chart says so."

"Not at all. You may ignore the food chart entirely."

"Then I am not getting my money's worth out of the purchase. If I do not take the chart, you will give me a reduction in price, will you not?"

"I can scarcely do that, Madam. I must sell you the cabinet as it is sold to me. I think you will find the chart rather a help than otherwise, once you become acquainted with it."

"There is another menu: it says cooked over veal for Monday lunch. Suppose I had no veal in the house. Even if it rained, I should be compelled to go out and get some. I think you had better show me some other cabinet—one without cooked-over veal, if you please."

"Where is a natural wood model. It is not as expensive as the white enamel."

"That's right, because I want what I want, you insult me. I don't want a cheap kitchen cabinet."

"The white enamel, Madam, is a splendid piece of kitchen furniture."

"Furniture. Humph, you have no Louis XV. parlor gas ranges, have you? Just because I am a beginner at house-keeping, please do not think I am a perfect little idiot. Tell me, is there any danger of my little dog getting caught in this cabinet and smothering to death. The doors are dreadfully close to the floor."

"I do not think you need fear on that score, Madam."

"Is this cabinet fire-proof?"

"I have never heard of a fire-proof kitchen cabinet."

"But things intended for the kitchen should be. If you were a married man—a home man—I would not have to tell you that."

"I am married, have five children and have been house-keeping for many years, Madam."

"Oh, is that so? But to return to this little matter: If we have an ice-box, do you really think we shall need a kitchen cabinet?"

"The two serve entirely different purposes, Madam."

"They're both for food?"

"I don't need you to tell me that. However, just open all the doors again. Now, suppose I sit just here on this stool and suppose I am making an oyster stew, what would be the first thing I would do?"

"Why not select a more appropriate dish, Madam——"

"None of your tricks. I am making an oyster stew. What is my next move?"

"Granting that the oysters are in a bowl and you are seasoning them, and——"

"Confine yourself to the stew. How would I make that part, using the cabinet, of course."

"Upon my word, Madam, I don't know what to say: I——"

"Is there another clerk in this store? Will some one wait on me who understands the merchandise?"

"But a stew is a stew, Madam. I supposed you would reach up for the pepper and salt. Then you would go to the icebox for the milk, and—"

"Get down from the stool and go to the icebox?"

"Yes."

"But I thought you said I could sit right here and not waste a single step: that's what the advertising promised."

"No provision has been made for keeping milk in the kitchen cabinet, Madam——"

"Do you mean to tell me that the most important thing in cooking can't be kept in the cabinet? You'll be saying there is no jar for butter next! I guess I'll put off buying a cabinet until they perfect the things."

"But, Madam——"

"That is all! I do not care to hear any more. It takes a housewife—a woman—to discover the inherent weaknesses in so-called household conveniences. This cabinet is a farce. Since I have been talking to you I have been examining the under side and there is absolutely no provision for a drip pan. I see. Good-day! Men are so stupid!"

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HAIR BEAUTIFUL

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Falling Hair and Dandruff and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de Composee) and a little Menthol Crystals. These three, mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. Bay Rum and 1-2 drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again, rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you will not find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be locked on your scalp as tight as a vise. Dandruff will disappear. You will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its result.

Here's the reason the Brunswick Plays all records as they should be played.

The 3-in-1 ULTONA describes just the right arc on each make of record.

Correct position for playing Edison Diamond Disc Records. (Less weight required)
Correct position for playing Sapphire Ball "Hill and Dale" Records, such as Pathe, etc.
Correct position for playing Talking Machine Steel Needle Records, such as BRUNSWICK, Victor, Columbia, etc.

THERE is only one RIGHT way to do anything

To reproduce ALL of the music recorded in ANY record, any make; to bring out ALL the tones of ALL the instruments in the orchestra in exact relation to the singer's voice or the solo instrument, the reproducer MUST lay over the record in absolutely the correct position. This the Ultona does on ALL records.

It plays each make of record in the EXACT position, with the precise needle and correct weight each make of record requires.

Some Finer Points in Record Rendering

When you wish to play a "hill and dale" record, of which the Pathe record is a type, not only should the needle be at the correct angle, but it should be held properly in position. An ordinary set screw holding the shank of the needle against the inside wall of the holder will not do. It permits vibration which is apt to make the record "blast." The correct way is that used on the Brunswick Ultona, where a collar screw encircles the entire shank of the needle. This holds the needle firmly all around and eliminates any possibility of vibration. Good "hill and dale" records never blast when played on a Brunswick.

The Edison Diamond Disc Record should engage with the needle at an exact right angle. Otherwise the record will not play its best. This record also requires less pressure than other records. Note the illustration above. See how the Ultona lays over the Diamond Disc Record close to the surface, in an absolutely vertical position, forming a true right angle where it engages the face of the record. And note also how the Ultona's adjustable weight is shifted back to provide for the diminished pressure.

And then just a twist of the wrist and you have the position for playing Brunswick, Victor and other steel needle records. But, most important of all, you have a separate place for the steel needle, thus eliminating the trouble of taking out a jewel point and inserting a steel needle when changing from a "hill and dale" record to "lateral cut."

The Brunswick is Truly "All Phonographs in One"

Just you hear it play ANY record BETTER--and play them correctly. Let your ears be the judge. It is one thing to play all records, but another thing to play them ALL CORRECTLY

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wrecks; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Eminent specialists state that one of the best things for the nerves is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

By strengthening the nerves, weak, tired people regain energy and vigor; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health.

CAUTION.— Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so, that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks. Those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

M'GILL STILL AFTER GEDDES

(Special to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—One of the leading governors of McGill University, the chief of the delegation which interviewed Geddes when he accepted the position of Principal and the Vice-Chancellor, interviewed regarding the cable from London that Geddes is to go to Washington, said: "We are still quite confident that he will come to McGill. The latest communication we have had from him are very definite and emphatic on points submitted to him for his decision as head of McGill, and he indicated in the fullest and free manner that he is coming here to take up his appointment. He could not honorably turn down McGill, but it may be, that under pressure from Lloyd George, and other members of the British Cabinet, he may come to McGill via Washington."

Asked to enlarge on this view, the Governor said: "Well, it is best to let your readers form their own judgment. Washington might not take kindly to him if it thought his stay there was going to be a very brief one.

FEMININE FINANCE.

"John, do you know that hat I bought yesterday for $20? Well, they reduced them to $10 this morning."

"Then you are out $10 for not waiting till this morning."

"No, dear, only five. I went downtown today and bought another one for $10, making the two of them average $15 each."—Boston Transcript.

SILK STRIPED SHIRTS TICKLES MEN'S FANCY

"Barber Pole" Designs in Great Demand For Next Summer.

CINCINNATI.—"Our company in New York has orders for 1,3,000,000 of shirts for the spring of 1920, and 50 per cent. of this amount is for silk shirts. Many of the other shirts will have silk stripes. Never has there been such a craze for silks. Ten years ago we sold virtually no silk shirts. The workman, now earning more than ever, wears silk shirts, but wealthy men do not. They know that cheaper weaves will give better service. Next year, however, silk shirts will be high—$20 to $25 higher—and the demand is bound to fall off."

This statement was made at the convention of the Ohio Retail Clothiers' and Furnishers' Association in this city by Louis B. Tim of New York, Secretary of the largest high grade shirt manufacturing company in the world.

No Cross Benches In the Parliament

PERFUME OF THE OPENING DAY AND ITS POMP AND SPLENDOUR STILL HAUNTS COMMONS CHAMBER.

THE SEATING

OTTAWA, Feb. 28. — Parliamentarians are so busily engaged in escorting themselves in their new quarters and in treading the intricate maze of the many miles of corridors, that they have not yet really got down to a calm consideration of what the session will bring forth. The session ad possession of the Commons Chamber during the opening and the fair ix crowded the floors and corridors to the almost absolute exclusion of the members. Now the desks have replaced the chairs, and the Commons has been cleared for action though the perfume of the opening day ad its pomp and splendor lingers around it still.

Seats have been allotted to the members and the allocation does not entirly meet with satisfaction, owing to the configuration of the Chamber. There are no cross benches. On the rier hand owing to the fact that the overnment ranks, including the independents, exceeds those of the official opposition, there is an overflowand that overflow comprises many motley elements.

Mixed together in this overflow areachind the members from all the provces of Confederation.

Tether, however, in a small group are Jinston of Last Mountain, Maharg of Maple Creek, Knox of Prince Albg Reid of Mackenzie; Caldwell, of Vtoria, (Carleton), Gould of Assiboia; Halbert of North Ontario; Innedy of Glengarry; the four newarmer members above named beinplaced side by side.

The small area debouches upon the Fren Canadian members of the Opposin. Hon. T. A. Crerar, who is a deskate of Dr. Clark, is also along side L. S. Leslisle, of Port Neuf, and Maher of Maple Creek.

Clslin of Lincoln who is reputed to hp paid four hundred and fifty thousnds dollars in war taxes to the treasy last year, has threatened to movhis seat bodily across the floor if it not moved for him before Monk, while McIsaacs of Prince Edwd Island has haughtily declared hintention of keeping out of the chanir entirely if he is left among the orflow. "Fashion-Craft" has also secured a new window dresser and salesman in the person of Mr. Roy Irwin, who comes as an adept in these lines after having enjoyed considerable experience in larger cities.

WESTERN FARMERS ARE PREPARING FOR FIGHT IN THE FEDERAL ARENA

UNITED FARMERS READY FOR A BIG DRIVE TO FILL THE WAR CHEST--SIX DOLLARS FROM EACH FARM HOME.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Feb. 28.—The United Farmers of Manitoba are preparing for a "drive" for funds, which opens on 8th March in all the rural Federal constituencies.

The largest portion of the fund is to be used for organisation for the next Federal campaign.

It is the objective of the "drive" to get from each farm home in the Province $6.00. As there are about fifty thousand farm homes in Manitoba, the drive is expected to yield about $300,000. Of this, about $200,000 will be devoted to organisation for the Federal campaign.

ST. PAUL'S WENT OVER THE TOP

OVER $30,000 CONTRIBUTED TO THE FORWARD MOVEMENT.

This is the record of St. Paul's Church in the Forward Movement the past three weeks.

The objective of $25,000.00 was reached the second week of the Canvass and continued on its upward course until it has gone beyond the objective nearly $6,000.00 with a few pledge cards still to be returned to the Treasurer.

This brings to a close the most remarkable canvass in the history of St. Paul's Church.

The committee wish to thank all the contributors to the fund, and also those who gave their generous support to it which carried the canvass to success and made it a source of pleasure to all those who had a part in it.

Chairman.

THE WEATHER

This morning was ushered in by six degrees below zero; an overcast sky with hoar frost on the trees and fences. During the night twenty below zero was reached. This will surprise some who were not out, but those who were will not question the figures. A number of people have asked me as to the dates of low temperatures here in Peterboro. The following are the lowest: Feb. 10, 1912, 30 degrees below; Jan. 19, 1904, 30 below; Feb. 17, 1896, 38 below; Feb. 18, 1892, 34 degrees below.—W.P.

STOCK MARKET

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Railroad shares provided the only encouraging feuarte of the week in the securities market. Other issues continued to react as signs of tighter credits assumed more definite form.

Call money fluctuated between 10 and 15 per cent. against the ruling rate of 6 per cent. in the preceding fortnight, and time money was increasingly scarce in face of higher bids. Further notice of restricted monetary conditions was given by the Federal Reserve Board, accompanied by a moderate advance of local rates for short time accommodations based on treasury certificates of indebtedness.

Much of the unsettlement in the stock market was caused by very unfavourable annual statements of earnings submitted by Republic Iron and Lackawanna Steel Companies. In trade circles, however, these exhibits were not accepted as symptomatic of existing conditions in industry.

The return of the railroads to private operation next week furnished a basis for an advance of three to ten points in that group, more substantial gains being made by shares of so-called reorganised properties.

Wall Street credits west and southwest, with heavy accumulation of these stocks, whose speculative possibilities entered largely into their strength and activity. Opinion respecting the merits of the Railroad Bill continues widely divergent.

Motor Busses Prevailing Means of Transport Seven Years From Now.

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 28.—Motor busses will be the prevailing system of transportation in Winnipeg within seven years, J. G. Glassco, manager of the city light and power department, predicts. He said he believed the present street car system will be obsolete by that time and that rails would be removed from the streets.

STRAIGHT INVITATION FOR PRODUCERS TO BOOST FOOD PRICES

"DOSE OF LACK OF CONTROL" NOT APPRECIATED BY THE PUBLIC---ACTION ON SUGAR CRITICISED.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—The Board of Commerce promises early to push itself into parliamentary limelight. The government must early give out a statement regarding the retirement of Judge Robson from the chairmanship, that is required to dissipate irresponsible rumors which are going the round. In the meantime, however, it cannot be said that the Board has strengthened its popularity by removing the sugar restrictions for the apparent defiberate purpose of giving the public a "dose of lack of control." Among critics this action is taken as a straight invitation to the manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers to boost prices and the morality of the principle involved is strongly questioned.

SUNDAY STREET CARS FOR CITY

Mr. G. N. Gordon has received a letter from H. Hartley Dewart the leader of the Opposition in the Legislature, saying that he would be glad to support an amendment to the law allowing cities to vote on the question of whether the ratepayers desired the operation of Sunday street cars. Mr. Dewart put his reasons for supporting this amendment on the ground that the public should be trusted to manage their own affairs, and undue restrictions should not be placed upon Municipalities in matters of purely local concern.

NEWSPAPERS HAVE TO GET FIVE MILLIONS TO CARE FOR INCREASED PRODUCTION COST

According to a well-informed authority who has made a study of the subject; Canadian daily newspapers this year will have to gather up an increased revenue of not less than five million dollars to take care of increased production costs.

Few industries have been hit to the same extent by abnormal increases in the cost of raw material and labour, and none have been more slow in raising the price of their manufactured product.

Newspaper readers have become so accustomed to the normal price of newspapers that they do not think of the fight the publisher has had to put up against mounting costs.

It is true that advertising charges have been increased, but the limit that Canadian publishers have been able to go in this direction will not furnish this year the money necessary to carry on.

It may be that some publishers will conclude that the best policy is to restrict their news services and the volume of their news contents. Indeed, many have done this already.

Others will conclude that the interest of the reader is paramount, and will continue their news services unabated, keeping up the size of their papers accordingly.

It all depends upon the appetite for news which the readers have developed. Where a daily is looked to for the complete news of the day it cannot afford to sacrifice the interests of its readers. Even if compelled to pay more money for their daily paper, they will still demand a complete newspaper.

It will be interesting to observe the trend of newspaper publishers during the next few months. Only three courses are open to them. Either they must curtail the news of the day, and thus fail to satisfy those who demand a complete newspaper; or they must raise their subscription rates, or their publishers must be content not only to see living profits vanish, but to make good actual losses.

Few Canadian newspapers are in a commercial position to follow the course last adopted, owing to the present low subscription prices and advertising rates.

ALL THE SCHOOLS CLOSED IN MONTREAL

Special to Examiner.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28th. — The "flu" has closed every Protestant school in the city of Montreal until next Tuesday morning. When the classes were quitting yesterday afternoon for the week end they were told not to return until Tuesday, because the teaching staff was so exhausted, with the increased work of last month due to so many teachers being absent through the influenza that the School Commissioners had granted them holidays on Monday and Tuesday.

FOUR MAIN POINTS OF BOLSHEVISM

AS RECOUNTED BY ANGLICAN MINISTER JUST RETURNED FROM ODESSA.

The Rev. R. Courtier-Forster, for the past nine years Anglican chaplain at Odessa, passed through yesterday from the west on his way to England for a year's vacation.

Was Imprisoned by Bolshevists.

During the short time in which the Canadian Pacific train stopped at Port Arthur yesterday morning, Mr. Forster explained that he had been denounced by the bolshevists as a political propagandist and had suffered imprisonement at their hands. He was sent to Lemberg and thence deported to Galacia, later escaping to Austria, and, under the aegis of the British consulate, eventually resumed his work, with protection promised for the future, at Odessa.

Bolshevism's Four Points.

Mr. Forster said he had had an interesting conversation with a Russian who had hopes of converting him to the movement, and the Russian pointed out to the chaplain the four points of bolshevism as follows:

(1) The religious instinct, and especially the Christian religion, was all wrong. All the present ideas of sin, self and God must be eliminated from the mind of man.

(2) The world was wrong in regard to marriage and family life. There ought to be no lasting union between any one man and any one woman. All unions should be free and promiscuous. Children were to be permitted to be brought up by their parents, if both expressed a wish to that end, but it was much to be preferred that children should be brought up apart from their parents in a sort of concentration camp.

(3) Private property was altogether wrong. Everything must be the property of the local Soviet, including money, houses, furniture and clothes.

(4) There must be complete abolition of all forms of centralized government, and the substitution of local Soviets.

Mr. Forster gave a hurried sketch of conditions in the neighborhood of Odessa under bolshevist rule. Two metropolitans and twenty bishops were assassinated, over sixty priests were driven from their parishes and arrived at Kieff in a destitute and starving condition. About six hundred clergy were murdered throughout the country, and everything in connection with Christianity was ridiculed. Services were interrupted and broken up with cries of "Down with Religion." A twenty-five rouble tax was levied on every ikon and a British officer just returned from Russia had brought a photograph showing a picture of the devil painted on the dome of the church of St. Nicholas at Helsingfors. It was a mistake to suppose that the rich alone suffered, for the small grocer's shop and the little tailor's were raided with impartiality. The nationalization of women was not part of the bolshevist scheme, though articles for and against the proposal appeared in the bolshevist press. Outrages against women and girls were of frequent occurrence but no attempt was made by the local Soviets to punish the offenders.

NOTE CALLS PRESIDENT WILSON'S ATTENTION TO THE MUCH DISPUTED SECRET PACT OF LONDON.

ADRIATIC DISPUTE

(United Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The Franco-British Premiers never intended to act finally in the Adriatic dispute between Italy and Jugo-Slavia without first consulting the United States, they assert in their reply to President Wilson's latest communication.

The reply, dated 25th February, agrees with Wilson that any settlement mutually agreeable to Italy and Jugo-Slavia would be the ideal adjustment. It expresses the willingness of the Council of Premiers to withdraw its proposals of 9th December and 20th January, and again points out that the absence of an American representative in the Allies' deliberations has proved an insurmountable obstacle.

SECRET PACT.

As to the much-disputed secret pact of London, the note invites Wilson's co-operation. It insists that this secret agreement, by which Italy was to be given a valuable concession in the Adriatic for entering the war on the side of the Allies, was necessitated by the military situation at the time it was signed.

Calling the President's attention to the urgency for an early settlement of the dispute, the Premiers again point out that in event that Italy and Jugo-Slavia are able to reach no voluntary agreement, Great Britain and France will again face the Italian demand for the enforcement of the London agreement.

Some observers saw significance in the conference between Premier Lloyd-George and M. Pasitch, former Premier of Serbia, and one of the leaders in the Jugo-Slav camps.

They believed, in view of the reports yesterday, that the two leaders may have discussed the reported decision of Italy and Jugo-Slavia to settle the Adriatic dispute.

PETERBORO FAIR GROUNDS

A few years ago it was proposed that the Fair grounds should be purchased from Mr. R. A. Morrow and kept as a permanent fair ground, the matter was submitted to the people and voted on; the result was that the proposal was snowed under, not because the people disapproved of an agricultural show, but because they are opposed paying out their money for what always has been, and what they consider would continue to be, a contingent nuisance.

Without in use as a fair ground for the days in each year it was a nuisance.

It consists of 20 acres of land stretching for 1800 feet across the city, absolutely dividing the north from the south a belt of land 436 feet in width losing up all roads and streets. It would close up 100 lots so as to be free from city taxes, shutting out improvements of every kind, preventing the erection of a quarter of a million dollars worth of buildings and making necessary to travel around this 1800 foot block to go to the south part the city, or from the south to the north. When not in use for a fair ground is used for a lot of horses to trot horses on and for a couple days each summer as a circus and, and on other days and night a rendezvous for tramps and night birds.

It is proposed that a lot of money expended on the ground for new buildings. This will call for money from the taxpayers; every new building will fasten this incubus on the land and make it constantly more costly to keep up and more difficult to pull up stakes. If the city must have a fair, all right, but decide early so that the people won't be hampered. Buy 20 or more acres a couple of miles out of town on the line of one of our railways. They go out from the centre thus: South on the old Cobourg and Peterborough line, south-east on grand junction, south-east on the C. P. R., north-west on Lindsay branch, west on C.P.R., south on G.T.R. to Millbrook.

Surely the fair directors can get suitable land within two miles of the city for one-tenth part of the cost of the Morrow land. And such fair ground would cut the city in two and injure the city.

This present fair ground with its unsightly fence and enclosed darkness is not a good thing for the city. It is no ornament and it hurts all the property around it. I won't attempt to controvert all that might be said in favor of a yearly fair though, whether it is worth the cost is another matter.

Let Smithtown not fasten down an eternal nuisance on the shoulders of the city—cut the knot now, when it is easy to do and you will never cease to be thankful for your action in getting this burden off your shoulders.

ASIA GREAT DANGER POINT

As Today, and Has Been for All Time, the Home of Plague and Pestilence.

Asia is the home of plague and many other pests. The facilities for travel have brought Asia and our Pacific coast together, while the possession of the Philippines has multiplied the occasions for intercourse with the far east. Thus, says the Journal of the American Medical Association, the diseases of Asia threaten the lives and health of the American population, and the situation has been aggravated by the conditions of war. With the unvarying persistence of bubonic plague in Asia, it seems timely to lay further stress on these points.

The obstacles in the way of successfully grappling with the plague problem in Asia are almost insurmountable. The natives object to wholesale inoculation and rat destruction; hence the only effective mode of procedure is most difficult to carry out. Religious scruples against the slaughter of animals, even vermin, are prevalent throughout India. Consequently it may be taken for granted that plague will continue to persist in Asia, and as it is extremely rife in the two great ports of that continent, Hong Kong and Bombay, it is not an impossibility that it will be conveyed thence to American ports on the Pacific coast. While there is no doubt that our health authorities are awake to the danger, it is well to know that the danger exists in Asia.

History Repeats Itself.

A charming little incident has taken place in Doctor Johnson's house, Gough square. A party of soldiers visited the Mecca and they got a colored member of the party to read aloud from the famous dictionary. He did so in excellent style. An inquiry revealed the fact that he was a native of Jamaica. All lovers of Johnson will remember it was Francis Barber of Jamaica who was the doctor's faithful servant, to whom he left a handsome bequest. And Barber once went to sea. The coincidence of a Jamaican sailor reading aloud the dictionary in the old house was certainly curious.—London Daily Chronicle.

No Worry—No Trouble—No Waste

When pressed for time—when you must wait for your oven—when you cannot get the right temperature—these are the causes of your troubles on bake days when you use the wrong kind of baking powder.

To have enjoyable results of a day's baking, to have no worry or wasted cakes and pastry despite adverse contions, you must first be careful about the baking powder you select.

Use

EGG-O Baking Powder

It does its work absolutely. Its double action makes it a never failing leavener, notwithstanding having to wait on your oven.

Always follow the directions—one level teaspoonful to one level cup of well sifted flour. By doing so, you use a quarter to a half less EGG-O, and get better results.

COAL PRODUCTION IN ALBERTA FOR USE IN PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

The following report of coal section of Edmonton board of trade r chamber f commerce on the matter of coal production in Alberta for use in the province of Ontario is taken from the Edmonton Bulletin.

Inasmuch as the Canadian Manufacturers Association from their head offices in Toronto and Montreal are considering the advisibality of seeking coal supply from western Canada, and have appointed a committee to investigate the resurces, development and qualities of coal in western Canada: and the cost of transporting coal to the province of Ontario, giving as some of their reasons and objects, the following:

"r Whereas Ontario is not possessed of any coal deposits, and is therefore dependent upon a supply of its fuel coming from a foreign country over which the Ontario consumers and the government of Canada have no control: and,

Whereas the industrial life of Ontario is largely dependent upon the good will of the American people for its suply of coal: and,

Whereas there is always the possibility of the United States being so situated that its whole supply of coal might be required to insure its own protection: and,

2. Whereas the government railways in Canada, particularly the Canadian National, and the Grand Trunk Pacific which apparently the government contemplates operating, are yearly faced with heavy deflicts which arise through lack of sufficient traffic to assure a profitable conduct of their business; and,

3. Whereas the province of Alberta is possessed of unlimited quantities of all varieties of soal suitable for Ontario's needs; and,

4. Whereas Alberta is a large market for Ontario manufacturers and that this market will best be maintained and consolidated through the correct methods of commerce being applied, namely, by selling to Ontario as well as buying from them; and,

5. Whereas Canada is largely indebted to the United States through the development of our own resources and industries, with the result that the time seems to be approaching when we will only be able to purchase from the United States for cash:

Therefore, it is in the best interest of Canada that the Dominion Government, and the government of the province of Alberta should co-operate to bring about the desired condition of making Canada independent of any foreign country in its fuel supply, and thus retain for the development of Canada the means of exchange which comes about through using our own coal, and thus stimulating every branch of industry through the good results which would follow, which may be summed up in a variety of ways:

First—Relieving Canada of a large portion of the annual deflict of the railways.

Second—The building up of an industry in the province of Alberta which would be a large consumer of Canadian made goods. And,

Lastly—By having the foresight to assure a supply of fuel for all of Canada, so that industries of Ontario would not at any time be in danger through competition, or otherwise, of having their factories closed through inability to obtain coal."

They suggest that the freight rates from any mine in Alberta to any mine in Pennsylvania to any point in Ontario should be equalized with the freight rate prevailing from the mines in the States to the point of consumption in Ontario. For example, if the freight rate from any point in Ontario is $5.40 per ton, then the same freight rate from Alberta might also bear the duties and exchange charge which would go to help out the railways. In other words, the freight rates from Alberta to Ontario to be on an equality with all charges assessed against the American coal.

Inasmuch as according to estimates carefully made out and generally accepted, Alberta contains approximately one-twelith of the world's known coal supply; and that according to figures submitted to the Mines branch of the Alberta provincial government the mines of this province are now developed to produce approximately ten million tons of coal per year in the following tonnages: anthracite, one hundred and fifty thousand tons; bituminous, four million tons; domestic coal, five million tons. And,

Inasmuch as the development could and would be rapidly increased to meet enormous additional needs to almost any extent whatever in any or all of the three grades of coal available. And,

Inasmuch as the operating of coal mines in Alberta up to and including the present time is hazardous and usually unprofitable as evinced by the fact that approximately sixty coal mining companies cease to operate during the year on account of insufficient market. And,

Because the increase in market would enable coal mine operators in western Canada to make enormous increase in their development, insuring labor a more nearly constant employment, as well as stabilizing the industry generally. All of which would bring an enormous amount of money into western Canada.

And for many other good and sufficient reasons, too numerous to enumerate at this time, be it therefore resolved, that this Edmonton board of trade or chamber of commerce goes on record favoring a most thorough inquiry into the cost of transportation of coal in railway cars to Ontario as well as by lake and rail; and pledging ourselves to assist the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in every way possible to secure necessary information to lay before our Federal Government on this matter with a view of enlarging the markets for Canadian coal in Canada, as well as benefiting Canada as a whole; and also be it resolved that this board through its organization pledges itself to endeavor to secure the co-operation of the provincial government in this endeavor, and that the president appoint a strong committee to present a copy of this resolution to the premier of the province, and ask his assistance along all necessary lines in order that a definite conclusion may be arrived at; and every effort be put forth to secure the Ontario market for Alberta.

Respectfully yours,
C. G. SHELDON,
Chairman Coal Section.

FATHER AND SON.

"I must look to the sheep in the fold,
See that the cattle are fed and warm,
So, Jack, tell mother to wrap you well,
You may go with me over the farm.
Though the snow is deep and the weather cold,
You are not a baby at six years old."

Two feet of snow on the hillside lay,
But the sky was as blue as June;
And father and son came laughing home
When dinner was ready at noon.
Knocking the snow from their weary feet,
Rosy and hungry and longing to eat.

"The snow was so deep," the farmer said,
"That I feared I could scarce get through."
The mother turned with a pleasant smile—
"Then what could a little lad do?"
"I trod in my father's steps," said Jack;
"Wherever he went I kept in his track."

The mother looked in the father's face,
And a solemn thought was there:
The words had gone like a lightning flash
To the seat of a nobler care:
"If he treads in my steps, then day by day
How carefully I must choose my way!

"For the child will do as the father does,
And the track that I leave behind,
If it be firm, and clear, and straight,
The feet of my son will find.
He will tread in his father's steps and say:
'I'm right, for this was my father's way.'"

Oh, fathers, leading in Life's hard road,
Be sure of the steps you take;
Then the sons you love, when grey-haired men,
Will tread in them for your sake;
When grey-haired men, to their sons will say,
"We tread in our father's steps to-day."

So great is the mind of a sweet-minded woman on those around her that it is almost boundless. It is to her that we all go in seasons of sorrow and sickness for help and comfort; one soothing touch of her kindly hand works wonders upon the feverish child; a few words dropped from her lips in the ear of a sorrow-stricken sister will do much to raise the load of grief that is bowing its victim down to the dust in anguish. The husband comes home worn out with the pressure of business and feeling irritable with the world in general, but when he enters the cosy sitting-room, and sees the blaze of fire, and meets his wife's smiling face he succumbs in a moment to the soothing influences which act as the balm of Gilead to his wounded spirits that are wearied by the stern realities of life. The rough schoolboy flies into a rage from the taunts of his companions to find solace in his mother's smile; the little one full of grief with its large troubles finds a haven of rest on its mother's breast; and so one might go on with instance after instance of the influence that a sweet-minded woman has in the social life with which she is connected. Beauty is an insignificant power when compared with hers.

HONOUR THY MOTHER.

Honour the dear old mother, Peterborough boys and girls. Time has scattered the snowy flakes upon her brow, ploughed deep furrows on her cheek, but is she not beautiful now? The lips are thin and shrunk, but those are the lips that have kissed away many a hot tear from the childish cheeks, and they are the sweetest lips in the world. The eye is dim, yet it glows with the soft radiance of love that can never fade. Oh, yes; yes, she is a dear mother. The sands of time are nearly run out, but feeble as she is, she will go farther and reach down lower for you than any other on earth. You cannot walk into a midnight where she cannot see you; you cannot enter a prison where bars will keep her out, you can never mount a scaffold too high for her to reach and bless you with her deathless love. When the world shall despise and forsake you, when it leaves you by the wayside to die unnoticed, the dear old mother will gather you in her feeble old arms and carry you home and tell you of all your virtues until you almost forget that your soul is disfigured by vice. Love her tenderly and cheer her declining years with holy devotion.

HOME.

Cherish the home with infinite tenderness. You cannot love it too much nor give it too much time and thought. Remember life has nothing better to offer you; it is the climax and crown of God's gifts. Make every day of life in it rich and sweet. It will not last long. See to it that you plant no seeds of bitter memory; that there will be no neglect and harshness to haunt you in after years. Your little ones will die and go hence with your words and spirits planted in their eternal nature. Sons and daughters will go from you into the great world, to live as you have taught them, to be strong or weak according to the spirit you have engrafted upon them. How you will yearn for them whether living or dead. How sweet or how bitter will be the days when they prattled about you in the home from which they have gone for ever! So live with them and train them now that when they are gone you and they can look back on the past with thankfulness and not regret.

THE CLAIMS OF THE MIDLANDS.

The system of Provincial Highways that is being developed under the roads policy of the Hon. F. C. Biggs, is gradually being specified, the latest to be officially sanctioned being the Port Credit to Owen Sound highway, which as the result of the visit of a large delegation, is to be included in the Provincial list. Other districts are pressing for similar roads and the Midland district is in danger of being neglected unless an energetic effort is made to bring before the Minister of Public Works the claims of this section of Ontario. The municipalities affected should lose no time in pressing for the adoption of the Port Hope-Peterboro-Kawartha Lakes road, if not as a Provincial trunk line, at least as a most important feeder, serving a large section of the Midland district, and opening to the tourist traffic the beauties of the Kawartha Lakes. The different municipalities will doubtless gladly cooperate in such an effort, and the situation should be laid before Mr. Biggs before his programme for the season is finally completed.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS.

According to Mayor McBride, Labor member for Brantford, the municipalities of Ontario will not be called upon to provide any of the cost of the system of mothers' pension which is to be inaugurated by the new government during the coming session of the Legislature. The announcement is as surprising as it is welcme, for the report of Dr. Riddell on the subject, recommended that a portion of the cost should be furnished by the municipalities and the balance by the Province and it was thought that this suggestion had been decided upon. Mayor McBride, speaking not only as a member of the Legislature, but as the chief magistrate of a city, and thereby possessing experience of what he is talking about, declares that it would be ridiculous to ask the municipalities to pay any part of the expenses of this legislation. And there will be general agreement with him on this point. Mayor MacBride knows that the majority of the municipalities have as big a financial problem as they care to handle under present conditions, with their only source of revenue a tax on the property of the people, who are already over-burdened with taxes. "Surely," declares the Brantford Chief Magistrate, "the Province of Ontario with its great natural resources and its many strong and profitable financial institutions, can find ways and means of raising all the revenue needed for a few measures of humanitarian legislation." Mayor McBride's contention in this respect will be strongly supported throughout Ontario.

A MEAGRE PROGRAMME.

Parliament has opened, according to the press despatches, with the most brilliant and most gorgeous display that has ever attended the inauguration of a Parliament in Canada. And it might have been added, with the most feeble and stand-pat programme of legislation that any government has offered at the beginning of the session.

The Speech from the Throne contained little that promised any forward policy during the present session of the House. Outside of forecasting a bill to provide for a Dominion franchise, the programme outlined contains little of general interest, being made up of bills to amend the Pateut Act, the Indian Act, and the Exchequer Court Act; and a few other scraps of legislation of similar importance."

The leaderless Government with its Ministers doubling up on portfolios, to avoid by-elections, has indeed but one plank in its policy, and that is to hang on as long as possible. Anything that will assist in that policy will be made use of and any legislation that threatens to cause a crisis will be avoided like the plague. But the hope of the country lies in Parliament itself and with the private members. It is not believed possible that they, alive to the dissatisfaction existing in their constituencies, and realizing that the people are indignant at the lack of initiative shown by the government, will consent to a continuation of the policy of doing nothing during the coming session. The crack of the party whip does not have the same significance in these days of political upheavals; and it may be no longer practicable to hold the private members in line, as they have up to the present been held. It is in the possibility that they will force the sluggard ministry into putting into effect a more vigorous legislative policy than is outlined in the Speech from the Throne, that the people of Canada will have to put their confidence. But unless this happens it will be idle to look for much progress from a ministry in which the country has no faith.

ALBERTA COAL.

The possibility of securing enough coal in Canada to supply the fuel wants of the Dominion is a subject that comes to the fore whenever an industrial or other crisis in connection with the operation of the American mines threatens to reduce the shipments of coal from across the line into Canada. In this connection a report made by the coal section of the Edmonton Board of Trade, which appears elsewhere in to-day's issue of the Examiner is of great interest, inasmuch as it shows not only that there are vast coal fields in the western province, but that shrewd western business, after investigating the situation, can see no reason why Ontario's coal supply could not be secured from Alberta, relieving this province of the necessity of depending upon the United States for her fuel.

In forwarding the Examiner a copy of the report as published in the Edmonton Bulletin, Mr. H. C. Anderson, of South Edmonton, makes the following interesting comment on the situation:

Dear Sir,—I am enclosing to you a clipping from the Edmonton Bulletin of Thursday, Febraury 19, 1920, which is headed, "Coal Production in Alberta For Use in Ontario; Report Submitted by Coal Section of the Edmonton Board of Trade."

In sending this to you I may say that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has appointed a Fuel committee to investigate the coal resources of Canada, East and West, looking forward to the time when the Dominion of Canada shall be supplied with Canadian coal, thus relieving Ontario and Quebec of their dependence upon merican coal.

This is a situation which Ontario may as wellh face now as coal mining in the United States is reaching such an enormous annual tonnage as to makt all manufacturers and consumers of coal seriously reflect upon what the situation will be ten years hence.

While it is true that the United States has large deposits of coal, at the same time, under present conditions, it will not take many years to completely mine out certain areas. Already the anthracite situation is such as to bring within the realms of possibility the necessity for the United States conserving that kind of coal exclusively for its own use.

Alberta, on the other hand, contains one-twelfth the world's known coal, and the body of that coal has been barely scatched. It is altogether possible to ship coal from Alberta to Ontario, and for Alberta to entirely supply the needs of Ontario.

In stating this, how ver, it must not be lost sight of that Nova Scotia is also possessed of coal, and that their representations for the Ontario market must also be taken into consideration.

We, however, wish to place Alberta's position before the people of Ontario, and to in every way co-operate with the Canadian Manufacturers' Association towards showing what can be done in Alberta in the matter of supplying Ontario with coal.

As the people in your city are vitally interested in this matter I will be glad if you will publish the enclosed article in your news columns; and also, if you desire, give publicity to this letter.

"CANADA'S GREATEST SEED HOUSE"

IS EDUCATION A HANDICAP?

(Montreal Herald.)

Montreal, as the intellectual metropolis of Canada—for Toronto, after all, in an intellectual sense, is only a place which "bucks" under the spur of Montreal opinion—cannot be indifferent to the conviction that appears to be sweeping over the world, to the egect that education no longer "pays." The first impression of many people when they read Sir Andrew Macphail's denunciation of compulsory education the other day was that that Don Quixote was perpetrating a sardonic joke at the expense of our most cherished institutions. But it would now seem that when he mounted his Rosinante, the University Magazine, and rode her full tilt at the Ontario brand of public school education, he started a crusade that had common sense to back it up.

It is not only here in Canada that men who wor kwith their hands are getting a far greater share of the available wealth than those who work with their brains. They are doing it all over the world. For instance, we read in the English papers that the domination of labour is such that the worst paid workers are those who have the best education. The difference between their incomes and those of the manual workers is said to be grotesque.

As an example, the textile workers in the North of England are making more money than most of the professional families. "There are many towns," says the London Times, "where young, uneducated workers are are receiving wages which easily exceed those of municipal officers, the clergy, school teachers, and even the local solicitors, when the expenses of the medical men are deducted from their gross incomes." It adds: "We are come to a time when education does not pay. Why train a boy for one of th professions, and keep him for years while he is not earning a penny, when he can be certain of six to ten pounds a week in early life?"

We are beginning to realise that compulsory education has been a mistake in some particulars. It was adopted without any clear conception of what we were driving at. Up till quite lately education was very effectively performing the task of educating the children away from the necessary fundamental work of the world. Country boys were being trained away fro mcountry pursuits, and city boys were being trained awa from the trades. The world needs professional men, but t also needs manual workers.

Education may easily prove a handicap without proper orientation. There are hundreds of thousands of men eating their hearts out in poorly-paid occupations who would be happy and well-to-do if they had been trained to regard the trades in which they are so badly needed wth the same respect as they have been trained to regard the professions. We are beginning to realise our error now by changing the spirit of our educational systems so as to interest country children in rural districts and to interest city children in manual work. We have a long way to go yet, but we have made a start. For ourselves, we believe that compulsory education is right if properly directed. Educated industrial workers are better than uneducated ones. But the education that has overcrowded our professions and occupations and starved our industries and labouring classes has been woefully wrong. The present premium on manual work will help immensely in the regeneration of our educational systems. Manual workers will in future receive more attention from our educators and a better reward for their labour.

Home Protection Policy

for $5,000

This plan is the basis of all life insurance.

It provides an "Estate" at the lowest net outlay it is possible to obtain.

Experience has proven that it offers maximum insurance at minimum cost.

The annual outlay is comparatively small, being only a moderate rate per cent on the capital "estate" created, according to age. The average is about 3%.

Even these small payments are reduced by dividends.

Many policyholders in the Canada Life have lived to draw large sums from this form of policy for their own personal use.

Cash values are guaranteed—a fund for emergencies.

A monthly income of $50 is paid if you become totally and permanently disabled before reaching age sixty.

Policy continues in force while any cash value remains, thus preventing lapse and loss of protection.

If it is desired to stop paying premiums any time after the third year, a "paid for" policy is issued for a proportionate amount, on which no further premiums are required.

Remember:

A policy on your life may do much that you intend to do, if you live. It may pay off the mortgage, supply food and clothing for your family, keep the children at school and prevent a forced sale of your other property.

It may be all that is left of your life work—to keep you in comfort in your old age.

The Dwarf Palm of Algeria.

The dwarf palm, which furnishes considerable quantities of fiber, grows in great profusion in Algeria and is one of the principal obstacles to the clearing of the land, so thickly does it grow and so difficult is it to pull up. Its roots, in shape resembling carrots, penetrate into the ground to the depth of a yard or more, and when its stem only is cut it sprouts out again almost immediately. As its name indicates, this palm is very small and can only attain a certain height when protected, as in the Arab cemeteries, for example.

Restrained.

"What is a temporary injunction, pa?" asked little Richard, looking up from the newspaper he was reading.

"I'll give you a concrete example of it, my son," replied his father. "Your mother told me this evening that she didn't want me to go to the club. That is a temporary injunction."

"I see, but supposin' you go anyhow, what would that be?"

"When you have been married as long as I have, my son, you won't ask such foolish questions," said father sadly.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

SANDRA LONGS FOR LOVE.

CHAPTER LIX

Everett's large business interests I now know required a great deal of attention. Then, I thought he made much of them so that he might spend time at other places while I thought him engaged with business affairs. Had I been consistent I would have known he would not have thought it necessary to apologize, or to explain his absences to me. When we were first married he never did. But now occasionally he would say:

"I am sorry, Sandra, but I must go out to-night." Or, "You will excuse me, Sandra, I have to meet some people at the club," always punctiliously polite.

But when he said he must "go out" I always visualized him with Irma Barton; when he said "the club" I thought him with her, or with other people whom he had not allowed me to know, and with whom he went without me.

I had told Rose Gradon before we were married:

"Of course we will be happy! If Everett didn't love me very dearly he wouldn't have asked me to marry him—he didn't have to." I had said the same thing to mother. And I recalled that when I had said it, I had wished he would "make a little more fuss over me."

I still wished it. At times I felt that if he only would take me in his arms and tell me he cared for me, I would not be so unhappy, so hurt by the things he did—that if he told me he love (me before telling me that all the disagreeable things he asked me to do were for my good, I could have done them more gracefully.

Men—some of them—seem not to understand that a girl (I was nothing more) will do for love what no manner of driving will compel. As I grew older I realized that I was not alone in this feeling—that most women were willing to do all they could to please if they were coaxed, loved, or flattered.

But almost the only things Everett flattered me about were my hair and coloring—and I thought he did that simply because I was so like Leola'— and my name. He often told me how much he liked my name, and how he failed to understand parents compelling their sons and daughters to go thru the world with ugly or common names when there were so many unusual and attractive ones to choose from. Yet I often thought that perhaps he was thinking of Leola then, when he flattered me because of my name. Hers was even more unusual than my own.

You see, I was continually looking of be hurt— a very foolish attitude an' one which caused me no end of unhappiness. I used sometimes to recall what I had told Rose when she asked me if I loved Everett so I couldn't live without him? I had answered that I felt able to live without him, but that perhaps love would come to me in a great "blinding flash" the way it did to people in the novels we read together.

I certainly had learned to care very much for Everett, but no "blinding flash" of love had come to me. It was a sort of pride that he belonged to me more than anything else I think. This tall, dignified, handsome man whom everyone seemed to respect and to like, was mine, my husband. And often as I watched him from the window I would swell with pride to think he belonged to me.

I often recalled also the time I eavesdropped and heard Mother say of Dad:

"Sandra has been petted all her life. Mr. Graham is a cold, undemonstrative man—I feel anxious about her."

Everett was cold and undemonstrative. Yet occasionally he would draw me into his arms, and for a blissful moment hold me close.

I was puzzled by these unusual outbursts of affection. For sometime he would seem cross and disappointed in me immediately preceding them.

I had told Rose this, and I was sure she thought I was romancing especially after the way Everett had acted before her. I had so wanted them all to think he loved me, altho in my own mind I was sure he did not, and spent a great deal of time trying to decide why he married me—that is, I did until I got it firmly fixed in my mind that he wanted a family.

To-morrow—A Terrible Disappointment.

JAZZING IS NOT POPULAR AMONG PETERBORO SET

WEIRD CONTORTION IS ALMOST EXTINCT IN THIS SETTLEMENT.

Peterborough will experience a more than usually bright Easter season this year, as already most of the larger dance halls have been engaged for several dances and the committees of the different proposed social events are experiencing more or less difficulty in avoiding conflicts with similar attraction.

"The steps in the different dances will be little if at all altered from the Christmas season," one of the foremost dancing instructress in the city said to-day. "Fox trots, waltzes and one-steps will be most generally followed and in practically the same manner as in the preceding season." Asked how the jazz dance takes, the instructress said that it is becoming somewhat prevalent amongst the younger sets of the city, but that the older people who are going out quite as frequently as their sons and daughters, cannot reconcile themselves to depart from the steps they have been using. Another instructress said that she anticipated so short a popularity of "jazzing" that she is not either teaching it or allowing her pupils to dance it. "We look upon it more or less as 'smart-aleck' dancing," she said.

The stores in the city, in anticipation of a big season, have ordered large stocks of most elaborate costumes which are of a wonderful variety of colors and features no particular style, depending mostly upon the grace and beauty of the lines than upon trimming.

ONTARIO A MARKET FOR UNDERSIZED HORSES

(Canadian Press.)

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 28.—That there is a real market in Ontario for the undersized horses of the Alberta ranches, is the good word brought by Walter Harland Smith, manager of the horse department of the Union Stockyards, Toronto, who is in the west looking into possible supply. It is the horse under 1,250 pounds, which is so common on the plains of this province and which are so undesirable from a breeding standpoint, that is wanted.

SIMPLE WAY TO FIND OUT

Fussy Passenger Told Just How He Could Ascertain If Car Was Moving, or Not.

In the midst of Nebraska snowdrifts a train got stalled so that the wheels would not move forward or back. There it stood for six hours while the conductor walked four miles to the nearest station and got a section crew to dig the train out.

Aboard that train fidgeted a hungry farmer with Populist brown whiskers. He collected the individual opinions of everybody in the coach as to when the train was going to move on; and still he fidgeted.

At last the conductor returned.

"See here," signalled the farmer as the conductor hurried through the aisle. "Are we going?"

"Are we going?" blustered the conductor. "You raise the window and put your head out. If the zephyrs fan your whiskers we're going; if not, the wheels of this train are probably frozen to the track."

The car roared with laughter as the disgruntled whiskers retreated into the adjoining coach.

New Splint Works Well.

The treatment of broken and otherwise injured arms has been somewhat facilitated by the invention of a new splint, which is a mechanical device ready for instant use in any case without regard to its character. It is in war, where a great number of cases are to be treated as quickly as possible, that this new device will be of the greatest value. It is adjusted to the body of the patient. It can be used on either arm and may be adjusted to any position in which it may be desired to hold the injured arm. It is a combination of metal rods, with suitable joints and hinges, so that the arm is properly supported and protected at all times.

URIC ACID IN MEAT BRINGS RHEUMATISM

Say a Little Salts in Water May Save You From Dread Attack.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys of normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is expensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Presented Play.

On Thursday night the Dramatic Society of Mark street church, Peterborough, drove to the village and presented their four-act drama, "Valley Farm" to a large audience in the school room of the Methodist church. The play was well received and fully merited the generous applause which it received. The young people of Mark street church presented a shorter play about four years ago in the town hall under the auspices of the choral class and those who were present then will be interested in their presentation of this more ambitious play. On both occasions, Mrs. Weir was an outstanding figure and her undoubted talent and mirth-provoking mannerisms will be a great attraction to any further performances in Lakefield. The parts were well taken, but special mention should be made of Mrs. Weir and Mrs. J. Rome, who played the part of the borrowing neighbor who never gossiped, no never.

Before the performance began, Miss Loloa Waldon favored the audience with several piano selections, which were excellently rendered.

Between the first and second acts of the play, Miss Cullen, a promising young Lakefield soloist, sang a solo, which was loudly applauded. Between the second and third acts, Mr. Ketcheson brought down the house with a comic song. He was compelled to respond to an encore. Between the third and fourth acts a quartette was sung by Misses Clara Doidge and Effie Webster and Messrs. A. E. Higgins and Warren Payne. This was splendidly received.

Rev. S. F. Dixon, who acted as chairman, announced that after a consultation with the superintendent of the Sunday school, it was decided to cancel the Sunday school on Sunday next owing to the prevalence of illness. The morning and evening services will be held as usual.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

(By F. M. DelaFosse, Librarian)

One of the most neglected sections in the Library is that devoted to biography. It is hard to understand why this should be so, save for the possible reason that the public, even after nine years of constant access to the shelves, have been unable to allocate to it its proper place in literature. It is all the more strange because there are very few among us who do not enjoy hearing gossip about our neighbours, insignificant as we and they were a year or so ago, indeed. Many are. Putting it on the lowest possible level, therefore, it would be strange indeed if we could not find much that is to us of interest and interesting in a gossipy way about those who have gone before us, or being asked for a reason in their own day and generation grew more famous, or the opposite, to be famous in the varied activities of life. But there are far higher considerations than this why biography should be made a study of by all who value the history of their country and are interested in the men and women who have helped to keep it in the van of the world's progress.

There are few at once so fascinating to take it, who on reading a book does not make a mental picture of the man or woman who wrote it. We long to know something of the personality of the individual. Addison and Charles Lamb wrote some of the most pleasing essays in the language. Their names are famous, and yet there are comparatively few who could give one even the barest outlines of their lives. Addison was by general consent, one of the most charming men of his time. He was far from being a great speaker, but men like Swift, as well as Steele, Young and Pope, and women like Lady Mary Wortley Montague, have all borne witness to his charm. His career lay somewhat along the orthodox lines of those days. He travelled in Europe, was a member of the famous Whig Club, the Kitcat Club, and through its means obtained preferment in the Government. The Spectator made him famous. There is a very good article on him in the Dictionary of National Biography. Lamb, whose Essays of Elia have never been equalled for the geniality of their humour, had what most people would consider a tragically unhappy life. A tendency to insanity, an incurable stutter, long years of poverty, the care of a sister who was a temporary lunatic, and finally the death of that sister, were enough to make one of the most neglected sections in the Library is that devoted to biography. to no less than forty-five shelves devoted to this one class of literature, it can easily be seen how much of it is not a sale for that of woman who has a liking for this sort of reading. Purposely, in most instances, the least known have been given, to show how varied an assortment the Library possesses. The reader may be safe sure of getting what he wants on the way of biography concerning those who have become famous at some period or another of the world's history.

OLD MADHOUSE

By Wm. DeMorgan.

This is a posthumous story by DeMorgan, the last chapter being supplied by Mrs. DeMorgan). It is a tale of mystery, which would probably have caused a much controversy as Edwin Drood had it not been for Mrs. DeMorgan's explanatory chapter. It is the tale of the mysterious disappearance of a clergyman in an empty house known as the Old Madhouse. The story shows a great deal of subtlety, and though diffuse, is full of freshness and charm.

SONIA MARRIED

(Stephen McKenna).

Readers of Sonia will possibly be disappointed in reading Sonia Married. It is one of those books that, however cleverly the author may attempt to make a complete and separate novel of it, would be incomprehensible in parts if acquaintance had not been first made with the earlier work. It contains several dramatic scenes, and is an interesting but somewhat depressing book. As the Springfield Republican says, "it borders dangerously on exaggeration and melodrama."

SMALL-TALK AT WREYLAND

(Tom Cecil).

This is not a novel. It is simply a record of talks with intimate friends in a small hamlet in Devonshire. One writer says it is as typically English as a Christmas pudding. It is packed with wisdom and information. Another writer remarks that "it is a book to be commended, without hesitation or reserve, to every lover of Old England."

To everyone who in reverie dreams of old days by the quiet ingle-nook, listening to reminiscences by one's elders, this book is to be commended. It breathes the very spirit of home life and home confidences.

Get Rid of The Cough That Sticks

Some coughs seem hard to shake off—stick right to you in spite of all you do to get rid of them.

Those are the kind of coughs that are dangerous—that weaken the lungs so that the germs of consumption find a ready foothold.

We know of no remedy that will cure stubborn coughs—coughs that won't let go—like Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It allays the inflammation, soothes the irritation, and heals the diseased mucous lining of the lungs and bronchial tubes.

Mrs. Leo. Allen, Petit de Grat Bridge, N.S., writes: 'Last winter I had an awful cough that kept me in the house for over two months. I tried several cough remedies, but got no relief. I was almost discouraged when a grocer here offered me a bottle of Dr Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. After taking that one my coughing began to cease. I took two more and they cured me completely."

Get the genuine Dr Wood's Norway Pine Syrup; put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

INFLUENZA HAS LATER DANGERS

PARTICULAR CARE NEEDED WHEN PATIENT IS CONVALESCENT, SAYS EXPERT.

The influenza convalescent who has apparently recovered from the disease and is yet in a strangely weak and depressed condition should be the object of particular care, according to Dr. Louis I. Harris, director of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases of the New York Health Department. In the opinion of Dr. Harris the after care of the influenza patient is most important. The co-operation of the patient, coupled with the willingness to see that the weakness and depression are a part of the illness, though coming after the disease itself has spent its force, is a big factor in effecting a complete return to full health. On the other hand, the determination to ignore this debilitated condition and to fight against it, will, Dr. Harris says, frequently bring serious consequences upon the patient.

After Effects Bad.

"The subject of the after effects of influenza," said Dr. Harris, "is one of particular interest to the scientist at the present time.

"First, and perhaps the most momentous condition to be considered is the striking depression, mental, nervous, and physical, complained of by most patients. Those attacked by the disease with moderate severity are almost always afflicted with this depression, which should be recognized and dealt with. Those who have had mild cases of the epidemic are little affected by depression, and their quick return to health and strength gives rise to the belief that influenza is trivial. On the contrary, influenza in its after effects is anything but trivial, and calls for the application of rules of common sense and sanitation which are the fruit of years of experience.

"Tonic treatment, well chosen diet, and great care in not becoming overtired or allowing the body to be chilled are necessary. Eggs may be eaten, but not more than two a day, for the average adult. Of course, it must be remembered that in many cases this disease tends to direct its force against the kidneys, and therefore we instruct patients to avoid eating a great amount of meat, eggs, or beef extracts. Eggs, soft-boiled, poached, or beaten, raw are advisable in limited number. The raw eggs should always be well agitated before taking.

When Good Food Is Bad.

"With milk and eggs as a foundation the patient should eat good nourishing food, including meat, fish, and vegetables, simply prepared. Frying, for instance, is out of the question. Good food prepared in an unassimilable manner becomes bad food; especially is this to be noted in cases of convalescence from influenza, for the disease often manifests itself in vomiting, and in intestinal and gastric disturbances, and it is important not to weaken the digestive function by the eating of poorly prepared food, or even the best of food in ill-advised quantities. The quantitative distribution of foodstuffs should be so adjusted as not to overtax the stomach, but the patient should eat generously and frequently."

As a tonic to build up the blood and stimulate the shattered nerves, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed. These pills actually make new, rich, red blood, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, improves the appetite, strengthens digestion and drives away the feeling of weariness and depression always following an attack of la grippe or influenza. Those who give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial will be amply repaid by the new health and strength this tonic medicine always gives.

Did You Ever Hear Of "Peggy Paige" Dresses?

This Is Their Initial Showing In Peterborough

They exemplify fashion in her various moods—accurately, artistically and uniquely. They represent the highest achievments in the designers art and the makers have not been contented to stop there, but have supplemented their beauty with materials of quality and workmanship that is faultless.

Taupe Taffeta and Kingfisher Blue Satin play an important role in the making of a handsome model that relies greatly on Cordings and Ruchings, for its charm. The Blue Satin peeps out from under the Ruchings and Pockets, where it is used for facing. The Yoke is defined by a semi-circular frill, and the sleeves are finished in a like manner. Commencing well up on the Bodice are seven perpendicular Cords that curve outward, gradually and gracefully, until they reach a point just below the hip, where they terminate in a pocket with a frilly edge. Both sides are treated in this manner, with the result that the pockets poke out jauntily. The Girdle is shown on the back only, and is tied in a short bow. The Price is $87.50.

A pleasing impression is obtained by this Black Taffeta number, from the Puffings that outline the edges. For instance, the Yoke is round and edged with a one-inch Puffing, and also the lower portion of the Jumper, which is pointed like a Vest and then slopes away to the sides, and descends in a wide ruffle that tapers to a point. The Sleeves are elbow length and Picot edged, and a Cornflower Blue Ribbon encircles the waist and ties in front, and is garnished with a Red Rose. The Price is $87.50.

Any Woman who wears a long-waisted garment to advantage will be enthusiastic about this other model of Black Taffeta. The lower edge of the waist is one series of long points that are stitched down, and the Overskirt that descends from beneath is also pointed, in Van Dyke style. The Collar is knife pleated and can be worn in Medici style or turned down, with a revere showing in front. The Sleeves are finished with turn-back cuffs of knife pleating and edged with a reversible Metallic Ribbon in Rose and Turquoise. The Rosette at the waistline, on the back, is of the material itself, and is enlivened by the mingling of the Ribbon. The Price is $87.50.

A pleasant diversion is offered by one of Pekin Blue Georgette that presents a Skirt on the Harem order, in a modified form. It is drawn in at the bottom, but still allows sufficient fulness. The front and back are formed of wide panels and the sides can be called bouffant. They are divided into three equal parts by the very narrow rows of knife pleated Blue Taffeta that extend from front panel to back panel. A five-inch Girdle of the material itself is outlined with Pleating. The elbow length Sleeves are finished in a like manner. The Price is $95.95.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

Foster on "The Great Steel Strike," in which the organizer and moving spirit of that disturbance will give some account of it and will discuss it and its significanle for the future.

Norwood Young's "Napoleon in Exile at St. Helena," of which the author says that it shows the French Emperor was better treated by the English than the Kaiser deserves to be, is being translated into French at the instance of the French Propaganda Department, in the belief it will help to dispel the misconceptions of the French people and promote the good feeling between the French and the English that the war has established.

Maryse Benton Cooke author of "The Cricket" and other popular novels will sail for the Orient on March 6 with her mother, Mrs. Benton Cooke for several months of rest and travel. She has completed a new novel which will have Fall publication as a serial.

Amelia Josephine Burr, whose latest book produced "Hearts Awake," was published some weeks ago by George H. Doran Company is spending the Winter in Japan. She writes to her friends in here that she has been quite enchanted to find that the trees woods and hills and streams of Japan are very like those in the United States.

Another of Edward Streeter's "Dere Mable" books, which have had an enormous sale, and have probably induced more laughter than any other recent publications in this country, will be brought out in March by Frederick A. Stokes Company. It will be called "As You Were, Bill," and in it Bill, who has got his discharge and donned civilian clothes, goes hunting for a job and in his letters to Mable tells her all about his adventures and difficulties.

Captain Norman Hall, whose new book, "The Lafayette Flying Corps," is a late Winter publication of Houghton Miffin Company, is now steaming across the Pacific on the Moana, on his way to the South Sea Islands. Captain Hall's previous war books, "Kitchener's Mob" and "High Adventure," together with his flying exploits, his capture by the Germans and his reported death have made him well known to his countrymen as well as in England.

It is not generally known that John Bunyan, at the age of 84 is now in California for the Winter. In a letter just received by a friend from La Jolla, Cal he says:

"In April we are certify going to Pasadena till March or April. I hope to do some work and get another volume ready for the press."

The thousands of people who read Donald Hankey's "A Student in Arms" and found it one of the most significant of all the books produced by the war will learn with anticipation of the promised publication this Spring by the Fleming H. Revell Company of his "Letters," with an introduction and notes by Edward Miller. The letters are said to cover a dozen years in time, from 1904, when he was twenty years old, until he was killed in the war, in 1916. They carry him as a subaltern to Mauritius and back, and afterward to East Africa, Australia, Italy, and France, and finally with Kitchener's famous First Hundred Thousand to Flanders' fields of glory and of death. Most of them were written to his family or the innermost circle of his friends.

THE MAYOR CONGRATULATED

Mayor Stacey, of Oshawa, was on the point of starting from his home to attend the bonspiel on Thursday evening, when a large company composed of member of the Town Council with their wives entered the house and gave him and Mrs. Stacey a very agreeable surprise. The visit to the Chief Magistrate's home was with the purpose of honoring Mayor and Mrs. Stacey on the occasion of their crystal wedding day. The anniversary occurred on the 8th inst., but owing to illness the celebration was postponed until the 19th.

WHILE THE WATCHDOG OF THE TREASURY IS UNDER THE BARN

If they could coax the watch dog of the treasury from his dugout under the barn whither the dogs of war chased him long since, there are many citizens who would gladly put him onto this year's budget and the proposed tax rate. Failing to adjust their point of view to the increased cost of civic business and administration they are wondering at the silence when, catching echoes of the past, they expect growls. They seem at a loss to realize that none of the aldermen essays to assume a duty that in other times used to be seized by self-delegated custodians as a privilege. It's an empty kennel they are calling to these days. To whom the tax rate was a distress, an unmitigated evil to be bludgeoned every time it attempted to raise its head, and they usually found some Alderman with the same violent notions. They were an alert, tenacious breed those "watch dogs".

Almost every Council in those days produced a champion of retrenchment, economy and an immobile tax rate, and quite seriously they attacked most items of expense that were not obvious necessities. Pruning knives were kept sharp and gleaming with use. There was William Langford, junior, for example. The civic household received no luxuries that he could intercept. He seemed to take a grim delight in the position he pre-empted and showed a real talent. And there was A. H. Stratton who smiled blandly as he applied the trimming tool to the frills and flounces on more than one budget.

Some of the citizens had misty mental pictures of these two aldermen at tug o'war with the strings of the city's money bag. They pictured them with feet propped against the bulging bag straining upon the strings so that the other members couldn't get a finger in. Less graphic minds beheld them as a twin of vigilantes in permanent position on either side of the city treasurer's vault. Of course the money was in the bank but such a reminder tended to spoil the effect. Many a ratepayer gave it an approbative pat or threw it an encomium of approbation. It is not in human nature to resent such service and efforts calculated to keep money in the public's personal pockets instead of lifting off a bill or two. Those who more recently opposed a costly overhead bridge probably hold a somewhat different opinion.

The advance note of a 35 mills rate was received in some quarters with reference to the limit and the last straw, but up and down the province the papers disclose similar prospects and in not a few towns and cities even higher rates are reported. There is there for not much hope of escape, and however the general body of citizens regard the new order they will probably accept it as a resultant of the changing values.

Until the transition is complete, assuming that it is to run its full course, watch dogs of the treasury will be helpless or at least their protests will be of little avail. Erroneous ideas of economy that piled up debentures years ago instead of meeting expenditures with tax levies appears now to have been more of parsimony, and mount up unduly in the rate. For the present the alderman who attempts retrenchment would probably please a certain group of the public, but their efforts would scarcely be applauded by the most of the citizens, if justice is to be done to public employees in schools and other departments.

While general conditions that influence and control business, civic, corporate and private, are in their present flux the watch dog of the treasury might as well be left under the barn. Timely expert advice in large undertakings seems from experience to be an advantage that might well be sought in the course of real economy.

BARRIE'S WELFARE CLUB MEETING

MEMBERS PLAYED GAME OF INDOOR BASEBALL.

A most enjoyable evening was spent by Barrie's Welfare Club in the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday, when they were given the use of the building to carry out a programme of games and music. The first feature of the evening was a game of indoor baseball. The teams were so evenly matched that a very close game was the result, the score being 9 to 8 in favour of Kelly's team. The line-up was as follows:

Kelly's Team.		Perdue's Team.
	Pitcher
Nichols		Perdue
	Catcher.
Kelly		Leonard
	1st base.
Mulhall		Loescher
	2nd base
Weatherhead		Stabler
	3rd base
Miss Emery		Smith
	Short-stop.
Miss Hern		Miss Curtis
	Left field.
Miss C. Fisher		Miss Hargrave
	Right field.
Miss McGregor		Miss A. Fisher

The second and most exciting event was a bowling contest between Mr. Hiland's Operators and Mr. Tilcock's Finishers, the Finishers being the winners. There was much discussion as to which team was going to win, and an added zest was given to the game when the captains decided that th losing captain should provide a chicken supper for the club in the near future. The line-up and the scores were as follow:

Operators.
Mr. Hiland (captain)	155
Miss Clancy	88
Miss Walsh	100
Mrs. McLean	69
Miss A. Allen	131
Miss Hopkins	119
Total	662

Finishers.
Mr. Tilcock (captain)	131
Miss Bidgood	155
Mrs. Kearns	88
Miss Allen	76
Miss Preston	112
Miss Vickers	121
Total	683

Mr. Fred McNealy was scorekeeper. After the bowling contest supper was served by Mrs. James in the dining room on the second floor. The rest of the programme consisted of music and games, after which everyone went home very much pleased with the way the evening had been spent.

The Welfare Club is very much indebted to the Y. M. C. A. for the good time spent there, and wish to thank the officials for their hearty co-operation.

WHO WILL HONOUR GOD TO-MORROW?

Who will honour God to-morrow by dedicating the day to His praise and glory? Only once in a generation does Sunday fall on February 29th, so to many the opportunity will come but once in a lifetime. So the motto "The Extra Day for God" has been selected as being particularly appropriate.

The services at George street Methodist church will be of a special character and the pastor Rev. A. J. Thomas will be in charge both morning and evening. His subject in the morning will be "A truth which every one needs to know", and in the evening he will speak on "The man who was near but not near enough." The Sunday school will meet as usual, and the adult friends are invited to attend the session. Appropriate music will be supplied by the choir.

It is the pastor's desire that every church member and adherent will make an effort to be present at both services. A cordial invitation is extended to strangers and those who have no particular church affiliation but who are willing to honour God by dedicating tomorrow to Him.

She Was Sick For Over Two Years

MRS. PORTER GIVES HER EXPERIENCE WITH DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Saskatchewan Lady, When the Doctors Disagreed, Turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills and Found the Remedy She Was Looking For.

Wideview, Sask., Feb. 27th. (Special.)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills not only helped me, they cured me."

This is the enthusiastic statement of Mrs. Charles Porter, a well-known resident of this place. Asked why she was so sure it was Dodd's Kidney Pills that brought about her cure, Mrs. Porter Replied:

"I was sick for over two years. One doctor said I had gall stones. Another said I had stomach and kidney troubles.

"I bought six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They cured me."

Mrs. Porter's troubles were caused by the kidneys. That's why she got such prompt and complete relief from Dodd's Kidney Pills, for they act only on the kidneys. The reason Dodd's Kidney Pills bring new health to so many suffering women is because the kidneys are the cause of nine-tenths of all the ills which women suffer.

If you ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills you will find that thousands of women have secured permanent relief from using them.

WHY SHOULD I GO TO CHURCH?

By E. J. Moore.

Because —The Church represents the best and worthiest thing I know.

It may not be as I wish it or would have it. It may not seem altogether worthy. The people who go may not be what I hoped and expected they would be. But the Church is the one institution which represents even feebly the Christian ideal and seems to be carrying out the work I believe Jesus Christ intended should be carried out. Hence it is my duty and privilege to stand by it, to support it as my means and time permit, and to attend the services its leaders plan.

Because—I believe worship to be a feature of strong helpfulness in the Christian life.

It is true that one may worship in God's outdoors, in the wonders of nature, in thinking about the Father, the Creator. But after all, we know and think of the church structure as God's house, as the place where He is most likely to meet us when favorable conditions are arranged, and appreciate also that the services are planned to permit of the best form of worship, as our Church authorities in their wisdom have arranged it.

Because—I believe the Sunday and mid-week services, with their various features, help me to live a better and cleaner life, because of spiritual and mental strength of purpose gained therein.

Because—Of the help I get from other people. My preacher when he gives me a worth while sermon or leads me in a prayer which seems to hit the spot, or gives me a grip of a warm hand; the other people of the church from whom I get new ideas, sympathy when I need it, and comradeship. Because it helps me to get acquainted with the best people I know.

Because—I like it. The inspirational effect of a well rendered choral number; the delight both spiritual and physical of a pleasing solo; the joy of singing with the rest of the congregation hymns which by their words as by the music stir one up to action along lines suggested by the Church, and in living a better life; the same effect produced by a well-prepared sermon or address.

Because—It gives me an opportunity through its organization and the cooperation of the other members, to do things for good causes, and to develop what talents I have been blessed with in a way offered by no other institution.

Because—It helps me to get visions—and vision is the forerunner of action—of bigger and better things in life—life here and life to come.

INTERESTING REPORT OF PETERBORO PATRIOTIC FUND

THE COMMITTEE HAS ASSUMED NEW DUTIES IN THE DISTRIBUTION OF "POST DISCHARGE ALLOWANCE" ACTIVITIES DURING THE YEAR.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin, secretary of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, has prepared the following interesting report:

Following the requirements of the constitution of the local branch of the Fund, the annual general meeting was held last evening. The following summary report is submitted, covering the activities of the local office and committees during the year.

At the request of the Head Office the financial year of the local branch was changed from December 31st to March 31st, in order to agree with the fiscal year of the parent organization. A communication from the local auditor, Mr. W. R. Morris will explain, and states that the local audit will not be completed until March 31st. In the meantime the secretary supplies a general statement of the financial operations for the past twelve months. For the Patriotic Fund and the Local Relief Fund, as well.

Contribution Period.

It will be remembered that the contribution period closed, for Peterborough city and county with the end of March, 1919. Following instructions from the Head Office the account in the local bank covering subscriptions and municipal grants was closed out, any balance remaining being remitted to Ottawa, and the city and county relieved from further contribution to the general fund of the Patriotic Association. As the local branch had in hand sufficient funds to carry on the work to the end of March, no municipal contribution was asked for, and since that time the Head Office has supplied, from a surplus, all moneys needed for the local distribution which has gone on as in the past five years.

With the rapid demobilization of the troops from overseas the demand on the resources of the Fund lessened falling from $9,000.00 per month in January, 1919, to $1,300.00 in the month of July. So that where the local branch required over $100,000.00 to meet allowances during the years 1916, 1917 and 1918, only less than $30,000.00 was called for in the year 1919.

A Rest Fund.

Early in the month of June the Head Office saw that some form of assistance would be required in many cases presenting claims in many respects unusual. These may not here be defined. But the need was evident, so what is named as the "post discharge allowance" was instituted, and the formal rules for each distribution defined. The Executive committee, at Ottawa, had wisely set aside a rest fund during the preceding years and most fortunately found itself with a considerable balance on hand, which invested, is to be used for relief and assistance until exhausted. It is anticipated that it will serve for several years, and, is entirely outside any form of Government assistance whatever. The parent Fund remains in control and knows that it can find ways and means to materially relieve and assist thousands of deserving cases throughout the Dominion.

List of Cases.

Following instructions, this branch of the work was put into activity in this city and a list of cases receive attention from month to month. It has assisted in solving many problems of maintenance, brought about by changed conditions in family life, owing to the marriage of soldiers in England, and consequent financial responsibilities to be met on arriving home. This form of assistance will be continued. It also takes care of new arrivals, coming to settle in the city, and has assisted in loans, etc., to make things better for many who came to make Canada their home for the future. There are many cases, it is to be regretted, where the income coming to mothers of advanced age who gave sons to the war service is not adequate to meet needs. Such cases are assisted and will continue to be.

Early in December last the Dominion Cabinet requested the Patriotic Fund organization to take over the work of distribution of the Parliamentary grant, afterwards known as the Federal Emergency Appropriation, comprising some millions of dollars allotted for the assistance of ex-members of the forces out of employment through no fault of their own. The members of Cabinet stated a reluctance to attempt to build up, at short notice, a new organization to handle the work, and wished to avoid the contingent expense that would follow such attempt. After consideration the Executive committee of the Fund appealed to the several provincial branches throughout the Dominion to accept the responsibility. The appeal met with a loyal response, and the details, regulations, rules, etc., were formulated and sent out. It is not necessary here, to describe the detail of the work, which is now in hand and going put through.

At a meeting of the local committee of the branch held on December 16th the trust was formally accepted on behalf of the local branch, and the District Committee appointed and authorized to handle the work. The [illegible] commenced day before Christmas and is now coming fairly smoothly, using the assistance of the local branch of the Information and Service of the Soldier's Civil Re-establishment, which verifies the fact of unemployment of the ex-soldier and the impossibility of getting, at the time, suitable employment or work. The more detail of investigation is a necessary one, for the committee is loyally handling the duty and at once refers to personal service of time and attention. After the money is paid [illegible] carefully investigated before being continued from week to week. In general it may be said that the ex-soldier prefers employment to sharing in the appropriation, but with the rigor of winter an allowance is a real help, as it is intended to be. Much has appeared in outside newspapers with regard to the distribution and its features, but it appears to the local committee that as the matter is one between the ex-members of the forces and the committee that little good is found in any publicity. Many men hesitate to apply. Such should not refrain, but make application to the [illegible] S. Branch of the S. C. R., where the cases will be considered helpfully, if the circumstances warrant. Members of the local committee as appointed are Messrs. W. Buller, H. Rush, W. Stocker, H. C. Stabler, Wallace (Adjt.) Buntin, Sidney Whatley and Thos. Williams, the latter two being ex-members of the forces. Mr. Buller is chairman, Mr. Dobbin secretary and member of the committee.

A Brief Statement.

Following is a brief statement of the financial operations of the Fund during the year past:

Drawn from the Hon. Treasurer, Ottawa	$20,185.00
Expended. Pat. Fund purposes	$27,840.28
Expended. Post Discharge relief	1,182.00
Balance in Bank, Dec. 31	162.72
	$20,185.00 $20,185.00

Side by side with the operations of the Patriotic Fund, and handled by the same committee is the local Relief Fund of the Peterborough Relief Association. It will be remembered that at the time of the first campaign for 1915 subscriptions, from the liberal amount realized, some $10,000.00 was set aside, "for the assistance of persons in adverse circumstances on account of the war." This wise provision, for which the city is indebted to Mr. F. D. Kerr and Mr. S. A. Armstrong, as suggesting the fund, has proved to be of the greatest possible good, and manifested largely during the severe unemployment season of early 1915, during which over $9,000.00 were allotted, the fund has been a blessing during the years that have passed. The money has been invested leaving a substantial balance to present uses, from time to time. The interest on the investment helps to sustain the fund, and has at times been sufficient to cover expenditures. The fund affords at the discretion of the committee, which considers the applications, opportunity to assist without the parties having to make recourse to any of the public forms of assistance. Following is brief statement of the Relief Fund. During the year $330.00 was received from interest on Victory Bonds.

1919. Grants and loans	$1,007.25
Repayments	199.00
Net expenditure	$808.25
Balance in Bank	$2,782.45
Victory Bonds	6,000.00
Net Assets	$8,782.45

During the interval since the last general meeting, several vacancies have occurred in the committee. The meeting may consider it advisable to replace with others. The lists will be submitted for approval and action.

Respectfully,
F. H. DOBBIN,
Secretary

Prevent Influenza—Internal Bathing the Best Method

Did it ever occur to you that if the system is kept perfectly clean, both inside as well as out, how much easier it would be to keep yourself free from contagion? It is only when the blood is not kept clean and pure that you are unable to throw off disease.

The great cause of impure blood is constipation, allowing accumulated waste to remain in the system, especially the colon, where the entire blood circulation passes every twenty-four hours. There, poisons are taken up by the blood and the system becomes a prey to any infectious disease that may be prevalent.

The only method of properly keeping the colon and intestines clean is by bathing internally. The I.B.L. Cascade is the only perfect appliance for this purpose, and only purified warm water is used. It positively removes constipation and keeps the system as clean and healthy as nature intended it should be.

If you want to avoid being sick or to regain your health, keep your system clean and your blood pure. Thousands of Canadians have proven this wonderful health-giving method, and scores have been restored to perfect health by using the I.B.L. Cascade without taking drugs of any kind.

There should be a I.B.L. Cascade in every home. Ask to see one and explain to Warne Drug Company.

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

County fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up and miserable. Relief is sure.

IN THE MIDST OF ALARMS

(By H. F. GADSBY.)

(By H. F. Gadsby.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—Wrapping its long prehensile coat-tails firmly about the rungs of its chair, Union Government exclaims, "I stay here until a year from next fall or even later." And the Union Party which exists nowhere outside the House of Commons—choruses, "Quite right. Take no chances."

Union Government is perfectly aware that it is unpopular and for two reasons—because it has outstayed its usefulness and because both the old parties resent a state of affairs which stifles frank criticism for fear of hitting one's own friends. It blocks a fair fight—this mixing the two armies up. Human nature, relieved of war-time gags and censorships, clamors for a straight issue and an honest battle.

It goes without saying that Union Government does not yearn for an election which means its final disappearance. Neither do its supporters in Parliament, who realize that Liberals and Conservatives are reverting to type and that Unionists will not get the straight party nominations at the local conventions. The dream of a Unionist Party that might live on with a sweeter smell under another name is thoroughly dead. The field is already so crowded with parties—Liberal, Labor, Farmers,—that have come out flat-footed for what they want that a Unionist Party with a hush-a-bye-baby policy would stand no chance at all. Admitting that for Unionists it is appointed once to die they are logical enough in putting it off as long as possible.

Union Government, jointly and severally, has a hang-god look. Abuse, curses, revilings—these it could stand because it would mean that the Government was worth getting mad at. But laughter—mocking laughter! Ah, that is too cruel! The Cabinet Ministers go around feeling their necks—those devoted necks for which so many swords, saws, mowing machines and axes are sharpening. Strangely enough feeling their necks give them a sort of confidence—most of them have rubber necks which can stand two or three more chops before the head rolls off. Besides a rubber neck, Mr. Rowell has the shield of faith, the armor of light, the triple brass of a mens conscia recti and that makes him pretty safe for the time being.

One gathers that the Government does not cling to office so much as it yields to the stern call of duty. Thinking of Mackenzie King, and T. A. Crerar and Bob Rogers and Senator MacLennan and the others who are waiting to tear it limb from limb, it clamps its jaws and mutters, "Here we stick, lest worse befall." It has decided to "carry on." The carryings on? Well that is another story.

On What Frail Reeds.

Can the Government carry on? Can it avoid coming to grief over the budget, the tariff, the Franchise Act. Close calculators say it can be done, arguing in this wise. The Franchise Act is not a real danger because no Parliament wants to go to the country on the War Time Election Act which is its only available substitute. A Franchise Act achieved, the general election must still wait on a Redistribution Bill, which cannot be passed until the decennial census of 1921 reveals the number of voters and a means of employing the electoral unit to take the starch out of the farmers' movement. A touch of rep-by-pop, which will give the cities their share, is what the doctor orders.

Remain the budget and the tariff—two souls with but a single thought and that thought to stand pat. Will the Government weather that storm? Again the close calculators—they have to be close calculators for the Government sails close to the wind—again the close calculators say yes, basing their answer on the chance that the Government will do nothing to the tariff with as little noise as possible, a course which commends itself to the friends of inaction both in and out of Parliament.

"Suppose" some one objects "that Mr. King or Mr. Crerar puts forward a tariff amendment? Suppose the Liberals and Mr. Crerar's Wee Frees vote together against the Government—what then?" It is quite reasonable to expect that Mr. King and Mr. Crerar may work together for good—said good being the discomfiture of Union Government. Such an alliance of Farmers and Liberals, whose platforms are so much alike, has the blessing of Sir Clifford Sifton, Mr. Joseph E. Atkinson and several other prominent Liberals who have not always seen eye to eye with the party. It would be hoisting Union Government with its own petard—another union of two parties with similar principles bent on winning an election.

It is on the cards then that the Liberals and the cross-benches may join hands in a tariff amendment. Even that conjuncture Union Government looks forward to baffling by means of its faithful majority which, all defections counted, would still number ten. Ten is not a wide margin. As Mr. Shakespeare says "It is not as wide as a church door. But 'tis enough. It will serve." A miss is as good as a mile and a small majority of ten is big enough for all practical purposes.

The Dark Unfathoned Calder.

The danger of collapse lies chiefly in the Cabinet. They have, as I said, a hang-dog look and being hand-dogs they are naturally biting and scratching each other. Mr. Meighen would like to be Premier Borden's successor if only for fifteen minutes. But so too would Mr. James Calder who goes further and says that if he can't Mr. Meighen never will—or words to that effect. As Mr. Calder is credited with a gift for conspiracy, the close calculators are again at work disucssing the chances of a frame-up in which Mr. Calder, disappointed of his ambition for leadership, should march his Liberal Unionist supporters over to the Opposition on a tariff vote and send Union Government hurtling to its fall. Of course Mr. Calder would make it a bargain that he be included in any Government which he had helped into office. However, this looks pretty deep, even for Mr. Calder and I merely tell it here as a bit of Ottawa gossip.

Another thing Union Government relies on to hold its supporters in leash is an increase of a thousand or perhaps fifteen hundred dollars in the sessional indemnity. The Government has balked at this raid on the treasury for quite a while, but self-preservation is the first law of nature and if it is necessary to hand out another half million to keep Parliament quiet, the thing will be done. The excuse is the high cost of living—that is to say the high cost of this country of Union Government continuing to live on. The average member of Parliament, who does not spend more than one and fifty dollars a month on his hall—bedroom—quick-lunch existence at Ottawa is usually able to make a fair profit on his twenty-five hundred dollars. The extra fifteen hundred is found money. He doesn't need it, but naturally he takes it if it is thrust upon him. With the purchasing value of the dollar cut in half, fifteen hundred dollars isn't as much as it looks. It cheers, but it does not inebriate. Still it ought to be good for one session's support.

The Conservative party in the House seems about equally divided between those who would give it another year to find its feet and those who would put matters to the touch now and carry the election with a rush. On the other hand the Liberals are for an immediate election and so are the United Farmers. The issue would, of course, be the tariff, and a quick election while public opinion is hot would be more favorable to the Liberals and the farmers than one a year later. The party leaders have not forgotten what happened to reciprocity in 1911 through allowing a happy thought too much time to cool.

The tariff is considerable of a sapper and miner both of Liberal and Farmers' parties and give reflection too long play there may be sagging in the middle and crumbling at the edges. The cry just now, for farmers and Liberals too is "approximate"—and the wise fellows say, that the election ought to be held while the "approximating" is good. Later on differences might be discovered between low-tariff and not-so-low-tariff Liberals, between the Western farmer and his Eastern brother, which would make approximation not such a sure card as it is now.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth); then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you 16 ounces of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

WINTER WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Our Canadian winters are exceedingly hard on the health of little ones. The weather is often so severe that the mother cannot take the little one out for an airing. The consequence is that baby is confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms; takes cold and becomes cross and peevish. Baby's Own Tablets should be given to keep the little one healthy. They are a mild laxative which regulate the stomach and howels and thus prevent colds. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MINISTERING ANGELS.

Still at the Father's high behest,
His ministering Angels blest,
Are around about our pathway here,
To guard and shield, protect and cheer,
Oft, by their timely aid, we shun,
Some snare, laid by the Evil One,
And ghostly foes in vain attack,
Before them tall, defeated back.

When night's dark, gloomy shades descend
And near us is no human friend,
Safe may we lay us down to rest,
Sure that no foe will dare molest
While those Celestial Sentries go,
Around our dwelling to and fro,
From all the powers of earth and hell,
Their strong phalanx shall guard us well.

Betimes, as to the Seer of yore,
They come with bread a needed store,
And theirs to save, from outward wrong,
However subtile, bold, or strong;
Yet naught, can all their might avail,
'Gainst those that inwardly assail,
As from ourselves not even they,
Can shield, if willfully we stray.

Gladly, obediently to His will,
Mercy's sweet missions they fulfill,
Still this their happiest employ,
Their highest, holiest, purest joy;
Earthward to speed on lightsome wing
The healing balm of Heaven to bring,
Where on the bed of sickness prone,
The sufferer lingers, sad and lone

Tho all God's saints, thier kindness share,
The sick are their peculiar care,
The dying bed to gently smooth,
And with sweet ministrations soothe;
To cheer, and comfort to the end,
And then, the franchised soul attend,
Beneath our sheltering pinions white,
Safe to Emanuel's land of light.

COMPLETION OF HUDSON BAY RAILWAY URGED

Great Emphasis Laid on Value of Fisheries, Mines and Natural Resources.

(Canadian Press.)

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 28.—To tap the rich fisheries in Hudson Bay, which Professor Prince, Dominion Commissioner of Fisheries, describes as more valuable than the Pacific fisheries at Prince Rupert, and to give access to the mineral deposits reported on both sides of the Bay, are leading considerations put forward for the immediate completion of the Hudson Bay railway. Professor J. B. Tyrrell believes that when the railway reaches the Bay it will cause a rush of mining men and prospectors to search every nook and corner of the huge inland sea for the mineral wealth reported upon by various members of the geological department of Canada. Tyrrell himself made one report concerning the prospects of finding miners on the shores of the Bay, and he pointed out that he expressed no fears as to the outcome of an organized search by trained field men.

Originally projected as a grain carrying route, and a shorter one to Europe, the Hudson Bay railway has now developed itself into a colonization road to tap resources hitherto conjectured at, but of which very little definite information was possessed. Only recently a report was issued describing the vast pulp areas south of the railway at a point near Kettle Rapids, and a second area 15 miles off the railway on the Grassy River. These two areas combined approximate fifty million cords of pulp wood, it is stated. Coupled with what is already known of lesser pulp areas, and the total known pulp wood areas tributary to the railway may contain one hundred million cords. The railway was projected in 1911 and work was pushed until the fall of 1917, when war conditions brought further work to a standstill. The grade however was fully completed from The Pas to Port Nelson on Hudson Bay, a distance of 434 miles, and the steel laid for 332 miles, leaving a balance of 92 miles upon which to lay steel. Nothing has been done upon the railway since 1917, and unless work is resumed this year, it is claimed the road bed will suffer great deterioration and create an expense of ten million dollars to repair the damage.

SO FATE seized them—a snobbish family of British blue-bloods. Cast them on an island where the voice of the world was lost. Tumbled them, lord and butler, lady and scullery maid, into a common mass of males and females. Laughed at their former glories, their former handicaps. Pointed to an untamed jungle, ruled only by wild beasts, and said: "Now we shall see who rules."

Then the butler, because he was a MAN, became a king; and the great lady, who once disdained him, SERVED, loved him—fought with a slavey for his kiss!

One day a ship! Rescue! Home! The old world and its old ways. Its pride, conventions, shallow distinctions. Did the true love, the true leadership of the wilds hold them? Come and see. YOU'LL NEVER FORGET "MALE AND FEMALE."

BUTCHERS DEFEATED GROCERS TEAM

The Grocers and Butchers of the city met in a dog dong battle at Brock street rink last evening. After the smoke had cleared away the score stood at 8-9 in favour of the butchers. The stars for the winners were Halpin, Joplin and Allan, while Ward and White performed similar honors for the Grocers.

MAY RETIRE CHASE AND ZIMMERMAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—Hal Chase first baseman, and Hemie Zimmerman third baseman of the Giants, are said to be state for retirement from the major leagues in a few days. It is understood that waivers are to be asked on those two players and Lee Magee, who played with the Cubs last year, and that none of the clubs in either of the big leagues will claim them.

Zimmerman was suspended last Fall by McGraw, who announced shortly afterward that Zim would never play another game with the Giants. Chase was on the carpet before John A. Heydler last winter on a charge of gambling, made by Christy Mathewson, but was given a clean bill of health. At the meeting of the two leagues in Chicago two weeks ago it was reported that Magee was to be sidetracked by mutual consent of the club owners. About that time he was quoted as saying:

"If they pull such a trick on me I guarantee I won't be the goat alone. At least one other player will go with me."

Definite reasons for the plan to drop the three players are shrouded in mystery.

A BENEFIT GAME AT BROCK ST. RINK

At the Brock street rink on Monday night there will be a benefit game between the C.G.E. Tool-room and the Canadian Woollens, the proceeds to go to Edwin Dugan, of the C.G.E. team, who was badly hurt in the last game between the two clubs. The tickets are on sale and are going fast so that there will undoubtedly be a big crowd on hand for the battle. There is keen rivalry between the two teams owing to the dispute over the championship, which has been awarded to the C. G. E. Tool-room, the City League having decided not to play off the 3-3 tie set up by the C.G.E. and Auburns in their last meeting.

HOCKEY

At the Brock Street Rink last night the Lock Works defeated the Y. M. C. A. (Employed Boys) by the narrow score of 3—2.

Foley starred for the Lock Works, scoring their three goals; while Hensley was by far the best player for the Y Boys.

Bergoine, in the nets, was another of the stars for the Boys, saving a number of likely shots.

On the front line the checking of both teams was nice to watch, and the play was with few or no penalties for either side.

The ice was fast, and a clean and worth-while game was the outcome.

Gordon Webb refereed the game to the satisfaction of both teams.

TYRONE POWER

TYRONE POWER IN "THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE."

A notable revival of a remarkable play will be presented at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, March 10th, when Mr. Tyrone Power, and a selected company of players will be seen in Charles Rann Kennedy's famous morality drama, "The Servant in the House."

This is the first production to be sent out by Trans-Canada Theatres Limited, the newly-organized all-Canadian corporation which controls a chain of theatres from the Atlantic to the Pacific, throughout the Dominion.

Theatre goers will recall the sensation which this play created when it was first produced twelve years ago, and the controversy which arose over the astonishing portrayal of the role of the Drainman by Mr. Power.

Dramatic critics both in New York and in all the principal centres of population throughout the United States and Canada, agreed that Mr. Power had created a character that was destined to stand out profinently among the most notable of a decade.

The high reputation which that distinguished actor has attained on both sides of the Atlantic has been largely built up through his uncompromising stand against any form of sugestiveness or impropriety upon the stage, and his firm adherence to nothing but the highest form of drama.

It is in keeping with the avowed policy of Trans-Canada Theatres Limited that Mr. Power should be presented in such a play as "The Servant in the House" as their initial production in this Dominion.

The cast selected to support the star includes Mr. [illegible] Mr. Walter Edgley, Mr. Edward Easton, Mr. Harold De Becker, Miss [illegible], Miss Knight, Miss Mary Chester and [illegible].

SHOWING AT THE EMPIRE ON MONDAY.

"A NIGHT IN HONOLULU"

A new play of Hawaii, by Howard McKeen Barnes, is told in three acts. A beautiful Hawaiian girl, deserted by her lover an Englishman, in a spirit of revenge substitutes the child of his white wife for that of her own which has died and rears her as a native. She is afterwards known as "Kalama," a dancing girl of Hawaii. She is sought after by the white people, flattered and favored by them, but when her heart goes out to a white man and the sentiment is reciprocated the old fateful barrier stands in the way; the inter-mingling of the race is confronted. How the author works out this situation is most absorbingly told in "A Night in Honolulu," which is shortly to be seen at the Grand today, matinee and evenings performances.

Miss Una Carpenter, who plays the Hawaiian dancing girl in "A Night in Honolulu," which comes to the Grand to-night, is a young woman who has made her way on the stage by careful study. Players are often asked about how to get on the stage and how to succeed after they have managed to secure an engagement. It seems a question which is always being asked by folks outside the theatre. The inevitable question was put to Miss Carpenter and the interviewer found the young lady had very definite and set ideas on the subject of her profession. The only and practical way for one ambitious to learn the ways of the stage is to "act" said Miss Carpenter. The various schools of acting may be well enough in their way, but my observation of their graduates has been that they are harder to fit into a role than a person who has had no training at all. The Stock Company is the best school which can be found in the country to-day, while there is little chance for study and characterization, still it does give the student the opportunity to study and see the result certain intonations and gestures have on audiences. Getting to know the temper of an audience proved my greatest difficulty. Finding our audience and forcing response from it—one of the great secrets of winning success.

The Real Cause of Most Bad Complexions

It is a stern fact that no truly beautiful complexion ever came out of jars or bottles; the longer one uses cosmetics the worse the complexion becomes. Skin, to be healthy, must breathe. It also must expel, through the pores, its share of the body's effete material. Creams and powders clog the pores, interfering both with elimination and breathing. If more women understod this, there would be fewer self-ruined complexions. If they would use ordinary mercolized wax instead of cosmetics, they would have natural, healthy complexions. This remarkable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also unclogging the pores. Result: The fresher, younger underskin is permitted to breathe and to show itself. An exquisite new complexion gradually peeps out, one free from any appearance of artificiality. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist, and try it. Apply nightly like cold cream, for a week or so, washing it off mornings.

STATES MAY RECOGNIZE THE SOVIET

MATTERS ARE RAPIDLY COMING TO A HEAD—THE TERMS OF SETTLEMENT WITH BRITAIN.

(By Raymond Clapper, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Recognition of Soviet Russia by the United States in the near future was predicted to-day by Senate leaders.

Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, Administration spokesman, declared resumption of relations with Russia is "very near."

Senator Borah, Idaho, Republican, predicted recognition of Russia by the Allies within ten days and action by the United States soon afterward.

All sides declared the situation is rapidly being brought to a climax by the feelers which the Soviet government is now throwing out.

The Terms.

(Canadian Press.)

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 28.— What purports to be basis of Great Britain's proposals to the Russian Soviet Government, which James O'Grady, British represenative at Copenhagen, transmitted to Maxim Litvinoff are contained in a Reuter despatch as follows: "Tacit recognition of the Maximalist political regime, non-interference by Great Britain with respect to internal condition of those countries separated from former Russian rule in the west, namely: Finland, Esthonia, Lithuania, Ukrainia and Poland, non-interference by Great Britain in Siberian affairs, demobilization of the Red army, promise by Bolsheviki to recognize independence of Meridional republics, especially Georgie, non-interference by Russia with territories on frontiers of Georgia and Persia, payment in gold for foods exported or imported between Russia and Great Britain, regime of commercial equality for Russia and Great Britain in autonomous states on western front.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 28.—Sir Robert Borden arrived in Halifax on the Carmania this morning, en route to New York, where he will be met by Lady Borden, who will accompany him on a trip to the south, which will be undertaken in a further effort to regain his lost health. Sir Robert stated this morning that while he felt much better as a result of the trip to England, he was unable to venture an opinion as to when he hoped to be restored to normal health. He declined to discuss the political situation either in England or Canada, and would make no comment on general conditions.

PRESS COMMENT ON IRISH BILL

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The Press reception of the Home Rule Bill is rather mixed but the times recognizes the bill as based upon sound principles within limits but says that it conveys the impression that the Farmers had not the full courage of their convictions. The Telegraph unionist says nothing editorially and the morning Post, declares that never since the compilation of Athanasian Creed has there been so ingenious a document. It prophesies that Ireland will remain hostile to the bill and will not give these Islands any peace. It will only transfer the civil conflict to a New Battlefield. The Daily Chronicle Liberal, approves of the bill and thinks that the financial terms are extremely generous and regards as the most vital part measure which enables two Parliaments to come together at any time by agreement. The Daily Mail which has been a severe critic of the government's Irish policy, thinks the bill good, but not good enough as regards the Dominion powers for Irish Parliaments. PARIS, Feb. 28. — Orders for a general railroad strike have been issued by the National Federation of Railway Men. Reports were current last night that this action has been taken but confirmation could not be obtained until late this afternoon. A Cabinet meeting has been called for seven o'clock this evening.

Operating conditions on Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean lines and other roads affected by the walkout of the employees seems to be slightly improved. Last night traffic was shown to have increased during the 24 hours closing at mid-night, and it is believed that mobilization orders sent to the men of the Paris-Lyons and Mediterranean and state roads, would bring sufficient forces to carry on the normal traffic.

Strong military forces are guarding tracks inside the city limits of Paris, and a law authorizing the requisitioning of automobile motor trucks and airplanes in case of the interruption of railway traffic, was passed last night by the Chamber of Deputies.

The action taken, it is claimed by the strike leaders in the strike order issued, was owing to the attack by the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean Company on the exercise of union rights. The order advises the preservation of calmness throughout the strike.

About ten years ago a farmer of Dummer Township, well past fifty, was used up with rheumatism. He was cured and has remained so by taking Gallagher's Kidney Remedy. FARMER SUFFERS HEAVY FIRE LOSS

Mr. Peter Deshane of Belmont met with a very heavy loss by fire, when his house and contents were totally destroyed by fire. The fire broke out in the partitions and ceiling when the family dinner was being prepared, and in a few minutes the whole house was a mass of flames. Only a few chairs were saved, and in addition to the property loss, the sum of $125 was also destroyed. Mr. Deshane's loss will be very heavy, as he only had a small insurance.

The above is the subject announced for Murray Street Baptist church at the evening service to-morrow.

LIEUT.-COL. JOHN PRINGLE DELIVERS STIRRING MESSAGE IN ST. ANDREW'S

THE FORWARD MOVEMENT MEANS THAT THE CHURCH IS TO TAKE A LONGER STRIDE.

With his winning personality, a stirring eloquence, Lieut. Col. Rev. John Pringle, moderator of the Presbyterian Assembly, last evening held a large congregation spell bound with his wonderful message for two hours when he spoke in St. Andrews church on the spiritual side of the Forward Movement.

Lieut. Col. Pringle spent ten years in the Klondike. There he became famous throughout Canada for the devotion he showed in his work and the marvellous results he achieved. Later he spent some years in Cape Breton and when war broke out immediately offered his services and was accepted as chaplain. Recently the Presbytery asked that he might be released from his charge that he might go throughout the land delivering his message. Since the granting of this he has gone throughout Canada but has purposely avoided the larger centres, knowing that they are favored by visits from the leading men of the Church and has delivered his message to the smaller centres.

Conditions of the Land

In his address last night he spoke of the conditions of the Church as it has found them in going up and down the land and spoke in a most optimistic strain of the state of the Church, giving instances of his own experience of the different conditions now and forty years ago. When he went west forty years ago in 1882 there were few Presbyterian charges west of Lake Superior, while today in Saskatchewan alone there are 850 preaching stations of the Church.

Forward Movement

In commenting upon the Forward Movement he said that all it meant was the Church should take a longer stride. The Movement is nothing new. The Church has been going forward at all times, through all ages, but it is up to us now to take a longer stride—putting forth an increased effort. He referred to the fact that in a generation or two the war will be a thing of books, while Christ, through hundreds of years, remained a living force.

Actual Experiences

He recited a number of instances in France, giving some interesting information of the life of the soldiers. He mentioned how in one charge 250 men who served have returned from the front to their places in the Church, the majority of whom are more devoted to the ideals of the Church than before going overseas. He referred to the loss of his own splendid son, who fell early in the war.

The French Railway Strike Is Coming To An End

THE STRIKE SITUATION IN FRANCE

LABOUR FEDERATION REFUSES TO HAVE THE STRIKE EXTENDED IN SYMPATHY WITH RAILWAYMEN.

FOOD SUPPLIES

(By Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, Mar. 1.—The General Federation of Labour, which has assumed direction of the French railway strike to-day, announced that it has refused to allow the strike called in sympathy with the railwaymen to be extended.

The Federation will extend its moral support only.

The strike situation remained stationary to-day. The city's food supply, Government officials said, was assured. Prefects in all the larger cities in the strike areas have been ordered to commandeer automobiles and other means of transportation where necessary to ensure the proper distribution of food.

To prevent a fuel shortage, the Government announced that all wartime coal restrictions will be reimposed beginning to-day.

The restrictions include the early closing of restaurants, theatres, and amusement places.

The Government to-day inaugurated an airplane service for the distribution of mails and and other essentials between Paris, Lyons, Marseilles, Bordeaux, Strasshourg, Brussels London Tours and Diejon to be continued throughout the strike.

LEADERS ARRESTED.

Special to Examiner.

PARIS, March 1. — Five active strike leaders in the Paris railway unions were arrested this morning.

There was great excitement among the unionists when the news of the arrests became curret. All those under detention are charged with "interference with the liberty to work and provoking disobedience." Five thousand persons have volunteered for service on the railways during the strike.

Two hundred chauffeurs have placed themselves at the disposal of the Public Works Ministry in carrying out the revictualling system, according to Matin.

Hundreds of students have been placed at posts of different railways where they are being given practical instruction.

Premier Millerand made the following statement to-day:

"The situation is satisfactory. Reports from the companies and prefects bring confirmation of amelioration of conditions on all systems."

STOCK MARKET OPENED STRONG

LITTLE CHANGE IN RAILWAY ISSUES —STERLING EXCHANGE.

(United Press)

NEW YORK, March 1.—The stock market opened strong to-day. Prices of th leading issues were bid up on first sales but there was little change in railway issues. Southern Pacific was the only stock of this class which showed any appreciable gain opening at 1¼ points up to 95½. United States Steel opened at 94¼ up ⅛. Republic 86 and ¼. Mexican Petroleum 168-½ up 1¼ Reading 75½ unchanged Baldwin 108½ up 1 General Motors, 245 up 3¼. Crucible 194 unchanged. New Haven 34½ unchanged. U. R. Stores 67½ up¾ Missouri Pacific 31 up ⅝. American Loco 92¾ up 1⅝. Baltimore & Ohio 38 up ⅞. Studebaker 82½ up ¼. American Car & Foundry 130 up 2⅝.

There was considerable selling in the lower priced railway stocks, apparently by traders who desired to take their profits. On theory that the signing of the railway bill had been discounted in the market and the effect would not be felt very much now Rock Island opened at 38¾ off 1⅛. Equipments and steels were bought in anticipation of heavy orders from Railroad Sources.

Selling pressure slowed up after the first hour and a number of issues severely depressed earlier, scored recoveries. Crucible rallied to 102 Gen Motors to 240 1-2 Mexcan Pet to 168 1-4 Rock Island to 39 3-4 and Southern Railway to 20 1-4.

DEMAND STERLING

NEW YORK, March 1.—Demand sterling was quoted at $3 40½ off soon after the opening to-day. Francs opened firmer at $14 10 and lire at $18.3[illegible] marks were quoted.

Union Government Invited to Resign

INDEPENDENT LABOUR PARTY CLAIMS PRESENT GOVERNMENT HAS OUTLIVED ITS USEFULNESS.

A DICTATORSHIP

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Mar. 1.—The Independent Labour Party, Ottawa Branch, wants the Union Government to resign, as it has outlived its usefulness.

The Party went on record yesterday afternoon, asking for the Government to step down, but a resolution that was drawn up was not passed until many of the members had their fling at the Government.

The resolution, which was passed unanimously, was proposed by Mr. J. W. Hinchcliffe, and seconded by Mr. Wm. McCaffrey, and was a charge that the Government had irritated the people by orders-in-council, an appointment of many commissions, and had developed into an "autocracy" or "dictatorship."

MONKEY GLANDS FOR BREAKFAST

Will Prolong Life and Take the Crimp Out of Old Age.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—"All ye ancient ones who yearn for youth and fear an operation, take heart! You can eat monkey glands, and get the same results. One year ago I was all in. I was a has-been, and my race was run," said Robert George Laws, who claims to be a retired London broker, on his arrival here from England on the Cedric.

"My doctor old me to take monkey glands in capsule form. I did. Look at me now!"

Laws circled the decks of the big liner several times at a brisk run, and came back with his chest hardly moving. He then picked up two heavy suit cases, and walked down the gangplank.

"Put it down — I'm 72 years old," he said as a final shot.

FUR PELTS ALL GO UP IN PRICE

OVER 110 TONS OF ANT PODEAN RABBIT SKINS SOLD AT N.Y. FUR SALE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.— With a grand total of $10,600,000 for the nine days of selling, the annual winter fur auction in the Masonic Hall here ended Wednesday. It was by far the largest sale of its kind ever held in this city, to-day's final figures exceeding the grand total of the fall sale here by more than $3,500,000.

Bidding for nutria, beaver, raccoon and skunk marked the final sessions of the sale. Nutria advanced 50 per cent. over fall prices, while beaver and south-western raccoon went up heavily and 60 per cent. respectively. Top price for beaver was $64, skunk sold up to $1 23.

More than 110 tons of rabbi[illegible] from the Antipodes were sold. ters' rabbit went up [illegible] per [illegible] compared with pri[illegible] sale of the New York [illegible] Corporation, while [illegible] rabbit advanced 15 per cent. The best grade of the latter did not change.

PRIVATE CONTROL FOR THE RAILWAYS

CHANGE TOOK PLACE TO-DAY AT NOON IN NEW YORK CITY.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—Railways operating out of New York City returned to private control at 12.01 a.m. to-day with surface indications of the change from Government operation.

Shortly after the transition was effected, the Pennsylvania and Erie systems announced their intention of operating along the line instituted by the Government — the "four region" basis.

Railway heads generally expressed themselves as hopeful for the future, and said they believed the success or failure of the legislation under which the roads will operate will be determined within two years.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE SITUATION

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Mar. 1.—The general situation in Cilicia is improving, according to a despatch received by the Temps, which stated that Prince Fesal, son of the Kin gof Hedjaz, has ordered the Arabian elements which had joined the Turkish Nationalists to withdraw.

The Temps also learns that Mastapha Kemel Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist leader, has issued an order against further attacks on the French troops.

The French command, according to other advices, is continuing to take measures to prevent the co-operation of Turkish and Arabian bands.

Important forces have been concentrated in the Killis region, which divides are inhabited by Turkish-speaking people from Syria.

An official statement declares the despatches indicating considerable French loss in the vicinity of Marash to be exaggerated.

The total casualties were little more than 100, a statement says, and of these only a few were killed.

LINER BOHEMIAN WENT ASHORE

PASSENGERS HAVE BEEN TAKEN OFF BY A TUG.

(Canadian Press.)

HALIFAX, N.S., Mar. 1. — The liner Bohemian, which left Boston last Saturday, went ashore this morning in a snowstorm at Sambre Ledges. Tugs have rescued the passengers, and are bringing them to port.

The vessel carried sixty-four cabin passengers, a crew of two hundred, and a valuable cargo.

She had been expected to dock at Halifax for a few hours to-day to take on more cargo and coal.

The passengers were taken off early this morning, and brought here by the tug Roebling.

No further word has been received of the condition of the ship, which grounded on sinister rocks, known as Blind Sisters.

A number of tugs are standing by the wrecked steamer.

ARMENIANS MASSACRED BY TURKS

AMONG THE VICTIMS WERE 85 ARMENIAN GIRLS UNDER DIRECT PROTECTION OF THE U. S. MISSION HOUSE AT MARASH.

FRENCH DEFEATED

WASHINGTON, March 1. — The most brutal of all Turkish atrocities — the massacre of 10,000 Armenians and the murder of 85 Armenian girls who were under the direct protection of a United States mission house at Marash, in Cilicia, Turkey—was reported to the State Department.

The massacre took place after fearful fighting between French and Turkish forces. The French were compelled to withdraw, and the Turks descended on the unprotected city and began their butchery. Americans in the American college at Marash were fired upon when they offered to mediate between the Turks and the French. They were told it was a national and not a local affair.

It is believed here that all Americans are out of danger, and they are understood to have left Marash with the French forces.

All the United States Government can do under the circumstances is to forward a protest to the Ottoman Government through Admiral Mark Bristol, who is the United States High Commissioner to Turkey, and is stationed at Constantinople.

The only assistance in sight for the Americans in the new war zone is the presence of a few torpedo destroyers in the Eastern Mediterranean, that are under the command of Admiral Bristol. The despatches to the State Department indicate there is onen war at present between France and Turkey. It is feared that the French retreat, now in progress may at any moment be turned into a rout.

SIEGE OF FIUME BEGINS WITH STRINGENT BLOCKADE.

(Canadian Press.)

FIUME, Mar. 1. — The siege of Fiume has begun with a stringent blockade against commodities, including foodstuffs.

"We shall exercise an iron blockade against the forces of Gabriele D'Annunzio," stated General Caviglia, of the Government forces.

"Perhaps we may appear to be lenient towards those occupying Fiume, but this is not so. I am not offering the slightest atom, but the children must be cared for. That is why I allowed twenty children to leave Fiume for Milan."

A prominent banker who had previously been a strong supporter of the Italian annexation, stated that the people were starving, and are now ready for an international city, occupied either by a British or an American garrison.

Charles Holland Was Victim of an Elevator Accident This Morning at Canadian Woollens

LIFELESS BODY WAS DISCOVERED BY WORKMEN SHORTLY AFTER ACCIDENT—NO EYEWITNESSES—

WILL HOLD INQUEST

Charles Holland, wool stock keeper at the McDonnel street plant of the Canadian Woollens, was instantly killed this morning at about 8.45, being crushed in one of the freight elevators at the extreme western end of the basement of the building.

Mr. J. W. Worth, when interviewed shortly afterwards, said that no details of the death were known as no one saw the accident and no cries were heard, only the lifeless body of the unfortunate man bearing silent testimony to the tragedy that had occurred.

The late Mr. Holland had been employed by the Bonner-Worth Company, now known as the Canadian Woollens Ltd., for two years and had always been a careful and conscientious workman, Mr. Worth said. He was head wool stock keeper of the large stocks of wool in the basement and was assisted by a boy, but of late the boy has been away through illness in the home and Mr. Holland had been carrying on the work alone.

PASTOR YEARNS FOR A REVIVAL OF THE GOOD OLD FASHIONED VIRTUES

Thinks the Use of the Whipping Post Would Improve the Present Condition of Society Loathes Modern Talk About Affinities.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, March 1.—"I loathe all this modern talk about affinities. It is nauseating to me, and yet your boys and girls are being taught such things as that in the theatres of this city. They make heroines of so-called affinities, while the good old-fashioned virtues are forgotten," said Rev. John W. Woodside, formerly of Toronto, in the course of a sermon at Chalmers Presbyterian Church last night.

"I wish sometimes that the old whipping post, where a man's back was bared and the last applied, was in existence," said Rev. Mr. Woodside. "We are losing our chivalry. The home, be it ever so humble, is the corner-stone of society, and it is only by arousing a deeper sense of chivalry that we will work out our domestic salvation.

"I know of couples who would cut off their right hands rather than go through again what indiscreet marriage has brought them to face. Tome and again they have come back to me, asking if they might have the bond undone, simply because they did not give the matter the consideration it deserved in the first instance."

Local Markets Are Essential

Equal Responsibility for their Support Rests Upon the Farmers and Merchants

Must Assist Each Other

Prosperity of Community Depends Upon Each of These Two Classes of Buying Products & Goods of Each Other

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newpaper Union.)

The first essential in the development of any business is the possession of a market. The manufacturer must have a market for his products or he cannot succeed, no matter how valuable those products may be or how efficiently his plant may be operated. The wholesale merchant and the retail merchant may have the choicest stocks of goods, but they may as well go out of business if they have not a market where they can dispose of their stocks. The farmer may produce bumper crops, but they will rot upon the ground if he cannot find a market for them. The wage earner's skill and muscle bring him no returns unless there is a market for his labor.

The question of markets is the big one in every line of business and in every community the question is a vital one. In each community, which must be taken to include not only all the people who live in the town but the farmers who live in the surrounding country as well, there are two sides to the market question. The business men of the town must have a market for the things which they have to sell. Otherwise they cannot continue in business. At the same time the farmers must have a market for the things which they raise or they may as well go out of business.

When Either Fails Both Suffer.

Ther merchants of the town can provide a market for the products of the farmers and the farmers can provide market for the goods which the merchants have to sell. As long as each class of citizens provides a market for the other class all is well and the goose hangs high, but when either class fails to provide a market for the other the goose is cooked not only for the class which is deprived of the market but for the other as well.

The farmer has a right to expect the town which is his natural trading point to provide a market for his products, and the town is not performing its proper function as the trading centre of its community if it does not see that such a market is provided. The responsibility of looking after the fulfillment of this obligation rests largely upon the merchants of the town. The farmer is a producer and he must dispose of his products before he can become a consumer. It is, therefore, not only right but necessary from a business standpoint that the merchants should aid the farmer in turning his products into money. Otherwise the farmer naturally will have no money to spend in the stores of the town.

Obligation on Farmers.

On the other hand, the merchants of the town have a right to expect the farmers to provide a market for the merchandise which they have to sell, and the farmers are not doing their duty to their community if they do not provide such a market. In this case, also, it is not only right but it is necessary to the prosperity of the farmers that they should aid the merchants in turning their merchandise into cash. Otherwise it is obvious that the merchants wil have no money with which to buy the products of the farmers.

This is a double-barreled proposition and the obligation rests equally upon both the merchants and the farmers to maintain the markets which are essential to both classes of citizens. Any town which would import from points hundreds of miles distant the farm products which it could buy at home would be pursuing a very short-sighted policy, for it would be making it impossible for the farmers in its territory to buy the goods of its merchants. As a matter of fact no town does this unless it is forced by unusual conditions to do so. A town may be located in a community which is not productive enough to meet the local demands, and in that case it is forced to import farm products but the town which is compelled to do this is at a disadvantage from a commercial standpoint unless it is essentially a manufacturing town, in which case its products are sold to other communities and bring in enough cash to offset that which is sent away to purchase farm products.

Must Have Outside Business.

In the average community, however, the town is dependent for its prosperity upon the money received from the farmers in the ordinary channels of trade, rather than upon that obtained from the sale of its own products In the average town the merchants cannot make money and continue in business if they are dependent solely upon the people of the town for their business.

No business can last long with "everything going out and nothing coming in," and it is equally true that no business can be operated on the principle of "everything coming in and nothing going out." To maintain the balance which is necessary to the maintenance of prosperity in a community there must be an even trade between its business men of the town.

Manhood versus Money

Roosevelt ever dared to do what he believed was right. He dared men to contradict him.

He was frankly "out" for any man who had anything to conceal—any man who had a special privilege to advocate or an underhand game to play.

Evasion was utterly foreign to him. He lived openly—honestly—fearlessly.

His creed was the rights and the liberties of his people. His dynamic personality is an inspiration to every man, woman and child.

He instilled into the breast of humanity a love for justice and truth. He taught men to fight for what they believed in. He urged them to be fair and square. He preached a doctrine of coming out into the open and declaring before the world those things which men had been blindly seeking for years.

When Mr. Roosevelt passed away not only all America but all the world mourned. We all felt that we had lost the great friend of right, of truth, of justice, one who wished everybody well, a friend of everybody.

There was a time, not so far back in our national life either, when the man who was the shrewdest, the sharpest, the most cunning the most adroit in taking advantage of others, got the biggest salary, the biggest jobs in business. To-day the man at the other end of the bargain is looming up as never before, and Theodore Roosevelt did much to bring this condition about, to spread the philosophy of the square deal, straight business methods. He never had any use for the shoddy and shams in politics. He hated crooked methods and did much to inject the leaven of the Golden Rule, the Spirit of the Sermon on the Mount, into business, into politics, into public service.

His own home life was a poem of happiness. A devoted father, a faithful husband, a loyal friend—a prince among men—he was an example for all to emulate.

Every one who knew Mr. Roosevelt knew that there was something in him that bribery could not touch, something that influence could not buy, somethig that was not for sale, something that he would not sacrifice or tamper with or gamble with for any consideration. Politicians who were anxious for graft had little use for him; they could not bribe him nor influence him with promises or favours, money, position or power. No position attracted him if his character must be besmirched in getting it. He used to say that no man ever really did a great thing who stained his character is the process.

Frauds had no part in the scheme of things as outlined by Roosevelt. He hated fraud and trickery as a trained fireman hates a fire. He believed in calling a spade a spade and in throwing out the spade that would not dig honestly and intelligently.

MIXED FARMING IN WESTERN Canada—in Central Alberta and Saskatchewan are rich park lands—open prairie ready for the plow, interspersed with trees, which afford excellent shelter for stock. Here grain growing, dairying and live-stock raising are being carried out successfully. The country is ideal for mixed farming. The Canadian Pacific Railway is offering a large area of these fertile lands in the neighborhood of Lloydminster and Battleford These rich districts will become the home of thousands of prosperous farmers. On similar land Seager Wheeler grows the world's prize wheat. Near Lloydminster the world's prize oats have been grown and butter of the highest quality is made. A man can soon become independent on a farm here.

These lands can be bought now at prices averaging about $18. You pay down 10 per cent. If land is purchased under settlement conditions, no further payment of principal until the end of the fourth year, then sixteen annual payments. Interest is six per cent.

THE BOARD OF COMMERCE.

The Board of Commerce's experiment in abolishing the control on the price of sugar, may succeed in proving that profit-fixing was a success, but it has not resulted in securing any additional popularity for the Board. There seems to be a feeling that the commissioners have made a mistake in issuing a virtual invitation to raise prices. If they were satisfied that controlling profits was a method that was beneficial to the public, they should not have abandoned the policy even temporarily, merely to prove that they were right. The desire to demonstrate this fact may be a perfectly natural one, and justified to some extent by criticism of the Board's policy, but never-the-less popular opinion seems to be inclined to find fault with the latest action of the Board.

The operations of the Commissioners will undoubtedly be an early issue in the present session of the House. Not only will there be a demand for an official explanation of the resignation of Judge Robson but there is almost certain to be a request for the abolition of the Board itself. Many farmers are opposed to its operations and in these days the voice of the agricultural interests receives a more attentive hearing than in the days gone by.

THE POLICE SALARIES.

The Police Commissioners in dealing with the applications of the members of the police department for an increase in salaries have shown anything but a niggardly spirit, for the full increases asked for on behalf of the detectives, sergeants and constables were granted, and a substantial addition made to the remuneration of the Chief Constable. There will be complaints in some quarters about the new schedules—they are to be expected in the light of a tax rate of at least 35 mills—but with the increases granted Saturday the pay of the local police force is only brought on a level with that paid in other cities of Peterboro's size. It would have been better however if the commissioners had not excluded the representatives of the press from their deliberations. There does not seem any logical reason why the people who foot the bills should not have full information is regard to such matters as salary increases. And with the reporters barred, there is no way in which the public can get at the facts. All the ratepayers know is that the increases have been granted and that they will have to pay the shot. The Examiner has opposed the principle of an elective Police Commission but if the press is to be excluded from the deliberations of the organization the people who favor the abolishing of the present commission will be provided with a new and more potent argument than they have hitherto advanced.

OUR SOLDIER VISITORS.

The action of the pastors of the city churches yesterday in placing before their congregations the necessity of finding billeting accommodation for the 500 delegates to the provincial convention of the G.W.V.A. this month, should go a long way towards solving the problem. The different churches have all had at one time or another to provide billets for delegates to church conventions, and it is expected that the congregations will show the same hospitable spirit on this occasion, resulting in a co-operative effort that will easily take care of the veteran visitors. In other conventions that have been held here the delegates for the most part were guests who were entertained without cost to themselves, but the soldier delegates come on a different footing. They expect to pay for their accommodation, and if there was room enough in the hotels for them there would be no necessity of asking for the help of the public. Under the circumstances, however, private billets will be required, and with the matter placed before the congregations of the different churches yesterday it is confidently expected that in the next few days the local G. W. V.A. officers will have assurance of enough accommodation to provide billets for every delegate. Citizens who are willing to help should communicate with Secretary Whatley at G.W.V.A. headquarters.

THE 57TH REGIMENT.

The personnel of the staff of officers of the newly organized 57th Regiment, as announced on Saturday, will be received with satisfaction throughout the city and the list will be an inducement to recruits to come forward and join the Peterboro Regiment.

The staff is composed entirely of officers of overseas service—a necessary condition if the returned soldiers were to be expected to ally themselves with the organization. And as the success of the movement depends almost entirely on what the rank and file who fought overseas will do, a splendid start has been made in selecting a board of officers who will command the respect of the Veterans. Recruiting for the new regiment will commence at the armouries to-morrow night and will continue on each Tuesday and Thursday until further notice, while it is expected that drill will commence immediately.

The Rangers have been fortunate in the appointment as adjutant of Capt. G. C. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., who went overseas with the original 2nd Battalion, and who won his commission on the field, and in addition was awarded the Military Cross and the Distinguished Conduct Medal for gallantry in action. Captain Winterbottom will be permanently on duty as adjutant and his experience and war record should be invaluable assets to the new regiment.

It is fully expected that many of the Peterboro men who saw service in the war will answer the present call and form the nucleus for the finest militia body that the city has ever had. In addition the young men who are just coming of military age, will doubtless be proud of the opportunity to serve alongside the men who helped hold the battered front at Ypres, and who in the last hundred days smashed their way through the Hindenburg line.

TIN CANS AND BURDOCKS.

(Belleville Ontario.)

The first object in the formation of a new Chamber of Commerce is not the creation of a bigger Belleville, but the evolution of a better Belleville. The theory of the Chamberites is that if Belleville becomes better the growth will follow, just as effect follows cause.

By a better Belleville, we mean a more beautiful Belleville.

Beauty requires not only that we cut burdocks, remove tin cans, and paint the woodwork of our houses once every four years, but that we look well after law enforcement, cultivate a sound civic spirit, give our young people a first-class opportunity to make good morally and educationally, have plenty of clean sports and amusements, and a city generally, where there is fullness, richness, and wholesomeness of life.

It is not much harder to do things right than to do things wrong, once you get the habit.

Right doing is a source of continuous satisfaction. It brings results. It pays dividends. Like virtue, it is its own reward.

In Belleville we have been doing many things right. We have been doing many things in an indifferent or haphazard way. Other things we have done in a way that is absolutely wrong.

We wish to talk to-day about tin cans and burdocks.

Tin cans and burdocks are enormously powerful. They make or unmake cities. That is to say their absence makes cities. Their power is in the main, of the destructive. They mar beauty, destroy efficiency, and impede progress.

The burdock, in the season of bloom, has about it a sort of rugged beauty. But few there are who cultivate it to enjoy its beauty. Its bitter juice is said to possess great tonic properties for those in need of a bracer. But opposed to those excellent characteristics it may be said that the burdock is too obsequious. It sticks too closely. Its familiarity awakens our contempt.

Therefore, when things become too commonplace such as burdocks, mud, dirt, bad whisky, and influenza, we first endure, then pity, then try to get rid of them—or should do so.

Tin cans also have their uses. They enable the Canners' combine to get 30c for five cents' worth of green corn, green peas, or ripe tomatoes. They also look very pretty, with their bright colours, when ranged along the shelves of the grocery store.

Btu tin cans, emptied of their contents, have little to recommend them. They are sometimes useful to tie to a dog's tail, or to the rear of an automobile containing a newly wedded couple. But, generally speaking, they are not beautiful and serve only to collect rainwater where flies and mosquitoes are said to harbour about their persons the other kind of bugs that produce typhoid and malaria in the human race.

The corporation of the City of Belleville owns many vacant lots. There are also many vacant lots held (for a rise) by estimable citizens.

The present use or purpose of those vacant lots is to grow burdocks and to afford a convenient dumping-ground for has-been cans.

The Ontario would like to see some of those vacant lots devoted to a different purpose.

LADY ASTOR IS 16-HOUR TOILER

AMERICAN NOVELIST DECLARES THAT WOMAN MEMBER GREAT WORKER.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—The Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, former German liner recently allocated to the Cunard Line, arrived here from Liverpool, with 636 passengers, completing her first round trip under the British flag.

On board was Miss Agness Chalmers of Grand Rapids, Mich., whose novel of a few years ago, "The King's Cup Bearer," is said to have inspired Lady Astor to go into politics.

Miss Chalmers, a close friend of Lady Astor, has recently seen a great deal of her.

"Lady Astor works sixteen hours a day at her political duties," said Miss Chalmers, "but does not let her children suffer from lack of parental attention. She is a mother first and a politician afterward. Her chief efforts in the House of Commons are directed at bettering labor conditions and controlling the liquor traffic. These two issues are her hobbies.

"There is a growing British sentiment in favor of the Lodge policy on the Peace Treaty. English people are beginning to think that perhaps the senate is justified in its attempt to look after the welfare of the United States before it concerns itself with foreign affairs. There is also a growing sentiment in favor of Home Rule or even independence for Ireland. Within five years I think a modified type of prohibition will be a fact in England. It will not be as strict as in America, but the liquor traffic is due for a more complete regulating than it ever had before in the land of ale and Scotch.

Augusto Alencar, new Brazilian Ambassador to the United States, who has been visiting his children at school in England, was another passenger. Sir Alfred Booth, chairman of the Cunard Company, came over on an inspection trip.

SEVENTEEN MILLION WOMEN VOTE FOR PRESIDENT THIS FALL

How is this power going to be used. Will any set of politicians be able to control and direct it? Will the newly acquired power be likely to direct and control political parties? Will the power be concentrated, or will it be diffused and thus lose its controlling force? In other words, how are these seventeen million American women going to vote in the 1920 elections? To this smoldering, if not burning, question there is no answer. There is no precedent by which to prophecy. There are no figures to show the extent to which women have committed themselves to political parties. There is no use to ask the leaders of the dominant parties, for not one of them knows. Even the professional quadrennial campaign prognosticators have thrown up their hands. They have officially quit, since Congress passed the nineteenth amendment. And yet, in the answer to that question lies the hope of the Republican party, the hope of the Democratic party, the hope of many a bill now slumbering in Congress, the hope of the home, and the hope of our new American civilization. America has a right to expect from women's freed and freeing activities a new vitality of reform and a veritable springtide of human progress. Will the women make good? The answer can come from one source—and only one—the new voters themselves, and this answer Pictorial Review has undertaken to secure by the time the national political parties hold their conventions in the early summer. The platform of the dominant political parties have yet to be made. Seventeen million women voters have the power to dictate the principals of those platforms. They have only to decide upon their ground, state it, and stand firmly upon it. See what the women themselves are thinking. Read Ida Clyde Clarke's article in Pictorial Review for March.

WOLVES GO TO STATION TO MEET INCOMING TRAINS

WINNIPEG, Feb. 28.—(Special.)—Out at Gunton, a village near Winnipeg, wolves parade the streets in broad day light, and usually come to the station to meet incoming trains. So says Christopher Possett. Possett, who is station agent in the village, and champion wolf-killer in the district, usually slays two or three in the morning before breakfast, he told Magistrate Richardson to-day when he came to the central police station for a permit to buy a revolver.

THE DREAD PYORRHEA BEGINS WITH BLEEDING GUMS

Pyorrhea's infecting germs cause many ills. Medical science has proven this.

Diseased conditions, which not long ago doctors were unable to trace to a cause, are now known often to be the result of Pyorrhea germs that breed in pockets about the teeth. Rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders and other diseases have been traced in many cases to this Pyorrhea infection.

Don't let Pyorrhea work its wicked will on your body. Visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection.

And watch your gums yourself. Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, begins with tender and bleeding gums; then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of poisons generated at their base.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

MR. LOUIS JOFFE AT KNOX CHURCH

INTERESTING SERMON AT THE MORNING SERVICE.

Mr. Louis Joffe preached an inspiring sermon at Knox Presbyterian church yesterday morning on "The Quality of Faith," drawing upon his experience during his nine years' struggle since his conversion for illustrations of the practical value of faith, and interspersing his discourse here and there with bits of humor. Before the sermon Mr. Joffe told one of Dolston's stories to the children, illustrating divine reward to human pity and charity. The service was in charge of Mr. M. M. Clark.

Mr. Joffe took as his text Hebrews, 11:1, "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Mr. Joffe believed that the English language was one of the richest and most beautiful in the world. It had great flexibility. But it was lacking in expression of faith. It had but one word for all the various kinds of faith.

Lack of Faith.

Lack of faith, Mr. Joffe believed, was the cause of much human misery. It was the lack of faith in God on the part of Germany which had led her to her worship of science, and the perpetration of the great massacre which had but recently been brought to a close. It was lack of faith which led us to be bowed in sorrow at the death of a relative or a friend. Mourning was proper, but we should realize that the dead were asleep in Christ. Lack of faith was leading people into Christian Science and spiritualistic seances. Despair was another by-product of lack of faith. As a matter of fact, most obstacles which induced despair proved to be chimeras.

Referring to his personal experience, Mr. Joffe stated that after his conversion he had been shunned and ostracized by his friends. His struggle of the past nine years would not be believed if he should tell it. But his faith had guided him.

Love, Faith and Charity.

Continuing Mr. Joffe took the motor car as an illustration. The upholstery and finish of a car were merely superficial. It was the engine which was important. The three controlling factors in the motive power were the ignition, carburator and compression. Similarly with mankind, it was the motive power, faith, love and charity which were important. All else was superficial. If a man did not know five words of the Bible, yet had this motive power he was a Christian. The man who was pious, did not swear, drink, smoke or have any other vice or bad habit yet who lacked the motive force of love, faith and charity was like the beautifully upholstered car and was not a Christian. Faith was what sweetened life. Without it a man was worse than a beast.

"Be Ye of Good Cheer."

Referring again to his experiences, Mr. Joe stated that it was the hardest thing in the world to be a Christian. Faith was the key to happiness. Was he who owed millions and thought in pennies or he who owned pennies and thought in worlds the happier, Mr. Joffe asked. The luxuries of this world were but trinkets. The Christian religion, however, was not a long faced one. Christ himself had said, "Be ye of good cheer."

Conclusion.

In conclusion Mr. Joffe reiterated his statement that love, faith and charity were the motive power of the Christian life. Of these, of course, love came first, for love was God, but faith was indispensable.

The influence of the Phrygian religion is traceable in Greek mythology.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

A TERRIBLE DISAPPOINTMENT

CHAPTER LX.

There had been no opportunity to go again into the attic. But I had by no means forgotten my fixed determination to see what was in that trunk. So one afternoon when Mrs. Gray was out I sent Hetty on an errand that would take her some time. Then I went up and tried every key I could find in the lock of the battered trunk; but not one would turn.

"Everett must keep it in his pocket on his key ring," I grumbled, as I rose stiffly from the floor. Then there came to me a story I had read where an impression of a lock was taken in gum and a key made. I had no hope that I could get the key from Everett if my supposition was right, as he always kept his keys in the pocket of the suit he was wearing, even when in dress clothes. But I could get some gum. I could try to make an impression, and if I succeeded, I could hunt up some one to make me a key.

I hurried down stairs. Hetty came in presently and I at once sent her out for some gum. She looked a trifle surprised, but said nothing. When she returned I gave her a stick and pretended to chew one myself although gum-chewing was one habit I never had formed.

It was too late for me to make another visit to the attic. It would be dark up there. So I had to content myself until some time when I could get another opportuity. I would not dare go with Mrs. Gray in the house. She would surely be suspicious if I did.

"Get yourself ready for a short trip, just a day or two, and meet me at the station at 5 o'clock," Everett said at breakfast the next morning. "I'll run up and get my bag, and take it to the office with me."

"Oh, where are you going?" I was all excitement.

"To New York. I thought you would like to go. I shall have time to shop a little with you. And we will take in a play or two."

"That will be lovely! Shall I take an evening gown?"

"Certainly. Your sapphire chiffon, and your cloak. Wear your tailored suit, and take an afternoon dress. That will be all you will require. Be sure you have all the accessories you need to keep yourself looking nice. One never knows what may turn up in New York."

The attic, my curiosity about the trunk, and what it contained, all were forgotten in my delight. Then suddenly came the thought — he is afraid to leave me alone for fear I'll invite someone here, or do something to displease him! But I would not allow even that thought to dampen my delight. I wrote Mother a note before I started to pack my things.

"Everett is going to New York and is taking me with him," I told her. "We are going to take in some plays, and he is to do some shopping for me, he says. He is really awfully good to me, mother, and you mustn't worry about what Rose says. She does exaggerate, you know, at times most dreadfully.

"The only trouble with Everett is that he can't consider me as grown up. He treats me like a child, instead of a married woman. Perhaps some day he will realize that I have grown, and will act as if I had. Until then I will have to make the best of it, I suppose. I am so sorry Rose worried you about it."

My letter finished, I hurried upstairs and laid out the things I wanted to take with me. Then I called up Alice Sloane and told her I was going to New York, and asked if she wished me to do anything for her. She gave me several commissions which I promised I to fulfill with care.

I was so excited I couldn't keep still, and when Mrs. Barr corrected me, my answer was more impulsive than polite. My lesson hour over I rushed up to dress for the journey. I was nearly ready, my bag packed and strapped, when the telephone rang. It was Everett—

"I have changed my mind about taking you. Do not accept any invitations or invite guests while I am away. Goodbye." If he had heard my gasp of amazement and my sob of disappointment, he paid no attention, for immediately he said goodbye the click of the receiver told me he had hung up. I tried to get him at his office, but he was gone. He had evidently telephoned me from outside.

(To Be Continued.)

IF THIN AND NERVOUS TRY BITRO-PHOSPHATE

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorous in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorous may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION:—White Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

SOLDIER AND SAILOR.

Field-Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, who was born at the Vicarage, Cressing, a village near Braintree, in Essex, on 9th Februauyr, 1838, has the distinction of having seen active service not only in the Army, but also in the Navy. He began his career as a midshipman in H.M.S Queen, of 116 guns, under his uncle, Captain Frederick Michell, in 1852.

About that time Europe had begun to drift into the complications leading to the Crimean War, and in September, 1854, the landing in the Crimea was effected.

After the battle of the Alma and the occupation of Balaclava, it was decided to employ a Naval Brigade ashore, under Captain Peel, R.N., who did splendid work, not only in the Crimea, but later through the Mutiny in India, where he died, and Midshipman Wood had the great good fortune, as he reckoned it, to be selected. With it he went through the hardships and perils of the trenches in that severe winter, and later he was attached to Peel as A.D.C.

He also took part in the first unsuccessful attack on the Redan (18th June, 1855), and was wounded in the arm, a bone being splintered by grapeshot. Subsequently the wound gave him much trouble, but he was eager to get to the front again, and, moreover, had decided to change his profession for the Army. The fact that he had been mentioned in Lord Raglan's despatch as having particularly distinguished himself at the assault of the Redan facilitated matters, and he was gazetted to the 13th Light Dragoons, then in the Crimea. Later he joined the regiment there, but hostilities were ended, and it was not until he went to India that he really began his great career as a soldier, which ended in his being awarded the baton of Field-Marshal.

BRITISH OFFICER ATTACHE OF REDS

Soviet Ambassador in U.S. Says Many of Old Regime Now Bolshevists.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, Russian Soviet "Ambassador" in the United States in the course of his testimony before the Senate Investigating Committee, declared that a former British officer is receiving $250 per month as his "military attache." This man, Lieutenant-Colonel Beck, at one time made a report for the British Government, outlining a plan of military operations against tthe Bolsheviki in Russia.

"He has changed his views," Martens said. "We have many first-class men of the old regime serving the Soviet regime now, General Brussiloff, for instance."

Martens said he would like to see the "dictatorship of the proletariat" set up in the United States. A moment later he qualified it by saying, "That is what I wish, not what I am working for."

DID NOT DELAY JUMP IN SUGAR

ADVANCE QUICKLY FOLLOWED END OF CONTROL BY COMMERCE BOARD.

MONTREAL, March 1.—The abrogatiton of the control of sugar prices by the Board of Comerce was followed by the action on the part of the sugar refineries in raising the prices.

Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Limited, the St. Lawrence Refineries, and the Dominion Refineries announce that their prices are raised per 100-pound bag granulated sugar by $2.00 and the Canada Refineries by $1.00. This advance brings prices up to $15.50 and $16.50 respectively.

Retailers have in some cases advanced their prices to 19c and 20c a pound, and it is expected that an increase to at least 18c will be general.

Canadian housewives may as well be prepared to pay a good deal more for their sugar and be thankful if they can get a reasonable supply of the same, according to a statement given out by Hugh Bain, president of the Canadian Wholesale Grocers' Association. The statement says:

"There is no doubt whatever but that the orders issued by the Board of COmmerce have kept down the price of sugar to the consumer, and it is equally clear that there must be an advance in the price in the near future. The difference in exchange alone on raw sugar at the present figure is from 1½c to 2c per pound."

PRIVATE OFFERING OF CHASE TRACTOR

A private offering of a portion of the 8 p.c. Cumulative Preference Stock of the Chase Tractor Corporation, Limited, is being placed on the Canadian market. A bonus of common stock is being offered with the 8 p.c. preferred.

Chase Tractors Corporation, Limited, has been in successful operation for some months past and is the first all-Canadian high class motor tractor placed on the market. The new company, which is headed by a strong group of Montreal and Toronto industrial interests, have acquired the rights of the Chase Tractor throughout the entire world and from the new Canadian plant is serving the needs of all markets.

The new tractors have been turned out successfully at the company's new plant in Toronto and one of them was on exhibition at the recent motor show in Montreal. This tractor was also on exhibition on the main streets of Montreal, as it was driven by one of the company's demonstrators to the motor show building. It attracted a great deal of attention ,owing to the ease with which it went through the deep snow and its different points were carefully studied by the many out-of-town visitors to the Motor Show.

While the works are located in Toronoto, Montrealers have a very large interest in the new company, four of its directors being citizens of Montreal. These include Hon. N. IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat If Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

GOVERNMENT WILL TAKE OVER ROAD

RAILWAY WILL BE LINKED UP WITH LARGER SYSTEM.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Mar. 1.—In regard to the sale of the Edmonton, Dunvegan, and British Columbia Railway to the Canadian Government, J. D. McArthur, millionaire owner of the enterprise, said:

"I have been for some years endeavouring to procure for my Western lines a cash subsidy which has heretofore been so freely granted to colonisation roads, such as a mine area. Cash subsidies are absolutely required if adequate service is to be given for the reason that during the period of settlement of new territory, railways must of necessity be operated at a loss.

"The Dominion Government has recognised the demands of the Peace Rver country and the justness of my claims, but being in the railway business, and owning the natural resources of the territory served by my roads, has decided that instead of aiding by way of subsidy, they will take the roads over and join them up to the Canadian National system.

"It is with great regret that I turn the roads over, because I feel the greatest confidence in the great country to the North and in the enterprise, but I feel sure that it is best for that country that the roads be linked up with the great National system."

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured by B.B.B.

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease, caused by the uric acid in the blood. It manifests itself by pain and lameness attacking the muscles and joints of the body, which often swell and become hot and inflamed.

Anyone who has suffered months after months, and perhaps year after year, with rheumatism, and who has tried remedy after remedy in the hope of relief, and without success, should not give up hope.

Burdock Blood Bitters, by invigorating the digestive organs and eliminating the uric acid from the system, will give prompt and permanent relief. Mrs. D. Barry, Purlbrook, Ont., writes:—"I feel it my duty to let you know of the great benefit my husband derived from using your Burdock Blood Bitters. He had been suffering for the past two years with inflammatory rehumatism. He tried many medicines but got no better. A friend advised him to take B. B. B. He did so, and after taking five bottles he felt like a new man, and was able to go to work the same as ever."

STYLE HEADQUARTERS
Where Society Brand Clothes are sold

Where a Man Is Concerned and Spring Clothing Is Needed

THAT IS WHERE WE COME IN

And we come in right now with a whole series of new Suits that possess an even distribution of style and quality. Neither has been neglected for the sake of the other.

In one of these garments there is no danger of you becoming over-dressed or under-dressed for that matter. They are the personification of good taste.

Some, of course, are more sedate than others. But a difference in age must be considered. No one wants to make an old man out of a boy and few fathers wish to wear their son's clothes.

We are proud of the makers—"Society Brand Clothes, Ltd.," "W. H. Leishman & Co.," "Style Clothes, Ltd."

"The Bentley"

is a Model that the conservative man will find to his liking. It is plain, but dignified, and faultlessly tailored. The Coat is a two-button Sack.

"The D'Orsay"

is made with a two-button English Sack and the Sleeves are narrow to correspond with the general lines of the garment. It is high waisted and designed, primarily, for the Young Man.

IT WILL BE ENCOURAGING to note that the Materials are Much Better than they were a year ago. Many Plain, Browns and Bottle Green shades are shown; also Fine Worsteds and a wide variety of Tweed Mixtures. We must not forget to mention Plain Navy Blue and Navy Blue with Pencil Stripes, and also Black with these Stripes.

Let's Talk About "Borsalino" Hats

They are renowned the world over. That alone is no reason why you should purchase. But their reputation that was acquired years ago, is as well deserved to-day as ever.

They are well shaped.
They keep their shape.
They hold their colour.
They are expertly finished.

What more could anyone demand of a Hat?

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

INCREASE IN SALARY FOR THE PETERBORO POLICE FORCE

CHIEF THOMPSON HEADS THE LIST WITH FOUR HUNDRED EXTRA IRON MEN.

The increases for the policemen were finally disposed of on Saturday afternoon by the Board of Police Commissioners behind closed doors.

After a lengthy discussion, lasting for over an hour, the Chief's schedule was finally accepted, and although he had not requested an increase himself, his salary was boosted $400, and $36.50 was added for good conduct.

Judge Huycke presided, with Magistrate Dumble, Mayor McIttyre, and Chief Thompson present.

The Chief and the representatives of the press were requested to leave the meeting, which they did promptly, and the business proceeded, far away from prying eyes and listening ears.

The motion passed a week ago that one man more be added to the Department was rescinded when the magnitude of the increases loomed up before the members. They evidently believed in paying a better price and getting quality, not quantity.

Old and New.

The following are the old and new salaries:

Chief Constable—$2100 to $2436.50.
Detective-Sergeant Newhall—$1400 to $1700
Sergeant James F. Reid—$1225 to $1600.
Sergeant Arthur Blade — $1175 to $1500.
Sergeant John H. Deannard—$1175 to $1500.
Detective William E. Meagher — $1200 to $1500.
Constable Harold D. Lawrence — $1100 to $1400.
Constable William E. Wigg—$1100 to $1400.
Constable George E. Cookman — $1100 to $1400.
Constable Daniel T. Boyd—$1100 to $1400.
Constable Arthur Thomas—$1100 to $1400.
Constable Harry Young—$1000 to $1300.
Constable Charles Smyth—$1100.
Salaries for the year 1920 — $10,636.50.

The other estimates are:

Secretary of the Police Commission—$50.
Morality Department—$400.
Clothing and Equipment—$1300.
Fuel—$350.
Printing and Stationery—$200.
Telephones—$100.
Telephoning and telegraphing—$75.
Postage—$30.
Cleaning Station and Court-room—$130.
Lights and Lighting—$20.
Chief Constable's Convention—$200.
One automobile and the upkeep of same—$1200.
Incidentals—$300.
Total—$4,355.00.
Total Estimates—$23,991.50.
Total increase. —$5,573.00.

Throughout the session of the Board the officers waited expectantly and eagerly for the return of the Chief, and when he at last came in and announced the increases, the men could hardly believe it, and general rejoicing took place, for the raise means much to the men, and it will be with a new incentive, with a feeling of gratitude and appreciation that the efficient performance of their more or less unpleasant duties, has at last been recognised that the Department will "carry on."

THE SERVICES AT GEORGE STREET METHODIST CHURCH

"Moral Cowardice Keeps Most People Out of Kingdom of God," Says Rev. A. J. Thomas—Inspirational Services at George Street Yesterday.

Large congregations and inspirational messages marked "the extra day for God" at George street church yesterday. The pastor was in charge of both services. In the morning taking as his subject "A truth which everyone needs to know," he dealt with the love and care of God for the individual despite the many problems and apparent inconsistencies in life such as poverty, sorrows, sufferings, etc. God does care for the individual and the provision of salvation is the biggest evidence of this fact.

In the evening Mr. Thomas spoke on "The man who was near but not near enough," taking as his text Mark 12. 34. Jesus was in the temple at Jerusalem surrounded by his enemies who challenged him but he confused them all. One scribe was impressed by Jesus manner and in turn impressed Jesus by his sincerity. Jesus saw something in the man, saw that he was a sincere seeker after truth and had probably lived up to all the observances of his creed. Hence he addresses him, "Thou are not far from the kingdom of God."

Jesus distinguishes between the one who is in the kingdom and the one who is out of it. Moral goodness, generosity, kindness, good deeds and nobility of character are fine but will never bring one into the kindom of God. One must acknowledge and accept the Lord, Jesus Christ. There are multitude of people who are living good moral lives who know about Jesus and agree that everyone should live the Christian life, but do not accept Him. One step stands between them and they refuse to take it.

"Moral cowardice is keeping most of the people out of the kingdom," said Mr. Thomas. "They are afraid of the sneers of companions, of possible difficulties; they are not willing to suffer and take up their cross if need be. It is a solemn thing to realize that a soul may get near the kingdom, but never get near enough." There is only one wise decision to resolve to enter immediately by accepting Jesus Christ as one's personal Saviour.

DIED AT A HOCKEY GAME.

LINDSAY, March 1. — Mr. John Wilson well-known cattle buyer and lumber dealer of Kinmount, dropped dead while watching the hockey game at Fenelon Falls hockey tournament Friday night between Fenelon Falls juniors and Kinmount, in which the latter team won.

It was just at the close of the second period that Mr. Wilson collapsed. He was hurried to a doctor's office, but life was extinct. Coroner Johnston deemed an inquest unnecessary. The deceased was 55 years of age, and was accompanied at the time by his son.

Some time ago he had been warned not to get unduly excited, owing to a weak heart.

HEART SO BAD

WAS NOT SAFE TO LEAVE HER ALONE

Miss Eva P. Yatem.n, Krugersdorf, Ont., writes: "I feel that I must write and tell you of the great benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. About four years ago I was taken terribly bad with my heart, nerves and fainting spells, and was down in bed for about six months. I doctored with two different doctors and seemed to get better although the fainting spells would not leave me. I would take such terrible falls wherever I was, that it was not safe to leave me alone at any time. At last I decided to resort to proprietary medicines, and took several different kinds but seemed to receive but little benefit from them. One day noticing the advertisement of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them. Before I had taken more than two boxes I could see that they were helping me. I have taken about ten boxes and am almost cured of those terrible spells. I sincerely feel that your medicine has proved a blessing to me and I advise anyone troubled with their heart to try them as I am confident they will find relief."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HOUSING REPORT BEFORE COUNCIL

DETAILS OF COMMUNITY PROJECT AS CARRIED OUT IN WESTERN CITIES FULLY EXPLAINED.

The Housing Commission's report of their survey of the accomplishments, including a failure or two, of six or seven cities in western Ontario will be distributed at the regular meeting of the City Council to-night. As prepared by Mr. F. H. Dobbin, the report runs to sixteen typewritten pages, and because of the time needed for a careful digest of its information and recommendations, will probably be referred to the Committee of the Whole Council, to which the Commission may be called for a conference.

The Commission has secured from some of the western cities complete plans and specifications and photographs of some of their finished houses. Local action will depend upon the Council's decision, and, assuming that they instruct the Commission to proceed, the next step will be the formal application for a loan from the Provincial Commission for probably $300,000. This sum has been suggested, and will likely be available. Then, letters would be sent to those citizens who have signified their desire to avail themselves of the housing scheme, and the further details will rest with the Commission.

From several sources it is learned that there has been of late unusual activity in real estate sales. A large number of properties have changed hands, but it is recognized that this transfer of ownership does not relieve the situation, which can be improved only by the construction of new houses.

The Council's action is uncertain, although all the members are doubtless impressed by the scarcity of houses in Peterborough. They may determine to authorize the Commission to launch a local building programme. The whole question invites careful deliberation, which should not be unduly delayed.

In ten generations the descendants of a single sow would number 6,000,000.

EVENING SERMON AT MARK STREET

"SUNDAY STREET CARS FOR PE h BORO."

The subject of the evening sermon was "God's Estimate of You". There was no fawning sentiment in the discussion of the subject. The cold steel of clear logic was applied to the question of "Sunday Street Cars for Peterboro", and the Proposition was cut into shreds and patches. The following propositions were brought before the congregation.

(1.)—Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it Holy.

(2)—Am I my brother's keeper?

(3)—The Sabbath Day belongs to God and was given to man for rest and worship.

(4)—You and I have no right to interfere with the gifts of God to our fellowmen.

(5)—We cannot run street cars on Sunday without interfering with the Sabbath rights of 20 or 30 men required to run these cars.

(6)—Peterboro has no more need of Sunday saeet cars than your auto has for five wheels.

(7)—Tom Black wants to give his wife and kiddies a little outing on Sunday afternoon and has no conveyance so he wants the cars (a little Sunday picnic?). Well Jack White and the rest of the Street Railway Operators want the Sunday afternoon to rest and take the kiddies to Sunday School, and this is his right. But we must not quarrel. The Sunday Street Car Proposition may be a money proposition and if so neither your comfort nor mine will be considered for a moment. Remember that while the City seems to be money mad, and pleasure mad and hell holds high carnival, there are thousands of splendid people who are looking to the Church of the living God for strong and faithful leadership.

The music by the choir was excellent, and Mr. Quinn is to be congratulated on having a choir second to none in the city.

DISPOSED TO ACCEPT COMPROMISE SETTLEMENT.

ROME, Mar. 1.—Premier Nitti is disposed to accept a compromise settlement of the Adriatic question, according to the Messaggero.

By this arrangement, the newspaper says, Italy would not claim territorial continuity between Istria and Fiume on condition that the city be placed under Italian sovereignty.

The League of Nations, it is said, will be in charge of the administration of the port.

LEGAL SERVICE FOR THE SESSION

Canadian Press.

TORONTO, March 1. — J. C. Elliott of Glencoe, M.P.P., for West Middlesex, in the last Legislature has been appointed to the Attorney-General's Dept., as special Legislative Counsel, Hon. W. E. Raney announced this morning. The office is a temporary one, for the duration of the coming session of the House.

Mr. Elliott's duties will be to assist in various legal matters which will arise during the session.

MARCH COMES IN LIKE A LAMB? NO ANSWER

Weather prophets who predicted an open winter have been so confounded by the reverse actuality, severe and "closed enough for even the hardiest of them, that they hesitate to declare whether March came in to-day like a lion or a lamb. Lacking an official pronouncement the amateur who rather dubiously clings to the old traditions would be inclined to say that the first day of the spring months was fairly lamb like. If that be correct, then he might offer the prognostication that the month will go out a-roaring, and that the Easter raiment will show some of the influences of a lingering winter. At any rate the bear apparently had the confidence of the weather man for February's four weeks since Candlemas have justified the wisdom of his return to his lair under the brush pile and ther should be another two weeks of zero weather.

Grip, Influenza

Hamlin's Wizard Oil a Reliable, Antiseptic Preventive

During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and snuff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall of defense against "Flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza.

Get it from druggists for 30c. If not satisfied, return the bottle and get your money back.

Ever constipated or have sick headache? Just try Wizard Liver Whips, pleasant little pink pills, 30c at druggists. Guaranteed.

57TH BAND OUT FOR NEW MEMBERS

The 57th Regiment. Band is proceeding apace with weekly rehearsals, and expect a good season's work. As the battalion is being reorganised at once, there are vacancies in the band for good promising players. Old 57th bandsmen who care to avail themselves of filling their accustomed places, will find a hearty welcome awaiting them. The Band has just received a splendid new library of music from Hawkes, London, Eng., each number containing instrumentation for 45 pieces, including saxophones, several amongst them being played by the Grenadier Guards Band last summer when at the Toronto National Exhibition.

We are appealing to bandsmen to rally round the old 57th Regiment, and help make it one of the best regimental bands in the Province, and to give the music-loving public of Peterborough the opportunity of hearing good music, which a town of this size should deserve.

As the battalion expects to start drills at once, it is desirable that the band be organised and brought up to its pre-war standard to accomplish the desired end.

Any bandsman desirous of joining the band will please leave his name with Mr. Rupert Gliddon, bandmaster, at the Conservatory of Music, or with the band secretary, Geo. H. Benson, 270 Dublin Street, or better still, show up with your instruments at any of the rehearsals which are held every Tuesday in the Armouries at eight o'clock, when you will be cordially received.

CHEESE FACTORY AMALGAMATION PROGRESSING.

The proposal to effect an amalgamation of the cheese factories in the Ceneral Ontario District was considerably advanced at a meeting of dairymen representing some eight factories in the Madoc district, which was held at Madoc last Thursday afternoon. Those present at the meeting were largely presidents, salesmen and leading shareholders, directors and patrons of the local factories, and a number of reeves and deputy-reeves of the adjoining townships. The chairman of the meeting was Mr. J. A. Caskey of Madoc, the County Director for the U.F.O. in Hastings County. After a discussion lasting about three hours, during which all phases of the project were touched on, the meeting voted unanimously in favor of the amalgamation and also in favor of calling factory meetings as soon as possible to give the patrons an opportunity to become identified with the movement, should they so desire.

At a meeting held at Eldorado, near Madoc, the same evening at which three factories were represented, a full discussion of the project took place and again the meeting voted unanimously in favor of it.

MILAN, March 1.—As the result of a collision between the crowd and the police here yesterday, in which officers fired on a mob, mortally wounding two civilians, a general strike was declared at midnight. Work was suspended throughout the city to-day. The clash occurred in connection with the meeting of demobilized troops. The police fired when stones were thrown from a crowd.

REMOVED IN BOATS.

Canadian Press:

HALIFAX, March 1.—Passengers of the steamer Bohemian, which stranded on the Sambro ledges off Halifax Harbour early this morning, were landed here shortly after eight this morning from the tug Roebling, which had delivered them from open boats, in which they had spent four chilly and somewhat anxious hours. The boats were silently anchored to the Bohemian as she lay on the ledges.

Thick water and heavy snowfall were responsible for the disaster, but there was practically no sea running. The Bohemian struck on the bow. Three hatches are full of water, and the vessel is settling rapidly. If the weather holds fair it is said there is every possibility of salvaging her.

Mr. Christie was with the Premier in Paris during the peace negotiations. The Carmania was reported off Ambrose Channel Light Ship at 10.40 this morning, and is expected to dock early this afternoon. Sir Robert will hold a conference with two members of the Cabinet and Mr. Christie this afternoon. He will leave for the south with Lady Borden to-morrow or Wednesday.

SMALL FIRE ON HUNTER STREET

FIREMEN HAD EARLY SUNDAY MORNING CALL.

Fire breaking out in M. R. Hoover's picture framing establishment, back of J. T. O'Connell's real estate office on Hunter Street, gave the firemen an early Sunday morning call.

The cause of the fire is unknown, although it may have resulted from a spark from the electric motor used in running a small circular saw, or it may have been caused by the saw overheating.

When Mr. Hoover left the premises at 9 o'clock everything seemed all right, but between then and midnight the fire got under way, until it was observed by Dr. D. C. King, who promptly 'phoned in the alarm from the Munro House. A minute later another call was rung in from Box 23, the person putting it in being evidently unaware of the first alarm.

The blaze had gained considerable headway when the firemen arrived on the scene, the front and interior of the workroom being filled with smoke and flames. One line of hose was laid at once from Water Street, and this, together with the chemicals, soon smudged the blaze out, but not before it had caused considerable damage to the interior, and Mr. Connal's office and the two adjoining stores were damaged slightly by smoke and water.

Mr. Hoover's loss is covered by insurance. The Chief stated this morning that had the fire not been so promptly checked it might have gutted the entire block, because of the quantity of varnish and other inflammable material on hand.

ANOTHER CASE WAS DISMISSED

The two drug cases involving a local druggist and a doctor, engaged the attention of Police Magistrate Dumble again this morning. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for Mr. C. M. Moncur, and by mutual agreement, no evidence was taken in this case, the decision being left to the Magistrate, who reserved judgment.

The second case proved to be most lengthy. Dr. Carmichael was represented by Mr. J. Wearing.

The first witness called was J. O'Brien who testified to the necessity of a drug for his condition, and its effectiveness.

Doctors Harvey and Young were called and each corroborated the other in his statements as to the medicinal value of the drug.

At the conclusion of the evidence for the prosecution, Mr. Joseph Wearing, appearing for Dr. Carmichael, moved that the case be dismissed on the ground that the crown had not made out a case, and for that reason the defence should not be called.

This claim was sustained by the court and the case was dismissed for lack of evidence.

MRS. VAUGHAN HAS GAINED 17 POUNDS

WAS ALL RUN DOWN AFTER INFLUENZA—IS WELL AND HAPPY NOW.

"I have gained seventeen pounds since I started taking Tanlac and I am well and happy now," was the statement made the other day by Mrs. James Vaughan of 128 Erin Street, St. John, N.B.

"It was about a year ago that I was taken down with a severe case of the Influenza," she continued, "and for several days I scarcely recognized anybody and my chances of recovery looked light. But after I did manage to get up you can just imagine what a weakened condition I found myself in. I was so nervous that I would jump at anybody closed the door hard, and headaches would come on me often. My stomach was so upset that nearly everything I ate disagreed with me, and I could hardly retain the little I did force myself to eat. I was constantly belching up an acid liquid that kept a bad taste in my mouth and I was gradually losing weight and what little strength I had. I had neuralgia badly in my head and face and the pains felt just like nails sticking in me. I could not get much sleep or rest for I would be awake half the night and would feel so weak that it was hard for me to get about.

"The statements in the papers about Tanlac seemed so sincere that I made up my mind to try it, in all I took four bottles and my recovery had been so complete that I am never troubled in any way any longer. The headaches and nervousness have left me entirely and so has the neuralgia in my head and face. Everything I eat agrees with me perfectly and my appetite is so fine that my biggest trouble is trying to satisfy it. I get sound, restful sleep at night, and I have been built up so wonderfully that I feel as fine and strong as I ever did before I had the flu. I consider Tanlac the best medicine in the whole world, and I am giving this statement because I want others to benefit by my experience."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by Warne Drug Company and by the leading druggist in every town.

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. What is CASTORIA?

You'd startle your tailor if, when you wanted a suit of clothes, you asked him to submit a bid in competition with a dozen other tailors

"Why," he would say, "this is ridiculous. This man knows what kind of a suit of clothes I give him. He knows he can depend on the quality of the material, the make, the fit. He knows me, and has proved my work. Some fellow around the corner may underbid me—but what will he deliver?"

You don't buy tailoring that way. No man does. You know your tailor you rely on him, you trust him, you give him your work just as long as he turns out good work at prices that are fair.

Do you buy your printing as intelligently? Do you make it your business TO FIND A GOOD PRINTER as you do a good tailor, and then rely on his experience, his ability and his judgment?

Men who do, get good printing. Men who buy printing here and there, wherever the price is shaved closest, are the ones who have printing worries

PETERBORO LOST TO PORT HOPE

Having defeated the Port Hope High School team here on Tuesday to the tune of 18—1, the Collegiate Institute hockey team journeyed to Port Hope on Saturday to play the return game. They found themselves faced, however, by a team numbering some former Intermediate O. H. A. players and one Junior, and only two High School pupils.

The P. C. I. team fought hard, but lost the one-sided contest by the score of 13—3.

OTTAWA DEFEATED ST. PATS BY 1 TO 0

TORONTO, March 1. — Vernon Forbes, the brillliant Aura Lee goalkeeper, late on Saturday afternoon signed a two-year contract with the St. Patrick's and then went out and proceeded to show that he could stop the shots of the professional players just as well as he could those hurled at him by the amateurs. Forbes restricted the N. H. L. leaders to one goal, but the lone tally proved sufficient to give them victory.

Otawa are now far out in front in the race for the second half title, and St. Pat's are practically out of the running. It is possible that the Irish may yet overhaul the Senators ,but Canadiens will have to come to their rescue if they are to turn the trick. If St. Pat's win in Ottawa Wednesday and the Senators lose in Montreal on Saturday the teams will be tied for the leadership with seven victories and three defeats.

Use Different Systems.

The systems used by the rival teams were anything but similar. Ottawa did their checking on their own side of centre ice, and against the five-man defense only Randal could make any headway. With a one-goal lead to protect, the Senators used a two-man attack in the first ten minutes of the last period and a one-man attack in the next. Local critics have been prone to criticize the system. There is one answer. Ottawa, with the same team they had last season and using this system for the first time, are leading the parade, and are likely to be the first team to win the first and second half championships in the National League.

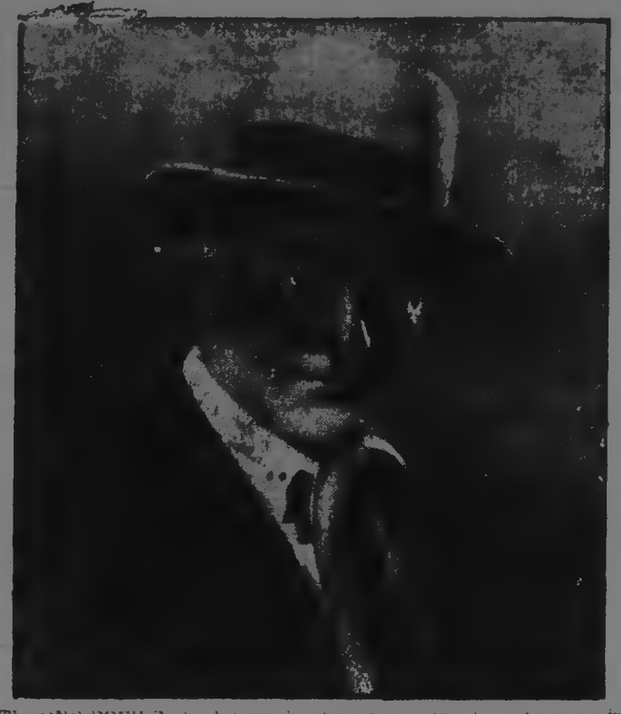
BASEBALL NOTES

The Columbus club of the American Association should be well fixed as regards a board of strategy next season. Joe Tinker is President of the club, Bill Clymer will do the managing, and both Sherwood Magee and Terry Turner will be members of the club.

Gene Robertson, St. Louis boy, who has been signed by the Browns, asked that a clause be inserted in his contract to the effect that he must be used in the regular lineup at least once a week.

Manager George Stallings of the Boston Braves made a recent trip to Little Rock to complete a deal for Catcher Tony Brottem. This would indicate that one of the veteran Boston backstops is to go.

Red McKee, former Detroit catcher and more recently with the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League, has obtained his release from the Seals and will manage the Saginaw team of the Michigan-Ontario League



TYRONE POWER, the distinguished English actor, who will be seen in the role of the Drainman, a character created and made famous by him in Charles Rann Kennedy's great symbolic play, "The Servant in the House," which will be presented at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, March 10th.

RESULTS OF OLD COUNTRY SOCCER

BURNLEY AND LIVERPOOL CLOSE AFTER WEST BROMWICH FOR LEAD.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—Under the Association rules and with the field cleared of English Cup excitement, Saturday saw a full league programme decided. The most important results were changes in the first division leading positions. West Bromwich obtained one point by a draw at Middlesborough, and still remains, with an advantage in the number of matches played at the head of the table, but successes by Burnley and Liverpool have given an impetus to these teams to struggle on, though Sunderland's failure at Sheffield rather affects the possibilities of an exciting finish of leaders with just a chance of victory in the league.

Liverpool and Chelsea remain possible winners in the great cup competition, in which the former have the hardest task of meeting Huddersfield on the latters ground, Chelsea's points yesterday were gained at the expense of Blackburn Rovers which famous club has fallen on hard times, and, with another noted organization, Sheffield Wednesday, looks dangerously like being relegated to lower rank.

Weather Variety.

Some growl perpetually at the weather; it is too hot or too cold; too wet or too dry. And yet a kind Providence arranges it infinitely better than we could. FISKE O'HARA

A theatrical event of unusual importance to lovers of song and story comes in the announcement of Fiske O'Hara's engagement at the Grand Thursday evening, only in his new romantic play, 'Down Limerick Way' by Anna Nichols. Mr. O'Hara, the actor-singer unexcelled in the depiction of Irish roles, has ben provided this season with the most sparkling setting, which sems like a veritable bit of the old country, with its quaint superstitions and beautiful lasses, in which to sway his audiences to laughter and tears.

There is an amusing and interesting plot, and a love story that is an exquisite dream of happy youth. The supporting company is a notable one and the scenes are massive and picturesque .There is a special augmented orchestra en tour.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"A NIGHT IN HONOLULU."

Although it did not differ greatly in plot or action from other plays of picturesque Hawaii that have been seen here, "A Night in Honolulu" at the Grand Opera House on Saturday proved a most entertaining production that was thoroughly enjoyed at both matinee and evening performances. The plot was logical and impressive, giving opportunities for some splendid acting, of which the caste took full advantage. Miss Una Carpenter scored heavily in the part of "Kalama" and was well supported by a capable company. The scenic investiture was unusually good, while native color was provided by the Hawaiin singers and players, the delightfully weird music of the ukeleles and Hawaiin guitars proving a most enjoyable feature

TERRIBLE FIGHT WITH TWO ROBBERS

Assailants Made Escape Minus Money They Were After.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, March 1.—Creping into their room at two o'clock o'clock this morning when household were asleep two robbers inflicted dangerous and terrible wounds on faces, chests and throats of William Waheulaka and William Teniuck. The wounded men were also robbed $150 cash which was taken from under their pillows. Room from all appearances was scene of horrible struggle. Both men were sleeping when attackd. Teniuck having planned to return soon to Europe for which purpose he was reported to have three thousand dollars on his person. The robbrs made their attack before their victims were aware of their presence. Fighting in the dark, the two men, by their furious defence roused the rest of the household but not before their assailants had made good their escape.

Smiling at Breakfast.

One should always wear a smile at breakfast. If you are in a good humor at breakfast you will be merry and bright all day. The breakfast face is the most important face to cultivate. The other faces take care of themselves, for if the face is pleasant and easy to look upon in the morning it will improve as the day goes on. But if the breakfast face is hard, scowling and forbidding it becomes set in its disagreeable form, and it takes hours for it to smooth out into a smile, and that smile is of the sickly, half-hearted nature that only expands the heart slightly. It is worth trying.

Not Good For the Gander.

The following sign is displayed in a certain bathhouse:

"This Place Is Closed at 1 p. m. Sunday So We Can Go Home and Take Our Baths."

Which is very similar to the note a traveling man found on the door of a lunchroom in a small town:

"Gone Home to Dinner."

The Largest Painting.

"Paradise," by Tintoretto, is the largest painting in the world. It is eighty-four feet wide and thirty-three and a half feet high. It is now in the Doge's palace, Venice.

GLADYS LESLIE in "THE GOLDEN SHOWER"

SANG REQUIEM OF THE HUN

How the Cannon Roared During the Glorious Offensive of the Forest of Argonne.

It was night in France and the great Argonne offensive was on.

The section chiefs grew hoarse shouting their commands, the gunner corporals manipulated their sights with speed and accuracy and the gun crews eagerly put forth superhuman effort in serving their pieces which were being loaded and fired as quickly as possible. The terrific detonations shook the forest which actually seemed like a live, throbbing, burning monster, who vomited fire and flame, and roared inhumanly with its terrible voice. Every man in the four gun crews was soon rendered temporarily deaf. Lit up by the ghastly flashes from the fire of their own guns, they looked like veritable devils, their faces gleaming with fiendish joy as they leaped into the pit to shift the gun trail or sprang to the wheels, at which they tugged and pulled with might and main. It was exceedingly tiresome work for the earnest lads. The rate of fire was so rapid that it was necessary for them to pause occasionally in order to permit the intensely heated pieces to cool.

It presented a thrilling scene to see, in the dim light of the early dawn, a stalwart lad, bareheaded, eyes teary and red from the burning powder gas, his square jaws grimly set and shirt open at the throat, his arms bare to the elbows and black with grease, standing out there, swabbing out the steaming gun with the slender rammer. A lanyard broke from too constant use on one of the guns. Not hesitating a moment to repair it, the "No. 1" man simply used his fingers to draw back the "striker." A lad fell limp and exhausted into the gun pit, but was quickly pulled out of danger, where he lay quite still and was undisturbed by the terrible barrage. Another man quickly took his comrade's place.

So the terrible fight continued. The great iron orchestra played its terrible symphony madly until ten o'clock in the morning, when the tired musicians began one by one, to lay aside their weary instruments, for the score they had been playing had sent the Fritzies scampering over the hills and far away.

WOMEN'S ART ASSOCIATION MUSICALE.

The large number of members of the Women's Art Association and their friends who braved the storm of Saturday afternoon last, felt amply rewarded in listening to the very interesting and attractive programme which had been arranged by Mrs. W. H. Hill. The vocal selections of the three soloists of the afternoon—Miss Armstrong and Messrs. Carlisle and Melton—were most delightful, while Miss Elliott's instrumental solo was very pleasing indeed. Perhaps special mention might be made of Dr. Park's violin selection, which was much appreciated by all present. The programme was as follows:

Vical solo—"Down the Vale" ..... Mr. Carlisle
Piano Solo—Andante and Rondo Capriccioso in E ..... Miss Elliott
Vocal Solo—"As I Went A-Roaming" Miss Armstrong
Vocal Solo—"The Cavalier" ..... Mr. Melton
Vocal Solo—"Nancy Lee" ..... Mr. Carlisle
Accompanist—Miss Rannie.

Mrs. A. Mowat (in the absence of the president) presided. The hostesses at the tea hour were Mrs. A. Stevenson and Mrs. W. R. Morris.

GOSPEL HALL NOTES.

The opening message of the evangelistic campaign held in Gospel Hall last evening was heard by a large number. The evangelist, Harold M. Harper, of Rochester, N.Y., known to many in Peterborough, has returned and is giving a series of addresses illustrated by a large chart entitled "The Two Roads and the Two Destinies."

The opening message was largely of an introductory character in which the speaker clearly demonstrated by the word of God that all mankind was born on the broad way. The condition of the race was shown to be both dead in trespasses and sins, and lost to all that is of God. Christ was held up as the only hope of the sinner.

A mixed quartette gave a message in song which was appreciated by all present.

Meetings will continue each night this week (except Saturday) at 8 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

LATE WILLIAM PYM.

A pioneer sailor of the inland waters and a veteran of the Grand Trun Ry. Co., passed away in Lindsay in the person of Mr. William Pym. Death occurred at his residence on Cambridge street south, following a comparatively short illness.

The late William Pym, who was in his 72nd year, was for years a sailor on the inland lakes and was a resident of Port Hope. Later on the entered the services of the Grand Trunk and worked himself up to the position of an engineer, and in later years he had charge of the run to Haliburton for the G.T.R. Quitting the Grand Trunk system he settled down to a retired life in Peterborough, but shortly afterwards purchased the Daly Hotel in Lindsay (now the Elsmure) and with his brother conducted a hostelry for a number of years. A few years ago he disposed of the business to Mr. Jas. Darch, and since has lived retired.

He was a member of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, and a member of St. Paul's church. Left to mourn his loss in his devoted and loving wife, as well as one sister, Mrs. Rowden, of Port Hope.

The funeral will leave the family home Monday morning, the remains to be conveyed by G.T.R. to Port Hope, where interment will take place on Tuesday.

WM. WHITCROFT.

The death took place on Saturday of Wm. Whitcroft, a resident of Peterborough for about 30 years, at the ripe age of 73 years. The deceased was born in the north of Ireland and came to Canada 37 years ago, settling in Port Perry, where he lived for a period of 8 years, then moving with his wife and family to Peterborough, where he has resided since. His wife predeceased him in 1903, and a family of two sons and four daughters survive to mourn his death, William, living in the city; Fred, of Edmonton; Mrs. Rogers, city; Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Selby, Toronto, and Mrs. Davidson, Montreal.

The deceased had been in the employ of the late Thomas Bradburn and the Bradburn estate for practically all the years he has resided in the city. In religion he was an Anglican and in politics a staunch Conservative.

His quiet and kindly disposition made him many friends, who will regret to learn of his death. The funeral took place from the family residence this afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. WM. PAUL.

On the 29th February, 1920, there passed away, at the homestead on the 4th line of Smith township, an old and respected resident in the person of Margaret Young, relict of the late Wm. Paul. The deceased had reached within a few days of her eightieth birthday and had lived at the same farm for over sixty years.

In her years of activity the late Mrs. Paul was a very helpful neighbour, gladly giving any assistance possible in cases of sickness and sharing in every way the public interests of the community. Many cares and sorrows came to her during her long life, but she bore up very bravely till the last shock of her grandson's death in action, Burrit Bell. This blow seemed harder than all and in her declining years, weighed heavily upon her. Several months ago Mrs. Paul was seized with a stroke, slight but serious in its effect upon one at her age. Another stroke during the past week hastened the end. Besides her sister, Mrs. Neil McDonald, and her brother, Thos. Young of Peterboro the bereaved family are as follows: Wm. Thos. and Mabel on the homestead and Vincent of Peterboro. Four grandchildren who have lived for years with their grandparents, Wm. Bell, Jennie, Gilmour, and Dawson Paul also survive and Vincent Bell of Bratton, Saskatchewan. The husband passed away over two years ago.

TIMOTHY WALSH.

The death occurred last night of Timothy Walsh, of Keene, aged 76. The deceased was a well known and highly respected farmer and his death will be deeply regretted throughout the entire district.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock to the Roman Catholic Church at Keene, and thence to St. Peter's cemetery at Peterboro.

MRS. ELIZA DALE.

Mrs. Eliza Dale, widow of the late Thomas Dale, fell asleep in Jesus on Sunday morning, Feb. 29th, 1920, at Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, aged 62 years. She had been a sufferer for many years, but was remarkably bright and cheerful and to the last professed her confidence in Christ as her personal Saviour. She leaves to mourn her loss one daughter, Mrs. F. N. Shearer, and her son-in-law, five brothers, Messrs. W. H. and S. Leach of Fenella, B. and A. S. Leach of Forth Worth, Texas, and Dr. G. C. Leach, of Hamilton, also her aged mother at Fenella.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. F. N. Shearer, 177 Rubidge street. The service will be conducted by Rev. F. E. Malott, B.A., B.D., pastor of Trinity Methodist church, of which deceased was a member.

MACKENZIE KING STATES HE WAS SINCERE IN HIS DEMAND FOR AN ELECTION

BELIEVES THE GOVERNMENT HAS LOST THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PEOPLE—SENT MESSAGE TO GOVERNMENT.

MAY HANG ON TO THE LAST MINUTE

Special to the Examiner.

OTTAWA, March 2. — Hon MacKenzie King to-day authorized the Examiner correspondent to say that he was perfectly sincere in his demand for an appeal to the people at the earliest possible moment.

A story was in circulation last night that he sent one of his lieutenants over to the government two days ago with a message to the effect that he did not want an election any more than the Government wanted one. "That story is absolutely ridiculous," declared the opposition leader. "The Liberal party believes there should be an appeal to the electors and in offering my amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne I was quite in earnest. We think the government has lost the confidence of the people; and that there should be a new Parliament and a new Government."

The members of the Opposition were delighted with their new leader's first big effort in the House of Commons. They could talk of nothing else last night when the House adjourned. The members from the East of the Ottawa River especially expressed themselves in favor of going to the country without delay, and Mr. Ernest Lapointe, the Quebec leader of the Liberal party, branded the statement that the Liberals are only bluffing as "an unmitigated falsehood."

The chief contention of the Quebec Liberals is that the present government does not represent the people. Whether or not the government will dissolve parliament is another story.

FORMER RESIDENT FATALLY INJURED

Martin McNamara was killed on Saturday night on the Hydro construction work on the River Bank, near Queenston, where the new power house will be built. He was on the edge of the bank when his feet slipped on the frozen ground, and there was nothing for him to hold on to. He fell nearly 200 feet.

When the body was recovered it was found that he was still alive. He was placed in a trolley car and taken to Niagara Falls, but expired before regaining consciousness.

Mr. McNamara was the first man on the Hydro job, coming here from Trenton where he had for 12 years been a foreman on the Trent Canal Construction, and was a resident of Peterboro during the construction of the Lindsay, Pontypool and Bobcaygeon Railway. He is survived by a wife and three small children.

RURAL CREDITS FOR THE FARMERS

Hon. Edward Brown Left Last Night for Montreal.

(Special to the Examiner)

WINNIPEG Man. March 2. —Hon. Edward Brown, Manitoba's Treasurer left last night for Montreal to receive the final word of Bankers on their attitude toward Manitoba's rural credits scheme. The banks of Western Canada have refused to loan funds to the branches of rural credits organization at the present rate of interest which is set by law at six per cent. per annum. Legislation has been introduced which will give the Government right to accept deposits to carry on the work of organization should the banks maintain their present attitude. Should the banks insist on their stand, Legislation will be proceeded with in order to have funds to loan farmers for their spring work.

Several Persons Injured

SEVEN LIVES BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN LOST WHEN STEAMER FOUNDERED.

Canadian Press.

HALIFAX, March 2. — Seven lives are believed to have been lost and several persons were injured, when the crew of the Leyland liner Bohemian abandoned their ship as she was breaking up on the Sambro ledges this morning.

A number of the crew had remained on board after the stranding.

Late last night a swell developed, and the ship pounded so heavily that it was feared that she would break in two. At 4 this morning it was decided to abandon the ship. Three of the ship's boats got away safely, but the remainder of the crew were unable to take to the boats, according to the reports reaching here.

The tug Roebling came as close to the stranded ship as possible and the transfer of those still on board was effected by the life lines. It is believed that it was in this operation that the loss of life occurred.

Not long afterwards the steamer broke in two on the jagged rock on which she was pivoted and disappeared.

GOSPEL HALL NOTES

An appreciative audience listened to an impressive message delivered in Gospel Hall last evening by Evangelist Harper. A large chart entitled "The Two roads and the Two Destinies of the Human Race" forms the basis of the messages each evening. Three crowns symbolizing authority were pointed out by the speaker viz. that of Satan, antichrist and the Lord Jesus Christ.

The present day conception of Satan is entirely contrary to the word of the God. While men picture him to be a being with hoofs horns and a tail and a retreating forehead. The Bible in Ezekiel 28. 11 shows him to be a being of majesty and power. His fall as outlined in Isaiah 14: was then dwelt upon together with his expulsion from his place of power and authority. His subsequent history was pointed out especially his connection with the human race. The audience was warned to beware of the varied artifices of Satan for said the speaker, he is blinding the minds of men to the realities of eternal truths and luring on unsuspecting souls to eternal perdition. The lake of fire was not prepared for man but for Satan and his hosts but if man persists in rejecting Christ he will find himself there in Eternity. "The clean foot path" is the subject for tonight at 8. The public is invited to attend.

COLLAPSE OF FRENCH RAILWAY STRIKE REGARDED AS A VICTORY FOR PUBLIC

(United Press.)

PARIS, March 2—(By Henry Wood).—Political observers to-day saw in the collapse of the French railway strike a victory for public opinion which they said has become really a dynamic force in France only since the war.

Political leaders pointed out to-day that the strike was doomed from the first, because it did not have either the support of any considerable section of public opinion or the press.

Pre-war conditions—when the people of France generally assumed an apathetic attitude toward labour conflicts—are no more, they declared. The war, it was said, has given the French people a sense of responsibility and a quickened interest in public affairs which will have a powerful bearing on all labour disputes in future.

BUFFALO PRESS THROWS A FIT OVER ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

BIG MEETING HELD YESTERDAY IN THE WINDY CITY TO CONDEMN THE PROJECT—CHAMBER OF COMMERCE JOINS IN THE WAIL

(United Press.)

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 2.—Yesterday morning the headline of the leading editorial of the Buffalo Express was, "That Wild Canal Scheme," and last night the Buffalo Evening Times followed with a front page flare, "All Buffalo opposes helping Canada build the lakes to the sea canal." "Buffalo and the interests" of New York State are determined to kill the great project of opening the heart of the continent by making the St. Lawrence river navigable for ocean going ships by giving the inland ports, including Toronto, their rightful place among the communities that command the advantages of the sea and by developing at the same time 2,500,000 horse power of electricity which it is estimated would reduce Canadian coal imports from the United States by half, and pay the $100,000,000 initial cost of construction in a very short time. Providence, which is on the side of the big battalions some one said, appears also on the side of the great idea from the statements of the opposition at Buffalo before the International Join Commission yesterday. Providence will need all its invincibility. Yesterday was Buffalo's and the opponents' day in the argument, principally because they were organized and their competitors were not. Buffalo, represented by the members of the City Council, the Canal Transportation and Harbor committees of the Chamber of Commerce, all the lower lakes shipping interests, and delegations from Oswego, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and other mid-state points, led by President Edward L. Koons, of the Chamber of Commerce, and former Senator Henry W. Hill, joined forces to convince the International Joint Committee on Boundary Waterways of their side of the case. In an attempt to save the New York State barge canal if the St. Lawrence project ultimately carries, the speakers repeatedly affirmed that the Buffalo-Tonawanda, the Erie and the States waterway interests would be crippled, if not killed.

INQUEST OPENED LAST EVENING

JURY VIEWED THE SCENE OF ACCIDENT AT NOON TO-DAY.

The inquest into the death of Charles Holland was opened last night in Lane and Eano's undertaking parlors, Hunter street, Coroner Dr. Greer presiding. The following jurors were empanelled: Messrs. J. M. McGrath, George Evans, Edward Conroy, George Benor, M. J. Maher, T. C. Ephgrave, James Fowler, W. R. Widdess, Howard Shurter, George Duncan, Lorenzo Humber and Duncan Drummond. Mr. George Duncan was elected foreman.

After the examination of the body the jury adjourned till Monday night next in order to prepare evidence and make a thorough investigation. To-day at noon the scene of the fatal accident was examined by the jurors and the probable cause of accident probed into more deeply.

GAVE ADDRESS TRINITY CHURCH

MR. JOSEPH WEARING MADE A STRONG APPEAL.

At Trinity Church on Sunday afternoon Mr. Joseph Wearing addressed the men of the church on the subject, "An Antidote for Social Disorders." The speaker reviewed conditions in the world to-day, showing that in a metaphorical sense we are living and working on the side of a volcano which may erupt at any moment. Many things outwardly indicate peace and goodwill, but beneath the surface a revolution may be in progress, as judged by many indications. "What, then, is wrong with the world?" asked Mr. Wearing, and he proceeded to prove that the trouble is that we are only comparatively removed from the cave man and have many of his instincts and characteristics. In proving this, the speaker gave many illustrations from the business world. The antidote for these evils must be a greater injection of the spirit of willingness to live for others as well as ourselves; and in conclusion, Mr. Wearing made a strong appeal for a greater application in everything of the principle of brotherhood.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker.

LOANS APPROVED BY THE BOARD

Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, March 2. — Loans approved by the soldier settlement board now total near fifty-seven million dollars, and some thirty-five thousand returned men have passed the necessary tests to quality as agricultural settlers.

Up to Feb. 14th over twelve thousand were settled on the farms and off to a good start in an agricultural career.

Alberta leads in the total loans approved, almost four thousand settlers having been established.

Ontario leads the Eastern Provinces more than doubling on her nearest rival, Quebec. Ontario has eleven hundred settlers with nearly five million dollars in approved loans.

WHY THE REPORTERS WERE NOT PRESENT

In connection with the meeting of the Police Commissioners on Saturday, it is explained that the intention was not to bar the reporters from the meeting. The representatives of the press and Chief Thompson were asked to retire for a few minutes while the Commissioners talked over a matter privately, and when the Chief was sent for to return to the meeting the reporters were, through an oversight, not invited, and consequently were out of the discussion.

EXCHANGE SITUATION HANDICAP

EFFORT TO STIMULATE TRADE BY IMPROVEMENT OF EXCHANGE—PLAN IS PROPOSED.

JOINT BUYING

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, March 2. — Joint buying, distribution according to necessities and supervision of selling prices were provided for in a tentative plan agreed to at London yesterday by the economic section of the Supreme Council, says the "Petit Parisan" which today prints an outline of the programme. The plan must be submitted to Premier Millerand before becoming effective. In the debate which developed during the meeting, the newspaper says: "The question of where needed materials might be found was brought up." The exchange situation between Europe and the United States was considered as hindering purchases and Premier Lloyd George urged exchanges with Russia, particularly for wheat. There was, therefore, only a step to be taken toward making a direct agreement with the Soviet government for exchanges which were previously arranged for with the Russian Co-operative Societies which form in reality only an administrative organ. This step has been taken.

INCREASED GRANT TO FAIR BOARD, THEN REVOKED IT

MAYOR McINTYRE'S STAND FOR A $5,000 CONTRIBUTION FROM THE CITY WAS UNDONE BY ALD. HAMILTON'S ADHERENCE TO FORMER ATTITUDE.

OPPOSITION PERSISTENT

Caught in two tie votes last night, the Council's grant to the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition was first increased from $3,000 to $5,000, and within an hour was held up in its by-law passage and sent back to the Committee of the Whole for further consideration.

Ald. Turner presented the committee's report, which included the grants of $1,000 to the G.W.V.A., $1,000 to the Playgrounds Association; $400 to the District L.O.L., $25 to the Sick Children's Hospital and the Exhibition grant.

With his fluent eloquence, Ald. Turner advocated the increase of the contribution to the Fair to $5,000. His persuasiveness covered the present needs and the future expansion of the Exhibition.

President Roland Denne and Vice-President R. H. Turner urged that the entire sum of $5,000 be granted as requested. The directors were not asking for something for themselves, they said, nor would they slacken their endeavours for the success of the Fair if the larger sum was not appropriated, but they pointed out that encouragement from the city would be a new inspiration, and would positively assure the erection of buildings that have already been planned.

The First Vote.

Ald. Turner moved an amendment to the Committee of the Whole's report, seconded by Ald. Whitehousee, that the Fair grant be $5,000.

Aldermen Gainey and Morrison combined for an amendment to the amendment that this item be referred back to the Committee.

The vote on the second amendment confronted Mayor McIntyre with a tie. Those in favour were Aldermen Gainey, Morrison, Crowe, and Gordon; and those opposed, Aldermen Copping Whitehouse Jones, and Turner.

Ald. Phelan was absent and Ald. Hamilton hadn't arrived at that stage.

Mayor McIntyre swung the balance against the Gainey amendment, and by a reverse alignment Ald Turner's amendment carried, with the Mayor casting his vote for the $5,000 grant.

"The Fair Board," he declared, "ought to be encouraged. They are doing a lot of work for nothing and the least the city can do is to back them up."

The Committee's report was then altered by changing the $3,000 to $5,000.

The first scene ended with Mr. Denne and Mr. Reg. Turner departing with highly satisfied smiles and expressions of deep gratitude to the Council.

Some One Remembered.

And then Ald. Hamilton arrived. Over on the Labour wing some one

Hardly had they done so when an explosion occurred and the walls of the building were blown out. Two arrests have been made of persons suspected of connection with the crime. The belief is that a quantity of explosives either was placed in the turf that was being burned in the building or in the grate itself.

Got Him at Last.

He was a large, dapple-gray, sensible-looking horse. It was his task to pull a baker's wagon from house to house in a district on the North side, as the driver dodged in and out of the houses with his basket of bread and cakes.

"Fritz," called out the driver as he ran down the porch steps, intending that as a notice to his faithful friend to move on down the street. The horse did not move.

"Charlie," spoke up the driver again, and the old dapple-gray stepped off promptly.—Indianapolis News.

ONE MAN'S BEST INVESTMENT

"Special" Account Opened by Manager of Big Enterprises Has Paid Big Dividends.

An American business man had become convinced of the reasonableness of the doctrine of man's stewardship. He had thought it all out and decided that it might be a good thing to try the experiment. His various business enterprises had prospered; his income was constantly increasing; he certainly could do things which he might have done but had not. One night he lay awake pondering the whole matter, and before going to sleep prayed over it. Then he made up his mind, says the Christian Herald. Next morning he instructed his bookkeeper to open in the ledger a new account in his name, and marked "Special," to which the bookkeeper should regularly carry one-tenth of all the profits. He warned him never to fail to have the "Special" account ready when called for.

And that business man's "Special" has never failed. It has been to him a wonderful revelation of the capacity of a man immersed in big enterprises for doing good on a large scale as a side line. It has helped to build churches, to promote the gospel, to support missionaries, to maintain and train orphans, to bring gladness to homes of suffering and to many shutins. He has had a hand in a hundred noble enterprises for Christ and humanity. And the most extraordinary thing about it is that it has given him a new zest for business, having, as he himself would say reverently, God as a silent partner. It has not only been a means of blessing his business, but it has purified his whole life, ennobled his character and made him ten times a better man.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENTS IN MUNICIPAL HOUSING SCHEMES IN WESTERN ONTARIO

DILIGENT AND CAREFUL MANAGEMENT A VITAL FACTOR IN THIS COMMUNITY ENTERPRISE—BRANTFORD, HAMILTON, GUELPH AND OTHER TOWNS AND THE HOUSESS THEY BUILT AT COST RANGING FROM $2,000 TO $4,000—DETAILED REPORT BY HOUSING COMMISSION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE OF WHOLE COUNCIL.

The report of the sub-committee of the Housing Commission appointed to secure information regarding the operation of building projects in other municipalities presented the following report to the Council last night:—

The Committee made inspection at Guelph, Brantford, Hamilton, Toronto and Oshawa, these places having built houses under the Ontario Housing Act. All are centres of industrial activity and need accommodation for very many more working people than the facilities hitherto existent offered.

In all centres little was done before the 1st, of August, last, so the building accomplished varies in proportion to the energy and industry displayed and to the availability of labor and materials. In some localities, notably at Oshawa, the activities of the Housing Commission have been ably assisted by local manufacturing firms, which have erected a large number of dwellings and many residences and so added to the aggregate accommodation. These features are referred to in detail further on.

The City of Guelph.

The Guelph Commission has, in all twenty-seven houses completed and under construction. In the opening of work a contract was let to a Toronto builder for twelve houses. It turned out that this man was hampered by want of capital, fell down on his supplies, became involved in the extent of his operations and was finally compelled to relinquish the contract, which was finished by the Commission. Houses not completed are being finished, and will be ready for occupation early in the spring. In addition individuals have negotiated with the Commission, built houses and occupy the same and this feature of the work has proved successful. At date of writing, the Commission is having a survey made of the city, and a conference will be held with manufacturers to find out just what the needs of the city will be for the year. It is admitted that houses that cost to build, last year, $2,970.00 will cost in 1920 fully $3,200.00 to complete, on account of advances in the cost of materials and advances in labor. Your Committee has brought back photos of many of the houses, completed and in process of construction, with working plans, specifications, forms of contract, etc., and these are offered for inspection of Council. In addition there is valuable information to consider, which would require too much space in a report, but which can be communicated orally to the Council, if such be desired. Guelph proposes to extend operations this season and has applied for funds to do so. Almost and without exception the houses were erected on lands owned or acquired by the applicants. Lots varied in price from $150.00 to $500.00. Houses vary in cost from $2,700.00 to $5,000.00. It would seem that in the latter cases the provisions of the Act have been stretched to take in such propositions, though, of course, the security for the advance is there.

Have a Uniform Charge.

Profiting by experience Guelph has decided that for the future a uniform charge of two-and-one-half per cent. of the amount loaned and will be made to cover cost of inspection and supervision of the building in all its stages. This will relieve the commission from consideration of details with which it should not be burdened. The Commission will also erect a number of houses, complete the same and sell them to applicants. By this means a man going in for a house will be able to see exactly what he is getting which will prevent misunderstandings that appear to crop up when a man builds on an approval plan.

Your Commission inspected several of the houses under construction. Two on Omar avenue, 6 rooms, brick veneer, showed good design and work. These are being built by the Guelph Commission and will cost $2,750.00 each, finished. A double house on Meadowvale avenue is of attractive design, well arranged, each dwelling having 6 rooms. Prices about the same as noted above. Other houses showed differences in design and plan, and slightly lower cost.

City of Brantford.

Brantford is now in the midst of an expanding industrial activity. The city is acquiring many new industries and these in turn are calling for more housing accommodation. The Commission was formed early last year. A manager, Mr. H. C. Feen was at once appointed and, under the Commission as constituted, building operations have been carried on and very successfully. With good business sense, details of inspection and other important matters have been thoroughly looked after. The Commission confines itself to the operations of a loan company, if the expression may be used, and does not erect houses to be afterwards sold to applicants. Beyond question, any mechanic living in Brantford, and proposing to make the city his home, can afford to build, have built or buy a house. With wages at the high level as indicated in the fact that bricklayers are getting $1.25 per hour and carpenters $1.00 per hour, and plumbers looking up the incline, and other trades zealous to participate, there is no lack of money, if it only keeps up. The demand for houses has as yet, not been met.

Well Built Houses.

Brantford exploits the cottages and semi-bungalow type of house. Hundreds of these are conspicious all over the city. Those erected by the Commission are notably well built, of excellent proportions, and a credit to the Commission. Forty-seven houses have been built, completed and occupied. These are all of solid brick (Preston pressed brick) construction, with 9 inch walls, good cellars with cement floors, fitted with furnaces and laundry tubs in the cellars. Sanitary plumbing, gas, and electric wiring are installed. These houses sell at from $3,000.00 to $4,000.00, depending on number of rooms, etc., the five and six-room houses being the most popular. Photographs, working plans, specifications, etc., of a number of these houses are submitted. There are also the popular story-and-half and two storey houses built.

Plans Supplied at Cost.

It may be here mentioned, as applies in all cases, that each Commission operating under the Act, requires three sets of plans, specifications, contract, agreement, etc. One for filing at Toronto, one for the applicant and his builder and one retained by the local Commission. It was ascertained that complete sets as above are supplied at a cost, all told of $17.00. Thorough inspection is made while the work is in progress, the manager being a practical man, making inspection. A fee of one per cent on the cost of the house is charged to cover inspections. The Commissioners, having employed a manager, carry on the provisions of the Act under nominal salaries, the amounts being tendered in recognition of time lost in the public service. These salaries as well as that of the manager, are assumed by the city at large, and the applicants relieved of any part of the charges so incurred. Lots, in general, are of width of 35 to 40 feet and of depth as the properties are laid out on city plans. Prices vary from $250.00 to $500.00 as to location. In defining the number of rooms in a house the bathroom is not taken as one, nor is the hall, but where such are placed, these are mentioned as in the plan in addition to at Brantford and at Hamilton. Two places only 23 miles apart.

	Hamilton	Brantford

A difference of $669.80.

Many houses, built at Brantford, are of the new sand-cement compressed brick, which is turned out in several shades of gray, soft brown and red. This brick costs $16.00 per thousand. The brick is not burned, only compressed.

The City of Hamilton.

The Commission for the city of Hamilton has carried on operations very successfully during the year past. Constituted under and following faithfully the provisions of the Act it has been one of the most successful of all the Housing organizations in the province. An office was established and a manager selected, who attends to all details of reception of applications, establishes the bona fides of applicants, looks after the selection of lots, takes all steps to have either the lots or the required percentages handed over to the Commission as a first step. Conditions having been met, the work of building follows. The Commission takes to itself the function of a loaning company, and treats the transaction accordingly, ensuring that all contracts as to building are between the prospective owner and the contractor, and not as between the Commission and Contractor.

Outside Appearance Varied.

So far 175 applications have been received. Of these about 115 houses are under construction or completed. Of those completed 31 are occupied. All plans used have had the approval of the Toronto authorities, and these plans are standardized as to interiors, while the outside of the houses are varied so as to remove the appearance of sameness. At first bulk contracts were let for erection of numbers of houses, with the usual result that contractors become stalled on non-supply of materials and labor. These contracts were assumed by the Commission and closed out as speedily as possible. The individual contract is favored as better for the owner and as making for speedy construction.

Inspection is done by the Commission, the charge for the service being one per cent. of the amount borrowed. In addition to the houses being erected in the city, the County of Wentworth Commission is building very freely, numbers of mechanics living outside the city limits taking advantage of the opportunity.

The manager, Mr. Campbell, reports that payments are made promp-

Why do Some People Always Wake up Tired

LOTS of folks sleep all night. But they don't rest. They sleep too "light."

Or they dream all night and get up in the morning almost as tired as when they went to bed.

Many don't get the right kind of sleep because of their beds. You can't get real sound sleep unless your bed invites every nerve and muscle to relax.

Most beds have a loose joint that rattles. Or a spring that creaks. Even the least bit of noise will keep the nerves on edge.

Anyone would sleep better if he'd get rid of his old wooden or loose-jointed rattling metal bed and get a Simmons Metal Bed, with Waldorf Box Spring and a Simmons Mattress and Pillows.

* * *

THE Simmons Metal Bed is noiseless. It locks firm at the corners. The corner locks are made of pressed steel—fit true and snug—not a creak, rattle, or feeling of unsteadiness.

It is perfectly rigid—moves like one solid piece.

The Simmons Pressed Steel Corner Locks are protected by basic patents—exclusive with Simmons Limited—not to be duplicated or imitated.

And these patented corner locks have made possible the Three-piece Bed—the new Simmons idea—the spring forming a single unit with the side rails.

* * *

THE Waldorf Box Spring really does what you have always wanted a spring to do.

It invites complete relaxation.

It supports the body at ease on fine resilient spring coils—each coil conforming freely to the contours, so that the spine is perfectly rested, whether one sleeps on the back or on the side.

Simmons Waldorf Box Spring is covered with ticking of the finest grade and great wearing quality, in new and attractive designs.

It fits firmly on the bed—never sags or humps, never loses its resiliency.

And Simmons Mattresses and Pillows are in every way worthy to go with Simmons Metal Beds and Waldorf Box Springs.

YOU probably are thinking a lot about sleep these trying days.

The Simmons Metal Bed and Waldorf Box Spring will give you better, sounder sleep than you have ever known.

Many folks can't sleep even in the best bed if they are disturbed by the restlessness of another sleeper.

Simmons Limited makes a specialty of Twin Beds—where one sleeper doesn't disturb the other or draw on the vitality—and you don't "catch" sore throats, coughs or colds.

Your choice of exquisite designs in brass, or enamel in colors and delicate "wood effects" in Simmons Beds—prices no higher than for ordinary beds.

And when you are selecting your Simmons Beds with an eye to their appearance in the room, you will see that Simmons has for the first time established beautiful and authoritative design in Metal Beds.

All the leading merchants in this section have Simmons Beds, Waldorf Box Springs, Simmons Mattresses and Pillows.

If you care to write us, we'll tell you where to get them.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

TUESDAY, MARCH 2ND, 1920.

THE C. G. E. BYLAW.

It is certain that if a new manufacturing concern proposed to spend a cool $1,000,000 in erecting a plant in Peterboro on the condition that the city would grant them fixed assessment of $150,000 for ten years, the company would be heartily welcomed and the necessary bylaw would be carried by a big majority. There is no logical reason why a similiar reception should not be granted the bylaw to be voted on this month to authorize the continuation of the present assessment of the Canadian General Electric Company at $150,000 for the next ten years, especially as the measure is merely carrying out an agreement made with the company ten years ago. When Senator Nicholls appeared before the Council recently he intimated that the building operations to be carried on by the C.G.E. here would amount to $500,000 But they will be on a much larger scale than was expected. In a letter to Mayor McIntyre the head of the Canadian General now gives the welcome information that the cost of the new plant the company proposes to erect in Peterboro will be one million dollars. The value of such extensive biulding operations to Peterboro cannot be over estimated as they will provide work for the city's carpenters, bricklayers and other workmen, while the completion of the plant will mean an addition of hundred of employees to the present large payroll and make the Peterboro works one of the largest industrial plants in the Dominion. These facts are so readily apparent that the bylaw to be voted on in March 23rd will undoubtedly be enthusiastically supported by the citizens who recognize that in the securing of a million dollar addition to the Canadian General Electric works, Peterboro's growth and progress will be given a marked impetus.

CANADA'S MILITIA.

General Sir Arthur Currie, former commander-in-chief of the Canadian Corps in France and now Inspector-General of the Canadian Militia struck a popular note in his address at the dinner of the Princess Pats in Ottawa when he declared that the men who had fought for Canada were the last to want to establish anything in the line of militarism here at home. Canada needed a small efficient staff and a small permanent force for the training and equipping of her militia, General Currie declared "but we believe" he added, "that any military strength will not come from those who are in permanently in khaki but from the plain citizen in military attire, Canada can rely on its militia to carry out any duty that may be required in this country."

General Currie is undoubtedly correct. The returned soldiers have shown that they are opposed to anything that savours of compulsory military service and training. Veterans associations, our local branch included have passed strongly worded resolutions setting forth the absolute opposition of their respective organizations to such methods. Doubtless many of them share General Currie's faith in the militia and will demonstrate it during the next few weeks by joining the newly organized militia units such as the 57th Regiment. If there is a general response to the present appeal the Canadian militia, with officers and non-coms. of overseas experience and many seasoned veterans in the ranks will be a body of which any country might well be proud.

THE OTTAWA RIDDLE.

The popular game at Ottawa just now seems to be guessing the name of the successor to Sir Robert Borden. The Premier is believed to be through and Hon. J. A. Calder when he arrives back in the capital after consulting his leader is expected to bring the definite announcement that Sir Robert's health has not improved enough to enable to resume his duties. The situation from a Unionist standpoint is disquieting. While it is true as one political observer puts it that the crew do not care who is captain of the craft as long as the wages and rations are forthcoming regularly, the members of the Cabinet are more concerned in the matter. Nearly all of the ministers are suspected of having ambitious designs on the mantle of the Premier and the result is the prospect of a decidedly merry little war when the Government caucus to select a leader is held. Choosing a successor to Sir Robert under present conditions is like playing with dynamite for there is every chance that without careful handling of the situation there may be a split that will wreck the Government. The only thing that may prevent such a breach is the certainty that if an election is forced most of the Unionist members know that their chances of being re-elected will be of the smallest and they may therefore agree to any compromise in the selection of a leader that will prevent a definite breaking up of the party.

AN AMERICAN VIEW.

The Buffalo Express for reasons that are not hard to find is violently apposed to the proposed St. Lawrence River Development scheme and denounces the subbested ship canal between the great lakes and the sea in unrestrained fashion. Here is an extract from its editorial reference to the undertaking:—

> A ship canal between the lake and the sea never could be practicable, wherever built. Any person who will reduce the matter to plain figures can see that there could be no more expensive way of transporting commerce than by a large steamship working its way, inch by inch, through several hundred miles of narrow inland channels. Ships must have sea room in order to operate profitably. Any railroad train could at any time beat any ship above the size of a canal barge, both in time and cost in transporting and given number of tons of freight from Lake Erie to the Atlantic.

But as the Hamilton Herald points out the same objection applies to almost all canals—to the Suez canal to the Panama canal. Any railroad train could carry goods faster than they are carried by the ships passing through the canals. But not so cheaply; and cost is an element not to be overlooked and isn't it absurd to claim that the St. Lawrence canals are of no value when they have been of very great value for a large number of years? Many vessels have crossed the ocean and come up those canals into the lakes. What is proposed is to make the canals deeper so that larger ocean vessels can do the same as a regular thing. It is quite practicable from the engineering and maritime points of view. It is also practicable from the commercial viewpoint, especially when the fact is taken into account that an incidental result of the canal project will be the development of electric power enough to yield a revenue of millions.

The Express' opinion on this subject may not be wholly uncolored by the fact that Buffalo is the lake terminus of the Erie canal.

ABOUT OLEOMARGARINE.

It is surprising to find such a capable and useful public official as the Dominion Dairy Commissioner, Mr. J. A. Ruddick, encouraging farmers to revive the agitation against the permissive use of oleomargarine. According to press reports, at a meeting of the National Dairy Council held in Winnipeg last week, Mr. Ruddick "stated that Federal Department of Agriculture had never been in doubt where it stood in regard to oleomargarine, and added that if an energetic organization like the National Dairy Council had been in existence at the time it might have prevented the suspension of the law prohibiting the sale of this product in Canada. The person," continued Mr. Ruddick, "who states to you that oleomargarine is as good as butter is either not well informed or is guilty of misrepresentation."

We hope to find that Mr. Ruddick has not been accurately reported. The "Federal Department of Agriculture," he must remember, is represented by its responsible Ministerial head, and that responsible authority, as a member of the Cabinet, must have consented to the Government's policy of permitting the use of oleomargarine. One would not expect such an experienced official as Mr. Ruddick to commit the indiscretion of publicly assailing the policy of his responsible chief. If Mr. Ruddick disapproves of the law allowing oleomargarine to be used, he is not bound to endorse it, but he is bound to refrain from attacking it.

When, many years ago, the law was passed forbidding the manufacture or importation of oleomargarine in Canada there were, no doubt, good reasons for such action. Oleomargarine was not then the article it is today. But Canada adhered to the prohibition when, if we mistake not, every other civilized country allowed the article to be used. Even in such famous dairying countries as Denmark and Holland oleomargarine is widely used. So long as butter could be had at a reasonable price there was no demand in Canada for oleomargarine. It was only when the price of butter had advanced to double and treble its ordinary figures that the demand for oleomargarine arose. Oleomargarine does not displace butter today. It is used by people who cannot afford to buy butter, and would not buy it, at seventy cents per pound. Since they cannot have the real butter, why should they not be at liberty to buy—not as butter but under its own name—a cheaper article which, while certainly not "as good as butter," is recognized as a convenient substitute in all civilized countries. An appeal to farmers to resist the use of oleomargarine under the conditions of today—when every pound of butter that is produced finds a ready sale at high prices—is an appeal to selfishness.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Ruddick only yielded to a temptation to please his farmer audience at Winnipeg without thinking of the possible consequences. If his speech indicates an intention on the part of the Government to return to the oleomargarine prohibition, Parliament should be prepared to vigorously resist such a movement.—Journal of Commerce.

THE EWE AT LAMBING

Hints on Care of Both Mother and Lamb.

Care Before Lambing Important—How to Help In Cases of Foor Delivery — A Good Ration for Ewes When Raising Lambs.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE two main factors contributing to a satisfactory lamb crop are the proper feeding and care of the sheep during the six months previous to lambing time together with care and detailed attention given to the flock during the lambing period. Plenty of exercise coupled with sufficient amount of the right kind of feed to maintain the ewes in good thriving condition will usually result in the birth of active rugged lambs, for which the mother will have a sufficient supply of milk. In practically every flock, no matter how well cared for, the attendant must be on hand frequently, day and night, during the period the lambs are arriving. A little attention at the proper time often results in the saving of not a few lambs.

Absolute dryness and freedom from draught are very essential for the flock at lambing time, and when the lambs are expected in March or even early April provision should be made for reasonable protection from the cold.

Wool balls in the stomach is often the cause of much loss in young lambs. This trouble as well as difficulty in getting the lambs to nurse may be avoided by clipping away all loose and dirty wool from around the udder and quarters of the ewes. It must be borne in mind that at this time the ewes, heavy in lamb, should be handled gently, otherwise serious loss may occur from ewes slipping their lambs.

Provision should be made for a few small pens located along the warmest side of the building. The ewe about to lamb is much safer separated from the main flock and in cases of difficult parturition, weak lambs, ewes disowning their lambs, and numerous other difficulties that may arise they can be looked after a great deal more satisfactorily when confined in small enclosures. It not infrequently happens that a ewe has difficulty in delivering her lamb; this is more common in the case of young ewes with their first lamb. When the lamb has come forward far enough so that the nose and front feet are in sight and the head is unable to pass through the ewe should be assisted by gentle pulling on the forefeet. If this fails smear the inside of the vagina well with linseed oil; this has the effect of softening and allowing the opening to stretch, and will, unless the case is a very severe one, give relief. No action should be taken until it is reasonably certain some assistance is needed, and before investigating the hands should be perfectly clean and disinfected.

Lambs may be born weak and apparently lifeless, more particularly in case of difficult delivery. These may be revived by quick action on the part of the attendant. First remove the phlegm from the mouth, then hold the mouth open and blow gently a few times to start lung action. Next lay the lamb on its belly and gently beat it on the sides next to the heart just back of the shoulder.

A ewe may lose her lamb and still have a supply of milk. She may be given a lamb say one of twins or an orphan lamb belonging to another ewe to raise. This may be accomplish by skinning the dead lamb and throwing the skin over the one to be adopted. A ewe may take to another lamb when held and the lamb allowed to suck. Especially is this true where a ewe has a full flow of milk.

When a lamb is born during a cold spell it may become so thoroughly chilled as to require attention. Place the lamb in hot water until well warmed, rub dry, then wrap in a cloth and place beside a fire until restored. A little warm milk taken from the mother should be given as soon as the lamb will take it. A few drops of whiskey in a little warm water may often prove beneficial.

Ewes, like dairy cattle, vary a great deal in the amount of milk given. In case of single lambs the mother may have more milk than the lamb will take for a week or more, the lambs may be nursing on one side only and the other side will become inflamed and caked. Either hold the ewe and allow another lamb to nurse or milk out. In case the udder has become hard bathe with hot water for five minutes with a woollen cloth, dry thoroughly and apply (warm) pure melted hogs' lard.

Ewes should be fed sparingly, especially of grain, for a few days after lambing, as soon as they are safely over the effects of lambing they should be gradually brought up to full feed. Clover or alfalfa hay, together with a grain ration of oats and bran should give results. If roots or good quality silage is available they will supply succuccency and add variety to the ration.

All lambs should be docked and the male lambs, other than those intended for breeding purposes, castrated at from ten days to two weeks old.

Following is a good ration for ewes when raising lambs:—

Oats, eight parts.
Bran, four parts.
Oil cake, one part.
Roots, four to six pounds per day.
Good hay.

Lambs started on ¾ pound per day will give a good account of the feed consumed.—Percy Sackville, O. A. College, Guelph.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

SANDRA DECIDES TO DISOBEY HER HUSBAND

CHAPTER LXI

Hot tears scalded my face as I turned from the telephone, why had he told me I was to go with him, only to disappoint me. Then his message. "Do not accept any invitations or invite guests while I am away." It was insulting.

"I'll ask Mrs. Gray if she (meaning Leola of course) was not allowed to receive anyone or go anywhere unless Everett was with her" I stormed aloud. "I don't believe she would have been so meek, and so silly as to let him boss her the way he tries to me!"

I really was more hurt than angry, however, and threw myself on my bed and cried bitterly. I thought of the promised shopping, the plays we were to see—instead of which I was to remain alone while he probably saw the plays, and had a good time in other ways instead of shopping with me.

What had happened to change his mind?

I raised myself suddenly, my tears ceased as the thought came to me. My jealousy flared. Was it because of some other woman? Someone with whom he was going to spend his time—his evenings, instead of spending them with me?

"I would go! He had told me I might, and he had no right to disappoint me without giving me a reason." I said aloud, drying my angry tears. "I'll show him I have some rights as well as that Leola!"

Mrs. Gray had heard me at the telephone, but I was sure she had been unable to judge of the conversation because I had had no opportunity to object.

"Will you call the car, Mrs. Gray, I will be down immediately," I said and I turned away so she would not notice that I had been crying. "Send Hetty to me please."

Hetty came at once, and I cautioned her to hurry and strap my bag and carry it down to the car. I waited just long enough to adjust a veil, then followed her.

I had dusted my cheeks with powder, and bathed my eyes, so that no traces of my tears remained as I took my seat in the car.

"You will have to hurry a little, Thomas," I told the chauffeur. "We have only just time to get to the train."

"I'll make it, ma'am."

But we got caught in a jam at a crossing, and another one when there was a slight accident to a car ahead of us, I did not feel so sure that we would catch it. I leaned forward, feeling almost as if by so doing I was helping the car along. I rushed to the ticket window and bought a ticket; then hurried to the gate, only to have it slammed to when I was about three feet away, and to see the ticket-taker nonchalantly take down the shiny sign telling what time the train would leave, and replace it with another.

I cried out in my disappointment and chagrin. People turned and stared at me, and I felt horribly embarrassed. I peered thru the iron palings, and imagined I saw Everett get on the train—anyway the man reminded me of him.

Then I turned away, blinded with tears. I felt thankful that my veil—tho thin—was a slight protection from the stares of the curious. I hurried back to where I had left Thomas. I had refused his services, giving my heavy bag to one of the uniformed porters. I did not wish the chauffeur to hear Everett if he were angry and said disagreeable things because I had disobeyed him.

Thomas had gone! What in the world should I do?

"Good evening, Miss!" an oily faced creature said with a leer as he passed. I shrunk closely in toward the wall, and he passed on with a horrid chuckle that someway made me ill.

"Cab, Miss?" to my relief I saw it was the starter who addressed me.

"Yes, please."

"Where to?"

I gave him the address, then sank gratefully back in the corner of the cab and cried softly until I reached home.

30 BELOW; TARRED AND FEATHERED

LONDON, Ont., March 1.— Harry James of this town, a wood cutter, became incensed at the attentions bestowed upon his wife by John Plummer, a local pastor. So, assisted by a local hog shipper, who furnished the tar, and a prominent poultry shipper, who supplied the feathers, and several other neighbors, he seized upon the unfortunate pastor, and, after sousing him in the tar, which had been heated, and rolling him in a thick blanket of feathers, turned him loose to the mercies of a cold north wind, while the thermometer registered 30 below zero.

The constable, who was out visiting his traps along the river, did not arrive till late that night, and as he had a sweet disposition, did not interfere.

Owing to the high price of turpentine the unfortunate did not use any, but has been sleeping in the ice house of the local creamery.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIENCE IN MUNICIPAL HOUSING SCHEMES IN WESTERN ONTARIO

tly and cheerfully, largely by men of the mechanical class, as distinct from those who follow laboring as a means of livlihood. With present prosperity it is felt that payments will be maintained and obligations fully met. Much information was afforded as to detail of operation, all of which is interesting and useful and which need not be described here unless this report be carried to extreme limit. One of the Commission is a practical builder and the expense of the Commission is borne by the city.

Details of Construction.

Numbers of houses have been built for men of the laboring class, such houses costing from $2,200.00 to $2,800.00 and of 4, 5 and 6 room sizes. These prices give the house complete, without the cost of lot. That rests with the applicant. In such houses the brick, laid in the wall, costs $32.00 per M. On the average the brick, cement blocks, and laying would run to about $600.00. Such a furnace as installed would cost $153.00 in place. Plumbing, $275.00. No hardwood floors in a four or five room house All windows are of box frame construtioon. A four room house, for instance, would have hall, living room, dining room, kitchenette, and upstairs, 2 bedrooms, bathroon and small sewing room, which could be used as a bed room for small children. When handed over to the owner the premises are complete with everything required from the street line through the house.

Discussing with the City Clerk the possibilities that might follow a slump in values the opinion was expressed that for the next four years there was little prospect of a lessening of values in materials and in wages. Only the absolute refusal of European countries to buy our products could make any perceptible difference. And even then values would hold so far as concerned houses. On the whole he considered the housing scheme a helpful thing for the city and for the individual.

Particulars of Some Houses.

Accompaning this report are offered for inspection many plans of houses, all of approved design. These may be referred to by number. No. 9. Five room cottage, cut brick, solid, at $2,300.00, complete with furnace, etc. Size of foundation 25x40 ft. If built in hollow tile or stucco, then 20 per cent. less.

No. 10. Two storey, 22x27 ft. Six rooms and hall, small portico, cost $2,500.00, furnace.

No. 5. Brick, solid. Six rooms, 23 x29 ft. This is said by the authorities to be the best $2,500.00 house as yet designed. If more elaborately constructed might cost $2,000.00.

Five other plans are shown, all accepted as standard and from which plans many have been constructed. The only concession made to ex-members of the forces is that such an applicant can borrow $500.00 more, if needed than the civilian. No application is received without the 10 per cent. deposit or the equivafent in property.

It is assumed, so far as construction has gone this year that costs of building will advance about 20 per cent. over 1919. But that wages, in the trades and laboring have been also advanced in about same proportion.

Hamilton applied in 1919 for $1,000,000. This has been expended, or nearly so and the city says it is assured of another million for use in 1920. So that there seems to be some grounds for the assumption that the present Ontario Government will carry on in the housing scheme the same as the former Government.

Town of Oshawa.

Oshawa has made most remarkable strides in its additions to housing facilities. Not only has its Housng Commission been successful but the efforts of the Commission have been largely supplemented by the enterprise of local manufacturers. So that while the town is expanding in industrial propositions the accommodation for additional population is being well met.

The town plot of Oshawa comprises an area two-and-one-half miles in length by one-and-one-half miles wide. In contour the town plot arises as it recedes from the lake front, and the surface is not broken to any extent by gullies and hills, so that within the town limits were found suitable blocks of land quite well placed and fitted for development. North of the business section the largest additions have been made. The new industry, general Motors Ltd., has erected 70 houses for use of employees, filling the street frontage on several blocks. Further north the McLaughlin Co., has erected 54 fine dwellings for their employees. In addition the Company has assisted in the erection of many fine homes for heads of departments.

74 Houses Under Way.

The Commission at Oshawa has been fairly successful. It was able to secure a suitable block of land and portions of blocks, in addition. Divided up into lots of the required frontage, the average cost per lot to applicants was about $262.25. The total amount expended in property was $24,825.00. Applicants pay for cost of conveyances, etc.

Up to December 31st, last, the Commission has had under construction, or completed 74 houses. In addition 21 applicants are in hand that would aggregate $71,400.00 additional expenditure, at the type of houses selected and estimated cost of each. It is anticipated that an additional number of applications are in sight to the number of 35.

The local Commission consists of Mr. Geo. McLaughlin, president; A. E. Tyler, (Bank of Commerce) Secretary; S. Gliddon, manager; J. Hind, police magistrate; Mayor John Strong; and T. H. Everson. Mr. Gliddon takes the duties of meeting applicants, preparing the necessary papers and further submitting details to the Commission.

Houses range in prices from $2,500.00 to over $4,000.00. This Commission has not held to the conditions of the Act but has in some respects acted more liberally than the regulations would call for, endeavoring to facilitate building to the largest possible extent. In this way deposits on application have been received of considerable amounts over and above the initial ten per cent., it being taken that the security so effected was a good thing to have. The houses erected appear to be of good construction, and many are rather important looking dwellings, reflecting in appearance the importance of the industrial boom. Photos were taken by Mr. Parsons, and are submitted for inspection of Council. On the whole the work of the Commission is reflected in the large addition to the housing capacity of the town.

The Commission has in an application for another large sum to complete work in hand and for additional houses, and fully expects that the money will be forthcoming. No applications have so far been entertained that are not accompanied by the usual advance of 10 per cent. in property or in cash. Loans are made as high as $3,500.00 or even this amount in cases. It is indicative of the prosperity of the town that the 4 and 5 room houses are not in demand.

The Cost in Oshawa.

Statement has been given in some detail of the comparative cost of erecting a six room house at Hamilton and at Brantford. Following, to complete the chain of comparison, will be found detail of the expense of a similar house, (23 x 26 ft.) two storeys, at Oshawa.

Housing in Toronto.

Your Committee did not inspect the building operations in this city. Toronto is not working under the Act, so its work would not conform to the requirements. At the head office, much information was learned as to the general operation of Commissions all over the Province, and a deal that was of a cautionary nature, growing out of experience in dealing with many places. It was pointed out that commissions had not seemed to realize the serious nature of all transactions but assumed that so long as the Municipality had guaranteed the loan by issue of debentures, that the Department should have little to say in the expenditure of the money. Also certain commissions had gone on assuming that all of inspection and scrutiny that would be required should be performed by the Department. Lack of appreciation and want of business methods led to complications that had produced a lot of trouble.

Submitted with this report are plans, specifications, forms of application, reports of progress, agreements, contracts, etc. for consideration of Council. Also the following conclusions as reached by the Committee may be of interest.

Conclusions.

That in the opinion of the Committee of Investigation, based on what has been observed and learned in its inspection, the Act might well be put in operation in Peterborough, provided that a responsible management be installed (inside the Commission) to see that the provisions and regulations of the Act are strictly observed in all particulars. Only in such way can the operations, if instituted, be carried on satisfactorily.

Assuming that the endeavor of the Municipality, as expressed to its Commission, will be to provide dwellings for working people, mechanics, clerks and others, not in business for themselves, and that houses of the four, five and six room type will prevail, as being within the means of the average working man, that the erection of such should be given a preference. It being also assumed that the larger the number of dwellings that can be erected out of the moneys received, the better it will be for the extension of housing accommodation.

Tat to secure faithful and thorough inspection the services of some competent man be retained, as Inspector, he to be free from all influences except those of carrying out for the Commission, the provisions of the Act and terms of contracts. All payments to be based and made solely on certificates issued by the Inspector

That the undertaking to erect a house is between the prospective owner and the contractor and not between the Commission and contractor, removing any source of contention from the Commission. The Inspector to stand between the parties to the contract to assure fair play for both

Would Investigate Applicants.

That enquiry be made as to the standing of all applicants, as to conduct, habits, steadiness of work in the past, prospects for the future, in order that men should not assume obligations which it would be unreasonable to expect them to carry out. A tendency has been to ask for, and undertake more than the individual might, in his family circumstances and responsibilities perform. Regularity of employment, a reasonable earning power, discreet personal expenditure should be considered. All-

and it wasn't his crime

Justice sometimes goes wrong. Men are often punished for crimes they do not commit. And when we thoughtlessly take purgatives and cathartics to relieve stagnant bowels, we are committing a similar injustice.

When the system is unable to remove food waste at regular intervals, it is the food waste, and not the system, that needs correction.

Every other form of treatment either irritates or forces the system. Nujol works on the waste matter instead of on the system. By this entirely new principle Nujol will keep the poisonous waste moving out of the body.

Nujol prevents constipation by keeping the food waste soft, thus helping Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals — the healthiest habit in the world.

CITY HALL SALARIES SENT BACK TO THE FINANCE COMMITTEE

ALD. TURNER CONTEMPLATES CERTAIN CHANGES IN THE LIST—ALD. GAINEY PROPOSED FREE MARKET AND COUNCIL WILL SEEK INFORMATION AS TO SUCCESS OF THIS IDEA ELSEWHERE—CEDAR STREET OFFICIALLY EXPUNGED.

When the annual motion to advertise for tenders for the market tolls was submitted by Ald. Jones at the regular meeting of the Council last night, Ald. Gainey proposed that the market be put on a free basis this year.

"I would like to have it tried out for a year," he urged.

Ald. Hamilton — The farmers wouldn't sell their goods any cheaper and it would cost us about $2,000.

Ald. Crowe—I am willing to give it a try.

Ald. Whitehouse—What are the advantages of it?

Ald. Gainey — I believe it would draw more people. Many of the farmers sell their produce in the stores. I don't say they do that because of the tolls but I believe if the market was free that it would encourage them to sell on the market.

Ald. Hamilton — The merchants don't get their stores free.

Ald. Gordon suggested that because the time for the collection of the tolls expires on March 31st that the Property committee proceed to get tenders and at the same time consider the idea of making the market free. This idea, slightly amplified, was adopted.

Ald Gainey moved, seconded by Ald. Morrison, that the clerk write to those cities that have established free markets and obtain particulars as to their operation and success. This information will be delivered directly to the Property committee.

Ald. Whitehouse—Would you make the scales free?

Ald. Gainey— If there is anything free I would make it all free.

Ald. Crowes Motion Lost.

Ald. Crowe moved, seconded by Ald. Gainey, that the Clerk write to other cities corresponding in size to Peterborough, asking for information as to their populations, the number of their city employees and the salaries paid.

Kingston, Belleville and other cities of their size were specified.

Ald. Crowe explained that he wished to obtain information that would enable him to decide what the local city hall employees should be paid.

Ald. Turner — I have the most of that information now.

Ald. Crowe—But it's not in detailed form.

Ald. Whitehouse—Don't you think we are capable of drawing our own conclusions.

Ald. Crowe—I have no idea of office work. This would give me some data to go by. I don't want to deal with something I don't know anything about.

The motion was lost by a vote of five to four. Those supporting it were Aldermen Gordon, Crowe, Morrison and Gainey, and opposed were Aldermen Copping, Whitehouse, Jones, Hamilton and Turner.

Ald. Crowe—All right, gentlemen, you don't want to be fair. I'm going to fight you on this.

Ald. Whitehouse—It's too late in the day to bring in that resolution. If you had brought it in a month ago I should have been glad to support you.

Ald. Gainey replied that the salaries could date back from the time any decision was made.

To Discuss Salaries Again.

The clause in the Finance committee's report providing for increases in the salaries of most of the employees of the City Hall was referred back on Ald. Turner's motion, seconded by Ald. Jones.

Ald. Turner said he intended to recommend certain changes in the proposed new salary list; but Ald. Whitehouse suggested that as the Fire, Water and Light committee had not yet submitted their estimates there was no occasion for rushing through the whole report.

There was sufficient time, he said, to enable the committee to discuss their report further and submit it in completed form.

To Oil Cemetery Roads.

The Little Lake Cemetery Company asked that the Council arrange to sell them this summer 2,000 gallons of road oil to be used on the driveways in the cemetery.— Referred to the Board of Works.

The company bought 700 gallons last year. It proved so satisfactory that the company will extend the area to be oiled this summer.

Threaten Damage Suit.

H. P. Kennedy Limited, owners of the property adjoining the Wilson farm across the river in Otonabee, notified the Council that they would take action against the city for damages if the sewage disposal plant was located on the Wilson lots. The letter, received from their solicitor, Mr. J. E. L. Goodwill, suggested that this plant should be built farther from the city. In a comparatively few years, it was stated, the Kennedy property should be exceptionally desirable for real estate. The expansion of Peterborough was tending southward and for that reason the outfall sewer should be carried further west. Cheaper property would cover the cost of the extension.

Ald. Gordon remarked that the Council would not take action as outlined. Letters of that kind had been appearing for years.

"They have the usual course of law," City Solicitor Widdifield commented.

Mayor McIntyre passed on the letter with its threatened suit for damages to the Board of Works.

Statement of Roll.

Tax Collector Green reported for February:

Amt. on roll $480,204.24

Total deposit 459,825.16

Bal. .... $ 20,379.08

Deposit in February—$3,941.73.

E. H. D. Hall Appointed.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall was appointed arbitrator for the city to act with the county's representative, W. H. Casement, on the board which apportions the costs of the administraeion of justice in the county and city.

Changed Street Names.

Babb's Lane was offially erased by a by-law and was changed to Leslie avenue; and Cedar street becomes Murray street, of which it is a natural extension.

Ask Time Be Extended.

On Ald. Turner's motion, seconded by Ald. Hamilton, application will be made to the Railway Board for permission to extend for two years the time for the issuing of debentures for the proposed Hydro-Electric sub-station in Peterborough.

A Lindsay Idea.

A petition to the Legislature, sponsored by the Lindsay Council, requesting that police court fines be allocated to the municipalities in which they are collected, was referred to the Legal committee for a report.

Will Consider Local Man.

Replying to the Council's communication regarding the appointment of a successor to Mr. Herbert A. Fife for inspector for the Hydro-Electric Commission in this city the Commission wrote that Major Clifton, a returned soldier, had been appointed, but that a qualified local man would be considered if recommended. The question of nominating a Peterborough electrician having all the qualifications required, was referred to the Fire, Water and Light committee.

Presents For Triplets Delayed.

Replying to Ald. Gainey's inquiry regarding the delay in securing the silver cups which last year's Council decided to give to the Dorris triplets, Ald. Turner said that the order had been placed with Mr. E. V. Warne, who had told Ald. Turner on February 10th that delivery had been delayed by the manufacturer on account of a rush of orders.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Hamilton, that Mr. Warne be notified that if the cups are not received by March 31st the Council would feel at liberty to cancel the order and go elsewhere.

No Vote on Daylight Saving.

Ald. Turner asked the Council whether they wished to put the question of daylight savings to the people when the C.G.E. by-law vote is taken. This would be a means of ascertaining the wishes of the people, he said.

Ald. Whitehouse suggested no action for the reason that the plans of the railways would be a determining factor in guiding the municipalities.

Ald. Jones observed that the Council could make the decision as they did last year if it became necessary.

Resolution of Condolence.

Ald. Crowes motion, seconded by Ald. Morrison, that a letter of condolence be sent to the widow of the late Frank Sollitt expressing to her the Council's sympathy in the loss suffered by the death of her husband, was carried with a standing vote.

Mr. Sollitt was the Council's representative on the Public Library Board.

Apply For Part of Grant.

Ald. Gainey moved, seconded by Ald. Morrison, that Ald. Hamilton apply for a part of the Dominion Government's grant toward the cost of the Hunter street bridge, proportional to the progress that has already been made.

Ald. Gordon—It would be well to have Mr. Barber send in a certificate showing the present percentage of progress.

Ald. Hamilton, responding to Ald. Gainey, outlined the recent events in the construction of the bridge. The Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada had recommended that a core drill be made in test borings for the west pier of the main arch. It was expected that a drill could be secured from the Trent Canal department, but none was available. Mr. Christie doubted whether a core drill would give better results. Work was now getting under way on the west side.

Ald. Whitehouse—Are you satisfied that the cost will be within the estimate.

Ald. Hamilton—We are not in a position to judge that just now.

May Transfer Plumbing By-law.

The Property committee was asked to consider whether the Plumbing by-law should remain under its jurisdiction or with the Board of Health.

Introducing this proposition, Ald. Crowe said he understood that in many cities the administration of the Plumbing by-law was under the Board of Health. The local by-law would have to be revised, and while they were discussing it the Property committee might ponder the idea of transferring the by-law and it enforcement to the Health Department.

HYDRO'S REASONS FOR INCREASING THE COST OF GAS

NEW $2.00 RATE BECAUSE OF PRICE OF COAL AND COST OF EXTENSIONS OF SYSTEM.

The reasons ascribed by F. A. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro-Electric Commission, for the increased price of gas in Peterboro, were set out in a letter to the Council last night. It was a rather summary notice that the commercial rate had to be advanced and no alternative was permitted the consumers.

Mr. Gaby wrote:

"During the past year the operation of the Peterboro gas plant has resulted in a heavy deficit, owing to the rapidly mounting costs of all raw materials and wages. Coal is not obtainable of the consistent quality which gives the best results, and at certain times of the year is so difficult to obtain that it is necessary to take delivery in large quantities, and store for prolonged periods in order to maintain continuity of supply. The price of both hard coal and soft coal has mounted, and is still mounting very rapidly, and in the case of gas oil, the conditions are just as bad, if not worse.

"The Commission of course does not expect to operate the Utility for profits at the expense of the citizens of Peterboro, but it does expect to obtain sufficient revenue to cover operating expenses and fixed charges, which condition is not being met under the present circumstances. Extensions are continually being called for to meet the demand and it is impossible for the Commission to finance new capital expenditure unless the property is put on a self-sustaining basis.

"In order to obviate the hampering conditions under which the plant is operatig we have gone carefully into all the operating statistics and find that an increase in rates of 25 cents per 1000 cu. ft. will furnish the necessary increase in revenue to make up the deficit at the rate it is now accumulating.

"We therefore beg to advise that from and after February 1st it will be necessary to bill all gas consumers at the rate of $2 per 1000 cu. ft., instead of at the rate of $1.75."

SINCE 1870 SHILOH 30 HRS. FOR COUGHS

PROPOSED 30 TON LINE COBOURG TO CAMPELFORD

On Feb. 10th the Reeve of Haldimand with a representative from the vicinity of Warkworth held a conference with the Chief engineer of the Hydro Electric Power Commission at their office in Toronto, to press the claims of Northumberland County for a railway from Cobourg to Campbellford, which is felt to be a real necessity.

Mr. Gaby in conclusion gave the delegates a very favorable impression stating their business was to serve the people. He promised that they would look over the situation carefully, but stated if they did build the line from Cobourg to Campbellford it would only be a thirty ton line, which is lighter than many of the main lines.

It is now up to all interested parties, councils and organizations to work together for a happy consummation of this proposal.

THE WEATHER

The month of February this year had nine zero days as compared with none in February of last winter. The lowest was 20 below on two different days. The highest was 44 on the 2nd of the month. The precipitation was 1.60 of an inch. It may be remarked here that the rainfall and snowfall for the past eight or nine months has been little over half the usual figures. This Tuesday morning the thermometer stood at 6 below zero. During the night it had been down to 12 below.—W. P.

CAMERON-EASTWOOD NUPTIALS

CAMERON—EASTWOOD.

A pretty wedding was performed to-day at one o'clock in Murray street Baptist church when Margaret Elsie Eastwood, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Eastwood, George street, was united in marriage to Alan Hector Cameron, son of Mr. John Cameron, Stewart street, and formerly of the 2nd Machine Gun Battalion.

The bride who looked lovely in a wedding gown of ivory charmiense with draped bodice of rose point lace, pearl girdle, court train lined with silver cloth caught on the shoulder with heavy pearl tassels and bridal veil with rose point cap and carrying a shower bouquet, entered the church on the arm of her father to the wedding march played by Miss Ida Sanderson. She was attended by her sisters, Miss Agnes Eastwood and Miss Jean Eastwood the former charmingly gowned in pale blue taffeta and the latter in shell pink and both wearing silver hats and silver shoes and carrying huge bouquets of violets with purple streamers. The little flower girls Mary McPherson and Margaret McCarter of Toronto were very pretty in embroidered net dresses over shell pink and white net poke bonnets with streamers of silver lace. Each carried baskets of sweet peas and forget-me-nots. Mrs. Eastwood, the bride's mother, was very handsomely gowned in kingfisher blue charmeuse with hat to match and mink cape.

The groom was supported by Mr. Bruce Clegg and the ushers were Messrs. J. R. Eastwood, of Toronto and Vincent McCarter Eastwood, brothers of the bride and Gordon S. Matthews. During the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. J. R. Webb, Miss Ida Sanderson played the organ softly and during the signing of the register, Miss Lilian Eastwood sang "O Promise Me."

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's parents, "Athol Place," where a reception was held. The living room looked very charming with decorations of snap dragons and sweet peas while in the dining-room a silver basket of marguerites formed the central decorations on the dining table, with its covers of Florentine lace. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Cameron left for New York, where they will spend a few weeks. Upon their return to the city they will reside at 226 Brock street. Mrs. Cameron travelled in a handsome suit of French blue, black hat and taupe fox furs.

Out of town guests included the following from Toronto: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McCarter, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Eastwood, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McPherson, Mrs. A. Bollard, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McCarter, Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Miss Jessie Matthews, Mrs. Graham Newton and Miss Emma Cox, also Miss Helen Flavelle of Lindsay.

NEW TRACTOR CO. FOR CANADIAN FIELD

GROUP OF MONTREAL AND TORONTO INDUSTRIAL INTERESTS FORM COMPANY FOR THE MANUFACTURE OF CHASE TRACTORS IN CANADA.

TORONTO March 2. — (Special) Toronto will be the headquarters of another large Canadian Industrial organization, as a result of the formation by leading financial and industrial interests of the Chase Tractors Corporation, Limited.

It is reported that the company has taken over the business throughout Canada of the Chase Motor Truck Co., of Syracuse, N.Y. The company has also secured a large plant adjoining the Canadian National Exhibition grounds, in Toronto, which will give it facilities on the main lines of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways.

The Chase tractor has established for itself a reputation of being one of the most successful machines of its kind in the world and it is the intention to manufacture tractors at the Canadian plant for the requirements not only of the Canadian market, but also for all parts of the British Empire.

The new company will have a capital stock of $1,000,000 8% Cumulative Preference Stock, of which $750,000 will be issued at present, and $1,000,000 of common stock, all of which is now issued. The Montreal and Toronto groups who are connected with the new company include R. J. Cluff, President, T. P. Birchall, Vice-President, W. J. Cluff, Vice President, James Whalen, Senator Curry, R. M. Wolvin and J. W. Norcross.

The management of the new company will be in the hands of the Cluff brothers, both of whom have been identified with the management and operation of several successful manufacturing concerns, among their biggest undertakings being the Galt Brass Company and the Cluff Ammunition Company.

It will be the policy of the company to manufacture its tractors from the highest grade of materials obtainable, irrespective of cost. This policy does not allow of as large a profit on each individual machine manufactured, but the company will undoubtedly derive the benefit in the long run, by establishing a record for the Chase tractor and at the same time making a satisfactory profit. This tractor has already been successfully manufactured in the United States and it is as stated that the Canadian company already has orders on hand sufficient to take care of its entire output for several months.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENTS IN MUNICIPAL, ETC.

this, if favorable, ensures that payments will be met and covenants kept.

That it will be for the City Council to decide if the cost of the Commission (other than that of inspection) will be borne by the city at large. If so, might it not be taken that relieving the applicant of such charges would be in the nature of a bonus or encouragement to come forward and build?

Should Have Stake in Venture.

That to ensure care and consideration of the property during the period of occupancy it is urged, at all places, that the owner, or occupier, should have a stake in the venture, and not be left free to resign and abandon his trust, having made only a rental payment during the time the property has been occupied.

That the Council, with whom the Housing Commission originates, will in general approve of operations and through its civic officials make and keep record and check on all expenditures and receipts. The Council would be advised not to seek to restrict, guide, modify rule, to suit individual cases, nor seek to have modification of rules even if so solicitated.

That in finding, or assisting to find, lots on which to build it would be preferable to consider available properties fronting on streets already provided with sewers, sidewalks, gas, water service and electric light, in order that the Municipality might not be put to the expense of providing such services, so long as the prices asked for lots seem reasonable. Where property available and desirable for dwellings, possibly contiguous to factories, be held out of sale, the contingency of expropriation by the Commission might be considered.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

F. W. Dobbin, Chairman,
A. A. McInerney, Mayor,
R. H. Peerson, City Engineer.

STRING TO SALE OF UNOPENED STREET TO M'DONALD CO.

WILL REVERT TO CITY AT PURCHASE PRICE IF PROPOSED USE OF PROPERTY ENDS IN TEN YEARS.

The sale to the McDonald Lumber company for $500 of part of the unopened section of Crescent street north of Perry street was finally approved by the Council last night. In the sanctioning bylaw a clause was inserted on Ald. Turner's motion seconded by Ald. Crowe that the property shall revert to the city if within ten years it ceases to be used for its present manufacturing purposes the city to repay the company $500.

When the bylaw was introduced Ald. Hamilton reported that he had looked over the company's grounds, and agreed that they needed more room than they had.

"Their spare ground is pretty well occupied but I feel we should not sell the property. The amount of $500 is not enough to warrant us selling it", he said.

Ald. Whitehouse —"Couldn't it be arranged that the city would have a chance to buy it back for $500.00 if the property should ever fall into disuse.

Ald. Jones stated that Rink street ran through to the water and that the sale would never interfere with the water front.

Ald. Hamilton agreed with Ald. Jones but argued that it might be desirable to have a street opening south. This was now provided for in the unopened part of Crescent street, and for that reason none of that street should be sold.

Company Needs it.

Mr. A. Dick, manager of the McDonald Lumber Company reviewed the points in support of their request. The factory absolutely needed this ground for further extensions. Insurance regulations required that lumber must not be filed within 150 feet of any building. The company's future policy depended upon possession of this lot.

Ald. Whitehouse stated that the portion of Crescent street asked for was insignificantly small. It was a short street although unopened and its sale would not inconvenience anybody.

Ald. Crowe said his only restriction would be some provision that if any time the property ceased to be used by the company for manufacturing purposes that it revert to the city.

Ald. Gainey expressed his surprse that this local company was being hampered in their expansion. He believed its additions would employ more men than the Aladdin company which had received a $10,000 grant. He was surprised at the men who were trying to stop it.

Ald. Hamilton explained that he was opposed to selling it outright because he felt that in twenty years it would not be used for its present purposes.

Mr. Dick replied that the site was a splendid one for a sash and door and box factory and would always be used by a plant of that kind. The Council had first mentioned a price of $25 for the lot. That was blocked. The property was then valued by an independent valuator. The company was ready to pay the $500 he had recommended.

The proposal that a reversion clause be included in the bylaw brought together the diverse opinion of the Council.

Ald. Gordon proposed that the property be sold for $500 on condition that it used by the McDonald Company for manufacturing purposes for a period of ten years.

Ald. Hamilton mentioned 25 years, Ald. Turner 15, but a ten year period was agreed upon in the motion by Ald. Turner seconded by Ald. Crowe.

STOCK MARKET OPENED WEAK

MANY OF THE LEADING ISSUES SAGGED OFF TO-DAY.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 2.—The stock market opened weak to-day. Many of the issues which were carried upward in the rally late yesterday as the result of the Supreme Court decision in favor of the United States' Steel Corporation sagged off to-day, including U. S. Steel, which was off half at 95 1-4. Bethlehem B was the only one of the steel group which did not lose on the opening, being up 1-8 at 85 1-2. Crucible opened at 195, off 2; Republic 87, off 5-8, American Loco. 93 1-2, off 1-2; Texas, 177 1-2 unchanged; Southern Pacific, 95 1-2 off 1-4, Baldwin, 109 3-4, off 3-8; Pan-American, 82 14 unchanged; U. S. Rubber, 95, off 1-4; Mexican Petroleum, 186, unchanged; Pennsylvania 43, up 1-4; American Can., 43, up 1-4; American Woollen, 118, off 1 3-8.

Call money again opened and renewed at 10 per cent. Endicott Johnson stock made a new low on the decline selling below 10.

Sterling and other foreign exchange opened stronger to-day. Sterling was $3.45¼, up 1-4; francs 12.12, and lire 18.17; marks were .0104.

Bankers and brokers asserted that the reason the steel decision did not stimulate public buying was because the bureau is not in the market. U.S. Steel sold at 94 3-8, off 1 1-2, from yesterday's high; American Woollen, after opening at 119 1-8 lost 3 1-2 to 115. Directors are to meet for dividend action early next week.

The whole list firmed up after 11 o'clock and Southern Pacific was up near 2 points over its early low. General Motors however sold at 234 off 4 1-8 net.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 2.— Sterling exchange was firm to-day. Cables $3.45 1-2. Demand $3.44 3-4. Discount rate on Canadian money was steady at fourteen and three-quarters per cent.

RETURNS TO THE CITY AFTER THIRTY YEARS

Mr. B. Chambers of Western Alberta, is home on a visit to Peterborough after an absence of thirty years. Mr. Chambers was struck with the number of changes in Peterborough and commented upon the city's industrial growth. While in the city Mr. Chambers will be the guest of his sister, Mrs. J. W. Tighe, Donegal street.

TWO BANDS SEEK GRANTS FOR MUSIC

HEALTH ASSOCIATION ALSO ASK FOR $1,000 FOR LOCAL WORK.

Applications for the following additional grants were received by the Council last night:

Poultry Association, Children's Aid Society, $600; Salvation Army Band, $500; Peterboro Health Association, $1000; Great War Veterans' Band, $600; Trades and Labour Council for the celebration of Labor Day.

The requests from the bands for this summer's engagements in the parks were referred to the Parks Committee and the rest to the Finance Committee.

A. L. Turner secured a lease of life for the $1500 sought by the City Development Commission for a topographical map, by moving that it be referred back to the Parks Committee.

Only One Deputation.

"We ... can't score for money," Ald. W. H. Bradburn's disarming opening as he introduced a deputation from the Motor League comprising himself, R. H. Turner, R. Denne and H. O. Fiske.

The League is sending a deputation to interview the Hon. Mr. Biggs on Friday, urging the government to assume the road from Port Hope to the Kawartha Lakes through Peterboro.

Mr. Bradburn requested the Mayor to send representatives of the council to strengthen the deputation's forces.

Mr. Denne made a similar request in connection with the Exhibition Board's appointment with the Hon. Manning Doherty in Toronto to-morrow.

Mayor McIntyre promised that the Council would be represented on both deputations.

INCREASED GRANT TO THE FAIR BOARD, THEN REVOKED IT

displayed a retentive memory. Apparently it was either Ald. Gainey or Ald. Gordon who remembered that when the grants were under discussion in committee, Ald. Hamilton had expressed the opinion that $3,000 was a large enough sum for the Fair Board this year.

When the by-law authorising the grants, as denominated in the Committee of the Whole's report, was introduced, Ald. Hamilton was named by the Mayor to preside in the second reading.

Whoever recalled Ald. Hamilton's previous attitude, it was Ald. Crowe who moved an amendment to the by-law that the grant to the Fair Board be cut back to $3,000.

Ald. Gordon seconded this motion, and the vote stood adversely 5 to 4 as follows:

For—Aldermen Gordon, Crowe, Morrison, and Gainey.

Against—Aldermen Copping, Jones, Whitehouse, and Turner, and Mayor McIntyre.

"The amendment is lost" Alderman Hamilton announced.

Called Ayes and Nays.

Ald. Gainey: Let's have the ayes and nays, Mr. Chairman, to see where you stand.

Ald. Hamilton voted for the amendment, which then stood a tie—five for and five against.

The vote on the motion was exactly the opposite, and was likewise obtained by calling the ayes and nays at Ald. Gordon's suggestion.

This definitely held up the grant to the Exhibition Board.

Ald. Turner was visibly crestfallen, and Ald. Whitehouse said: "We are always talking about boosting Peterborough, and yet some of this Council are the first to knock it down."

The Exhibition, he predicted, would soon prove a big asset to the city. Picton had buildings that Peterborough would be glad to have on their Fair Grounds.

Ald. Hamilton: My idea is that there are so many demands on the Council this year that $3,000 should be enough for the Exhibition.

Ald. Crowe: Hear, hear.

Ald. Gordon: That's the idea.

The by-law confirming the grants was held up by the equal division of the Council in regard to the Fair grant.

Ald. Gainey moved, seconded by Ald. Hamilton, that the Exhibition item be referred to the Committee of the Whole for renewed deliberation, and the vote was at last unanimous, if retrograde.

The other grants were then approved as the by-law passed from the Committee breakers into the quiet harbour of the third reading.

Easy Way to Remove Freckles and Eruptions

Some women have skin of such texture they occasionally are annoyed by the sudden appearance of freckles, slight eruptions or fine lines. March winds usually play havoc with skins of that kind. In such cases, if one will procure an ounce of common mercolized wax at any drug store, apply a little of it before retiring, like cold cream, she can easily overcome the trouble. When the wax is washed off the next morning, almost invisible flaky skin particles come with it. The entire outer cuticle is removed in this way in a week or so, with all its defects. No bleach could so effectually remove freckles or blemishes. The new surface is smooth, clear, fresh looking. No harm or inconvenience accompanies this simple treatment.

BENEFIT GAME ENDED IN A DRAW

TEN MINUTES OVERTIME FAILED TO SETTLE BATTLE BETWEEN CITY LEAGUE OUTFITS.

In the benefit game at the Brock street rink last night, teams representing the Canadian Woollens and the C. G. E. Tool Room played a 4-4 tie, ten minutes overtime failing to decide the issue. Neither team had a regular line up, Barrie, Alex. Butcher and Dugan being absentees from the C.G.E. outfit, while the Woollen gang were shy the services of Micky Williams and Freddy and H. Graham. Their places were taken by members of the Belmont and Business College teams.

The game was a hard fought battle. The Woollens team had the edge during the first two periods, leading at the end of the first period by 2 to 1, and at the close of the second by 4 to 2, thanks to the accurate shooting of McMartin who pumped three fast ones past Butcher. The C.G.E. came to life in the last session ,tied the score and would have won out had it not been for the sterling goal keeping of Joe Dwyer, who kicked out a host of shots. The C.G.E. team also had the best of the ten minutes overtime but could not score.

Walter Jackson handled the bell satisfactorily.

There was a good sized crowd present. The proceeds go to Edwin Dugan of the C.G.E. team who had his shoulder broken in a city league game.

The teams:

Canadian Woollens: Goal, Dwyer, defence, Legros; Anderson, centre, McMartin; right wing, Tudhope; left, Campbell.

C. G. E. Tool Room: Goal, G. Butcher; defence, Wade, Head; Centre, Gillespie; right wing, Helson; left wing, Bartley.

KINGSTON QUALIFY FOR INTERMEDIATE O.H.A. FINALS

KINGSTON, March 1.— In one of the most sensational come-backs in the history of Kingston hockey the Kingston intermediate hockey team defeated Brampton here to-night by the score of 9 to 3 and will now play Collingwood in the finals of the intermediate O.H.A. It was in the third period that the Kingston team played the opponents off their feet. At the end of the second period the score was standing 3 to 2 in their favor and Kingston came back so strong that before the Brampton players knew where they were at Stewart, the crack centre player for Kingston, had rammed the puck in the net four times. For the Kingston team Cook and Smith, the wing men, played a wonderful game and it was only due to the fact that the wing men fed Stewart that he was able to pile up the score. The Brampton team played good hockey, but Kingston seemed to be able to come back.

OTTAWA MUNITIONS BY 18 TO 2 DEFEATED BROCKVILLE TEAM

OTTAWA, March 1.—Dishing up brilliant hockey and outplaying the Brockville team in every department, the Munitions team, winners of the City League and conquerors of the Wanderers, practically cinched tonight the championship of the Ottawa district when they defeated the Island City sextet at the Rideau rink by a score of 18 to 2. It was the record score of the season, and into the return game, which takes place at Brockville Wednesday evening the Munitions team will carry a majority of sixteen goals. Brockville have played magnificent hockey on their own ice this season, but it is just about certain that they will not be able to overcome the lead which Eddie Lowrey's grand little team secured in tonight's exhibition. Munitions will be, in all probability, the team to play off against the Montreal Victorias or the Quebec Sons of Ireland for the honor of going into the Allan Cup semi-finals

STRATFORD QUALIFY FOR JUNIOR FINALS.

TORONTO, March 1st. — Stratford Midgets earned the right to meet the Toronto Canoe Club in the Junior O. H. A. finals on Thursday night when at the Arena last last night they again took the measure of the U.T.S. to the tune of 7 to 3. The win added to their home victory last thursday gives them the round by a score of 15 to 5

TYRONE POWER IN FAMOUS PLAYS

WELL KNOWN ENGLISH ACTOR WILL VISIT PETERBORO ON MARCH 10TH.

The remarkable success which has attended the transcontinental tour of the famous English actor, Tyrone Power, so far in "The Servant in the House", has encouraged Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., the All-Canadian theatrical organization under which Mr. Power is touring, to go ahead with arrangements for a similar tour across the continent by Mr. Power next year in two famous plays well known and popular everywhere,—"A Bunch of Violets" and "The Middleman."

Special productions will be built in Canada for both plays, and special companies engaged to support Mr. Power. The great reception given these two works throughout Canada when they were last played by E. S. Willard affords a good index as to the propriety of their selection as the next vehicles in which Mr. Power will be presented.

The delightful sentiment of "A Bunch of Violets" has made it a fragrant play for all theatre-goers who likes clean drama. This is what Trans-Canada Threatres, Ltd., aim to give the Canadian public.

The dramatic strength and the intense humanity that are found in "The Middleman" similarly commend that drama to those who find in the theatre something more than a place in which to idle away an empty hour or two.

Plans for an imposing list of other productions for next season by Trans-Canada, Ltd., will be announced in due course.

Bookings made by Trans-Canada Booking Office for their own and affiliated houses for this and next season include "Chu Chin Chow" for return dates; David Belasco's "Tiger Rose"; "Ziegfield Follies"; "Al Jolson", etc.

FISKE O'HARA

A social and theatrical event of importance is the engagement at the Grand on Thursday, March 4th of Fiske O'Hara in "Down Limerick Way," a new romantic comedy by Anna Nichols pictorially colorful, witty and sparkling, with a breezy entertaining plot.

Mr. O'Hara's myriad friends and admirers will be delighted with the new starring vehicle of this popular actor-singer, as it gives him an ideal opportunity to display his varied talents as an unimitable farceur and singer of sentiment.

The plot of "Down Limerick Way" concerns Sir Daniel Darragh, a gallant young nobleman, who is left in the legacy of a departed friend, a beautiful young girl named Ellen.

As her only fortune is her face, Sir Daniel's sister Mona, who desires to marry him off to some wealthy heiress, is piqued by the entrance of this beautiful stranger, and tries to keep them apart, and throw her brother into the willing arms of a visiting feminine chum of hers.

The complications are of a novel nature, and ample histrionic opportunity to the splendid supporting company of players, which includes Patricia Clary, Nan Bernard, Mary Louise Malloy, Laurette Allen, Richard H. Irving, J. P. Sullivan, J. E. Miller, W. T. Sheehan and Norman Post. There is a special augmented orchestra carried on tour, who will as has been the custom with all of Mr O'Hara's previous productions, render an entertaining programme between the acts.

Scene from the first act of "The Servant in the House." Chas. Rann Kennedy's great play, which will be presented at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, March 10th, with Tyrone Power in his original character of "The Drainman."

THRILLING SHIPWRECK SHOWN IN PICTURE AT THE GRAND THEATRE

"MALE AND FEMALE" IS A GORGEOUS PRODUCTION RIVALLING THE "BIRTH OF A NATION"—A SERIES OF EIGHT PICTURES.

Mr. Harry Dahn, Manager of the Grand Opera House has secured eight special feature pictures to be shown at the Grand during the course of the next few weeks. These pictures will replace the combined picture and vaudeville programme that was provided for several weeks commencing in January last. The first of these feature pictures was shown at the Grand last evening and will be on the programe to-day and to-morrow. In the words of many who saw the picture last night it is a wonderful production and equals, if not exceeds such lavish productions as the Birth of a Nation and Intolerance This picture which is entitled Male and Female represents the best effort of Cecil B. DeMille aided by Sir Ivan Hay, author of the "First Hundred Thousand" who provides much of the setting required to adequately bring out the true atmosphere of an aristrocratic home of a British peer. The story of the play which is founded up on Sir James M. Barrie's, "The Admirable Critchon" is a refreshing characterization of luxurious life of a British peer's family who have an hereditary dislike for all persons who are not "to the manner born." Fate seizes them and in one of the most remarkable shipwrecks ever conceived and carried out for motion picture purposes, casts them upon South Sea Island where the voice of the world is lost and lord and butler, lady and scullery maid, placed upon a common footing. Here the butler Chritchon proves that resourcefulness is a more precious qualification than aristocratic birth, and taking the lead, through his ingenuity, makes life livable on the island. Birth and brerding forgotten thepeer's daughtee falls in love with Chritchon and was on the verge of marrying him when a ship was sighted and signalled. The family returned to London and the traditions of civilization where Chritchon resumes his position as butler and the peer's daughter unable to forget the distinction of class returns to her fiance, Lord Brocklehurst. Each character in the picture is a star and various parts are brilliantly carried out. The setting is gorgeous from the luxurious home of a British peer with its perfumed bath to the thrilling but costly shipwreck necessary to complete the details of this wonderful picture. The Examiner theatrical critic has no hesitation in saying that this is one of the best pictures that has been shown in the city for some time and is a forerunner of a series of eight. A Brigg comedy depicting "Skin-Nay" precedes the picture.

"THE SPITE BRIDE" AT THE EMPIRE

"The Spite Bride" at the Empire Theatre last evening delighted all who saw it. Olive Thomas the beautiful young Selznick star in the leading role has full opportunity to display her versatile screen ability and in this picture she appears at her best. The picture is one of odd situations wound around the impulsive life and wild Billy Swayne the millionaire son of a rich widowed mother.

Thrown down by the girl he loves or thinks he loves and urged on by his chum he marries in spite this pretty little chorus girl who is innocently beguiled into it by her partner ,who is looking for the money returns for playing her part.

How they are married and Swayne blackmailed by the other chorus girl how it is finally hushed up and how Swayne finally meets his little "Spite Bride" again and finds that he really does love her, is indeed a pretty and a fascinating plot and a crowded house should greet this production again to-night.

The "Golden Shower" featuring Gladys Leslie is also an excellent production and together with an interesting news film makes a programme of pictures second to none.

Was Great Jap Soldier.

Gen. Baron Fukushima, although one of Japan's most notable military men, received but scant notice in the American press on the occasion of his death in Tokyo. He began life as a drummer boy, and in 1892-93 distinguished himself by a trip he made on horseback from Berlin to Vladivostok, through Russia, Siberia, Mongolia and Manchuria, a distance of 9,000 miles. From 1887 up to the time he started on this famous trip he had been military attache in Berlin. General Fukushima was in command of the Japanese contingent in the war with China until the fall of Tientsin, and was general staff officer during the Boxer troubles. He was staff officer at headquarters of the Manchurian army in the Russo-Japanese war in 1904-05. At different times he represented his country in China, India, Egypt, Turkey, Persia, Caucasia, Arabia, Turkestan, Burma, Siam and Annam.

Hanging Between the Two.

Last summer the Hulman brothers, at Terre Haute, gave the Rose Polytechnic the grounds for the new school. The year before that they gave the land for Calvary cemetery. One of their townsmen recently met Herman, the younger brother, on his way to his farm, which is between the two pieces of ground above mentioned. "Well, Herman, he remarked smilingly, "I see you've solved that often disputed question of whether we should consider our cemeteries or seminaries of the more importance."

Mr. Hulman looked at him, and then his eyes twinkled. "Not exactly solved it," he drawled. "You know where my farm is. Well, you see, I'm still just hanging between the two."—Indianapolis News.

STRIP POKER GAME ENLIVENS "TOBY'S BOW"

A regulation strip poker game is shown in the Goldwyn picture, "Toby's Bow," starring Tom Moore. The locale of the story is Greenwich Village, the mecca for artists, sculptors, socialists and other folk of a Bohemian temperament. The habitues of the quarter live a hand-to-mouth existence selling a book or play or music score when hunger approaches, the remaining days living on a pittance and avoiding persistent work by every possible means. A typical group of people of this character are Du Bois (Macey Harlam), an artist, Mona (Violet Schram) a chorus girl, Bainbridge (Colin Kenny) a down and outer writer, and Valerie (Catherine Wallace), a sculptress. These people gather in Tom Blake's (Tom Moore) apartment for a late evening game of poker. The group have been drinking previously at "The Purple Pup," a resort of the village, and as the game proceeds and waxes in interest it is suggested that they play strip poker. Mona removes her handsome silk shawl as the first stake. Later her hat and slippers join the pile of clothing for which they are playing. Her garters follow and the picture onlookers wonder just how far a game of this character can proceed when an early morning arrival interrupts. These lively scenes in "Toby's Bow" are being shown at the Allen Theatre to-day.

LINDSAY MAN ON MISSING LIST

The sudden disappearance of Mr. George McDonald, late manager of the Elsmure Cafe, on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, has caused considerable anxiety on the part of some of our retail merchants and others.

It seems that George left his place of business at ten o'clock, saying that he was going to the bank and to see his lawyer. Upon his failure to return to the cafe, inquiries were made, but as far as the Warder can learn nothing is yet known of his whereabouts. His sudden disappearance has occasioned much comment as he was well and favorably known in town. It is understood that steps have been taken to locate him.—Lindsay Warder.

PRINTING Done Here

COMPARED WITH ELSEWHERE

You'd startle your tailor if, when you wanted a suit of clothes, you asked him to submit a bid in competition with a dozen other tailors

"Why," he would say, "this is ridiculous. This man knows what kind of a suit of clothes I give him. He knows he can depend on the quality of the material, the make, the fit. He knows me, and has proved my work. Some fellow around the corner may underbid me—but what will he deliver?"

You don't buy tailoring that way. No man does. You know your tailor you rely on him, you trust him, you give him your work just as long as he turns out good work at prices that are fair.

Do you buy your printing as intelligently? Do you make it your business TO FIND A GOOD PRINTER as you do a good tailor, and then rely on his experience, his ability and his judgment?

Men who do, get good printing. Men who buy printing here and there, wherever the price is shaved closest, are the ones who have printing worries

MASTER BARBERS HAVE DECIDED RAISE PRICES

HAIRCUTS WILL BE 50 CENTS AND SHAVES 20 CENTS.

By a unanimous vote the master barbers of the city yesterday raised the price of hair cuts to 50 cents and shaves to 20 cents. The meeting, which was held in the Board of Trade rooms, was presided over by Mr. Kent Throop. No dissatisfaction was expressed at any of the barber shops today, mostly on account of the fact that the majority of the men in the city headed off the increased prices by having their hair cut the day previous to the raise.

NEW DAY AT HAND

World Sees the Dawn of Universal Democracy.

With the Downfall of the Turk and the Hun Santa Sophia Will Be Restored as a Christian Temple.

Among the happy rejoicings of these victory days we are inexpressibly glad that the war did not end until the unspeakable Turk was well started down the toboggan of defeat toward the bottomless pit, writes Dr. Charles Edward Locke. It is a mighty triumph for democracy. With Jerusalem and Damascus in the hands of the Christians, and with Constantinople no longer desecrated as the capital of a filthy Mohammedanism, the foul Turk is now getting his long-delayed deserts. Constantinople was named for a zealous Christian prince. It was made the imposing headquarters of the Greek church, and a beautiful temple was built in the year 537 by Justinian which is so stately and gorgeous that this proud builder on the dedication day exclaimed: "O Solomon, I have surpassed thee!"

But in 1453 the city was captured by the sacrilegeous and infidel Saracen, and for 465 years it has been the center of Moslem worship and propaganda. It is beautifully situated on the western slopes of the Bosporous, and looks out upon the picturesque Marmora. Justinian's minister grand was transformed into a Moslem mosque. All the altars and crosses and frescoes and insignia of Christianity were ruthlessly removed, and for nearly five centuries, instead of the worship of the most high God resounding beneath a wonderful dome which Michael Angelo said was like a part of the heavens brought down to earth, it has been the scene of Mohammedan mummeries and semi-pagan idolatry.

With the victories of this war, no doubt magnificent Santa Sophia will be restored, and once again the praises of Christ will resound through sanctuary and cloister; and the marvelous fresco of Jesus and his disciples in the high dome, which for centuries has been concealed behind the incrustations of a detestable Moslemism, will once again utter its inspiring and artistic messages to reverent Christian worshipers. The overthrow of the Turk is not only a triumph of democracy, but it is likewise a mighty victory for the truth and justice which are interpreted to the world by the gospel of the Son of God and the Son of Man, Jesus Christ of Nazareth.

Until the savage Prussian Hun appeared the Turk had conferred upon him the ignominy of being the most brutal degenerate of all human history. A religion of lust, re-enforced by the bloody scimitar, the Turk cut his way through human bodies to an ignoble place of power in Europe and Asia and his murderous hate venting itself on the defenseless Christians, and especially, upon the innocent Armenians.

With the collapse of the Turkish government, "the Dardanelles will become a highway for the commerce of the free nations of the world, in place of a waterway held by pirates;" the Balkan terror comes to an end, and the ignoble crescent fades out of sight before the increasing effulgence of the blazing cross of the Christ of truth and freedom.

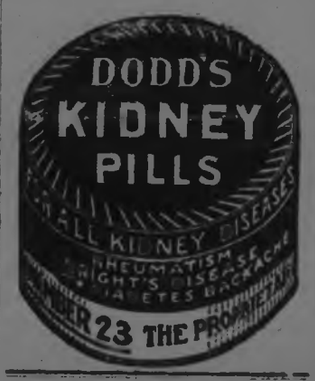
The years have waited long for the tremendous historic events which are now being enacted in bewildering succession. It was only yesterday that there were four powerful autocracies that seemed so intrenched in opulence and might that the centuries would not overthrow; but today, Russia, and Austria, and Turkey, and Germany, have all fallen, and great has been the fall thereof; the twilight of the kings has deepened into night, and the dawn of universal democracy is already reddening the eastern sky with premonitions of the new day of the people; and the harbingers of the morning are shouting on all hilltops and in all languages, "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land and to all the inhabitants thereof."

"Tipperary."

The music and words of "Tipperary" are attributed to Jack Judge and Harry Williams, who sang the song with indifferent success in British music halls, beginning in 1912. When the first British contingent left for France the song was found to suit the demands of the occasion for a good marching song, and for some time it was popular.

Uncle Eben.

"Owin' to de way smarter men dan I is has got mixed up in arguments," said Uncle Eben, "whenever anybody 'splains de league o' nations to me, I jes' says 'yessir' an' goes on 'bout my business."



FROM THE HOLY LAND

The following letter was written in the Holy Land to a friend in this country:

"As you see I am still over in the "Holy Land" (?) and have not much idea as to when I will be returning home. I am trying to get to England first so probably won't be home before Xmas.

"On the whole I have had a fairly good time considering everything and have had some unique experiences in Palestine and Syria, especially on the last stunt when we pushed through with very little opposition.

"How are Fords selling these days? By the way, I saw something up in Palestine that puts a feather in "Fords" cap. It was during the rainy season when the military roads were almost impassable.

"On one of these so-called roads when the mud was thick, a large notice board had been put up by the military authorities and it read in black type, "This road is impassable to all motors excepting Fords." I hadn't a camera with me at the time otherwise I would have snapped it and sent you a photo.

"All our ambulances are Fords here as are most staff and light transport cars. Fords seem to be the only ones to successfully overcome the sand difficulty."

OBJECT TO ROYALTIES

Claim Tax Will Kill the Fur Trade.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 2—Claiming that collection of royalties would "kill the fur trade," representatives of the Manitoba Fur Dealers' Association have protested to the legislature against the amendments of the Game Protection act imposing a royalty on furs taken in Manitoba and to a provision requiring all imported skins to be accompanied by affidavits as to places of origin. The fur men maintain that as Saskatchewan and Alberta have no such laws, the fur trade will centre in future in Prince Albert or Edmonton if the legislation is enacted.

THE G.W.V.A. HALL IS FREE OF ENCUMBRANCES.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Great War Veterans held last evening it was announced that the consolidation of all funds which took place on the first of the month has enabled the building committee to hand over the G.W.V.A. hall to the members free of all encumberance. This does not include the relief fund $1,250 of which as yet remains unpaid.

He Says They Are Surely the Best

FRANK HANNON SWEARS BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

States that they cured his backache after other medicines had failed and that he would not be without them.

Corcoran, Jollette Co., Que., Mar. 1st. Corcoran, Joliette Co., Que., Mar. 1st.—(Special.)—Claiming that he is completely cured of backache from which he was a severe sufferer, Mr. Frank Hannon, a well-known resident here, is shouting the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"After trying various medicines for my backache," Mr. Hannon states, "I finally bought a supply of Dodd's Kidney Pills. From the start of the treatment I felt benefited, and now I am completely cured.

"I therefore proclaim Dodd's Kidney Pills the finest on the market. I would not be without them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills strike right at the seat of the trouble, the kidneys. They are no cure-all. They are simply and purely a kidney remedy. But as cured kidneys strain all the impurities all the seeds of disease, out of the blood, Dodd's Kidney Pills naturally get credit for curing a number of different diseases.

Ask your neighbours about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

A DEPUTATION.

Canadian Press.

TORONTO, March 2. — Premier Drury and the members of his Cabinet were waited on this morning by a monster delegation from Chatham and other important southwestern Ontario centres, to urge upon the government the early designation of "Longwoods" route for the continuation west of London of the proposed provincial highway.

The spokesmen for the delegation declared that "Longwoods" route is the most direct and logical route from London to the border. It was also stated that it leads through the heart of an ideal farming country, and if it became a provincial highway would be a great aid to marketing.

To Make Your Hair Look Naturally Curly

If milady of the straight, lank hair will adopt the simple silmerine method, she will have as pretty wavy tresses as she could wish to own. The curliness will look so natural, and the hair so beautifully soft and glossy, quite different from the obviously artificial curls and the parched, dead appearance of the hair produced by the heated iron.

Liquid silmerine can of course be obtained at any drug store and a few ounces will keep the hair in curl for many weeks. Being perfectly harmless and neither sticky nor greasy, no one need have the least hesitancy in using it. It is best applied with a clean tooth brush, drawing this through the hair from crown to tip just before doing it up. The effect will be all that anyone could desire.

TO MY FRIENDS

We are getting acquainted with each other now, are we not, and I believe you have confidence in me and in what I tell you. This is why I have refrained from telling you about our most wonderful Remedy until now, as, had I told you about it at first, you would not have believed me. I confess it reads like a fairy story or a patent medicine advertisement, but, nevertheless, this is every whit true. Listen to what I know Gallagher's Golden Drops to have done.

A young lady got an infection in her finger, a doctor opened it, used iodine and antiphlogestine for a month before getting it under control. Later a sister got an infection from the prick of a rusty tack, started with the same treatment, but the finger began to curl up with the inflammation, when she began the use of Gallagher's Golden Drops, and in two days it was alright. In another family a doctor treated a young man's finger for a month for an infection, while a sister later cured hers in two days with Golden Drops, each equally advanced at the start. A friend with a ringworm had tried all kinds of salves for a year without result and took it off completely in two weeks with a plaster of Golden Drops. I know of different ones who tried all kinds of corn cures without satisfactory results and removed them easily and painlessly with a plaster of Golden Drops. It will kill boils or carbuncles in 24 hours after being opened up. These are only some of the things it has done. More later.

This Remedy is composed of resinous gums and oils, will kill poison, draw out inflammation and will heal any place where antiphlogistme may be used. I garantee this to be 90 p.c. more efficient. To use it, first cleanse the part with boracic acid solution or peroxide, place some absorbent cotton between two layers of sterilized gauze or cotton, spread the gum on one side and apply when it will adhere firmly. Cut out these directions and try it.

Yours Friend, Jack Speill...

PROHIBITIONISTS WANT TOTAL PROHIBITION THROUGHOUT ONTARIO

TORONTO, March 2.— Backed up by a large delegation of prohibitionists, the Ontario Referendum committee this afternoon waited on Premier Drury and members of the Ontario Cabinet and presented a memorial arranged for on Jan. 20, asking the Ontario government to make application to the Federal government for taking a plebiscite on the question of prohibiting entirely the importation into this province of spirituous liquors for beverage purposes. It is understood that the Ontario government is in accord with the spirit of this memorial and will bring forward, at the coming session of the Legislature, the necessary legislation to this end.

A BIRTHDAY ONLY ONCE IN FOUR YEARS

It is not many people who only have a birthday every four years. Miss Viva Middleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Middleton, No. 3 Meldrum Apartments, is one of those unusual individuals. Miss Middleton was sixteen on Sunday, but she has had only four birthday celebrations. The reason is of course that she was a leap year baby, born on February 29, a date that only occurs every four years. The event was celebrated last evening by a gathering of Miss Middleton's young friends, the occasion being a very enjoyable one.

CHILDREN'S COUGHS QUICKLY CURED

It is very hard to keep the children from taking cold. They will run out of doors not properly dressed—play too hard and become overheated—get their feet wet—kick the bed clothes off at night.

There is nothing so good for children's coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough or bronchitis as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is so pleasant to the taste the youngsters take it without any fuss, and at the same time its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm and healing the lungs and the bronchia tubes are such that the cough is checked before any serious trouble can possibly develop.

Mrs. Harold Acker, Lake Pleasant N. S., writes: "I have three children, the eldest eight years old and the baby ten months old. They all had a bad cough. I knew of quite a few persons who had used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup with good results so I got three bottles. I am glad I did so as it is a sure cure for coughs and colds. A home where there are children should never be without it. I highly recommend it to those who need a quick cure."

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Colour, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural colour and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked, or grey. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay grey! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers—No pain!

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

MODIFYING THE PEACE STRICTURES

ALLIES ARE SHOWING MORE LIBERAL ATTITUDE TOWARDS GERMANY.

RUSSIAN TRADE

(United Press.)

LONDON, March 3.—Prime Minister Lloyd George's plan for a more liberal attitude toward Germany, both is enforcement of the treaty of Versailles and in the commercial and economic rehabilitation of the German nation, has begun to bear fruit, it was learned to-day. The Council of Premiers, it was understood, has prepared a statement based upon the deliberations of its economic section, in which it emphasizes that Germany must be restored to economic prosperity. The statement, it was understood, was decided upon after considerable argument by the British conferes. A softer tone toward the Russian Soviet government, permitting more direct negotiations in the Allied plan to resume trade with Russia also was forecast.

Strike Leaders to Appeal Directly to the Privy Council

THEY SEE LITTLE HOPE OF GETTING FAVOURABLE JUDGMENT IN THE APPEAL COURT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, March 3.—It is probable that strike leaders will attempt to appeal directly to the Privy Council in event they are convicted in the trial just drawing to close. This was forecast today by the defence counsel, the prediction, voiced by Ward Holland, who represents George Armstrong, is based on the written judgment of court of appeal on the R. B. Russell case, just handed down, in which five appellate Justices unanimously uphold Russell's conviction and characterize the Winnipeg General Strike as "Step toward Revolution" and "an attempt to establish a Soviet in Canada." The defence see the futility of carrying the case to the Appeal Court if the strike leaders are convicted because the evidence in the Russell and the present trials has been largely along same lines and appeal justices, in their adjugments leave no room for doubt as to their opinion regarding whether the strike was legal, or otherwise. They are confident, however, that in event of conviction and if given permission to carry the case to the Privy Council they have a good chance of winning, because the English law on general or sympathetic strikes differs materially from Canadian. Under English law, upon which Privy Council would decide the appeal the defence counsel assert there can be no question as to the legality of the Winnipeg strike. If William Ivens, George Armstrong, Ald. Jno. Queen and A. A. Heaps, W. A. Pritchard, R. J. Johns and R. E. Bray are convicted, the defence will ask permission at once to take the case to the Privy Council, according to Holland, and at same time will take the Russell case.

SUCCESS MARKED ANNUAL ASSOCIATION DINNER OF THE LIFE UNDERWRITERS

HEAVY DEATH TOLL DUE TO INFLUENZA

Twenty-three Hundred Deaths During Last Month.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, March 3. — During February there were more than twenty thousand cases of influenza and pneumonia in Ontario and twenty-three hundred deaths reported to the Provincial Health Department. The toll of deaths while heavy, is not nearly as bad as in October 1918 when the epidemic caused more than three thousand deaths. Cases of small pox numbered 880 or decrease of over three hundred from January figures. Nine deaths reported.

Report states that doctors are not reporting social diseases as required by regulations.

MEMBERS OF THE PETERBORO LAW ASSOCIATION WERE GUESTS OF THE INSURANCE MEN.

Unbounded success attended the Life Underwriters' Association dinner held in the Empress Hotel last evening, at which the members of the Peterborough Law Association were entertained as guests of the Underwriters on the occasion of the visit of two of the foremost insurance men of Canada, Mr. E. S. Miller, manager of the Regina branch of the Imperial Life and also President of the Dominion Association of Life Underwriters, and Mr. G. H. Hunt, Superintendent of Agencies for the Imperial Life, and honorary secretary of the Dominion Association.

Some fifty insurance men and lawlers sat down to the dinner, which was delayed owing to the late arrival of some of the members and it was with sharpened appetites that they attacked the viands provided by the Empress staff.

On the motion of Mr. A. J. McClellan ,the business of the meeting, which was at first intended to be held, was left over till the next meeting.

Mr. A. E. Dawson, President of the Peterborough Life Underwriters' Association, who occupied the chair, spoke feelingly of the pleasure they felt in having the members of the Law Association with them, and in a comparison of the two professions, referred to them as the oldest and newest professions. The purpose of the invitation he said, was to make the lawyers, who were already familiar with the legal side of the life insurance business more familiar with the human side, and the chairman continuing, dwelt on the high ideals of the profession and the advance made of late years. The necessity for better legislation on insurance was laid stress on and Mr. Dawson said that this was where the lawyers could help them, and in conclusion he expressed the hope that the speeches on insurance would prove anything but irksome to the legal representatives and would be of value and benefit to them. He regretted to announce that the two main speakers had been delayed and would not arrive till the Belle ille train came in, but commended highly "the substitute" secured, Judge George Ward, of Port Hope, the guest of Judge Huycke who was obtained at the last minute.

Judge Ward explained that he was here by a conspiracy between Judge Huycke and the President. His references to the aggressiveness of insurance men caused much amusement. He said that he had always feared them but as he had now reached the three-score years and ten he had no cause for fear, for he supposed they thought him a poor risk, which was an entirely erroneous impression.

Liked the City.

He thanked them very kindly for their invitation to him, expressing his pleasure at again visiting Peterborough and renewing old acquaintances. "I think some of the happiest moments of my life have been spent in this city and at the lakes in summer," and to these occasions he attributed his good health and robust complexion and welcome he words were borne

THE WEATHER

The lowest temperature last night was 2 degrees below zero. While this may not be the last kick of the expiring winter its demise cannot now be long delayed. Two weeks at the most should see its finish. There is ample time yet for some heavy snowfalls, which usually have a partiality for the month of March.—W.P.

THE RED FORCES ARE ADVANCING

LONDON, March 3.—Russian Bolshevik forces are advancing rapidly in the Caucasus region, according to an official telegram received by Reuter's from Moscow during the past two weeks. The message says. Soviet troops in that district have captured seventeen thousand prisoners and General Denikine's army is declared to be gradually dispersing.

RING FAMINE

(United Press)

NEW YORK, March 3.—Following a disclosure that the demand for marriage licenses has increased in all parts of the country during the first two months of leap year, it was learned here today there is a scarcity of wedding rings. A shortage of gold and a growing demand, according to wholesale jewellers, have combined to bring about the ring "famine." Prospects of combining the engagement and wedding rings into a special design which would serve both purposes is being discussed and it is probable the new combination engagement-wedding ring will become a reality, jewellers say.

BURNHAM'S FIELD DAY IN THE HOUSE

ATTACKS PROHIBITION AND SAYS FARMERS' UNION FOUNDED ON SELFISHNESS.

A feature of D. D. McKenzie's speech in the House to-day, and one which induced J. H. Burnham, of West Peterborough, later to congratulate him upon his courageous and unequivocal advocacy of the policy of protection, was his comment upon the trade situation arising out of the depreciated value of the Canadian dollar in the United States. "Let me say this to the Government and to the country," declared Mr. McKenzie, "that while I am anxious for the widest possible trade with foreign countries, I would not trade to the extent of one five cent piece with any country which did not recognize the Canadian dollar at the full face value of that dollar. If this country is loyal to itself, loyal to its principles, loyal to its institutions, it will stand by Canadianism in the matter of havng any trade with any country that will not recognize the Canadian dollar at the full face as international currency." The declaration carried the memory back to the debates upon the reciprocity agreement of 1911.

Wrecker's Lantern.

L. J. Gauthier, of Ste. Hyacinthe, quite plainly indicated that "the light in the window" of which Mr. McKenzie spoke a year ago as a guide for absent Liberals, was in fact a wrecker's lantern intended to lure the erring ones to their destruction. Mr. Gauthier plainly stated that the animosities engendered by the cleavage in the party in 1917 were not forgotten. "An honorable member," he asserted, "says that now is the time to try and get nearer to the Province of Quebec. Speaking in my own name and for my province, I shall quote the words of one of our public men who says that the Province of Quebec is not in a state of mind to enter into any conference; it has been misjudged, it has been badly treated, it has been slandered, it is waiting for its own, and after that it will confer and not before."

The words brought Mr. Burnham to his feet. He demanded to know if they were intended as a threat.

"It is not a threat. It is a declaration." Mr Gauthier called back.

Mr. Burnham again protested. "The difference between a threat and a declaration of that kind," he retorted, "is that the man who makes it is afraid to back it up."

"You have no right to insinuate that I am a coward," sharply replied Mr. Gauthier.

The speaker intervened. Mr. Burnham remarked that he was not attributing physical cowardice to Mr. Gauthier. "I am attributing to him moral cowardice—" So Mr. Burnham was proceeding when again the Speaker intervened. He asked Mr. Burnham to withdraw. Mr. Burnham complied further remarking that he did not care a brass farthing "whether they threaten or whether they don't."

Against Prohibition.

A bitter attack on prohibitionists was made by [illegible]. After declaring that the end of the war was over, and that electricity was not nearly so valuable to the business world as industrial alcohol, Mr. Burnham said this same industrial alcohol was the hope of the business world, but was in danger of being lost through the narrowness of prohibitionists.

Deputation From Peterboro Waited Upon the Minister

LOCAL DELEGATES SEEK A DEMONSTRATION FARM FOR PETERBORO—THOSE PRESENT.

Special to the Examiner.

TORONTO, March 3. — A deputation from Peterboro City and district waited upon Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, to-day, asking the establishment of a demonstration farm in connection with the Normal school at Peterboro. The purpose of the farm would be to give all students who desired to attain a thorough practical education in the most modern approved methods of operating a farm.

"We want the government to establish a demonstration farm to prove to the young men who take advantage of it that farming can be made to pay—that a farm can be operated on a business basis at a profit," Fred E. Wilson of the Peterboro County Council told the Minister.

The U.F.O., County Council, City Council and the Industrial Exhibition Board were represented on the deputation which included Mayor McIntyre, Ald. G. N. Gordon and J. Crowe, Thos. Tooms, M.P.P., G. A. Gillespie, ex-M.P.P., W. R. Breckgle, R. Turner, Webber Turner, R. Denne, B. Rogers, R. T. Lillico, H. G. Webber, Fred E. Wilson, H. W. Baptie and R. Grandy.

SEVERAL FAMILIES ARE HOMELESS AS RESULT OF AN EARLY MORNING FIRE

COMBINED BUSINESS BLOCK AND APARTMENT HOUSE ON HUNTER STREET BADLY GUTTED—OCCUPANTS HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

DAMAGE HEAVY

Fire broke out in the roof of the Bell building Hunter street this morning shortly before three o'clock and in spite of the efforts of the firemen swept down through the three stories completely gutting the third storey and rear of the second storey, leaving the lower storey undamaged except by water and smoke. The fire was still smoldering late this morning but a watchful eye is being kept on it by the firemen and any further outbreak will be promptly checked.

Police Constable Young passed the building at two o'clock this morning but no sign of fire was notice. One hour later the upper storey was enveloped in flames.

Mr. James Lynch was returning home with Mr. Fred Whitecroft and Mr. W. M. Long. At the corner of George and Hunter the group stopped for a minute to speak to Police Constable Lawrence. The fire was noticed under the roof by Mr. Lynch, when they were passing the building and they called Police Constable Lawrence from the corner. The alarm was turned in from the Bell Telephone office while the men aroused the inmates of the apartments above the stores, taking them out quickly as possible. The last inmate Mrs. Alexander MacGregor was taken out of the burning building just as the roof began to settle.

Far and wide the lurid reflection could be seen and the flames fed by the dry shingles of the roof had already gained considerable headway when the firemen arrived.

Two lines of hose were laid at once from the hydrant a little west on Hunter, these being carried up the main stairway so the water could be played on the heart of the fire, but when the men went to turn the water on the hydrant was found to be frozen. This necessitated running a line from another hydrant.

Four Streams in Use

In a few minutes four streams were playing on the fire which had gained considerable headway and swept down into the third storey. The high walls made the fire very hard to fight but the windows in the third storey proved almost indestructible and stood up against the tons of water like armour plating. Even the revolver shots of the policemen failing to break them sufficiently to allow the water to enter freely.

The position of the structure, cut off on two sides by the creek made it hard to [illegible]

[illegible] down [illegible] water poured on it and [illegible] the firemen battled dayligh still finding them on the job.

The cause of the fire is unknown.

TWO STORES.

The building is divided into two stores, one conducted until recently by R. A. Lawson, but now operated by two Queenee men, Messrs. Stenson and Jones and the other is the local agency of the Deering and McCormack farm implements. Mr. J. O'Reilly being the local manager.

The building is divided into [illegible] apartments, the lower [illegible] being occupied by Mrs. Alexander MacGregor, Mr. and Mrs. Asker and Mr. and Mrs. Corbett.

These people were taken out of the building at a minute's notice and had no time to seize anything but the few clothes they could get their hands on and left in the building all their worldly possessions. They were at once taken care of by Belleghems and the American Hotel, warm drinks being served.

To-day the building presents a strange appearance with its coating of ice and blackened walls and the slight smudge of smoke still rising from the ruined interior.

Mrs. J. R. Bell, when interviewed by the Examiner stated that the loss was entirely covered by insurance, but expressed deep regret that some of the tenants found themselves unprotected from the fire bend. She said that she would likely build again if it was at all possible.

This structure was erected some 40 years ago by the late John Wilson on the site of the old "Royal Oak" hotel, and the new building was called after its predecessor. Old residents will recall that it was a most pretentious and imposing structure as it was then almost twice as large as it now stands, extending right over the creek to Halpin's, the house in from the street now being part of the hostelry.

After about ten years the part extending over the present laneway, then an alley, was taken down, and subsequently the other part of the structure was gradually pulled down until only the house and Bell's building now stands a memory to the old building.

Subsequent proprietors of the Royal Oak were James O'Shea and Arthur Rountree and in later years Isaac Noble conducted it as a temperance hotel. About 7 or 8 years ago Mr. Bell took over the building, entirely renovating it and changing it to an apartment house with the two stores below.

WINNIPEG, March 3.—Many of the 12,000 people from the Prairie Provinces who spent the early part of the winter in California, have found the drain on their purses from the rate of exchange and high prices more severe than they anticipated and are returning to spend the remainder of the winter in Vancouver and Victoria.

A BIG VOTE POLLED AT ELECTIONS

LIST DECLARED ELECTED BY THE JUDGES—ANNUAL ELECTION LATER.

BOARD OF TRADE

The thirty-first annual election of the Council of the Board of Trade was held yesterday in the Council room of that body. The polls were open from twelve until two o'clock and from seven until half past eight, during which time the rooms were crowded with members casting their ballots. Those declared elected by the judges were as follows:

Thomas Barrie, Barrie's Limited, Furriers.

Russell V. Copping, Alderman.

Joseph J. Duffus, Manager, Duffus Motor Sales.

J. Wells Fraser, Manager Bank of Nova Scotia.

John J. Hartley, Building Contractor.

H. R. H. Kenner, Principal Collegiate Institute.

Robert G. Kingan, President, Kingan Hardware Co.

George A. Macdonald, Quaker Oats Co.

W. A. Richardson, Sec.-Treas. Peterborough Canoe Co.

Fred L. Roy, Photographer.

William Sangster, Engineer, De Laval Co.

Charles E. Sisson, Canadian General Electric Co.

P. P. Westbye, General Manager, Wm. Hamilton Co., Limited.

Frank Whitehouse, Alderman.

Edgar Worth, General Manager, Canadian Woollens, Ltd.

A Large Vote.

The Committee of Judges that served during the entire time was made up of, G. O. Cameron, chairman, R. L. Dobbin, E. L. Payne, F. C. Hungerford and C. E. Smith.

The vote was surprisingly large and the Committe of Judges did not complete their counting until about ten o'clock, when the certificate of election was signed.

Mr. G. O. Cameron, chairman of the Committee of Judges, said the election was a great success, in that in itself it was an eye-opener to many.

The best of feeling prevailed all the way through, and the results showed thoughtful and careful consideration on the part of the members.

Realizing the responsibility of the Board of Trade as a civic institution with a real mission, the members seemed anxous to elect a capable and dependable council.

Four members of the retiring Council were nominated and were elected; these include Vice-President Thomas Barrie, Frank Whitehouse, President of the Mercantile Association John J. Hartley and ex-Mayor Duffus. The election of these men indicated a desire to perpetuate the policy established during the first re-organized year.

The Council-elect includes six representatives of industrial institutions, four of commercial houses, and one each of building, banking, education, photography and the Board of Aldermen.

The new Council will convene this evening to qualify and consider the election of a President, Vice-President, Treasurer and Executive Committee.

The duties of the Council and officers do not begin until the date of the annual election on March 31st, when they will be formally inducted. On that occasion, the retiring President will make his valedictory address and his successor an inaugural one.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $1.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

PIONEER BAND OF MISSIONARIES TOOK FOUR MONTHS TO REACH THE COAST.

(Canadian Press.)

VICTORIA, B.C., Mar. 2.—Sixty-one years ago the pioneer band of Methodist missionaries arrived in Victoria. The only surviving members of the band, now in British Columbia, are Mrs. Thomas Cunningham of this city, Mrs. C. L. Street, of Chilliwack, and Rev. Dr. White, superintendent of Methodist Missions in British Columbia.

The leaders of the party were Rev. Ephraim Evans, D.D., Rev. Edward White, Rev. Ebenezer Robson, and Rev. Arthur Browning.

Travelling to British Columbia in those days was a much more difficult undertaking than it is to-day, and the party, leaving Toronto in November, 1858, did not arrive in Victoria until February, 1859. They travelled via New York, Panama, San Francisco, and by boat to Victoria.

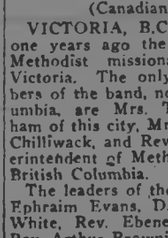
"BEST MEDICINE FOR WOMEN"

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Ohio Woman.

Portsmouth, Ohio.—"I suffered from irregularities, pains in my side and was so weak at times I could hardly get around to do my work, and as I had four in my family and three boarders it made it very hard for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. I took it and it has restored my health. It is certainly the best medicine for woman's ailments I ever saw."—Mrs. SARA SHAW, R. No. 1, Portsmouth, Ohio.



Mrs. Shaw proved the merit of this medicine and wrote this letter in order that other suffering women may find relief as she did.

Women who are suffering as she was should not drag along from day to day without giving this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice in regard to such ailments write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its forty years experience is at your service.

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

Frederick S. Kolle, M.D., Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says that weak, nervous people who want increased weight, strength and nerve-force, should take a 5-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphate just before or during each meal.

This particular phosphate is the discovery of a famous French scientist, and reports of remarkable results from its use have recently appeared in many medical journals.

If you do not feel well; if you tire easily; do not sleep well, or are too thin; go to any good druggist and get enough Bitro-Phosphate for a two weeks' supply — it costs only fifty cents a week.

Eat less; chew your food thoroughly, and if at the end of a few weeks you do not feel stronger and better than you have for months; if your nerves are not steadier; if you do not sleep better and have more vim, endurance and vitality, your money will be returned, and the Bitro-Phosphate will cost you nothing.

PRICES HIGHER STILL, GROCERS WERE TOLD

President Eby, at Convention of Wholesalers, Can See No Decline in Food.

TORONTO, March 3.—Higher prices for groceries are predicted in the address of President W. P. Eby, of the Ontario Wholesale Grocers, in opening the annual convention in session in the King Edward Hotel.

Mr. Eby, in welcoming the members, remarked: Since our last convention we have passed through a bewildering and trying period of re-construction, and no one can forecast with any degree of accuracy what the future may bring forth.

"Last February nearly all markets were depressed with indications for lower values. Inside of few months however, a complete change took place. Nearly all classes of merchandise started to advance and have been advancing even since until today.

"Taking it altogether our prices are higher than they have been for many years, with little prospect of lower prices. We have not yet reached the end of the period of re-construction.

Further on in his address, Mr. Eby said: "Recent developments have brought our association into the limelight with the Attorney-General's Department of Ontario, and it is confidently expected that when the investigation is finished that the rights of our association will be clearly upheld and our existence justified."

NEW INDUSTRY

PRODUCT OBTAINED FROM BRITAIN WILL BE MANUFACTURED IN WINNIPEG.

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Mar. 2.—Winnipeg is to have a new industry—one new to Canada in every sense of the word.

The Manitoba Gypsum Company, Winnipeg, will, in less than two months from now, begin turning out a high grade of whiting. This product, used in many trades, including that of building, has hitherto been obtained almost entirely from Britain.

THE TORTURES OF RHEUMATISM

Happily Stopped When He Began To Take "Fruit-a-tives"

3 Ottawa St., HULL, P. Q.

"For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism, being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief and thought I would never be able to walk again.

One day while lying in bed, I read about "Fruit-a-tives" the great fruit medicine, and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumatism left me."

CONTRACT AWARDED

Fort William Firm to Build Large Bridge.

CALGARY, Alta., March 2.—The Fegles Construction company of Fort William will construct the Hillhurst bridge, the contract being awarded to them at a special meeting of the Council. The amount of the company's tender is $208,113.00.

ANOTHER EPIDEMIC OF THE SPANISH INFLUENZA

A great many authorities have predicted a return of that terrible plague which swept Canada from one end to the other not long ago and left so many deaths in its wake, and those who did survive were left in a great many cases with some serious after effect such as weak heart, shattered nerves, improvished blood and a general weakened and exhausted condition of the system.

If you are run down, heart not just right, nerves a little shaky, take a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and fortify your system against this terrible plague.

If you had the "Flu" before and it left you with any bad effect Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will bring you back to health and strength.
